

HARRIMAN TO BE VICTIM OF SUIT

Department Is Expected to Begin Action With the Next Thirty Days.

RELATIONS OF RAILROADS.

REPORT OF INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION REFERRED TO ATTORNEY GENERAL THAT SUIT MIGHT BE PREPARED.

Washington, Jan. 11.—It is now confidently expected at the department of justice that suit will be begun within the next thirty days against E. H. Harriman, involving the relations between the Union and Southern Pacific railroads.

At a conference held at the White house last May, it was decided that the reports of the Interstate commerce commission on this subject, when completed, should be referred to the attorney general for examination, with a view to possible action against Harriman and these roads. There was some delay, however, in the completion of the report and several matters intervened to prevent the bringing of the suit as then contemplated.

Messrs. Severance and Kellogg, who had been engaged as special counsel, made an independent investigation of the facts and questions involved in the controversy and were ready to proceed with the suit when Mr. Severance was unexpectedly called to Europe. He is expected to return shortly, when suit will be begun in Salt Lake City. It is understood that the procedure will be a suit in equity in general analogy to the Northern securities case.

AN HONEST MAN WAS SAVED BY A PHILANTHROPIST.

Mr. T. A. Morgan, of Hammond, Ind., had suffered for years with his stomach and kidneys, and while the great Root Juice scientist was proving the merits of the Root Juice remedy to the people of northern Indiana, Mr. Morgan purchased six bottles of the Juice and while it was being wrapped up, he said: "Root Juice cures me I will make the scientist a present of one hundred dollars." A short while ago Mr. Morgan called on the scientist and said that he could eat anything without the slightest inconvenience and that his kidney trouble was entirely cured. He wanted the scientist to take the one hundred dollars, but it was refused. However, it was agreed to give the money to an orphan asylum. So Root Juice is not only curing the sick, but in this instance will be the indirect means of caring for some dead mother's child. Root Juice has proved its wonderful merits to many people of Richmond. From the very start it seems to soothe and heal the linings of the stomach and bowels and strengthen the liver and kidneys, thereby giving nature a chance to, in her own way, throw off the impurities of the blood. For sale by A. G. Luken, $1 a bottle. Root Juice proves all that is claimed for it.

Daffodil Poisoning.

A large number of plants which are usually looked upon as harmless possess poisonous properties, says the Dundee Advertiser. Those who are employed in picking daffodils and narcissus frequently suffer severely from a troublesome skin affection known as "daffodil poisoning." The most trying feature of this ailment is the small gathering which form under the finger nails. It is said that minute crystals of lime exist in large numbers in the juice of the stems of the pretty blooms and that these are responsible for the poisoning. Regular daffodil pickers are accustomed to rub their hands with oil and work tallow in underneath their finger nails before beginning their work. The bulbs of the white Roman hyacinth have similar unpleasant properties.

With Thanks.

John Budd was a most sedate, precise and altogether exemplary young man. When he wed and won Susan Smiley, the belle of the village, everybody rejoiced at John's good fortune. However, he bore his triumph with modesty and decorum until the day of the wedding. Then for one awful moment his air of aplomb failed him. When the officiating clergyman asked, "Will you, John, take this woman to be thy wedded wife?" John responded blushingly, "Yes, please."—Harper's Weekly.

"The Girl of the Golden West."

In the method of creating stage realism, in the manufacture of modern stage scenery, it can be well said that in this industry there has been the same spirit of progress that has marked all other industries. American theatregoers always want the latest and the best. In David Belasco's "Girl of the Golden West" which will be seen at the Gennett tonight, Mr. Belasco has given some unusual scenic embellishments.

"Just Out of College."

One continual round of fun and laughter is promised those who will witness George Ade's comedy, "Just Out of College," at the Gennett on January 16. The piece fairly reeks in the types of odd humanity that have made Ade's name a household word. There is not an unclean or undesirable line; nothing but humor, wit and brilliant repartee; the same as has been evident in all plays written by Mr. Ade.

"The Girl Question."

The snappiest, girliest, most tuneful play of the year will be seen at the Gennett on Thursday night when the Askin-Singer Company present "The Girl Question." Its music is by Joseph E. Howard and its book and lyrics by Frank Adams and Will Hough. They are the trio who wrote "The Time, The Place and The Girl," which played here to two large houses. The cast includes Paul Nicholson, Angeline Norton, Florence Ackley, and a chorus of the handsomest show girls ever organized.

Vaudeville at the Phillips.

Tonight's performance will conclude a very pleasing bill at the New Phillips, but it will be succeeded by another on Monday afternoon that promises to be just as good, if not better. It is changed considerably from those of recent weeks, in the fact that sketches are made to predominate, a novelty sketch, a comedy playlet and singing and dancing act being included. The Four Sullivans have been secured as headliners and they are said to be topnotchers in the singing and dancing line. Miss Ethel O'Connell, who has been secured to sing the illustrated songs, is well known to patrons of vaudeville as she has frequently appeared in the amateur contests and is a promising vocalist. Special attention is called to the fact that souvenirs will be given on Wednesday instead of Thursday, the change to Thursday being only for the two holiday weeks. Below is the program in full for next week:

Overture, Miss Eva Hazelton.

Yorke Herbert Trio, comedy acrobatic novelty sketch.

M. Williams, cowboy juggler.

Lew Simonds and company, comedy playlet.

Illustrated song, Miss Ethel O'Connell, "In the Wildwood Where the Bluebells Grow."

The Four Sullivans, singing and dancing act.

The Cameragraph, latest motion pictures.

Slang of the Army.

In the army there are expressions peculiar to itself. Heard for the first time by outsiders, they need interpretation. Among the most common are "hike" for "march;" "striker" for a soldier serving as body servant or houseman for an officer, "C. O." for "commanding officer" and "O. D." for "officer of the day," "hop" and "hoproom" for "dance" and "dancing room," "citz clothes" for "civilian dress," "commissaries" for "groceries," "coff for cooler" for an officer who is always looking for an easy job in some staff position, "found" when an officer fails to pass his examinations and "shaytail" for a youngster just out of West Point. Among the soldiers the expressions have multiplied until quite a vocabulary of strange words has been established. "Boat tail" is a dis-honorable discharge, "Orderly bucker" is a soldier who, when going on guard duty, strives by extra neatness of appearance to be appointed orderly to one of the officers. "Dog robin" is the soldier's contemptuous expression for "striker."—Leslie's Weekly.

Her Visitor.

A young married man of extremely jealous disposition recently visited one of the most famous mediums in London. Being far from home, he wanted to know what his wife was doing.

"She is looking out of the window, evidently expecting some one."

"That is strange," said Benedict, "Whom can she expect?"

"Some one enters the door, and she caresses him fondly," went on the medium.

"It can't be!" cried the exalted husband. "My wife is true to me."

"Now he lays his head on her lap and looks tenderly in her eyes."

"It's false! I'll make you pay dearly for this!" yelled the jealous husband.

"Now he wags his tail," said the medium.

The green eyed monster subsided, and the young husband cheerfully paid over his consulting fee. —London Scrapers.

A Peer and His Patent.

After it is once issued the patent for the creation of a new peacock cannot be altered. Otherwise Lord Glerawley would be written Lord Glerawley, as Glerawley was written by a clerk in mistake for this word. Another interesting case of a similar nature is that of Charles Pawlet, afterward third Duke of Bolton, who died in 1754. In 1717, while his father, the second duke, was still alive, Pawlet was made a peer as Lord Pawlet of Basing, although the intention of the king and his advisers was to summon him to the house of lords under one of his father's junior titles—that of Baron St. John of Basing. However, the writ of summons had been made out to Lord Pawlet of Basing, and Pawlet bore this title until he became Duke of Bolton in 1722.—Westminster Gazette.

Just Out of College—An Ade Play Coming Soon

SCENE FROM COMEDY TO BE AT THE GENNETT NEXT WEDNESDAY NIGHT.

GARFIELD SCHOOL IS A BUSY ONE

The Past Week Many Interests Have Come Before The Pupils.

GYMNASTIC DRILLS SOON.

GIRLS WILL GIVE PLAY EXHIBITION GAMES IN GYMNASIUM—PLANS FOR COMMENCEMENT—OTHER NEWS.

On next Thursday evening the girls' gymnastic classes and basket ball teams will give gymnastic drills and play exhibition games in the gymnasium. The TA, SB and SA sections will each participate in a drill exercise and there will be two games of basket ball. The admission to these exercises is limited to ladies, men who are patrons of the school and specially invited guests. A fee of ten cents will be charged to help pay for equipment in the gymnasium.

Rev. R. J. Wade spoke to the school on last Monday morning on the subject of "Fidelity." His talk was well received by the school.

Arrangements have been made for members of the high school faculty to talk to the school in the general exercise period on Monday mornings occasionally. Prof. Thompson will be the first one to come and will speak Monday.

The basket ball boys have organized senior and junior first teams to play teams outside of Garfield. Fred Girty and Edwin Flook are the respective captains. The seniors expect to play games with the high school Freshmen and the Juniors hope to play with teams from schools below Garfield. Jesse Barnes is captain of the first team in polo and he hopes to get a game with the H. S. Freshmen.

Arrangements are already being made for the opening of the next term of school by having the members of the TB classes indicate which course of study they will pursue in Garfield. Pupils taking Latin or German, omit physiology in the TA grade, reading in the SB and English grammar in the SA work. Those who choose the English course will include the subjects indicated as omitted above instead of the foreign languages.

The committee of the SA class that is arranging for the graduating exercises is making all necessary plans for the program. The exercises will be held in the high school hall at two o'clock on Friday afternoon, February 7. There are 62 candidates for graduation, but the number may be some what smaller at the close of this term's work.

Lockjaw.

The fearful tetanus, or lockjaw, was ascribed in all the books when I was a student to puncture or irritation of a nerve, and both hands and feet were sometimes cut off to stop the irritation going up the nerve to the spine. Now we know that it is due to a fatal poison in the blood which acts like strichnina, though more painfully, and which is produced by a bacillus lodged in a punctured wound made by some stick, nail or pistol wad on which this evil bacillus happened to be. It is a soil bacillus and swarms in rich garden earth, particularly where guano or fish manure is used. All wounds, therefore, into which earth has entered should be promptly cauterized.—Dr. William Hanta Thomson in Every-body's Magazine.

His Dance.

An organ grinder had been playing before the house of an irascible old gentleman, who furiously and amid wild gesticulations ordered him to move on. The Italian stolidly stood his ground and played on and at last was arrested for causing a disturbance. At the court the magistrate asked him why he did not leave when he was requested.

"Me no understand" mooch Inglese," was the reply.

"Well, but you must have understood by his motions that he wanted you to go," said the magistrate.

"I think he come to dance," was the rejoinder.—London Tatler.

Progress.

"My wife knew nothing of housekeeping to begin with, but she's learning fast."

"That's encouraging."

"Oh, she's a bright little woman, if I do say it! It has taken only two cooks to teach her to keep away from the kitchen, and I suppose that's at least half the battle."—Puck.

He Had Room.

"Dear me, Tom, you eat a good deal for a little fellow," remarked Uncle John to his nephew.

"I expect I aren't so little inside as I look outside," was Tom's ingenious answer.
