PRESIDENT THEODORE ROOSEVELT IS FIGHTING HUGHES' CANDIDACY.

Copyright, 1904, Puck, N. Y.

His friends say that the president is not at all anxious that the New York governor receive the support of his own state delegations. At the same time the president is reported to be favoring Taft as the man to carry out unfinished policies. Roosevelt's attitude on the presidential question is affording eastern journals much room for speculation and each day "inspired" stories as to the president's attitude toward different candidates are being published by Washington and New York papers.

BRYAN'S DAUGHTER NOT NOW SEPARATED

Peerless Leader Issues Statement in Behalf of the Leavitts.

NOTHING TO JUSTIFY IT.

Danville, Ill., Jan. 11.—In a statement given out here last night, William Jennings Bryan denied the story being circulated in the press of the country that his daughter Ruth and her artist husband Leavitt have separated. The report did not apparently disturb the equanimity of the Nebraskaan. A dispatch was handed to him concerning the matter just before he arose to speak at the post-Jackson day banquet. He read it carefully and said:

"That is not true. 'Is there anything whatever to justify such a report?' he was asked. 'There is nothing in it at all,' was his reply.

A Cure for Misery.

"I have found a cure for the misery malaria poison produces," says R. M. James, of Louellen, S. C. "It's called Electric Bitters, and comes in 50 cent bottles. It breaks up a case of chills or a bilious attack in almost no time; and it puts yellow jaundice clean out of commission." This great tonic medicine and blood purifier gives quick relief in all stomach, liver and kidney complaints and the misery of lame back. Sold under guarantee at A. G. Lukken & Co., drug store.

Fanny J. Crosby the blind hymn-writer who is now in her eighty-eighth year is still in vigorous health, and the other day wrote a poem at the dedication of a rescue home in her own town, Springfield, Mass. The title of the hymn she wrote was "Angels Give the Lay," and it will no doubt be set to music and be numbered with her other hymns, of which she has written over 5,000 in the song books.

BRIDE-TO-BE THE GROOM'S SISTER

Miner Discovers Relationship Before Wedding.

Englewood, S. D., Jan. 11.—Albert Jackson and Miss Minnie Burton discovered just before the day set for their marriage that they were brother and sister, and they have gone to northern Minnesota to make a search for their mother, whom they have not seen since they were little children. Jackson is a miner and has been in the "Black Hills" for several years. Miss Burton came to the hills six or seven months ago as a book agent. The young woman sold the young miner some books. Jackson fell in love with her, contrived to see her frequently, and a few weeks ago asked her to marry him. She consented and they set a day for the nuptials.

It came to light the day before the marriage was to be celebrated, however, that the young woman's real name was not Burton, but Worthington, and that the real name of her lover was not Jackson, but Worthington.

Each had been given away when a child. He had taken the name of the man who had adopted him and she that of the man who had adopted her.

The Huntsman's Mass.

"Once every year, on St. Hubert's day, one may see hundreds of dogs in the Cathedral of Notre Dame at Brussels. At the huntsman's mass on that day the owners of hunting dogs take the animals to church with them, and for a short time the sacred edifice becomes a dog show place," says a writer in a Berlin paper. To heighten the effect all the worshippers attend in hunting costume and the bugle plays an important part in the musical service. The last celebration took place a stranger in the city, who was staying at one of the large hotels near the place, strolled toward the cathedral and took with him a pet spaniel. "Every dog has his day," he said, "and this is it." At the church entrance two pointers growled at the little dog and did it so fiercely that the little fellow turned and ran. He was coaxed back, but again driven away by another large dog. "The owner took the hint," says the writer, "and returned to the hotel with his little pet, convinced that the big dogs looked upon the spaniel as an intruder, that he had no part in the St. Hubert's mass and that the day was not every dog's."

World's Finest Fruits.

An interesting discussion in the British Royal Horticultural society a few years ago as to what was the finest fruit in the world ended by giving the palm to a certain yellow nectarine raised from a peach by the late Francis Rivers. Next to this perhaps comes a properly ripened greengeorge, one of the best varieties of the plum. The greengeorge came into Europe by way of Italy and from Italy was brought to France early in the sixteenth century by the wife of Francis I., in whose honor it received the name of Reine Claude by which it is still widely known. Soon afterward it was introduced into England from Italy under the old Italian name Verdock and about the same time from France. The latter importation, however, came with lost labels to a family of prominent English amateur horticulturists of that day named Gage, from whom the fruit received its present name.—London Chronicle.
