FOR COLD AND COUGH
CURE.

Simple as it is, there is nothing better for colds and stubborn coughs. Tastes pleasant, too, and can be made at home at small cost.

Granulated Sugar Syrup, 12½ oz.

Pinex 2½ oz.

The 2½ oz. of Pinex will cost you 50 cents at any drug store. Put the Pinex in a pint bottle, then fill it up with the Granulated Sugar Syrup. Take a tea-spoonful every one, two or three hours, as required. The pint is enough to last a family a long time. Well corked, it keeps indefinitely.

Pinex is the most concentrated form of Norway white pine extract. It is rich in all the elements that have made the Norwegian pine forests famous in curing consumption and other membrane diseases.

In making up this prescription, do not expect good results unless you use Pinex. It may be that some druggists do not have it but they can get it for you easily if requested to do so.

STORE TEETH EXPLODE AND WRECK OFFICE

Was Caused by Vulcanizer Bursting.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 14.—A set of store teeth was directly or indirectly responsible for the wrecking of the dental office of Alexander P. Herron, dentist, Room 55. When building, just before noon. Either the teeth themselves or the holder in which they were being vulcanized, exploded and the office was badly smashed.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Catherine E. Leive, widow of Charles A. Leive, passed away at 3:15 p.m., today, after an illness of several years' duration.

Mrs. Leive was born in Osnabruck, Germany, Dec. 1st, 1840, and came to this country with her parents 14 years thereafter. Of a family of 12 children she is survived by but two brothers, Chris F. Bartel and Adam H. Bartel. Mrs. Leive leaves five children, two sons and three daughters, Mrs. Henry R. Siekmann, Mrs. Ed. H. Eggeneyer, Miss Lena Leive, Mr. John W. Leive and H. L. Leive of Indianapolis. After fifty-three years continuous residence in this city, the deceased leaves a large circle of friends and relatives to mourn her loss. At all times a consistent Christian woman, and always ready with kind words or deeds for the sick or afflicted, her death will be keenly felt. As she lived so also she died, patient, forebearing, kind, with never a thought of self but always for others. Mrs. Leive's constant wish was that she might be surrounded by her children at the end was gratified, and her passage to the realms of bliss was peaceful. Funeral notices later on. Please omit flowers.

The Last Straw.

A certain small boy much given to punctuating his remarks with the interrogative point rather exceeded himself the other day. All morning and all afternoon did he keep up a steady fire of questions. If it wasn't "Why does the wind blow?" it was "What makes the leaves green?" or "How many drops of water are there in the ocean?" At last his poor, long suffering mother could stand it no longer, and shortly before dinner she hustled him off to bed and told him to stay there until he could break himself of the foolish troublesome habit of asking questions. But the child sat in bed and the house quiet, the mother began to repent. How cross she had been, how impatient and how unwise and unmotherly it was to thus check the aspirations of the child's mind for useful knowledge. Here was this young, growing intellect, eager to reach out and grasp whatever was interesting and valuable, and here was she, to whose charge that young intellect had been committed, shirking her duty. At this stage in her reflections the mother rose and, repining to her son's bedside, told him that he wasn't such a dreadful boy, after all, and that if he had any more questions to ask she would do her best to answer them. "All right," replied the little boy, "Mamma, how far can a cat spit?"

THE ORIGINATOR OF THE TWENTY-FIVE SECOND LINGERING KISS.

MARY GARDEN, GRAND OPERA STAR.

curry-raising, kissas-kissas, whereof the old time theatre-goers of this city used to blithely.

The "Golden West" osculation comes in the second act. Miss Hall, who plays the part of "The Girl," rushes into the arms of her stage lover, Carl Bickert, who is a bold, bad outlaw.

Both close in a dreamy half-Nelson and the half-Nelson is countered by Mr. Bickert in an ardentさまよへし.

There was not a hint of shirkiness in the performance.

Back of the stage settings a fierce stage-storm rages. The wind moans and howls.

Still the kiss goes on.

A terrific blast from the gale pushes the door of the cabin open and hangs it at a lively rate. The windows of the cabin shake and rattle. The lamp on the table quivers and flickers. The paper snow blusters into the room.

Still the kiss goes on.

The orchestra plays Eliza-Crossing-Tae-tee kind of music and blushing misses steal sidelong glances at their starry escorts—and finally the kiss comes to an end. "I love you" breathes Bickert as if no one in the house had guessed that fact. The Golden West kiss has the "Louise" osculation lashed to the mast and starved to death.

There is much comment throughout the country concerning the new "Louise" kiss, just introduced in New York by Mary Garden and Charles Dalmores, two grand opera stars. This kiss lasts twenty-five seconds and is said to be about the most passionate on the market.

Richmond last Saturday night saw a stage kiss which as a lingerer does not fail to doff the hat to the famous "Louise" osculation. This kiss was introduced here by Miss Mary Hall and Carl J. Bickert in "The Girl of the Golden West." Like the "Louise" kiss it was "not a soft-wattled, butterfly-like brush of the lips of detonating salvo that startles the horses in the streets."

It was not even like the "Nether-sole," "Emma Abbott" or any other of the much exploited brands of mer-

One of the prettiest social affairs of the month was the anagram party given on Monday by Miss Marguerite Green of South Twentieth street, assisted by Miss Coral Weegham. It was the occasion of the announcement of the engagement of Miss Green to Mr. Karl Myers, both among Richmond's most prominent young people. The announcement was made by Miss Fayelle Fisdeck of Terre Haute, who was the honored guest, and who has been the house guest of Miss Green for several days. The wedding will take place in June.

The home was beautifully decorated in pink and green; carnations, sweet peas, ferns and smilax being used in the decorating scheme. Besides the festoonings of smilax, large bridal bells were suspended from the chandeliers in the living and dining room.

The feature of entertainment was a bridge and the prizes were awarded to Miss Elizabeth Thomas, and Miss Maude Zimmerman. During the hours a charming three course luncheon was served. The place cards were bridals and the engagements announced. The company included thirty and was the Misses Hattie Lyons, Mabel Farrow, Gertrude Lefever, Bessie Jones, Elaine Jones, Ann Dilks, Marcella Luken, Elizabeth Thomas, Maude Zimmerman, Alice Hill, Eagle Roney, Marie Green, Marie Weegham, Mabel Barber, Nina Harris, Ellen Swain, Angela Freeman, Irene Mather, Coral Hasecoster, Esther McCone, Mabel Stolkamp, Fayelle Fisdeck of Terre Haute and Mesdames Fred Gifford, Fred Davenport and Robert Study.

The Trifolium society of the First English Lutheran church held its regular meeting last evening at the home of Miss Sarah Swain, 36 South Twelfth street. The program consisted of a paper on "Universities and German Education" by Miss Ella Minter, "Dresden and its Art," by Mrs. Hubert Flederjohn, and "Leipzig and its Books," by Mrs. Daffy Mote. Several musical numbers were rendered by Miss Esther Besselman and Miss Alice Knollenberg. A buffet luncheon was served.

Miss Pearl Saunders, of North Eighth street, entertained as her guests Sunday Miss Grace Hough and Mr. Thurman Overman, of Earlham and Misses Arline Barlow and Nona Albright.

Miss Golde Daddison celebrated her eighteenth birthday anniversary Monday evening at her home on South Eleventh street, by entertaining a number of friends. The evening's entertainment consisted of games and music, after which a nice luncheon was served. The hostess was the recipient of many congratulations and best wishes.

The marriage of Mr. Dowell King, and Miss Angela Freeman will take place Wednesday. The principals are both well known young society people of the city and have a host of friends. They will make their future home in Nashville, Tenn., where Mr. King has charge of the accounting department of Gaar, Scott & Company.

The Musical Study club which met this morning had a very pleasant and profitable period in studying the life and compositions of MacDowell. Six local musicians and members of the club participated.

Mrs. Joseph H. Mills is hostess this afternoon to a large company of friends at a luncheon at her home on South Ninth street.

Mrs. Thomas R. Jessop was hostess to the Criterion Literary society, Monday afternoon at her home on North Nineteenth street. The club is making a study of the growth of the various world powers. Russia is at present under consideration.
