FRANKFORT ASKS AN INVESTIGATION

People of Indiana City Not
Content to Let Suicide
Theory Prevail.

THINK WOMAN MURDERED.

MINISTER IN FUNERAL SERMON
SAID WOMAN COMMITTED SUI-
CIDE AND HIS STATEMENTS
CREATED SENSATION.

Frankfort, Ind., Jan. 20.—Frankfort is not satisfied with the suicide theory which has been advanced to explain the mysterious death of Mrs. Ella Dukes, and that the burial yesterday afternoon was the final act of the tragedy is doubted. Chief of Police Bird said last night in his opinion Mrs. Dukes, whose body was found with a bullet wound in her breast, had killed herself. Elder Quincy A. Kennedy, who conducted the funeral services, referred to the woman's death as suicide, but there remain some unexplained circumstances which point to murder.

For the first time since her sister's death Mrs. Anna Dunbar, who was apparently unaffected by the tragedy, was overcome by emotion at the funeral. The husband from whom Mrs. Dukes had been separated attended the funeral. He declared that a minister was responsible for the tragedy. He said that a Holiness minister had promised to marry Mrs. Dukes and the preacher's failure to fulfill this promise had caused her to commit suicide.

Calico Defies Solution.
Several strips of calico stand in the way of a solution of the affair. One shred of the calico was found in the dead woman's trunk at her sister's home; other pieces were found about her limbs, and still another was found in a vacant lot several squares from the place where the body was found. The absence of blood adds to the murder theory as it is argued that these circumstances cannot be accounted for unless the woman was murdered and her body carried to the house on McKinley avenue where it was found.

Thousands viewed the body and attended the funeral services. Elder Kennedy of the First Christian church read the story of the suicide of Saul and said that the same conditions may have given Mrs. Dukes a cause to kill herself.

Condemns Sensational Rumors.
The minister referred to the sensational rumors which have been afloat since the finding of the body and bitterly condemned such stories, which, he said, had caused many suicides.

Every word of the sermon was listened to with eagerness and the statements of Elder Kennedy caused little less than a sensation. There is a feeling of unrest in the city which is interspersed as a demand for a thorough investigation.

Chief of Police Bird will probably go deeper into the affair, as he has promised to begin an investigation this morning. In spite of his statement that in his opinion the woman committed suicide, Coroner Brown will investigate the affair.

A STRENUOUS RULE.

Daring, Coolness and Bravery of James IV. of Scotland.

One of the interesting characters of history is James IV., king of Scotland from 1473 to 1513. He was athletic, courageous and fond of adventure. In putting down insurrections and improving the criminal administration of the country he was foremost in the ranks and did not shun a hand to hand contest. He married a daughter of Henry VII. of England and made a treaty which secured peace between the two countries. He labored to build up a navy and develop commerce and showed skillful diplomacy in dealing with other nations. He was killed in battle at Flodden, where his army was disastrously defeated by Henry VIII.

Those were strenuous times, when it was necessary for a king to be a fighter and to inspire his obstreperous subjects with some degree of terror. King James used often to go about the country in different disguises, not only because he loved adventure, but because he could thus secure information on the state of the nation at first hand.

It is related of the vigorous Scottish king that once when wandering through the hills during the night he was overtaken by a violent storm and was obliged to take shelter in a cavern near Wemyss, which is one of the most remarkable antiquities of Scotland. Having advanced some way in, the king discovered a number of men and women ready to begin to roast a sheep for supper. From their appearance he suspected that he had fallen into evil company, but as it was then too late he asked hospitality from them till the tempest was over. They granted it and invited the king, who was unknown to them, to sit down and join them at supper. They were a notorious band of robbers and cutthroats, and this fact soon dawned upon James.

As soon as they had finished their supper one of them presented a plate on which two daggers were laid in the form of a St. Andrew's cross, telling the king that this was the dessert they always served to strangers; that he must choose one of the daggers and fight him whom the company selected as his antagonist. The king, realizing that he was to be murdered, instantly seized both daggers, one in each hand, and plunged them into the hearts of the two robbers nearest to him. He then dashed out of the cave and made his escape, returning as soon as possible with a body of soldiers, by whom the whole band was arrested and publicly hanged.—Pittsburgh Courier.

ENGAGEMENT OF MISS GLADYS VANDERBILT TO COUNT SZECHENYI CAUSES TROUBLE.

There are evidences that the engagement of Miss Gladys Vanderbilt to Count Lazo Szechenyi, appears to have caused a split in the Vanderbilt family. At a recent dinner given in honor of the visiting members of the Szechenyi family, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt were conspicuous by their absence. The pictures at the top are those of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred G. Vanderbilt. Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, mother of the bride-to-be is shown below.

TRESTLE COLLAPSED AND TRAIN FELL

Three Men Were Killed and
Two Fatally Hurt in a Railroad Accident.

WRECKAGE CAUGHT FIRE.
PEOPLE ATTRACTED TO SCENE
SOON EXTINGUISHED THE BLAZE—EXCURSION TRAIN HAD NARROW ESCAPE.

New Albany, Ind., Jan. 20.—Three were killed and two fatally injured in a freight wreck at the Corydon Junction, on the Southern Railroad, 17 miles west of here yesterday afternoon when a freight train plunged over a trestle 90 feet high.

The dead are:
Clarence Dunham, engineer, 30 years of age; W. H. Scott, fireman, aged 28; Frank Carter, brakeman, aged 25.

The injured are James W. Pritchett, conductor, aged 35, and Clyde Stewart, brakeman, aged 26, of this city.

The train, which was a special west-bound freight, consisting of two cars, engine and caboose, left here at 11 o'clock, and the accident happened shortly after 12. The engine, a huge mogul, which had been in use on the road only a short time, left the track and the trestle gave way beneath its weight. The dead and injured were brought to this city.

The wreckage caught fire, but the people of the village, attracted by the crash, quickly extinguished the flames. Just twenty minutes before the wreck occurred, an Evansville passenger train, every coach filled with Sunday excursionists, had passed over the trestle.

Victoria Water Lilies.
The giant water lilies which are known now as Victorias, after the late queen of England, are natives of the warmer portions of South America, where they thrive in lagoons and in the quieter portions of rivers. Haenke, a German botanist, first reported their discovery in 1801 and started all Europe by his description of their gigantic leaves and flowers. Almost half a century had elapsed in fruitless experiments to introduce the plant into the old world when in 1840 the first flower opened on the Duke of Devonshire's estate at Chatsworth, England.

CHARLES EMORY SMITH IS DEAD

Former Postmaster General
Found Dead in Philadelphia Home.

WAS FAMOUS JOURNALIST.
EDITOR OF THE PHILADELPHIA
PRESS—WIFE FOUND REMAINS
OF HER HUSBAND ON RETURN-ING FROM CHURCH.

Philadelphia, Jan. 20.—Charles Emory Smith, editor of the Press, former Minister to Russia and postmaster-general, died suddenly at his home here Sunday, aged 65. Death was caused by heart trouble.

For a month Mr. Smith has been in poor health, but his condition was not regarded as serious. Following a dinner in New York on November 20 he suffered an acute attack of indigestion, which, according to his physician gave indication of heart trouble.

Before he had recovered from the effects of this attack Mr. Smith contracted the grip, which affected his heart. One week ago he was ordered to Atlantic City to recuperate. When he returned to his home here on Saturday night he appeared to be bright and cheerful.

Found Dead in His Room.

Mrs. Smith attended church Sunday morning and on her return to the house Mr. Smith was found dead, lying across his bed. He had apparently been stricken while on his way to the bathroom.
