CUPID TANGLES TELEPHONE WIRES; INVALID WEDS TELEPHONE OPERATOR

New York, Jan. 22.—A romance that began in the telephone booth of a New York hospital has culminated in a marriage in Hoboken, N. J. The bridegroom is Walter C. Pierson, whose home is in New York, who has been living in Hoboken for several years, and the bride Miss Bael Hamilton Adams of Stapleton, Staten Island. They were married by the Rev. John Rudolph, pastor of the German Evangelical church. The witnesses were Samuel T. Jackson and Walter S. Maher friends of the young husband. On Saturday morning, Aug. 6, 1906, Pierson was walking down Twenty-third street, Manhattan, going toward the ferry when a man, said to have been insane, ran out from a doorway and plunged a knife into his back. Pierson was taken to the New York hospital, where it was found that his spinal cord has been almost severed. He hovered between life and death for several weeks, and when he was finally able to get up, made his way about the hospital on crutches. To pass the time away he used to telephone frequently, and in this way became acquainted with the young woman who is now his wife. The bride was at that time a telephone operator in the hospital. Cupid immediately got very busy and the inevitable sequel quickly followed.

SINIEWS OF STATE DEMOCRACY TENDER JACKSON RECEPTION

Event at Greenfield Last Night
Was One of the Big Democratic Meetings of the Year
And Was of Interest.

CO-OPERATION URGED BY CHAIRMAN TAGGART.

Number of Gubernatorial Aspirants Attended and Aided
In Making the Event a Big Jackson Whoorah.

Greenfield, Ind., Jan. 22.—My life fellow citizens of Hancock county and the leaders of Indiana democracy, Stokes Jackson, of this city, recently elected chairman of the state democracy, was tendered last night a reception little short of an ovation. Despite the fact that Jackson is particularly honored as a democratic leader, the event was made noteworthy by the tributes of many republicans, among who are Will A. Hough, republican candidate for congress from the Sixth district and W. S. Montgomery, a republican editor.

Judge Edwin W. Felt presided at the meeting and presiding his introduction of speakers he read letters of regret from several who had been invited to make addresses. National Chairman Thomas Taggart, excused his absence because of necessary presence in Denver in connection with arrangements for the national convention. In his letter Chairman Taggart congratulated Indiana democrats upon the selection of Jackson, and made this statement:

"Much has been said, particularly by republican newspapers and apparently believed by democrats, that there are factions in the democratic party, but I feel sure that if the democrats of the state will give their honorable support, stop quarreling and clucking among themselves and wage their warfare upon the common enemy, the republican party, Indiana again will be placed in the democratic column where it properly belongs."

"If We All Join Hands."

"I have no candidate for any office, and my only desire in the coming campaign is to see democratic success and if we all join hands in one grand effort to make a thorough investigation with a platform and candidates in whom the people have confidence, I feel victory will perch upon Democratic banners in November."

William Jennings Bryan paid a high tribute to Chairman Jackson in a personal letter. He said:

"I write to assure you that I have confidence in your Democracy and in your personal friendship for me."

Speeches of appreciation were made by the following fellow townsmen of Chairman Jackson: Judge R. L. Mason, Jonas Walker, W. W. Cook and W. C. Welborn.

Michael Foley of Crawfordsville, Chairman of the Ninth District, whose vote on the forty-second ballot in the State Committee meeting elected Jackson, defended himself against the charges of vacillation, which have been made against him. He asserted that he had no apologies to make.

Chairman in Fact.

Jackson spoke in a definite manner of the position he expects to maintain as Chairman of the Democratic party in Indiana. He declared that he intended to be "Chairman in fact, as well as in name," and that every Democrat would look alike to him in every particular. He begged that all judgment be suspended until his record could be made.

Addresses were made by Samuel L. Raiston, of Lebanon; L. Ert Slack, of Franklin; Carroll K. McCullough, of Anderson; Thomas R. Marshall of Columbia City, and Thomas H. Kuhn, of Richmond. All of these men are candidates for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Every candidate took a definite stand for clean party administration methods, and went on record as favoring the following issues for a Democratic platform: "Local option, economy of administration, and Bryan for President."

Amphibious Man.

Man becomes almost amphibious in certain regions. Temperature permitting, he swims as well, dives better, than many animals—better, for instance, than any dogs. The Greek sponge fishers and the Arab divers must have sight almost as keen below water as that of the sea otter. They have even learned by practice to control the consumption of the air supply in their lungs. The usual time for a hippopotamus to remain below water is five minutes. The pearl fisher can remain below two and a half minutes. In a tank a diver has remained under water for four minutes. But temperature marks the limits of man's amphibious habits.—London Spectator.

Would Keep It Down.

The late Bishop Dudley of Kentucky could administer a delicate rebuke, but usually took pains that the point should be obvious. A wealthy but unusually stingy member of his church told him he was going abroad. "I have never been on the ocean," said the old skunk to the bishop, "and I should like to know something that will keep me from getting seasick." "You might swallow a nickel," responded the bishop.

PALLADIUM WANT ADS PAY.

Better Late Than Never.

Easter will be observed this year on April 19th, the latest that it has come for a century or more. The date of the great Christian feast day is determined as the first Sunday after the first full moon, which happens on or after March 21st, so that the day may be as early as March 21st or as late as April 25th. This year the full moon is on April 16th and the next Sunday is the 19th. Ash Wednesday will occur March 4th, also unusually late, and society folks will not be obliged to lay aside their worldly pleasures until almost a month later than usual.

ARMY CANTEN AN AID TO OFFICERS

Were Fewer Desertions When
The Army Maintained
Drinking Places.

MORALS HAVE SUFFERED.

THE CANTEN HOWEVER CAN NOT BE BLAMED FOR ALL OF
THIS—MAJOR GENERAL BELL
MAKES KNOWN OBSERVATIONS.

Washington, Jan. 22.—To definitely settle certain important questions of fact relative to the army canteen system and to meet the assertion that the repeated application of the War Department for the repeal of the law which abolished the canteen was not based upon facts, Major General Bell, chief of staff, has caused a careful study of the matter to be made and a full record prepared with the view of placing before the secretary of war the reasons why the law should be repealed. This statement forms one of the principal chapters in his annual report. General Bell reaches this conclusion: "When the canteen was in operation there were fewer desertions, fewer fines and forfeitures imposed by sentence of court-martial, less alcoholism and less venereal disease than prior to its establishment. The morals and discipline of the army have suffered, though, of course, no one should be so narrow as to ascribe to the abolition of the canteen feature all evil effects observable."

WORK OF THE LUNGS.

What Has Happened When an Athlete Gets "Winded."

The football match is stopped. "Man hurt." "Take time off"—these are the expressions to be heard when a player is "winded." But why has he collapsed? Why is he gasping for air? A few facts concerning the lungs will explain matters.

You have 200 cubic inches of air in your chest, and you only breathe out at each expiration about twenty to thirty of these. Try as hard as you can, you are unable to breathe out all the air. It would be bad for you if you could, for your lungs are in a kind of bag. Prick this, and the lungs collapse.

The footballer has had too much air knocked out of him. No wonder he gasps, for the atmosphere is pressing on his chest at the rate of fifteen pounds to the square inch. He has lost some of the air inside which should press against the pressure outside.

What about the work of the lungs? Suppose the word "larder" is used instead. That is just the idea. The impure blood travels to the lungs quite dark red in color. The reason is that it contains much carbonic acid gas.

Try breathing through a tube into some limewater. Notice the clean water becomes milky. This gas is continually passing from the blood into the lungs.

You have to breathe six or eight times before the air reaches the bottom of the lungs. The first breath only sets to your collar stud. The oxygen you have inspired meets some carbonic acid gas, and they change places.

Down the oxygen goes till it meets the air cells. Imagine a prison cell with a transparent door. The blood, as it were, can see the oxygen. Right through the skin wall the oxygen passes. The carbonic acid gas also passes out into the lung, to be expired.

What is the blood taking away? Your blood is full of small live bodies—corpuscles—and these will take as much oxygen as you can give them. The blood is so happy when it obtains some of this gas that it changes its color from dark to light red. Away it goes round the body and in a minute or two comes back to the lungs with a fresh cargo of impure gas.

In one day you breathe out 15,000 cubic inches of this impure gas. Weigh it, and there are six ounces of solid carbon. There is enough material for a dozen lead pencils. Put this fact in another way.

You will breathe out in one year 137 pounds of solid matter, perhaps as much as you weigh.

Where does it all go? you ask. What about the trees and shrubs? They are principally made of carbon. Perhaps a tree contains some parts of what was once man.

A microscope will show you holes on the under side of a leaf. At certain times of the day this breathed out gas from human beings enters and passes into the interior of the leaf.

Now, a leaf is green because it contains millions of chlorophyll bodies. These take the carbonic acid gas—eat, if you will, the carbon—and set the oxygen free to be rebreathed by man.—Pearson's Weekly.

The price of eggs has advanced in England greatly in late years. The value of last year's home product was £2,500,000 greater than that of twelve years ago.

TEN DAYS IN JAIL FOR ALLEGED THEFT

Dollar Ingersol Watch Was Missed and Man Locked
Up on Suspicion.

THE POLICE DID NOT KNOW.

LABORED UNDER THE IMPRES-SION THAT INSTRUMENT WAS
OF MUCH VALUE FOR INSIST-
ENT DEMANDS FOR AN ARREST.

William Woods, a colored man, was released today from the city jail, where he had been confined for the past ten days on a charge of suspicion. Woods was suspected of having stolen a valuable watch from Mrs. Clara Rickman, who lives in the north end of the city. Mr. and Mrs. Rickman have been most energetic in urging the police to place the thief in custody and they were confident that Woods was the guilty party.

Ever since his arrest, Woods has stoutly maintained that he did not steal the Rickman watch, and the three men who were supposed to have seen Woods with the stolen property testified, when brought before Chief Bailey, that they had not seen the colored man with the "ticker." Failing to secure any incriminating evidence against Woods, it was decided today to release him.

After Woods had joyfully taken his departure from durance vile Chief Bailey said that the watch over which hub-bub had arisen was an Ingersol time-piece, which can be obtained from any reliable dealer for the price of one dollar. Owing to the clamor made about the theft of the Rickman watch, Chief Bailey took it for granted that the time-piece was a valuable one. Not until today did he think of inquiring about the make or value of it.
