the office-holders are against Taft and for Foraker. If the president has at last tried to make it understood in that state that a man does not have to be for Foraker and against the administration, in order to have a job? Why should he not do this? Is he bound to appoint only men who will attack his own measures? Ought he not confer with the members of his cabinet, T. R. and Garfield in Ohio, Bonaparte in Maryland, or Wilson in Iowa, as to the men whom he shall appoint in these respective states? In New Hampshire, when the two senators disagreed, and he nominated a man at the suggestion of Winston Churchill, why should he not do it? The bulk of the office-holders there are still working with the machine against Taft. In New York, the president's own state, the most prominent appointment made, that of the collector of customs, was a man hostile to Taft. The bulk of office-holders in Pennsylvania are for Knox. Is this "paying on the lash to make them use the government's time and money to impose the president's personal choice upon the convention?" Indeed it is my own conviction that if the president were to make a much more liberal use of the axe in decimating those who are using their offices to control political movements, neglecting their public duties and creating scandal, he would be performing a valuable service for good government. Are you willing to give this letter the same publicity as your editorial? I await an early reply to my inquiries. Yours,

W. D. FOULKE.

A LEMON WILL BE HANDED TO DEPAUW IN TONIGHT'S GAME

EARLHAM BASKET BALL TEAM LEFT FOR GREENCASTLE THIS AFTERNOON DETERMINED TO WIN OVER THE METHODISTS.

COACH VAIL IS CONFIDENT.

Many Weaknesses Which Were Made Evident in Game With Miami University Have Been Corrected, He Says.

The Earlham basketball team left for Greenastle this afternoon, to go up against the Methodist squad at De Pauw this evening. The Quakers have been undergoing hard practice games every evening this week, and these skirmishes, along with the practice they have had in goal throwing, preclude any chance of De Pauw's winning, in the minds of the Earlham students. Coach Vail stated that all of the poor plays, team work and passing of the ball, which were made evident last Friday night in the game with Miami, has been corrected and that he expects the Quakers to hand the Methodists the small end of the score this evening. The Earlham lineup for this evening will be: Chambers (Capt.) and Hotchkiss, forwards; Genn, center; Vail and Newsome, guards. Coach Vail accompanied the team.

BASKET BALL GAMES AT CENTERVILLE

Richmond Reserves Will Meet All Stars.

Centerville, Ind., Jan. 24.—A hot game of basket ball is expected at Centerville tonight. The Cubs will meet the fast Fountain City team. The All Stars will meet the Richmond Reserves. Lineup of the Cubs: Walker and Russel, forward; Bedtsch, center; Medearis and Rohe, guards. All Stars—Smeiser and Sparr, forward; V. Lundy, center; Cheeseman and E. Lundy, guards.

RICHMOND MUST COME IN FOLD SAY OHIO MEN

Sporting Writers in Ohio State League Circuit Say This City Cannot Join Indiana-Ohio Organization.

O. S. L. IS GRANTED PROTECTION FOR RICHMOND.

Quaker City Is a Good Baseball Town and Fans Will Insist on Buckeye League, Says a Newark Scribe.

Sporting writers all over the Ohio State league circuit refuse to believe that Richmond will be identified with the Indiana-Ohio league the coming season. "If Richmond sees organized baseball this season it must be in the Ohio State League," is the burden of their statements. They insist that Richmond cannot secure national protection if it joins the I. O. circuit. Here is what the sporting scribe on the Newark Advocate has to say: "Steps will be taken at once by President Bobby Quinn of the Ohio league to compete the organization and a meeting will probably be called for Monday. He states that he has already received requests from a number of places that are desirous of entering the new league and looks for the organization to be completed within the next week."

"Disposition of the Springfield franchise leaves two cities to be looked after and Hamilton is clamoring for admittance and the men who are backing a team in that city report that they are meeting with all kinds of encouragement and anticipate no trouble whatever in financing the project."

"While it is true that Richmond holds a franchise in the Indiana-Ohio league, it is quite probable that berth will be dropped and a place taken in the Ohio State as soon as the matter of protection is understood. Richmond fans want to move up in fast company and it is claimed that a berth in the Ohio league will be a good paying proposition. It is a good ball town and the four old clubs would like to see that city a member of the new organization."

"With Newark, Lancaster, Mansfield, Marion, Lima, Springfield, Hamilton and Richmond, the league would be a strong one and the mileage saved over that of the old O. and P. circuit would be considerable and would amount to a snug little sum. All of the cities are good ball towns and there is no doubt but what the game would be liberally patronized.

"At Lima, Tuesday night, the committee appointed by the local baseball organization met in the office of W. T. Newman and had a very enthusiastic meeting. All necessary steps were taken to enter the new league and when the Columbus meeting is held, Lima will be there with mazama which is required as a guarantee of good faith."

"Secretary Farrell's latest bulletin puts to route the idea that Richmond will have to remain in the Indiana-Ohio league. It shows that the territory in Richmond, Springfield, Lima and Hamilton has been reserved for the Ohio State. The only way in which Richmond can stay out of the league and remain with the Indiana league is to make that organization an outlaw league."

NOTICE.

There will be a meeting of Div. 598 B. of L. E. on Saturday night of Jan. 25th, instead of the regular 4th Sunday meeting. A good attendance is desired.

SKEWER LANGUAGE.

Method of Marking Meat in the Great Beef Markets.

There are about fifty men in the metropolis, says the New York Sun, who know how to make meat skewers keep a record of their business transactions. These men are the representatives of the Chicago packers, who sell thousands of quarters of beef every day to butchers.

The work of these men is accomplished with great rapidity. Frequently they are making sale to a dozen butchers at the same time, and to record these sales in a book would not only consume a lot of time, but would be difficult, as all quarters of beef look alike.

As soon as a sale is made the salesman sticks skewers into the quarter selected by the butcher. The skewers are placed in such a way that each butcher's purchases are easily picked out when the time comes for delivering them.

As some of the salesmen have as many as a hundred customers in a day, it is evident that as many combinations of the skewers have to be formed. In no case are more than three skewers used on a piece of beef.

In one big icebox there are twenty rows of quarters, with forty quarters in each row. In each piece of beef were skewers, placed at various angles, straight up, two of them crossed and in every conceivable combination.

"I know by these skewers whom each piece belongs to," said the salesman.

"Every beef house salesman has his own signs."

"This method of marking the meat serves several purposes in addition to that of saving time. A salesman from another house could not come in here and find out what my customers have bought by looking at the skewers, which would be easy enough if the meat had their names on."

"Neither can one butcher find out what quality of beef another is buying. I could make a thousand signs without using more than three skewers on any one piece of meat."

ONE TEAM HAS DROPPED OUT OF THE CITY BOWLING LEAGUE

Few good scores, but fair averages were made in the contest between the Entre Nous and Bortons in the City Bowling league last evening. The Entre Nous won two of the three games, but the Bortons had the larger number of total pins.

The tall-enders in the league, which have had a very checkered career, having gone under several different names have given up the fight and dropped out of the league. The dates which were to have been filled by this team will probably be given up to small ball contests or tournament games. Summary:

A Fallacy.
"A woman has no sense of humor," remarked the acid man.

"That is a fallacy," answered his wife, "that has arisen from the fact that most of them are not so stupid as to laugh at their husbands' efforts to be clever."—Washington Star.
