STAMP TAKEN FROM LOVE LETTER WILL FURNISH TROSSEAU FOR GRANDDAUGHTER

Philadelphia, Jan. 25.—A little touch of sentiment was injected into the ordinary prosaic stamp sale at the Freeman building yesterday, when an old local "provisional" stamp of the early fifties was sold for $3,000, providing money for the future trossau of a little twelve year old girl of Alexandria, Va. The stamp was taken from one of the love letters written by her grandfather to her grandmother.

The Fawcetts of Alexandria are one of the oldest families in Virginia, and were well-to-do before the war. They have become so poor of late years that Mrs. Janette Fawcett, 76 years old, has been in despair of keeping her promise of providing the wedding outfit for her little granddaughter, Janette.

Just before Christmas, in going through some things in an old trunk, she came across a bundle of letters. On one of the envelopes was an old "provisional" stamp. She realized that it was valuable, and it was brought to this city by a friend and placed on sale yesterday, and, to the surprise of everyone, a collector from Cleveland paid $3,000 for it.

Very few of the "provisional" stamps were issued, and this particular stamp is different from any others that have come to light. It was issued by the Postmaster of Alexandria in 1847 and is printed in black ink on light blue paper. All the other stamps of the kind that are known to be extant are printed in black on buff paper. The stamp is circular in shape and the size of a half dollar. In the center is the word "Paid," with a "5" underneath. This is encircled with the words "Post Office, Alexandria," and around the whole is a circle of stars.

When the police got on his trail in Chicago, Witzhoff went to New York. He opened a matrimonial bureau with a force of twenty-seven confederates. Marriage became their profession. Hundreds of women were duped. As soon as their husbands got hold of their money they disappeared.

Witzhoff materially increased his record there before detectives chased him out of the city. Hynes has been operating here nearly two years. It is not known yet how many victims he found. In every case so far reported he married the women simply to get their money, then deserted them.

Hynes will be tried for matrimonial fraud and bigamy.

A Powerful Indorsement.
Many years ago there was considerable illness in Harrisburg, which was attributed to the waters of the Susquehanna river, then the source of the city supply. One of the members of the legislature for that year, upon his return to his constituents, was interviewed concerning the plague. He soon settled the question. "Upon my soul, gentlemen," he declared, "the report of the foulness of the water was a slander on the city of Harrisburg. I absolutely know the water to be perfectly healthful, for during the session I drank the water on two different occasions, and I never experienced any ill effect whatever."—Pittsburg Press.

Music and Method.
The sane, healthy way to study the piano is to apply one's thought directly to the work laid out methodically by the teacher for a certain length of time every day. That length of time depends entirely upon the future that the student may decide upon. If he or she take up music as a profession, four hours daily should be given to study; if as an amateur, two hours are enough. In both cases the division of time devoted to practice should be not less than one hour.—J. J. Padernowski in Strand Magazine.

Fears of Habit.
"I-I must not listen to you, Mr. Pen-yalline," protested the blushing girl, with eyes downcast. "You are only trifling, and—and, besides, it is getting late."

"Please hear me out, Miss Helen," pleaded the infatuated young reporter. "I'll cut it down to 250 words."

THE CLOTH IS IN DEMAND.

"THE OLD WOMAN" WHO MADE IT QUITE BUSY—THREE REPRESENTATIVES NOW CLAD IN UNIQUE CLOTHES.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 25.—They are going to form a "homespun brigade" in the house and go back to first principles. Representative Wyatt Aiken of South Carolina, is the organizer of the brigade. During the Fifty-ninth congress Mr. Aiken came up from his home in Abbeville with his round figure clad in an old fashioned homespun suit. One day he was passing through the speaker's lobby and encountered "Uncle Joe" Cannon.

"Aiken," said the speaker, "where the devil did you get that jeans? Do you know I haven't seen any of that cloth since I was a boy in North Carolina."

Mr. Aiken explained that an old woman in his district had made it, and the next time he went back to South Carolina he brought back a bolt of cloth and presented it to the speaker. "Uncle Joe" had it made into a suit which made him the envy of every man in the house. Since that time Mr. Aiken has been able to get recognition and postoffices whenever he wanted them, but he has been besieged by a score or more of members for cloth enough to "make a suit like 'Uncle Joe's'."

Last spring when he went home he engaged the old woman to make all the homespun she could during the summer. The result was three suitings. These Mr. Aiken brought up to Washington yesterday and presented to Representative Ryan of New York, Representative Lee of Georgia, and Representative Griggs of Georgia. These three, with the speaker and Mr. Aiken, will form the charter membership of the "homespun brigade." Other applicants will be admitted when the old woman turns out some more jeans. It is costing Mr. Aiken a lot for uniforms, but he doesn't mind that for he gets everything else he wants.

FOUGHT IN A FOG.
A Duel in Which Neither Principal Could See the Other.
The most laughable duel ever "fought" in France was that which took place in November, 1878, at Plessis-Piquet between Messrs. Gambetta and De Fourton.

Some heated words had passed between the two distinguished gentlemen in the chamber of deputies, for which, according to their ideas of honor, nothing could atone except a duel. The men met therefore on the field attended by their seconds and the surgeons.

A look over the field was enough to convince any one present that there would be no occasion for the doctors' services. A thick November fog hung over the scene—so thick, indeed, that one could hardly see his hand before his face. The arrangements for the duel required that it should be fought at thirty-five paces.

Nor was the fog the only circumstance that tended to place the combatants out of sight of each other. On the way to the field M. de Fourton is reported to have said:

"M. Gambetta has but one eye, and I am shortsighted, so the game will be about even."

It was, of course, rendered still more "even" by the fog. Neither man could see the other, and the sole danger was to the seconds and the doctors.

Almost miraculously the two bullets that were exchanged missed the persons in attendance. Everybody's honor was satisfied and the whole party went home. Gambetta said that the affair was as near to being a skirmish in the dark as anything he ever saw.—Philadelphia Ledger.

CATS HUNGER COST MAN'S LIFE

Went to Feed Tabby and There
Was Gas Explosion.

Joplin, Mo., Jan. 25.—Marvin Reynolds, 20 years old, night clerk at the Olivia apartments, was killed and Mr. and Mrs. John E. Stephens seriously injured by an explosion of natural gas today. The explosion occurred early when Reynolds went with a candle to a store room in the basement of the hotel to feed a hungry cat. The force of the explosion was such that windows were broken in houses across the street and articles were thrown from the sixth story of the Olivia.

THE NEGROES.
Odd Marriage Ceremony of These Barbarous Little People.

Belonging as they do to the lowest type of civilization as yet discovered, the Negroes of Malaya and their kindred in the West Indies, are primitive, barbarous little people, their customs are those of prehistoric man. They have no fixed home or settlements, but are wanderers over their mountainous islands, sleeping under a banana leaf, living on herbs and berries and game.

Their marriage ceremony is a unique survival of early life. The suitor and a few companions dance about the shelter of the desired girl. There is a curious resemblance between the dances of the prospective bridegroom and those of the man of the game birds of our woodland. Finally the girl, accompanied by her mother, starts toward the dwelling of the young man. They frequently stop, squatting in the trail while the ardent suitor and his companions continue their entreating and bewitching dances, winding round and round the girl. Presents are generally demanded and must be given before the reluctant bride will proceed. Finally the women arrive near a steep bamboo platform. A wild shout pierces the air, and the bridegroom, like a frenzied animal, tears through the Negroes assembled at the base of the platform, snatches the bride in his arms and flies up the incline with his mate, where they sit during the wedding feast.—New York Herald.
