

DEMOCRATIC MEN FLOCKING TO THE TEMPERANCE PLANK

Candidates for Governor Following the Lead of the Rev. T. H. Kuhn Are Taking Up Various Issues.

LOCAL MAN FOR PLANK FROM THE VERY START.

Jeffersonians in Indiana Realize That Not to Take Stand For Popular Cause Would Be Suicidal to Party.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 27.—That the democratic leaders have determined to meet the republicans on any temperance issue they may inject into their platform for the coming campaign is becoming apparent, and declarations to that effect are expected from them within the next few weeks. No attempt has been made to outline a program for the democracy, but two candidates for governor have declared for reform, and the others are known to hold similar views. Samuel M. Ralston of Lebanon, who is said to be the favorite of the Taggart machine, has come out openly for a local option law. Carroll K. McCullough, of Anderson, who was said to have entered into a deal with Crawford Fairbanks, the Terre Haute brewer, to deliver the Eighth district to the Taggart forces in the recent fight over the state committee, says he stands for reform and strict law enforcement. Furthermore, he denies emphatically that he entered into an alliance with the brewery forces.

Rev. Thomas Kuhn, of Richmond, who aspires to the nomination for governor, has been regarded as the democratic temperance candidate from the start. Senator L. Ert Slack, of Franklin, has been referred to generally as the favorite of the democratic portion of the anti-saloon league. Thos. R. Marshall, of Columbia City, who is pointed out as a man who is in a good position to land the nomination is said to hold views similar to the other candidates.

The democratic leaders are said to have been convinced only recently that they would sound the death knell for their party if they tried to dodge the temperance issue, and to have contented reluctantly to yield to what, apparently, is inevitable. Their plan now is to follow the action of the republican state convention, April 1 and 2. There is a disposition among the democrats to hold their convention early, but it is not likely that a date earlier than the middle of May will be selected.

The republicans, in the meantime, will have declared in favor of a local option law, unless sentiment changes. Since the defeat of the high license bill by the democrats, in the last legislature, most of the republican leaders have been in favor of a local option or high license plank.

The fact that the democrats went on record, in the last legislature, as being opposed to further temperance legislation, caused the republican campaign managers to throw out feelers to see what sentiment existed, and they were convinced very early that a radical declaration on the temperance question would prove a popular issue.

The anti-saloon league has indicated that it will demand the enactment of a local option law, and the republican leaders who are now in control of the machinery seem to feel that their will should be respected. The fact that a strong temperance wave is sweeping the state seems to have struck the republican politicians first and the democrats second, but both sides are now getting in line with the popular demand. It is said that it is the hope of the democratic leaders to rob the republicans of the advantage they expect to gain by declaring for local option, but the republicans have arranged to beat them on the issue.

THE FIRST BALLOT

Estimates Now Being Made as To Relative Strength of Candidates.

WATSON IS IN THE LEAD.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 27.—Estimates are now being made on the relative strength of the republican candidates for governor on the first ballot. One politician attempted this week to get some figures to take to his chief at Washington. He says that congressman Watson's strength on the first ballot was variously estimated to him at from 630 to 650 votes. Van L. Taylor about 400; Charles W. Miller, about 300; Lieutenant Governor Miller, about 200. The winning candidate must receive 734 votes. Watson's managers are very hopeful of winning on the first ballot and are confident that the nomination will come to him not later than the second.

Charles W. Miller's friends insist that the race is between him and Watson, and that his chances are as good as even. They are not making any estimates. Taylor is very optimistic, and is claiming the nomination. Hugh Th. Miller is not making any estimates, and is said to be playing largely for second choice votes.

The delegates are now being elected, and all of the candidates and their lieutenants are working night and day to land them.

Disinterested Professional Advice. "Bring me that beefsteak potpie!" "Yassah," said the dining car waiter, listening near by.

"And bring me some of those French peas!"

"Yassah; but boss, maybe you all don't know dey's French peas in dat pie."

"No, I didn't. Thanks, George. And—ah—and—ah, then bring me some potatoes."

"Yassah, boss; but maybe you all didn't know dey's tateles, too, in dat pie."

"No, I didn't. Thanks again, George. It's mighty nice of you to keep me from buying a lot of stuff I wouldn't want."

"Yassah. Ah reckon it's mighty nice of me t' do dat, boss. Ah's seen so many, man—ny people—nice gommens, lak you all—waste money fo' vegetables dat might jus' as well 'a' been handed over to th' waitch. Yassah, Ah sho' has."—Judge.

Bacteria In Butter.

"Bacteriologists have shown us that ordinary butter is swarming with germs," declares Good Health. "A single teaspoonful of milk generally contains from 2,000,000 to 10,000,000 germs. The number may even be much larger than this. In the removal of cream from the milk the germs are taken with it, and in the process of churning the germs are collected with the fat, so in the butter we have the concentration of a large part of the germs contained in the milk from which the butter was derived. So in a pound of butter derived from twenty pints of milk the number of bacteria must be almost beyond estimate. A brief computation will show that the number of bacteria contained in a pound of butter might easily reach the enormous sum of five to ten billions."

A Touch of Vanity.

On Nov. 25—St. Catherine's day—French girls who have passed their twenty-fifth birthday and are unmarried wear a little cap made of fine tulle, the symbol of maidhood. As the day approaches the millinery shops show these caps in great quantities, and their manufacture by young girls is always accompanied by jokes at the expense of old maids; but, strange to relate, these caps, because they are becoming to all, are worn on St. Catherine's day by young girls as well as by old maids.

ATTORNEY GENERAL BEGINS FIGHT ON MAGNATE HARRIMAN

Railroad Head Accused of Gigantic Plot to Crush Out all Competition to His Lines West of Mississippi.

FIRST SHOT IN THE WAR DECLARED, WAS FIRED.

Fight Promises to Be One of The Fiercest in the History Of Railway Litigation in America.

Washington, Jan. 27.—Attorney General Bonaparte directed that a bill in equity be filed to set aside the control of the Union Pacific Railroad company and its subsidiary corporations of the Southern Pacific and the San Pedro, Los Angeles & Salt Lake road and also to have declared illegal the ownership by the Union Pacific or the Oregon Short Line of stock in the Santa Fe, Great Northern and Northern Pacific, all of said lines being competitors of the Union Pacific.

This is the first shot in the war which has been declared on E. H. Harriman and his associates, who are accused of conspiring to effect a gigantic monopoly in the West to throttle competition and absorb all independent lines. The fight promises to be one of the most bitter in the history of railway litigation and is a life and death struggle for Harriman and his associates.

The attorney general issued an official statement to this effect and after referring to the extended investigation by the interstate commerce commission into the relations existing between the various lines of road engaged in transcontinental traffic, says:

"From the evidence so adduced and from independent investigation the department has arrived at the conclusion that the stock holdings of the Union Pacific and its subsidiary company in the other corporations mentioned above is in direct violation of the Sherman act."

"The department regards the suit as of first importance, as it is sought by means thereof to break up a substantial monopoly of the transportation business of the country between the Missouri river on the east and the entire Pacific coast south of Portland on the west."

STATE BOARD PUBLISHES LONG CHARITY LIST

Says Organizations of State Are Ready to Give Aid.

In order that the data may be of special value, just at this time, when there is an unusual demand for relief, the board of state charities has published in its December bulletin a list of all the charitable organizations and institutions in the state. The list includes both public and private charities and is conveniently arranged by counties.

"The regular organized charities," said Amos W. Butler, secretary of the board of state charities, "are equipped to aid those in need, and all applications for help should be referred to them. In this directory will be found not only a full list of relief societies and institutions of every class, but also the names and addresses of officers having authority to take charge of homeless and dependent children."

The directory includes a list of the juvenile courts in the state and their officers, as well as all those for the aged. Richmond is represented in the list of charitable organizations by the Associated Charities with Mrs. Elizabeth Camiller as superintendent.

THE MYSTERY OF SLEEP.

No Man Knows When the Moment of Unconsciousness Comes.

There is a remarkable fact connected with sleep which must not be overlooked. The sleep of a human being, if we are not too busy to attend to the matter, always evokes a certain feeling of awe. Go into a room where a person is sleeping, and it is difficult to resist the sense that one is in the presence of the central mystery of existence. People who remember how constantly they see old Jones asleep in the club library will smile at this, but look quietly and alone even at old Jones and the sense of mystery will soon develop.

It is no good to say that sleep is only "moving" because it looks like death. The person who is breathing so loudly as to take away all thought of death causes the sense of awe quite as easily as the silent sleeper who hardly seems to breathe.

We see death seldom, but were it more familiar we doubt if a corpse would inspire so much awe as the unconscious sleeper. A sleeping figure—a smiling, irresponsible doll, flesh and blood, but a doll to whom in a second may be called a proud, active, controlling consciousness which will ride his body and his mental horse with a hand of iron, which will force that body to endure toil and misery and will make that mind, now wandering in paths of fantastic folly, grapple with some great problem or throw all its force into the ruling, the saving or the destruction of mankind. The corpse is only so much bone, muscle and tissue; the sleeping body is the house which a quick and eager master has only left for an hour or so.

Let any one who thinks sleep is not a mystery try to observe in himself the process by which sleep comes and to notice how and when and under what conditions he loses consciousness. He will, of course, utterly fail to put his finger on the moment of sleep coming, but in striving to get as close as he can to the phenomena of sleep he will realize how great is the mystery which he is trying to fathom.

HIS FIRST ARREST WAS MOTHER-IN-LAW

New Policeman Said She Had Meddled Too Much.

Burlington, N. J., Jan. 27.—The City Council appointed John Lenahan a special policeman and he proceeded to exercise his authority by arresting his mother-in-law, Mrs. Kate Pitman. Lenahan pried open a window of Mrs. Pitman's house, and hid under a bed. When he was discovered, Lenahan proudly showed his shield and dragged Mrs. Pitman from her home, crying:

"You meddled so much that you patted me and my wife. Now to jail for yours! I'm a policeman! Aha!"

Mrs. Pitman's shrieks brought a patrolman, who looked up Lenahan. He was held under heavy bail.

Snake Poison.

The poison of a snake, taken internally, isn't much worse than a dram of a bad whiskey composed of wood alcohol and fusel oil. It doesn't enter into the circulation unless it comes in contact with a sore or wound. If your friend is bitten don't be afraid to suck the wound—unless your lips are bleeding.

The Sunrise Of Life.

Infants and children are constantly needing a laxative. It is important to know what to give them. Their stomachs and bowels are not strong enough for salts, purgative waters or cathartics, pills, powders or tablets. Give them a mild, pleasant, gentle, laxative tonic like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which sells at the regular price of 50 cents or $1 at drug stores. It is the one great remedy for you to have in the house to give children when they need it.

In China the detection of false coins is a skilled, prosperous profession, known as "shrodding," and is taught in special schools.

My doctor told me I had an acute attack of inflammatory rheumatism. I read about Dr. Miles' Nervine, bought a bottle and I commenced to get better from the start and for the past six months have scarcely any pain, and am able to walk as well as ever."
