

PIERSON MAY ASK FOR INSPECTION

Fountain City Butcher Desires To Sell His Product in Richmond.

WILL REMODEL PLANT.

THE NORTH COUNTY BUTCHER CAN DO THIS AT SMALL EXPENSE AND APPEAL FOR INSPECTION MAY BE HEED.

Charles C. Pierson, the Fountain City butcher, who was excluded from selling meat in this city because of the meat inspection ordinance, will probably petition the United States government to provide an inspector for his butchering establishment. Nearly all of Pierson's business was lost to this city and he feels its loss keenly.

City Attorney T. J. Study stated that Dr. Waggoner, federal inspector at the Richmond abattoir company, had informed him that it would be a comparatively easy matter for Pierson to secure federal inspection. All that the Fountain City butcher would have to do, would be to remodel his butchering plant to meet the government requirements. After this had been done the government would detail a meat inspector, whose salary would be paid by Uncle Sam.

Mr. Study stated that he thought Pierson could remodel his plant to meet government requirements at a cost not to exceed $75 or $100. It is known that Pierson is considering the advisability of doing this. If his meat was inspected under government supervision, Pierson would have a perfect right to sell his product in Richmond. Mr. Study says that he is confident the courts will sustain the validity of the local meat inspection ordinance.

WOODMEN HAVE IMPORTANT MEETING

Delegates to County Camp to Be Elected.

The Modern Woodmen will have an important meeting Monday evening. A special committee reported on the revision of the by laws at the last meeting and this report will come up for final action Monday. There will also be an election of delegates to the county camp. In June, next, the head camp will meet at Peoria, Ill. in May. The state camp for Indiana meets at Terre Haute. The county camp for Wayne will be held at Richmond in April. As Richmond camp houses for representation at both state and head camp meetings the election of delegates Monday night is of more than usual interest.

THE HORSE WON.

Beat the First Locomotive on the B. and O. Road.

The first locomotive on the Baltimore and Ohio had sails attached. So did the cars. These sails were hoisted when the wind was in the right direction so as to help the locomotive.

The rivalry between the railroads using locomotives and those using horses was very bitter. In August, 1880, an actual trial of speed was held between a horse and one of the pioneer locomotives, which did not result in favor of the locomotive. The race was on the Baltimore and Ohio, the locomotive being one built by Peter Cooper, who also acted as engineer.

The horse, a gallant gray, was in the habit of pulling a car on a track parallel to that used by the locomotive. At first the gray had the better of the race, but when he was a quarter of a mile ahead Mr. Cooper succeeded in getting up enough steam to pass the horse amid terrific applause.

At that moment a band slipped from a pulley, and, though Mr. Cooper accelerated his hands trying to replace it, the engine stopped and the horse passed it and came in the winner.—Van Norden Magazine

THIS NOBLE COUNT HAS RECEIVED THE FIRST OF THE MILLIONS OF NEW WIFE.

COUNT LASZIO SEZCHENYI.

First Tangible Evidence of the "Dot" Which Young Heiress Brought to Her Titled Husband.

New York, Feb. 1.—Five million dollars was deposited today in the Hungarian Discount and Exchange Bank, in Budapest, in the name of the Count and Countess Sezchenyi.

The money came from New York, according to cable dispatches received here last night, and was in the shape of a credit draft upon one of this city's largest institutions, known to be a depository of part of the Vanderbilt wealth.

It was the first tangible evidence of the "dot" which the young heiress brought to her titled husband.

As the deposit in the Budapest bank was made in the joint names of the Count and Countess, it lends evidence to one of the stories told before the wedding to the effect that the Count would not be allowed to spend more than a certain sum each year without his wife's permission.

PAPER TRUST PLAYED STATE CLOSES CASE

Representative Adair of Indiana Speaks Interestingly in House.

Mrs. Lafollette Could Not Be Found When Called to Enter Stand.

DEFENDED IN STATEMENTS. BLOW STRUCK AT DEFENSE.

Washington, Feb. 1.—Discussion of the tariff on wood pulp and print paper was precipitated for the first time in the house yesterday by a speech of Representative J. A. M. Adair of Indiana, in which he flayed the Paper Trust. He was granted thirty minutes but his speech proved so interesting and so fertile of suggestions that his time was extended without limit and he consumed about an hour. Several congressmen attempted to interrupt him, but he declined to yield until the end of his speech.

Representative Charles Q. Turrell of Massachusetts, a leading member of the judiciary committee, then inquired of him if he knew that the International Paper company (the trust) controls only about 40 per cent of the output of print paper and that it has many strong competitors.

To this Adair replied that the "strong competitors" of the Paper Trust are like the "strong competitors" of Standard Oil—that is, they are no competitors at all, but are straw companies dominated by the trust.

John Sherry Williams and Representative Gilbert M. Hitchcock, a publisher of Nebraska, jumped into the arena and defended Adair. Williams said the tariff on print paper is "a tax on knowledge and intelligence." The eagerness with which the house listened to the discussion indicates the keen interest that is taken in the subject.

They Don't Like Funerals.

"If you want to know just how sensitive some Washington folks are, listen to the reasons some of our tenants give for canceling their leases," said a renting agent. "Here are the complaints from five families who want to move because they live on 'funeral streets.' A lot of people, it seems, are sensitive about that. There are certain streets in town—those near churches where many funerals are held and those leading to the various cemeteries—which are usually traveled by funeral parties. Houses in those streets are becoming a poor investment. There is more moving from those houses than from any others we have anything to do with, and generally the movers give as the reason for their dissatisfaction the fact that the sight of so many hearses gets on their nerves."—Washington Star.

Greenfield, Ind., Feb. 1.—After two hours' unsuccessful search for Mrs. Nan Lafollette Fisher, the state closed its case yesterday against Francis M. Duncan, charged with the murder of James Lafollette, on Nov. 17, 1907. More witnesses were introduced to prove the intimacy that existed between Duncan and his victim's wife previous to the tragedy. Duncan testified in his own defense today.

Mrs. Lafollette Fisher was in the courtroom the first few days of the trial, but when her name was called by the state at 10 o'clock she could not be found. Court was adjourned until 1 o'clock and an attachment was issued for the missing witness. Ex-Policeman Hiram Michaels, Constable Charles Houston and Ed Thornburg testified that they had heard Duncan make threats against the life of Lafollette. Sheriff Carlton testified that Duncan had admitted the killing of Lafollette, but said he shot Lafollette in self-defense.

Ex-Judge Felt made the opening statement for the defense. He said the defense would show that Duncan killed Lafollette in self-defense; that Lafollette voluntarily entered the conflict and that Duncan did not shoot until he had been pursued quite a distance.

The brain usually stops growing at about fifty, and from sixty to seventy it is more likely to decrease. It has been related by Canon MacColl that Mr. Gladstone's head was constantly outgrowing his hats. As late as the Midlothian campaign, when he was early seventy, he was obliged to have his head remeasured for this reason. Canon MacColl's conclusion that this continual growth of brain contributed to Mr. Gladstone's personal youthfulness appears not unwarranted.—London Spectator.

Tornado Carried Death and Destruction With It in the State of Mississippi.

TOWNS SUFFER DAMAGE.

Wesson, Miss., Feb. 1.—Six persons are dead, three persons were probably fatally injured and many others were slightly hurt by a tornado, which destroyed a number of homes. A negro who arrived here about dark brought news of the storm and an appeal for aid. Three physicians started in carriages for the stricken district.

The tornado struck about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. For a distance of twenty miles in a northeasterly direction the wind tore a pathway nearly a mile wide, partly or wholly destroying the nearly every building in this area. Scores of dead farm animals littered the tornado's track.

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Madison was blown almost completely out and Mrs. Madison's spinal column was broken. A negro was found injured in the debris of Robert Littleton's farm house.

Surrounding towns, not in the direct path of the storm, suffered damage during the few minutes of the cyclone's duration. At Georgetown, buildings were blown down and at Hazlehurst two saw mills were destroyed, many fences and several small buildings were blown over. Center Point reported much damage, but no loss of life.

Darkness settled down so quickly after the storm that only an incomplete estimate of the destruction both in life and property was obtained.

PEOPLE BECOMING MORE NERVOUS

Rumors of Plot and Counter-plot Against Government.

Lisbon, February 1.—The city is outwardly calm, but there is a steady increase of nervousness among the people owing to the constant rumors of plot and counter plot and the persistent activity of the police in arresting suspected rebels. On the night of January 28, there was a bloody fight in a small restaurant on the outskirts of Lisbon. Suspecting the presence of a crowd of conspirators, the police surrounded and raided the restaurant. They were met by a volley of bullets and one of them was killed and four were wounded. The conspirators managed to keep the police at bay until they made their escape.

An official note issued today denies that the government intends to proclaim a state of siege in Portugal, and declares that a majority of public opinion supports Premier Franco.
