

BIG ROMP WITH RUSHVILLE LADS

Richmond High School Showed Strength in Basket Ball Game Last Night.

VISITORS WERE HELPLESS.

IN THE FIRST HALF THEY SCORED 6, BUT IN THE LAST PERIOD DID BETTER—SOME PRETTY TEAM WORK.

The Richmond high school basketball team defeated the Rushville high school five last night at the Garfield gymnasium in a fast and close game by the score of 33 to 19. The Rushville quintet played a hard game but was unable to cope with the stellar team work of the Little Quakers, who had the sphere throwers from Watsonville at their mercy during the entire contest. The local five played the best game it has played this season. The pace set last night would have made the best high school teams in the state hustle to keep up.

The scoring in the first half was started by Bankard of the Rushville team who made two foul goals. Then the high school team pulled together and by magnificent team work took the sphere down the floor, Thornburg scoring a field goal which was immediately followed by one from Harrington. Bankard was the star for the visitors and succeeded in making the only field goal in this half. The team work of the Richmond boys had the visitors guessing, and at the end of the half it was found that Richmond had 16 points to the credit while the Rushville team had but 6.

The second half opened with Thornburg making a field goal from the center of the floor and this was soon followed by Williams for the visitors. During this half the locals demonstrated that they compose one of the fastest teams in the state. They were exceptionally strong in guarding, and succeeded in smothering their opponents at critical moments. In the second half Allison replaced Tallant and played a fast game having Heiner at his mercy. This half the locals registered 17 points while the visitors made 13.

The lineup and summary follows:

The Greeks won easily from the Beallview bunch of city league pennant chasers at the coliseum last night, by a score of 9 to 5. The game was slow and uninteresting. The south riders didn't have a "look in," while Allison and Bulla played rings around the Beallview defense. Sharp played a fast game, causing four of the tall-enters' goals. Allison caged a dandy by winning the rush and juggling the pill straight into the cage in five seconds. The lineup and summary follows:

What Men Will Wear This Spring

Men's Spring suits are in the gray and brown mixtures largely. Neat plaids and stripes will be worn. Neat effects in dark grays, also blue serges, black Thibet, Venetian cloth and unfinished worsteds are good. Among the new shades in suitings the Oxford gray, tan and light brown appears to be the choice of many. There are delicate overplaids in novel Scotch mixtures, and decidedly pretty are certain English effects in which a distinctive pattern is produced by two tones of the same color blending into the design. Over 600 styles in these new woolsens at E. J. Moore's Tailoring company. Fine suits $15 and $18.

MUSIC MEN BEATEN

Gaar-Scott Polo Team Shows Music Manufacturers A Few Stunts.

MANLY ART PRACTICED.

GAAR SCOTT 4 STARR PIANO 2 (By Gaston)

In a fast finish, the boiler makers defeated the manufacturers' of music last night by a score of 4 to 2. In the first period after a few exhibitions of the manly art and some fancy tumbling "Skin" Pierson rolled one in the cage for the first marker and in the second, Reid "caged" another by Kehlenbrink. The third period was a scream.

Bobby Crane began to jump on poor little "Hunk" Bowman. After Hewitt gave a few exhibitions of fancy roller skating, he caged a goal. The foundry men seemed encouraged by this and took a big brace. Crane and Newman scoring three more markers. Lineup and summary:

Money Made No Difference.

A poor but worthy old couple had a rare stroke of luck. Some relative died and left them a fortune of £20. The night of the arrival of the lawyer's letter telling them of their good fortune they sat up late, discussing the future and what they were to do with the great sum they had inherited. When they had done and were rising to go to bed the old man said, with a grand air of magnanimity: "Well, I suppose, Janet, this'll make 'no difference.' We'll just speak to the lawyers as before."

THE ODOR OF SANCTITY.

A French Writer's Theory of How It May Be Exuded by Man.

Dr. Georges Dumas is the author of an article in the Revue de Paris on "The Odor of Sanctity." The writer accepts as true the numerous reported instances of saints and mystics of the Catholic church whose bodies after death or during moments of ecstasy emitted peculiarly pleasing odors of various kinds. Then men and women with whom such legends deal, argues Dr. Dumas, were neuroathenes, and it is not impossible that the aroma of sanctity which surrounded them was the product of strictly physiological and chemical changes common to all men, but present in highly intensified form in subjects who, so to speak, burned up the candle of their existence at an unusually rapid rate. He says in part:

"So far, then, we have come across a great variety of perfumes—cinnamon, clove, orange, pineapple, rose, violet, lily of the valley, yellow amber and benzoin. Now, the natural constitution of all of these is well known, and chemistry produces them daily for commercial purposes. We may therefore substitute the equivalent chemical expressions for the ordinary terms we have employed and say that orange, cinnamon, violet and musk owe their perfume to aldehydes and acetones, aromatic liquids derived from the alcohol, just as the artificial essence of pineapple comes from butyric ether. We have, then, to ask whether the human body can produce odorous compounds of the kind we have mentioned and under what conditions. As a matter of fact, it does produce a certain number of such compounds in the destruction of organic matter, which is the constant condition of life, in particular acetones and the volatile fatty acids, butyric, formic, acetic, etc. If the process of combustion is normal all these constituents are burned up, completely oxidized, and give as a residue water, carbonic acid and urea. But let some shattering event in the normal nutrition of the tissues and the same constituents will escape through the breath, perspiration and the skin."

MAGIC MIRRORS.

Peculiar Effects in Some of the Polished Bronze Reflectors.

Now and then mirrors of a curious kind are seen in Europe. They are called "magic mirrors" and are of Japanese origin, made not of glass silvered, but of cast bronze, polished on the face and bearing on the back raised patterns, inscriptions, symbolical designs, crests or pictures. When exposed to a bright beam of light from the sun or from an electric lamp they reflect in the light from their polished face the image of the pattern on their backs.

This is a purely optical property and has of course nothing in common with the fortune telling magic crystals of the East.

The makers themselves are often in ignorance of the magic property and do not know which of their mirrors possess it and which do not. The mirrors are cast in molds and afterward polished by hand, and it is held by scientific men that the difference of curvature is caused by the metal's yielding unequally under that pressure of the tools used in scraping and polishing, the thin parts naturally bending more than the thick. This accounts for the mirrors' becoming "magic."—Chicago News.

IN FRENZY MOTHER TOOK LIVES OF LITTLE TOTS

Baltimore, O., Feb. 29.—A terrible tragedy was enacted on a farm three miles west of Basil yesterday when Mrs. Joseph C. Spires, aged 55, killed three of her little children, fatally wounded a fourth and then ended her own life. One of the children was drowned in a well, the other three were shot and their throats cut. The mother first took poison, then cut her throat and shot herself. The woman is supposed to have been seized with a fit of insanity, but so far as known she had shown no symptoms of mental unbalance.

The dead: Mrs. J. C. Spires, aged 55; Luella Spires, aged 6; Catherine Spires, aged 3; Jesse Spires, aged 1 year.

Fatally wounded: Alva Spires, aged 4.

Joseph Spires, husband of the woman, was away from home during the day attending a farmers' institute at Carroll, and it is not known at what time the tragedy occurred. When he arrived home last evening he was horrified to find the baby Jesse dead in its cradle on the lower floor with its throat cut and a bullet hole in its head. Going upstairs he found the body of his wife lying in a pool of blood dead, and his daughter Luella lying on the bed dead and the boy unconscious.

The throats of both the boy and girl had been cut and bullet wounds were in their bodies. Mrs. Spires' body presented a terrible sight. Her lips and face were burned with carbolic acid, there was a gaping wound in her throat slashed by a razor and a bullet wound in her head. Mr. Spires at once alarmed his neighbors and search was made for the girl Catherine. Her body was later found in a well. A shawl had been firmly tied about the child's head before she was thrown in to the well.

It is supposed the boy was also first thrown into the well, as his clothing was wet. He probably crawled out of the water by means of a ladder, which stood in the well, and returned to the house only to meet his death there.

Mr. Spires is prostrated with grief.

REASSURANCE SHOULD BE GIVEN BANK DEPOSITORS

Memphis, Tenn., Feb. 29.—Five hundred bankers heard William J. Bryan speak at a local hotel last night.

At the banquet Mr. Bryan was warmly received and his speech was given marked attention. The speaker said prospects for the coming campaign are very bright from a Democratic standpoint and are growing brighter every day. The issues, in a sense, he said, are moral ones, since all economic questions are, in the last analysis, moral problems. The most important step to be taken for the restoration of better business and financial conditions, he said, is the building up again of confidence in the banks of the country. Mr. Bryan continued:

"I think the most important step to be taken is to reassure the depositors in the banks for until confidence is restored in these banks, more or less money ought to be kept in circulation."

After closing his speech, Mr. Bryan immediately boarded a train for Jackson, Miss., where tomorrow afternoon he will address the Mississippi Legislature in joint session.

EVIDENCE IS SOUGHT AGAINST STANDARD OIL

Big Officials Are Subpoenaed In the Ouster Hearing—Copy Says Trust Illegal.

Cleveland, Ohio, Feb. 29.—In the Government's effort to prove the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, with its 50 subsidiaries, a trust in violation of the Sherman law, officials of the company have been subpoenaed to appear in the United States District court here March 9.

A copy of the petition in the suit declaring the company an illegal combination was filed here Friday by United States District Attorney Sullivan on orders from Washington.

The object is to secure testimony for a similar suit previously begun in St. Louis. Evidence, believed to be in the possession of Standard men in Cleveland, Buffalo and Pittsburg, is necessary in the government's effort to lay bare the operations of the giant corporation.

In order to get the evidence right on the ground of the Standard's early development the ouster suit was refiled in Cleveland.

It is expected that the Cleveland hearing will conclude the examination of witnesses before Special Examiner Franklin Ferris. Among those whom the government proposes to examine are S. B. Squire, Vice president of the Standard Oil company of Ohio, and Louis Emery, a prominent independent operator. All told, 24 witnesses have been called.

Still More Remarkable.

"It is remarkable that birds are so intelligent, when they're so small, isn't it?" asked one member of the Easy Information club of her choicest friend as they walked home together from a talk on "Our Home Birds."

"Yes, isn't it?" assented the friend eagerly. "Why, just think even how very clever the little cuckoo in cuckoo clocks are, and of course they are only little wooden birds."

JUST A FEW 'LASSES

Indications Point to a big Output of the Maple Product This Spring.

NO ADULTERATED PRODUCT

"Say," said the grocer, "there's going to be something doing in about a month, when the tree molasses begins to come in. We are busy now selling tree maple accessories to the farmers. What do I mean by accessories? Why, pans and buckets and such. No, I don't know anything about brown sugar. If they buy it, it's their business."

"What I mean is that under this new pure food law every jug of maple syrup the farmers bring in will have to be labeled according to its contents. So much maple, so many corns, so much hickory bark, and a figger of brown sugar, or if it's the pure stuff, they will have a right to say so."

"We have the finest maple syrup in the world right here in Wayne county, and there is more of the unadulterated product than you would think for. I believe a good many of our farmers can write 'Pure Maple Syrup' on their jugs, and tell the truth about it. Still, some of these labels will be interesting."
