Kibbey's vs. Crescents.

Beallview vs. Greeks.

(By Tor.)

Two very interesting city league polo games were pulled off last evening at the coliseum before a good sized crowd. In the first game the talented Beallview team took a new lease on life and by fast work "hooked" the strong Greeks by a score of 4 to 3. The second game was between the two league leaders, the Kibbeys and Crescents. The cavalry clerks finally won out but not until nearly five minutes of overtime had been played.

In the first game Beallview got the jump on the candy makers before the dust of the first period had settled had scored three of their four goals. In this period the Greeks were only able to make one count. In the second period the South enders clinched the game when Sharp scored a hot one into the net. In this period Beallview put up a hot defense and held the Greeks safe. In the third the Greeks made a game rally and completely played the south enders off their feet. Despite the fact that the candy makers scored twice in the last period they could not overcome the lead of the Beallviews. Summary.

Kibbeys Win Another.

With the Crescents shut out at the close of the second period of the second game, this scrappy outfit made a game rally in the third, scoring twice and being the Kibbeys. When the overtime started both teams went into the game with blood in their eyes. For the first four minutes both teams played a hair-raising article of polo, then the trusty Beyer for the Kibbeys leaned against the pill and when it was next seen it was in the drapery of the Crescent cage. This game was by far one of the most exciting seen at the coliseum this season. Beyer and Houbey stared for the cavalry clerks while Karns and Foster did splendid work for the Crescents. Summary.

First Period.
Foster, Kibbeys, 8-20.

Second Period.
No scores.

Third Period.

A Statesman's Confessions.

For all his classic wit Thomas B. Reed of Maine was as tender of heart as large of frame. He was not much of a hunter. "I never shot but one bird in my life," he once confessed. "I spent a whole day doing that. It was a sandpiper. I chased him for hours up and down a mill stream. When at last I potted him and held him up by one of his poor little legs I never felt more ashamed of myself in all my life. I hid him in my coat pocket for fear somebody would see how big I was and how small the victim, and I never will be guilty again of the cowardice of such an unequal battle."—Exchange.

A Convenient Possession.

An old negro preacher gave his fruit text, "The tree is known by its fruit," hit des impossible ter shake de possum down." After the benediction an old brother said to him: "I never knowed befo' dat such a text wuz in de Bible." "Well," admitted the preacher, "hit ain't 'xactly so down dataways. 'I throwed in de possum ter hit de intel ligence er my congregation!"—Atlanta Constitution.

A Great Man.

"Father," said little Rollo, "what is a great man?" "A great man, my son, is one who manages to gather about him a whole lot of assistants who will take the blame for his mistakes while he gets the credit for their good ideas."

So Chilly.

"I feel," said the Boston girl, "that I have been on earth before in some remote period."

"The glacial, maybe," ventured the reckless man—Louisville Courier-Journal.

ATHLETIC REPORTS

Executive Committee of the High School Association To Meet.

PLAY IS IN PROSPECT.

The executive committee of the high school athletic association will hold a meeting next week for the purpose of having a full report as to the expenses of the basketball team, by the manager, Robert Thornburg, and the treasurer of the athletic association will make a report as to the standing of the association financially.

At this meeting they will also decide on some kind of an entertainment to be given for the benefit of the association. It has been suggested by a number of students that the school give a musical comedy, but it is claimed by many that this would take up too much of the school time.

Miss Tallent, one of the members of the faculty has consented to select some kind of a farce comedy and take charge of its presentation.

JUGGLED HIS EYE.

The Trick by Which Lord Wolseley Conquered an Arab.

The loss of an eye years ago once stood Lord Wolseley in good stead. It seemed impossible to get any information of the enemy's strength and the forces under the command of Arabi Pasha. At length an Arab was caught near one of the outposts. Naturally expecting that he would be able to give a good deal of information, he was taken before Lord Wolseley, who questioned him. The man, however, refused to speak.

Seeing that it was useless to continue to ply him with questions, the commander in chief resolved to use strategy. "It is no use your refusing to answer me," he said to the man. "I am a wizard, and at a single word I can destroy you and your masters. To prove this to you I will take out my eye, throw it up into the air, catch it and put it back into my head."

Suiting the action to the word, Lord Wolseley removed his glass eye, threw it into the air, caught it and put it back into the empty socket. That demonstration was sufficient to convert the Arab. A man who could do such a miracle was a wizard indeed and was to be propitiated, not angered. He capitulated without further demur, and the information he gave is said to have led to Arabi's defeat.

ECENTRIC PLANCHE.

Why the Famous Critic's Hands Were Still Soiled After a Bath.

A correspondent of the Boston Herald says that a remark attributed to the late Sully Prudhomme was made originally by the famous and eccentric literary and dramatic critic, Gustave Planche, who died in Paris in September, 1897. For a long time it was thought that he slept in the public streets, and he himself took pleasure in giving credit to this report.

"Where are you lodging?" some one asked him.

"I don't lodge," he replied; "I perch."

"And where?"

"Champs Elysees, third tree to the right."

Another anecdote of Planche is that, being once invited to dine with a celebrated actress, Annas or Mme. Derval, he arrived before the company.

"My goodness, Planche," cried the hostess, "what a figure you cut! Go take a bath, I beg. Here is a ticket."

He returned in an hour's time as clean as when he set out. "You unhappy man, you!" said the hostess. "You bath?"

"By my faith, I have."

"Look at your hands!"

"Ah, that is because I had a bath while in the water."

THAW WILL REMAIN IN INSANE ASYLUM

No Effort Will Be Made to Get Him Out Until Divorce Case Is Heard.

AWAIT CHANGE FOR BETTER

NOT UNTIL THIS TIME COMES WILL SLAYER OF STANFORD WHITE SECURE HIS FREEDOM—LITTLETON IS OUT OF CASE.

New York, March 21.—Unless the mental condition of Harry K. Thaw takes a decided change soon for the better, no effort will be made by his lawyers to have him released from Matteawan for some time. This important development came in a statement relative to the divorce proceedings brought by Mrs. Evelyn Nesbit Thaw to annul her marriage to Thaw on the ground that he was insane when she married him and that he is insane at the present time.

Thaw's stay in the asylum depends more or less on the outcome of Evelyn's suit. If the fact is established that Thaw is sane at the present time he will be liberated from Matteawan without the necessity of a commission. It was said that there would not be even an attempt on the part of Thaw's counsel to have him liberated until Evelyn's annulment suit is over.

Mrs. Thaw's suit for divorce has been brought in the supreme court and the very earliest that it can be brought to trial is three months.

Another new development in the case is the fact that Martin W. Littleton, who defended Thaw in his second trial for the shooting of Stanford White is now out of the case entirely.

HINDOO CASTE MARKS.

The Women of India Wear Them on the Forehead.

The caste marks worn by women in India are confined to the forehead and are more uniform than those affected by the men. The orthodox mark invariably worn on religious and ceremonial occasions is a small saffron spot in the center of the forehead. But the more popular and fashionable mark is a tiny one made with a pinkish substance, usually jet black in color, which is obtained by frying sugar till it gets charred and then boiling it in water.

Women who have not reached their twenties are sometimes partial to the use of small tinseled disks, purchasable in the bazaar at the rate of about half a dozen for a pie. To attach these to the skin the commonest material used is the gum of the jack fruit, quantities of which will be found sticking to a wall or pillar in the house, ready for immediate use.

In the more orthodox families it is considered objectionable that the forehead of a woman should remain blank even for a moment, and accordingly it is permanently marked with a tattooed vertical line. The blister takes some time a fortnight to heal, but the Hindu woman, who is nothing if not a martyr by temperament and training, suffers the pain uncomplainingly.—Madras Mail.

THE GHOST OF THE FUTURE.

Fear of Coming to Want and the Terror of Failure.

The terror of failure and the fear of coming to want keep multitudes of people from obtaining the very things they desire by sapping their vitality, by incapacitating them through worry, anxiety and fear from the effective, creative work necessary to give them success.

Wherever we go this fear ghost, this terror specter, stands between men and their goals. No person is in a position to do good work while haunted by it. There can be no great courage where there is no confidence or assurance, and half the battle is in the conviction that we can do what we undertake.

The mind, always full of doubts, fears, forebodings, is not in a position to do effective, creative work, but is perpetually handicapped by this unfortunate attitude.

Nothing will so completely paralyze the creative power of the mind and body as a dark, gloomy, discouraged mental attitude. No great creative work can be done by a man who is not an optimist.

The human mind cannot accomplish great work unless the banner of hope goes in advance. A man will follow this banner when money, friends, reputation, everything else has gone.—Success Magazine.

The Majesty of the Pyramids.

As the wonder of the sphinx takes possession of you gradually, so gradually do you learn to feel the majesty of the pyramids of Gizeh, unlike the steep pyramid of Sakkara, which even when one is near it looks like a small mountain, part of the land on which it rests. The pyramids of Gizeh look what they are—artificial excrescences, invented and carried out by man, expressions of man's greatness. Exquisite as they are as features of the drowsy golden landscape at the setting of the sun, I think they look most wonderful at night when they are black beneath the stars. On many nights I have sat in the sand at a distance and looked at them, and always and increasingly they have stirred my imagination. Their profound calm, their classical simplicity, are greatly emphasized when no detail can be seen, when they are but black shapes towering to the stars. They seem to inspire then like prayers prayed by one who has said, "God does not need my prayers, but I need them."—Robert Hichens in Century Magazine.

TROUBLE IS REMOTE

Japan Has No Reason for Objecting to Immigration Says Lodge.

SHE HAS NOT THE RIGHT.

Boston, March 21. In an address upon "Immigration" delivered by Senator Henry Cabot Lodge he said:

"We have heard a great deal lately about Japanese immigration, but it is not a subject which ought to lead to which will lead to any ill feeling between the countries. Japan does not expect and no nation can expect, that she should have the right to force her people on another nation, and there is no more cause for offense in the desire of our people in the Western States to exclude Japanese immigration than there is in the Japanese desire which now exclude our working people from Japan."

PARENTS DESIRE FEDERAL INVESTIGATION

Wishes Law to Fix Blame for Fire Horrors.

Cleveland, March 21.—Federal inquiry into the destruction of Lake View school in North Collinwood on March 4, in which 167 children lost their lives, was demanded in a mass meeting of the parents of the victims. Resolutions to President Roosevelt were ordered drafted and sent to the White House. The parents protest at the inactivity of the State and county, and particularly call attention to the report of Coroner J. A. Burke, who held no inquest at fault. The parents demand that the President urge on Congress the enactment of a national law which will permit the fixing of responsibility in such disasters.

FIXED THE PIANO.

An Unmusical Variation in One of Gottschalk's Concerts.

Gottschalk, the pianist, was noted for his enormous physical strength almost as much as for his brilliance as a pianist. On one occasion he gave a practical illustration of his strength which, while it did not display his disposition in the most amiable light, undoubtedly afforded him much satisfaction. He was in concert playing on a piano that was built on a new model, one of the peculiarities of which was that the lip of the keyboard cover projected farther over the keys than in most pianos when the instrument was open for playing. Gottschalk, who was accustomed to throw up his hand to a considerable height during the performance of brilliant passages and was unused to this new form of keyboard, constantly hit his knuckles against the projecting lip.

This repeated tapping of his knuckles at last began to have an irritating effect on him, as the audience could plainly see. Suddenly after a particularly hard rap he stopped short in the middle of his selection, wrenched the offending cover out of the instrument by main force and hurled it across the platform with great violence. Then, with a smile of the greatest satisfaction, he resumed his playing.—Chicago Record-Herald.

CIRCUS RIDERS.

Riders at one time were the chief attraction of the circus and were billed as "kings of the show." No person is in a position to do good work while haunted by it. SIGNS IN THE THUMB

WHAT THEY MEAN AND HOW YOU MAY LEARN TO READ THEM.

They Serve as an Index to the Character of the Individual—The "Thumb Center" in the Brain—Position of the Well Balanced Thumb.

The gypsies have always recognized that the thumb is the most important factor in delineating special tendencies. These nomadic people are the most intuitive on earth, and the fact that in their fortune telling they often confine their prognostications to the thumb alone is worth more than a passing notice. The fact that there is what is known as the "thumb center" in the brain, recognized by all surgeons, demonstrates the immense importance attached to it by medical science. If there is a tendency toward paralysis the physician notes it in the thumb long before the malady shows itself in other directions. An operation to avert the calamity if possible is frequently performed on the thumb center of the brain, and the thumb itself is watched for results favorable or otherwise. It is a matter of record that the thumbs of idiots and those mentally weak are undersized, characterless and usually cling closely to the side of the hand. There have been books written on signs in the thumbs as denoting criminal instincts, and detectives have been often moved to consider seriously this phase of the hand in making their deductions in puzzling cases.

The position of the thumb with reference to the rest of the hand makes either for or against favorable tendencies. If it is bound to the first finger at a close angle, lying nearly parallel, it indicates a weak and cowardly nature. People with such thumbs are not open and frank in character, preferring to creep along in the shadow and profit by another's enterprise. If in connection with this position it should be very small, with vacillating, almost jointed joints, it indicates mental weakness. If, on the contrary, it lies out at right angles or even farther it shows want of balance in another direction. The person will rush to extremes and is independent and aggressive almost to foolishness. Such people are disagreeable to associate with in any enterprise, as they always want their own way and are not subservient to authority.

The well balanced thumb lies at an angle of about forty-five degrees from the first finger. The joints of the thumb also tell their story. The finger jointed thumb which turns back from the hand is a misfortune to its owner. He will never be rich by saving his earnings, and if a fortune should be left him it is likely to be soon dissipated. He is a spendthrift by nature, not only in money, but in thought. If he gets a hobby he rides it to death, and his policy in all the affairs of life will be, "If a little is good, more is better." And if he does not actually live out all his impulses he will always fret in the spirit and grow rebellious in resisting his natural tendencies.

The stable jointed thumb is everything that is the opposite to the first type. And while the people with these thumbs are not so companionable or so helpful to others they succeed by concentration and a certain amount of selfishness. They have the directness of purpose and the tenacity to carry to successful issue great enterprises. They are stubborn, material, stolid, resistant. The chimpanzee, which has the hand most nearly resembling the human, shows the greatest weakness and want of intelligence in its undersized short thumb. And in the human race the long thumb may be taken as indicating the more intellectual nature. The shorter the thumb the more brutal and passion governed the nature.

The relative length of the joints also plays an important part. The first indicates the will power, the second denotes judgment, reason and logic, and the third, which controls the mount of Venus, indicates the affections and love of fellow beings. In a well balanced nature the first and second joints are about of equal length. This indicates a wholesome adjustment between the judgment and the will. If, however, the first joint is longer than the second the will exceeds the judgment, and the person is likely to be stubborn and often act without reason. When the second joint is the longer a person plans better than he executes. In this way he often gets the reputation of being visionary and is frequently full of schemes which he lacks the will to carry out.

The third joint, or "ham," of the hand when too thick indicates ungovernable passions and an inordinate love of the opposite sex. Such a person will be "half fellow well met," a boon companion, but is likely to neglect the intellectual demands both of his home and his other self.

When the second joint is thin and small in circumference as compared with the first it is said to indicate great tact and aptness in judgment, even to the splitting of a hair. Whether the hand is firm or flabby it has a modifying influence in all cases.
