A Chance Meeting.

Proceeding down the wharf, I noticed my friend coming from his small boat, which he had just made fast alongside. We stood face to face. "Ah, well met, comrade," quoth I. "If my eyes deceived me not, a rat from beneath the timbers this moment leaped into your craft." "Good! Excellent!" cried he. "I see Sir Robert's flush. 'Tis a catboat in sooth." We embraced, then proceeded up the wharf arm in arm toward the coffee house—Woman's Home Companion.

Deaths and Funerals.

KENDALL—Jane Kendall died this morning at her home north of Chester of paralysis, after a short illness. The funeral will take place Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from Chester. Burial at the Chester cemetery.

Practice Makes Perfect.
At the appointed time Edwin Jones had called at his best girl's home, but somehow Miss Wrinkle was not there to greet him.

He seated himself in the drawing room and anxiously awaited her arrival. Presently the door opened; but, alas, it was only her eight-year-old brother. "Hello!" exclaimed Edwin. "Is your sister busy?"

"She seems so," replied the youngster, "but I don't know just what she thinks she's doing. She's standing in front of the mirror, blushing just awful and whispering to it, 'Oh, Mr. Jones, this is so sudden!'"

Dogs and Infection.
Dogs can carry infection along with them, as was clearly proved at Constantinople in 1895 when a single animal, entering the city from an infected district, started a cholera epidemic that killed more than 50,000. The dog, a valuable chow, was taken into his house by a druggist, and a few hours later he and all his family were stricken down with the complaint, which spread thence to all parts of the city, even the sultan's palace being invaded.

Badly Expressed.

Only Wanted a Chance.
She—I see where a fellow married a girl on his deathbed just so she could have his millions when he was gone. Could you love a girl like that? He—Sure I could love a girl like that. Where does she live?—Puck.

THE UNIVERSE.

Man's Place in This Eternity of Space and Matter.
The solar system is but a fragment of the universe. Every star is a sun with a solar system. It is possible that there may be millions of planets inhabited by beings higher or lower than ourselves. What we see going on is what we call the process of evolution—from broken fragments to coherent masses and to inhabited worlds, from chaos to cosmos, a struggle upward of the universe from something lower and disorganized to something higher and organized.

As to how life originates on these planets science is ignorant at present. It is an entire mystery. I would not have you build too much on that. I do not think it will always remain a mystery, nor would I have a theologian shaken in his views if science should discover something about the nature and origin of life. I want you to realize that this process of evolution is not a process which negatives or excludes the idea of divine activity. It is, I venture to say, a revelation to us of the manner of divine activity. It is the way the Deity works.

The attempt to show that evolution is unguided, that it is the result of absolute chance, fails. What is pointed to is not unguided random change, but guided change. The other could not be done in time.

What we have to realize in regard to our place in the universe is that we are intelligent, helpful and active parts of the cosmic scheme. We are among the agents of the Creator. One of the most helpful ideas is co-operation—helping one another. Co-operation—this is a new and stimulating sense—co-operation with the Divinity himself. —Sir Oliver Lodge.

PUSS TO THE RESCUE.

Brought a Rabbit to Hungry Philadelphia Cave Dwellers.

When the first settlers came to Philadelphia, of course there were no houses ready for them, says Sel in the Cat Journal, so a good many of the men dug small caves in the bank of the river. They would dig several feet into the bank, then build walls of soil in front of the little caves. They made the roof by laying branches of trees on top, covering these with rushes from the river and putting pieces of soil on the rushes. The chimney was made of stones plastered with clay.

These caves were used only until the men had time to cut timber and build the houses they wished. One of the old families of Philadelphia owns a quaint silver tureen on which is engraved a cat seizing a rabbit. In the early days at Philadelphia Elizabeth Hard was living with her husband in one of these dug-out caves while he was building their house. The work went very slowly, and Elizabeth often helped her husband. She brought the water to make the mortar for the chimney and even helped at one end of the saw.

One day she was very tired, for she had helped all the morning. Her husband told her to rest awhile and then think about dinner. Mrs. Hard walked sadly away. Their food was nearly gone. Only a few bits and a little cheese were left. Just then she saw her cat coming toward her with a large rabbit in its mouth. Mrs. Hard cooked the rabbit and had a nice dinner ready for Mr. Hard when he came for his noon rest. So kitty helped, although she did not know it.

Dick—Yes, you see, I'm in no end of a fix. I would never have proposed if I'd had the least idea that she would accept me, but she did.
Jack—Well, propose again, just as if you had forgotten. That ought to make her angry enough to refuse you.—London Tit-Bits.

There is no medicine so safe and at the same time so pleasant to take as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. The positive cure for all diseases arising from stomach trouble. The price is very reasonable—50c and $1.

GOT HIS MONEY.

The New Depositor Made Quick Work With His Check Book.

During a financial stringency a Swedish farmer in one of the middle west states had sold some hogs on the local market and upon receiving his check in payment immediately went to the local bank to realize on his sale. Upon presentation of the check the banker said to him, "Do you wish the money on this check?"

"Well, I think I just so well take him," was the quick reply.
"You really want the money?"
"Yah; I think I take the money."
"But do you really need the money?" asked the banker.
"Well, no; I don't exactly need him, but I think I take the money."
"Well," said the banker, "if you really want the money of course I will give it to you, but I thought if you did not need it perhaps you might open an account and deposit the money and then check against it as you needed it."

"Den ven I send my checks here you will refuse to pay them."
"Oh, no, we won't. If you open the account, we will pay your checks whenever they come in."
This seemed assuring to the Swede, and he said, "Well, if you pay my checks, den I open de account." And the account was opened and passbook and check book handed to the new customer.

Half an hour later a close friend of the new depositor appeared at the cashier's window and presented a check signed by his friend for the full amount of the deposit, which was promptly paid by the banker without comment.

In about an hour the Swede appeared and, walking up to the cashier's window, handed the banker his check book, minus only one check, with the remark, "Well, I don't tank I needs him any more."—Youth's Companion.

AN ISLAND IN THE AIR.

One of the Wonders of Prehistoric Pueblo Architecture.

Three miles south of the Mesa Encantada, in Mexico, is a splendid specimen of fantastic erosion—an "island" in the air, a rock with overhanging sides nearly 400 feet high, seventy acres in area on the fairly level top, indented with countless great bays, reached with dizzy chains. The greater part of the island overhangs the sea like a huge mushroom, and on the top stands a town which for artistic charm, ethnological interest and romantic history has no peer.

This little town of Anconima is one of the most perfect types of the prehistoric Pueblo architecture. Most of the houses remain of the type invented when every house must be a fort. One climbed a ladder to his first roof and pulled up the ladder at night, living on the second and third floors and using the ground floor as a cellar. Against one's arm only with bows and arrows this was a fair defense. Comfort had to be sacrificed to safety. Nothing except the eagle could reach such inaccessible crevices as these victims of their own civilization.

Because they were farmers instead of freelancers, because they had homes instead of being vagrants, they were easy to find, and they were the prey of a hundred round tribes. With inconceivable labor this island town in the air was built and fortified. It was reached only by a mere trail of two holes up the stem of the mushroom. The age of the island is not known, except that it was already old in 1540, when the first explorer visited it and wrote an account of its wonders.

Th. Munnich, Of Life.
Infants and children are constantly needing a laxative. It is important to know what to give them. Their stomachs and bowels are not strong enough for salts, purgative waters or cathartics. Give them a mild laxative, gentle, laxative tonic like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which sells at the same price of 50 cents or $1 at drug stores. It is the one great remedy for you to have in the house to give children when they need it.

MARS' SEASONS.

Vital in the Vegetative Economy of the Planet's Year.

Were Mars not an old planet, corroborating by absence of cloud the general course of planetary development, our knowledge of it would have been slight. To begin with, it enables us to mark the permanency in place of the planet's features and so to time their axial rotation, by which we come to knowledge of the planet's day. This day proves to differ little from our own in duration, being 24 hours 40 minutes long instead of 24 hours. Next it discloses the tilt of the axis to the planet's orbital plane, a relation which causes the seasons of the year. Now, the Martian tilt as well as the Martian time of rotation turns out to be singularly like our own, being, in fact, 24 degrees as against 23 1/2 degrees for the earth. The year of Mars, however, is twice ours in length, which, joined to great eccentricity of orbit, gives it diversified long seasons. Thus in the northern hemisphere spring lasts 199 days, summer 183, autumn 147 and winter 158, while in its southern hemisphere the figures stand reversed.

The numbers have more than academic importance, for absolute length is as vital a factor in a season's influence as the fact of the season itself. Much may be brought to pass in twice the time which could not develop in the shorter period, and it is not a little interesting that precisely this possibility actually turns out to be vital in the vegetative economy of the planet's year.—Percival Lowell in Century.

The Twilight Of Life.

The muscles of the stomach in old age are not as strong or active as in youth and in consequence old people are very subject to constipation and indigestion. Many seldom have a bowel movement without artificial aid. Many, also, have unpleasant eructations of gas from the stomach after eating. All this can be avoided by the use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which permanently regulates the bowels so that the stomach that food is digested without discomfort. Druggists sell it at 50 cents or $1 a large bottle.
