

EIGHT THOUSAND MAY PARTICIPATE

Sunday School Rally Will Be
One of Biggest Events
Ever Held.

PARADE TO BE A FEATURE.

BANDS, FLOATS AND MARCHING
SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS
WILL BE IN LINE—ALL AR-RANGEMENTS COMPLETED.

On Saturday, August 22, in connection with the local Chautauqua, eight thousand Sunday school children will give a demonstration in this city which will surpass anything of the kind ever held in this county. That date will be "Sunday School Day" at the Chautauqua and arrangements have been perfected to have representatives of nearly every Sunday school in the county parade to the grounds. At the grounds there will be a basket picnic and there will be an appropriate program of events. All who participate in the big parade will be admitted to the grounds free of charge.

The parade will start at the court house at 9:45 o'clock in the morning. In this parade it is expected there will be hundreds of Sunday school workers and children. The parade will be led by a brass band, following which will come boys and mens marching clubs of the various Sunday schools, drum and bugle corps, automobiles, carriages, a mounted brigade and last, but not least, gaily decorated wagons of every description containing women and girls. Each parading Sunday school will carry a banner.

Formal invitations have been extended to all Sunday schools in the county outside of Richmond to participate in the parade and rally at the Chautauqua grounds. Every invitation has been enthusiastically accepted. Next Sunday formal invitations will be extended to the local Sunday schools by a number of prominent Sunday school workers.

The committee in charge of the parade has designated the following places where the township schools shall assemble and form for the parade:

Cincinnati and Philadelphia are having a hot fight for fourth place and the Quakers seem to have the class on the Reds. In the series now being played at Cincinnati the Phillies have won two out of three. If they beat the Reds today they will go east in fourth place.

ROASTED TO DEATH BY ELECTRIC WIRES

Three Die in Horrible Manner
During Fire.

Altoona, Penn., July 22.—During a fire in the Kline Building last night, three persons were electrocuted by live wires which dropped to the street.

The dead:
Joseph Byers, fireman.
Joseph Frick, lineman for Edison Electric Company.

Harry Deshong, a lad of 12 years. Byers and Frick were instantly killed. The wires fell around the neck of young Deshong and nearly burned his head off, the terrified crowd being afraid to render assistance.

While the firemen were at work in front of the building the intense heat melted the wires and they dropped to the street.

Byers and Frick, in attempting to escape them, became entangled and were roasted to death.

The Colonies—in English Eyes. The average Englishman, and it is surprising in what numbers he exists, has a vague conception of colonies generally. He has some hazy notions of Virginia plantations and transportation settlements and crown colonies where a peppery military man of the old school takes up the white man's burden by holding autocratic sway over unclad barbarians. The conceptions are more often than not fifty years behind the times.—Sydney Lone Hand.

The Oldest Jury.

The oldest Greek poet has left us a picture of what the jury was in his time. The primitive court is sitting, and the question is "guilty" or "not guilty." The old men of the community give their opinions in turn. The adjudicating democracy, the commons, standing round about, applaud the opinions which strike them most, and the applause determines the decision. Such was probably the earliest form of jury.

The British Drama.

It is absolutely true that the British public goes to the theater to be amused, not to be instructed. It considers that it pays its money to be amused, and it sullenly resents the presence of any powder in the jam. It is when this attitude changes that the great renaissance of the British drama will arrive.—London Graphic.

Hospitality.

"Use one teaspoonful of this cocoa in hot water every day. The can will last thirty days."

"But suppose there's company, missis?"

"Why, then, of course, use more hot water."—Filegate Blatter.

Advantage of Position.

"Where have you been all afternoon?"

"Music hall—piano recital."

"Infernal tiresome, wasn't it?"

"Not at all. I was the pianist."—Chicago Tribune.

The Twilight Of Life.

The muscles of the stomach, a old age are not as strong or active as in youth and in consequence old people are very subject to constipation and indigestion. Many seldom have a bowel movement without artificial aid. Many also have unpleasant eruptions of gas from the stomach after eating. All this can be avoided by the use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which permanently regulates the bowels so that passages come naturally, and so strengthens the stomach that food is digested without discomfort. Druggists sell it at 30 cents or $1 a large bottle.

CHARGE AGAINST KOHLING DISMISSED

No Inclination to Prosecute
Well Known Barber.

The case of the State vs. Henry Kohling, the well known barber, charged with petit larceny, has been dismissed in circuit court. Kohling was accused of the theft of an electric light globe from the Craighead store. There was no inclination on the part of the firm to prosecute and Kohling made restitution that was satisfactory to the authorities.

OUR TIME STANDARDS.

The Four Sections That Divide the United States.

Every nation has its own time standard, but the United States has four. These time sections, as they are called, were introduced in the year 1883, chiefly for the benefit of the railroads, and are known as the eastern, central, mountain and Pacific. The eastern section extends from the Atlantic coast to an irregular line drawn from Detroit to Charleston, S. C.; the central includes all between this line and another extending from Bismarck, N. D., to the mouth of the Rio Grande river; the mountain extends from here to the western boundary of Montana, Idaho, Utah and Arizona, and the Pacific includes all the remainder of the country to the Pacific coast.

The difference in time between adjoining sections is one hour, so that when it is 12 o'clock in New York city it is 11 o'clock at Chicago, 10 o'clock at Denver and 9 o'clock at San Francisco. The true local time of any place is slower or faster than the standard time, according as the place is west or east of the time meridian. Thus the local time at Boston is sixteen minutes faster than eastern standard time, while at Buffalo it is sixteen minutes slower.—Harper's Weekly.

WINNING A COAT.

The Clever Scheme That Was Worked by a French Thief.

A Frenchman had been attending the Comedie Francaise, and after the performance he took a gloomy byway in order to make a short cut to the Boulevard Montmartre. He noticed as he hastened through the dark a slight tug on his coat, but to this he paid no attention. When he reached the bright boulevard, however, he found, to his great mortification, that one tail of his clawhammer coat had been cut off. He notified a journalist of his loss, and the next morning an account of the odd theft appeared in the Figaro. That afternoon a man in a blue uniform called on him.

"I come, monsieur," the man said, "from the bureau of police. We have captured a suspicious character who had in his pocket a piece of fine black cloth. Let me have your mutilated coat, sir. If the piece fits it, we will know that we have apprehended the man who robbed you."

The other surrendered his coat, and from that day to this he heard no more about it. The pretended official was, of course, the thief, who had adopted that adacious means of getting the coat in order to attach to it the pursued tail.

Who Knows?

Allice tolled slowly up the stairs, paper and pencil in hand, ready to ask questions of the first person she encountered. Being just six, she was at the inquiring age and endeavored to make everybody's life a burden to them.

The first person she encountered was Bridget, the upstairs girl.

"Fwasee, Bwidget," she piped, "git me ve letters of ve alfabit."

Slowly and impressively Bridget complied.

"An' now, Bwidget," proceeded Allice, "fwasee git me ve letters vat ain't in ve alfabit."

Bridget thought. Then she thought again. She was puzzled.

Finally she said:

"I'll tell ye tomorrow," and went down to ask yoe, London Queen.

ROUGH RIDING ON WATER WAGON

Three Men Fall Off and Are Fined.

The water wagon had a disaster yesterday and there was a dumping of the occupants. Among those to fall were Edward Lindsay, who had experienced the same sensation previously and was fined $5 and costs. He went to jail. William Decker said there was some beer in him but he did not know whether he was drunk or sober. He was arrested at 3 o'clock this morning while patrolling across the Main street bridge carrying a half pint flask of whisky in his hand. He had been up before but was fined only $5 and costs. Grant Parsons, who was a witness before the grand jury in the John Knapp murder case and appeared there under the influence of intoxicants, said "I'm surely guilty," when asked to enter his plea. His assessment was $1 and costs.

Entitled to the Best.

Tipping is admitted to be a bad habit, but it is firmly established. A young fellow who took his best girl to supper felt that he must conform to custom and handed out his coin with liberality, so that no one in the restaurant was overlooked. After they had been swung through the revolving door she said:

"Did you give that man at the door anything?"

"No. Why?"

"He ought to have had the most. He let us out."—St. Louis Republic.

A TENDERFOOT'S REVENGE.

Bully of New Mexico Town Had the Tables Turned on Him.

The average tenderfoot is not a coward. He simply lacks ranch experience. An illustration of this fact occurred down in New Mexico several years ago. One day a pale looking, thin and sickly young man alighted from the train and put up at the little adobe hotel at Bernal Springs. The tenderfoot walked up to the bar and called for a bottle of soda pop. "Tain't allowed to drink that sort o' stuff out here," said a toughy. "What you want is a stiff drink o' red liquor. Mr. Barkeeper, set out the pison for this young feller." "You have the best of me," replied the tenderfoot, "and I'll have to drink the stuff, but I hope the time may come when I can make you drink my choke of liquid."

The tenderfoot raised the glass and gulped down the whisky. Sandy had had his way about it, and he made no effort to comprehend the vague remark of the stranger. The tenderfoot left for a ranch down the Pecos the next day after the incident in the saloon, and he was forgotten until one afternoon more than a year afterward a strong, healthy looking young man rode up to the hotel on a broncho, dropped the bridle reins upon the ground and dismounted. He had the appearance of a typical young man of the range. His face was bronzed and his eyes clear and penetrating. "I owe a fellow a debt which I believe I will pay right now," the stranger said.

No sooner had he made the remark than he walked off in the direction of Sandy, who had his gun in his right hand and was firing it into the air every few steps. The stranger approached Sandy, pulled his gun and unceremoniously dragged the bully up to the saloon and led him in that fashion up to the bar. "Get me a pan of water and set it upon the floor," he said to the barkeeper.

The order was complied with, Sandy standing there meekly, wondering what was going to happen to him. "Now, get down on the floor and drink water out of that pan like a dog," the former tenderfoot ordered. Sandy at first refused, but when the stranger began twirling his gun around on his forefinger and said the order must be obeyed the cowed fellow unlimbered and lay down upon the floor and began drinking water out of the pan.—Denver Field and Earm.

Glazed Earthenware.

Glazed earthenware was long supposed to be of no more ancient date than the ninth century, but the discovery of glazed ware in Egypt, of glazed bricks in the ruins of Babylon, of glazed coffins and enameled tiles in other ancient cities, proves that this is not the case. The Arabs seem to be entitled to the credit of having introduced glazed ware into modern Europe. The Italians are said to have become acquainted with this kind of ware as it was manufactured in the island of Majorca and gave it the name of majolica. The French derived their first knowledge from the Italian manufacture at Faenza and christened it falence.—London Saturday Review.
