

KNIGHTS IN GALA EVENT IN BOSTON

Monster Military Parade Held This Afternoon With Indiana Well Up in Front.

THE FIELD IS DEDICATED.

OVER 2,500 TENTS STRETCHED
TO ACCOMMODATE GREAT
PYTHIAN HOST NOW IN NATION-AL CONVENTION.

Boston, Aug. 4.—Today was the big day for the thousands of Knights of Pythias in this city and for the Pythian sisters as well, for their convention was opened. In the big military parade of the afternoon the Indiana Knights will come in the early part of the procession.

A number of complaints have been received at camp headquarters on Franklin Field from the Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin sections that the knights have been greatly annoyed by petty thieving, and several arrests have been made.

The chief official action of the convention was the formal dedication late yesterday of Camp Joseph H. Lyon, on Franklin Field, one of the largest public playgrounds in Boston, where a canvas city of 2,500 tents accommodated the greater part of the many guests.

The dedicatory exercises were impressive. Supreme Representative D. Sydney Woodworth, President of the Boston Ways and Means Committee for this convention, transferred the camp to Charles A. Barnes, Supreme Chancellor of the order, who, in turn, transferred it to Arthur J. Stobbart, the Major General commanding the Boston Rank.

A secret meeting of the Pythian Sisters was held at Hotel Brunswick during the day, attended by Anna M. Young, of Zanesville, Ohio, Supreme Chief of the Pythian Sisters. Arrangements were completed last night for the big parade of the Uniform Rank today.

The dance seems to fulfill every requisite of an ideal exercise—the practical use of all the muscles, the sense of pleasurable emotion and the satisfaction of the aesthetic sense. I have often prescribed dancing to my patients with the most gratifying results.—Collier's.

Affairs of the Sporting World

Wouldn't it be surprising if Cleveland should have found its gait at last and after taking four straight from New York, continue its pace and go to the top? It would be pleasing to a great number of local fans.

The White Sox bunch is the luckiest on the diamond. It was a great bunch of horseshoes that permitted them to win from Washington Sunday. In trying to catch Dougherty off third at a time when he had him by yards, Catcher Sullivan threw the ball into the field's back and he scored.

Indianapolis is slipping, slipping and it will not be long until the Star brings the hammer from the woodshed and begins work. The sporting writer of this paper is about as loyal to his team as a dog to a bunch of firecrackers attached to his tail.

Numerous surprises have been sprung in the tennis games in Boston. The Easterners are putting up a fast article and some of the names famous in the game bid well to be forgotten after this season.

Saturday, August 29, has been decided upon as the date upon which President Roosevelt will greet the victorious American athletes when they return from their conquest of Europe.

The American cricket team from Philadelphia won the first day's match against the Irish team at Dublin yesterday. Score another for the Yanks from across the blue.

People in Chicago have not become accustomed even at this time to see flat buildings springing up regularly on the site of the old Washington park race course. It is said every old sport sighs as he goes past the place and thinks of what used to be.

More dope on that post season team that is to play ball in this city would be welcome. Why doesn't someone suggest that Ty Cobb, Mike Donlin and Slagle be secured for outfield positions?

TENNIS TOURNAMENT IS NOW PLANNED

Expected That There Will Be Many Entries.

In order to create interest in lawn tennis and to promote a tournament to determine the best players in the city, a tennis association will be formed at a meeting to be held some time this week. The Country Club has given permission to make use of its courts during the tournament.

It is expected there will be many entries as the game is growing in popularity. The courts at the play grounds are in constant use and many interesting matches are played on private courts. There is a large number of first class players and it is believed a tournament would be the best means to draw these players into match contests. The association is regarded as the proper organization to conduct a tournament and at the same time promote the game. Prizes will be offered to the winners.

SAME OLD SYSTEM STILL CONTINUED

City Council Still Attends to Routine Matters in Open Meetings.

COUNCILMEN COMPLAIN.

TELL THEIR FELLOWS OF BAD
CONDITIONS OVER THE CITY AND THEN REFER THEM TO BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS.

It was the same old story last evening and indications are that never will time cause any change. In the years gone by, before there was such an organization as the board of public works, all routine matters such as street and sewer conditions were brought before council and referred by the mayor to the proper committee. The recent law did away with this and provided that the board of public works should attend to all matters of the kind. Blanks have been prepared upon which councilmen are expected to make any recommendations to the board it is believed necessary. But the old plan of bringing up all such matters in open council is continued and this makes the meetings as tedious and protracted as formerly. The meeting of last evening saw no change.

Mr. Brown called attention to the condition of the public drinking fountain at Tenth and South C streets. The foundation was said to be in need of repairs. He also called attention to a vacant pole at Thirteenth and South E streets that has not been removed.

Mr. Osborn directed attention to the condition of the gutter at Eighth and North I streets. There is no outlet for water in the gutters and it backs up over the sidewalks and into yards. He reported the foundation to the fountain at Tenth and North G streets as in bad shape and said it is falling down.

Mr. Wettig complained that the sewer in the alley south of C between South Tenth and Eleventh streets does not carry away the water as rapidly as it accumulates.

The crossing at Fort Wayne avenue, North Sixth and C streets is too high, according to Mr. Deuker. He says it is a source of inconvenience to automobilists and the fire department wagons.

He spoke of the overflow of water from the inlet to the sewer at Eighth and North E streets and says it extends over the sidewalks and runs into the cellars following heavy rains. Mr. O'Neal of the board says the matter is being investigated at once and the necessary remedy will be found.

The pet hobby of councilman-at-large H. H. Engelbert, was put on display again. He complained about the condition of North Eighth street. He was assured by the board this street will be given attention as soon as the Y. M. C. A. building is completed and obstructions removed. Engelbert had another chance to say he wants to see the street bricked.

EGYPTIAN CIVILIZATION.

Its Origin One of the Unsolved Enigmas of the World.

The origin of Egyptian civilization has been the enigma of the world for the past twenty-five centuries. Presenting no historic or even mythic infancy, it appears before the world at once as a highly civilized and organic community centuries before Moses was a boy. Upon this subject Renan says, "Egypt has no archaic epoch, but suddenly takes its place in the world in all its matchless magnificence, without father and without mother and as clean apart from all evolution as if it had dropped from the unknown heavens." Would not an explanation at least feasible be found in the hypothesis that it received its civilization from some source no longer existing? Menes, the first historic figure in its long line of dynasties, the outlines of whose personality loom up waveringly indefinite but grandly impressive against the deep mythic background of prehistoric story at least 4500 B. C., conceived and executed enterprises extorting the warmest admiration from the best engineers of the twentieth century. Did he not alter the course of the Nile by vast embankments to gain stable foundations other than in shifting sands for his sacred city of Memphis and construct the artificial lake of Moeris, 450 miles in circumference and 350 feet deep, as a reservoir for the waters of the Nile?

Look, too, at the colossal achievement of his successors in architecture, sculpture, engineering, astronomical, political, medical, social and military science, to say nothing of navigation and theology. Witness the ruins of the Labyrinth recorded by Herodotus, which had 3,000 chambers, half of them above ground and half below, a combination of courts, chambers, colonnades, statues and pyramids. Witness the wonders of the magnificent temple of Karnak, which still awakens our admiration, a temple, as Debon says, wherein the Cathedral of Notre Dame in Paris could be set inside one of its halls and yet not touch the walls. Witness the sublime pyramids originally built in honor of the sun god Ra and for use as astronomical observatories, the splendors of Memphis, Thebes and Heliopolis, of the sphinx and the obelisks, the statuary and the numerous temples with the ruins of which the land is still filled.—Exchange.

The Room at the Top.
"All the lower berths are taken," said the ticket seller. "You'll have to take an upper berth."
"Of course," grumbled the professor. "There's always room at the top!"—Chicago Tribune.

A WONDERFUL PROOF.

The Burning Glass as a Demonstrator of the Sun's Heat.

"The sun's heat is so great!"—But an intelligent young woman interrupted the scientist impatiently.

"After all," she said, "it is guesswork, this talk about the excessive heat of the sun. You can't prove any of your claims."

"I can't," he cried. "Why, it is the easiest thing in the world to prove that the sun is hot enough to melt iron, granite, the hardest substances known, into liquid, into steam."

"How would you make such a proof?" she asked incredulously.

"With the burning glass," said he. "A burning glass is slightly rounded. Thus it bends into a focus—it concentrates upon one small point—a number of sun rays. The tiniest burning glass, catching only a few rays, will light a fire, set off a gun or bore a red hole in your hand."

"Yes." "The solar heat which the burning glass collects for us is the tiniest fraction of the sun's actual heat. We can prove this by focusing with our glass rays from a powerful lamp or a great fire. We get a small, bright spot, a little heat, but this heat is nothing to compare with the heat of the lamp itself."

"So, knowing, now, that the solar heat which the burning glass gives to us is but a fraction of the heat of the sun, we take a burning glass a yard in diameter—such glasses have been made for the sole purpose of convincing skeptical persons like yourself—and this glass concentrates many hundreds of sun rays for us, and it gives us a heat greater than we can obtain in any furnace, a heat that will melt rock into vapor."

The scientist smiled triumphantly. "There is your proof," he said. "The burning glass will only collect a tiny portion of burning object's heat, and the tiny portion of the sun's heat that it gives us is yet sufficient to change in a jiffy a block of granite into a puff of steam!"—Exchange.

Made Him Famous.

A. M. Palmer, the famous theatrical manager, once told a story which illustrated the reason for Mansfield's success on the stage. Mansfield before he was known to fame was cast for a part in "Baron Chevalier," a part so small that other actors refused to play it. The night of the first performance Mansfield made the hit of the production owing to the realistic manner in which he simulated death from paralysis. It afterward transpired that he had employed a physician to coach him in portraying the effects of a paralytic stroke.

CHAUTAUQUA CAME TO UNTIMELY END

Anderson Affair Conducted But Three Days.

Anderson, Ind., Aug. 4.—After three days' battle for existence the Anderson Chautauqua, which started at Mounds park last Friday afternoon, closed last night. The end came when the Hearson Sisters Concert company appeared at the pavilion dressed for the evening concert and refused to go on with their entertainment unless the money they were to receive was paid them in advance.

The Rev. W. R. Parr, superintendent of the Chautauqua, presented the embarrassing situation to the audience and the leader of the concert company was also allowed to state his side of the question. After considerable parleying on the platform the entertainment was called off and the audience dismissed. The result is that the program for the remaining ten days is canceled.
