

CONDEMNED COWS EATEN FOR MEAT

Intelligence Sickens Pittsburg
And Entire City Now Is Gagging as Result.

SOLD FOR FERTILIZER.

BUT ENTERPRISING BUTCHER
PURCHASED THE ANIMALS AND SLAUGHTERED THEM, PLACING MEAT ON MARKET FOR SALE.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 2.—The mere suspicion that one may have eaten part of the diseased meat which was cast from Dixmont Insane asylum grounds last week as unclean has set all Pittsburg gagging and there is now on one of the most searching investigations in years.

It comes out that the State Insane asylum at Dixmont recently sold a herd of cattle, dying with tuberculosis for fertilizer, but that an enterprising meat concern gobbled the cattle up at $6 per head, had them all passed as all right by the government inspectors at Herrs Island yards, killed and sold them for beef in Pittsburg.

Dixmont Insane asylum admits her share in the game, and the officials there are almost bitterly angry at the way the people of Pittsburg have been hoaxed. It is asserted by Dixmont to-night that some weeks ago they discovered traces of tuberculosis in the herd of cows, which supplied milk to the 1,100 insane there. Dr. J. Stewart Lackert, a veterinarian of Pittsburg, was called, and pronounced $5 cattle of the herd as suffering from tuberculosis and recommended their immediate destruction. Dixmont then sold these cattle for "fertilizer," they claim, getting $6 per head. In some way which the Dixmont authorities admit they can't understand these cattle got to the stock yards and were all passed as safe and sound by the government inspectors and were beefed for Pittsburg consumption.

ground that no one has been specifically injured by placing the line through the park. Attorneys for the petitioners will endeavor to convince the court that George Hill, named as plaintiff in the suit, has been injured specifically.

Only one day will be taken to hear the arguments in this case. Judge Fox will then take the case under advisement and will probably make a ruling some time next week.

In the event the company is enjoined from placing its line through the park it will probably commence work immediately, placing its line along North Twenty-second street. Under its franchise the company has the right to do this in the event it is enjoined from using the park.

History of Smallpox.

Smallpox appears to have been first described by Rhazes, an Arabian physician living about 900 A. D. It was introduced into southern Europe in the time of the crusades and slowly spread into the more northern regions. In 1517 it was carried from Spain to Santo Domingo and thence to Mexico, where it is said to have swept off 3,500,000 of the natives. It spread rapidly all over the new world, and whole villages and even tribes of Indians were carried off by it.

Easier.

"That house I have taken from you," said the dissatisfied tenant, "is horribly drafty. When I am sitting in the middle of the room my hair blows all over my head. Can't you do something to the windows?"

"Don't you think, sir," replied the house agent suavely, "it would be easier and cheaper for you to get your hair cut?"—London Telegraph.

GREAT CALF DISPLAY

Exhibit at Ohio State Fair
Most Attractive Ever
On Display.

COPS WERE CALLED UPON.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 2.—"Pipe 'em! Pipe 'em!" was the cry which went up at the state fair grounds yesterday afternoon, and was carried through the surging crowd until the latter became a disorderly mob, sufficient in its fury to call upon the police to have it disbanded.

It was not an attempt at lynching. Three real "ladies" escorted by a "gent" with a fierce mustache, had entered the grounds decked in sheath skirts. Male visitors from the rural sections, and even the stern business men from the city, hurried pellmell to the point of excitement, all eager for a look, when the attraction became known. Wives used their utmost physical force to restrain their husbands and girls went when their sweethearts no longer to be soothed by endearing words, joined the throng.

Down through the grounds the girls paraded amid the "Gee whizzes" and the "By gams!" until the race track was reached.

Even the nags brought to the scratch for their contests, snorted at the "skirts."

Finally the crowd became so dense about the girls that they were escorted to the Administration building and the police ordered the men away.

ANOTHER SUSPECT

Captured at Atlantic City After Wild Chase Through Tenderloin.

NO NEWS IS GIVEN OUT.

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 2.—After a wild chase through the tenderloin district early today, the police caught a man suspected of the shooting of Charles B. Roberts, the Baltimore millionaire clubman. The police refused to tell his identity, but expect the arrest to solve the board walk mystery, admitting the arrest is in this connection. The man is said to have moved in the same circles as Roberts and Mrs. Williams and was intimately acquainted with her. Police warned newspaper men that too much publicity shouldn't be given the Roberts shooting as hotel proprietors and business men are displeased.

A Specie.

"Mrs. Kwivvery is one of those anticipatory people, and I simply can't carry on a conversation with her without getting so nervous I feel as though I should fly to pieces," says the lady with the jade brooch.

"Anticipatory?" asks the lady without any long gloves. "How is that?"

"She listens faster than you talk to her."—Life.

Life, it is thanks to death that I hold these so dear.—Seneca.

Mme. de Struve's Wit.

Secretary Blaine had said of Mme. de Struve that she was the brightest woman he had ever met, and everybody who knew her agreed with this verdict. Her knowledge of English was remarkable, even for a Russian, and her sallies were famous. For instance, the day when Secretary Bayard was made head of the American diplomatic service his daughter, Miss Kate Bayard, said laughingly to a young secretary of legation, "Remember, I am now daughter of your chief!" to which came, quick as a flash, the retort from Mme. de Struve's lips, "Oh, we all know that you are miss-chief!"—Army and Navy Life.

THE HEATHEN ESKIMO.

He is Good Humored With His Queer Customs and Beliefs.

Professor Mylius Eriksen, writing of the heathen Eskimo in northern Greenland, says: "He lacks imagination, but his powers of observation are very acute. In spite of the fact that his life is an uninterrupted struggle for existence the Greenlanders are always in a good humor, and his boisterous laugh can be heard sounding far over ice and snow fields. His way of telling stories is short and abrupt, but comical features are strongly emphasized. His stories consist generally of his own adventures, old legends about fights with neighbors and wild animals, about severe winters and great famines, about the creation of the world and about supernatural beings. It is considered highly creditable to be able to tell stories so long that the audience is lulled to sleep. An orator who achieves this feat is solemnly welcomed on the next morning, and every one thanks him profusely for the pleasure which he accorded the night before.

"Ideas of beauty are peculiarly developed in the heathen Eskimo. He regards beauty solely from the standpoint of utility. For instance, a rock projecting out of water only appears beautiful to him when it is visited in summer by water birds which breed there. A foaming torrent is only beautiful if it contains many salmon. Clothes are not put together with any idea of regularity of color, only their practical utility being considered. Huts are made of snow and stones, with domed tops, but without any architectural design.

"Only the spirit conjurers (angakoks) occupy an exalted position, being regarded as priests and doctors. Their task is to establish a connection between the visible world and the hidden spirits, and in this way they obtain a certain influence over their neighbors. The angakok asks his spirit for advice and then informs the invalid that his illness has been sent by the spirits as punishment for certain deeds."

How Sponges Are Propagated.
There are a great many things which the scientists of today are not able to explain and a great many others over which they have frequent discussions owing to a difference of opinion. The method by which sponges are propagated when left to themselves is one of these mooted scientific questions. Some declare that they are reproduced from true eggs; others are equally positive that they are propagated from buds.

Your Heart.
The heart of man resembles a secret chamber whereon stands, like the block of white unheaven marble set in the studio of a sculptor, a veiled figure. Though the man may not so much as lift the corner of the veil, yet must he forever and in secret work to fashion and to form the figure that lies beneath.
