SERVICE RULES HELD UNFAIR

Shippers Hold Them Worse
Than Those It Was Intended to Relieve.

COMPLAINT IS FILED.

MANY EXCEPTIONS TAKEN AND
SHIPPERS CLAIM THERE ARE TOO FEW PROVISIONS FOR REFUND OF CHARGE FOR SHIPPING

The new car service rules adopted by the Chicago demurrage bureau, which went into effect on Aug. 1, are, according to the shippers, "more unfair and less reasonable than the former rules." The shippers of Chicago, through the traffic committee of the Illinois Manufacturers' association, have filed a complaint asking for the restoration of the old rules. The principal cause for protest is in the reduction of the number of conditions under which car service charges may be refunded. Rule No. 12, dealing with the subject of claims, formerly contained five provisions for refund, of which all but one have been eliminated and which the shippers ask to have restored. The first provision declares that a claim for refund might be made "in case of overcharge or error in the assessment of charges;" the second for "failure on the part of the railroad to properly handle freight when such failure is responsible for the charges;" the third, in case of "unavoidable failure or breakdown in the machinery used for loading and unloading of cars;" fourth, "when the freight cannot be disposed of at the point held for sufficient to realize both freight and car service charges." The only provision for a refund now included in the rules are in case of extreme cold weather, rain, snow or strikes (formerly the fifth provision), and in case of errors of omissions on the part of the railroad. Railroad officials state the first and second provisions are sufficiently covered by the new item "errors or omissions" and that the other two items were omitted in accordance with a recent ruling of the interstate commerce commission. No date has been set for the proposed conference with the bureau as to a revision of the rules.

TOO SCARED TO CRY

Woman Watched Burglars at Work on Vault and Could Not Talk.

DESERVING OF A MEDAL.

Easton, Mo., Sept. 5.—Mrs. A. Marshall of this city watched four burglars working on the vault of the Bank of Easton for two hours. She was too frightened to cry out or otherwise give the alarm. The men escaped with about $100 belonging to the postoffice. The money was between the outer and inner doors of the vault and the robbers were frightened by daylight before securing the bank's funds. The vault was wrecked and a large hole blown in the floor.

The men drove away in a carriage toward St. Joseph. They are believed to be the same men who robbed the bank at Rushville, Mo., last Wednesday, for whom a reward of $5,000 has been offered.

TAFT EXCEPTION IN ANOTHER WAY

Not as Easily Controlled as Dirigible.

"Heard the latest about Taft?" inquired a campaign manager.

"No, what is it?" the reporter asked. "It is copy for all of you, whether your papers are republican, democratic or prohibitionist. A true and harmless story that will neither make nor unmake votes."

"Mr. Taft," said the campaign manager, after pausing to laugh, "was out taking a brisk constitutional one day, and in sharply negotiating a corner he ran square into a peddler, upsetting the man's tray of shoestrings and collar buttons."

"The peddler, as he stooped to pick up his wares, grumbled to himself: 'And they want to say these here dirigible balloons is perfected!'" clothes; that means all-wool, perfect tailoring, and correct style to begin with. They buy, in addition to a fancy weave suit, a black thibet or cheviot, or a blue serge; and occasionally change off for a week, get the suit they're not wearing pressed, give it a little rest in the closet, and then put it on fresh and new looking. You can do that; and you ought to; it's clothes-economy.

TOWN RESIDENTS RECEIVE SHARES

Fortune Disposed of by Two Brothers to Their Old
Friends and Neighbors.

WAS DONE BY AGREEMENT.

WEALTHY FOLKS LOOK AFTER COLLEGES BUT FEW DISTRIBUTE MEANS AMONG THOSE CLOSE AT HOME.

Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 5.—As the result of an agreement made years ago between Thomas M. and Alexander Gilchrist, two kindly old bachelor brothers, a fortune of more than $1,000,000 has been distributed among the residents of the little town of Charlton.

Alexander J. Gilchrist has recently followed out the agreement made with his brother four years ago, and left his fortune, together with one of equal size left him by his brother, to the friends and neighbors instead of some pretentious educational or charitable institution.

According to the village gossip, several years ago the two Gilchrists, well along in years, with more money accumulated by shrewd real estate investments than they could spend in a dozen lifetimes, fell to talking one evening by the fireside of their unpretentious country home of how they should leave their wealth. With no near relatives, here was no obvious beneficiary to be decided upon.

"I am going to leave all my money to you, Tom," Alexander is reported to have said. "Now, that's funny," replied the other. "I have already bequeathed all of mine to you."

"But one of us must die first," reminded Alexander, "and who will the other leave it to?"

"Well," Tom is said to have replied, "there's plenty of wealthy folks to look after the colleges and such, but I don't know any way that will make me lie more contented in my grave than to give all of the good friends of ours around the village enough to make them sure of bread and butter, and perhaps a little piece of cake now and then."

Thomas M. Gilchrist approved of the idea and the compact was drawn up by which the survivor agreed to distribute the combined fortunes around the little village, with a few bequests to distant cousins and friends of greatest intimacy who had moved away.

Selecting the School Is Easy If You Consider Only the Best.

When you spend your money for a course in bookkeeping, shorthand, type-writing and correlated subjects you do so with a view of qualifying yourself to meet the demands of the business public. Whenever you attend the INDIANA BUSINESS COLLEGE, you have not only the support of the school which you attend but of eight other schools which are also interested in your success. This, together with the EMPLOYMENT DEPARTMENT to which you have a life time right, WITHOUT COST TO YOU and which is maintained at Indianapolis entirely separate from any school, should be sufficient reasons why you should attend our school. There are also many other reasons.

Students are now enrolling and entering daily. It will pay you to investigate our school before making arrangements elsewhere. We are glad to explain our courses to you whether you enroll with us or not. If not convenient to call, phone 2040 and one of us will call to see you. Night School opens Sept. 7th. Address all communication to L. B. Campbell, Mgr. of the
