Colors Are Chosen.

At the meeting of the decorating committee held in the club rooms last evening the colors yellow and white were selected as the pennant colors of the festival. It was decided to offer prizes for the best interior decorated store, the best exterior decorated store and the store having the most unique window display. The committee will select nine public spirited women, three serving on each committee, to award the prizes.

It was also decided to secure the services of a professional decorator who will select a general scheme of decoration for the entire city.

LIQUOR INTERESTS TO FIGHT COUNTY OPTION BITTERLY

Taft speaking dates in Indiana. There is now no prospect, however, that his Indiana engagements will be known before the first of October. The state committee, it seems, is compelled to await the action of the national committee, which will do the assigning for the nominee. At present there is nothing more tangible than a promise that Taft will surely come into this state and make a few speeches in the more important cities. It is not unlikely that his speaking tour of Indiana will be made more extensive than was originally intended.

Kern Free to Campaign.

John W. Kern has finally shaken off his legal engagements and will devote his entire time to the campaign from now on until the day of the election. Mr. Kern was to have appeared in two places Wednesday. One of these was Peoria, Ill., and the other was Greenfield, Ind., where the Rhodus annulment of marriage case was called for trial. Mr. Kern asked for a continuance of the case, pleading that he was at present interested in saving his country and Judge Mason, feeling that the candidate should not be handicapped in his worthy object, continued the case until November. It so happened that another lawyer in the case, who is ill, could not appear, giving an added reason for the continuance.

Fair Breaks Record.

The state fair has again broken all attendance records and the prospect is that the show will be the most successful, from a financial standpoint, ever held in Indiana.

To Stew Democrats.

It has developed that the republicans do not intend to wait for the democrats to "put them in a hole," as they express it. They intend putting the democrats in a stow right on the jump, and it will be done in this way: When the extra session meets, the local option bill will be presented in the senate by a republican, and in the house by a democrat. It is said that the democrat has been picked, but his name is not given out. This will be embarrassing indeed—for the democrats. They have no desire to be put on record in regard to local option, and as against such an attitude it would be strange for the bill to be fathered by a democrat in either house. It is a case of jockeying for political advantage and the republicans seem to have all the best of it.

DUST IN OUR EYES.

At Times Collect Curious Things
Without Looking For Them.

Few people are aware, says Fred W. Saxby in the Strand Magazine, that we are all constantly "collecting" curious things without looking for them:

In the very act of looking up at the fleeting spectacle of a fiery orb the reader with the big, wide open eyes may easily receive in one of his own orbs a tiny sphere from afar that was produced in a glowing streak of light like the one he is admiring.

Meteoric dust is ever falling and upon all parts of our planet. The little spheres have been found upon the decks of ships far out at sea, in all the deserts of the earth and on the tops of snow clad mountains. Dredgings brought up from the silent depths of the ocean give testimony of their universal presence. The particles all contain iron and are easily collected by the magnet from the roof of any outhouse or other place exposed directly to the sky.

Seafarers are sometimes pelted with dust of quite a different kind, composed of the microscopic flinty skeletons of beautiful plants called "diatoms."

These tiny plants live in both salt and fresh water and occur in enormous numbers in some localities. Occasionally water courses and inundated areas dry up, and the flinty shells of the diatoms which grew there are blown about as dust. There are several instances on record of diatomaceous dust falls at sea. During the thickest part of the fall the sailors have experienced much pain in their eyes, the inflammation being caused by the little flinty shells.

MARCHING CLUB WILL ORGANIZE

Meeting at Republican Head-quarters Tonight to Start Campaign Rally.

PLENTY OF DRUM NOISE.

IMPROPTU SPEECHES TO BE GIVEN AND FIRST CALL TO PARTY CAUSE WILL BE SOUNDED IN GOOD OLD FASHIONED WAY.

The Young Men's Republican Club will meet at 7:30 o'clock this evening at headquarters, second floor, Masonic Temple, instead of at the court house as announced yesterday. There is every indication of a record breaking attendance, and barrels of enthusiasm are guaranteed.

The Wayne County Drum and Bugle Corps will be a feature of the meeting. This organization, formerly identified with the club, now patronized by the entire Wayne county committee, was recently re-equipped with fine new uniforms, drums and bugles. It has practised faithfully and now has music and drills to a point nearing perfection. The Seventh and Fourth Ward drummers will also make their appearances and the Rivendale corps, recently organized by enthusiastic colored Republicans will make its debut.

There will be an impromptu program beginning at 8 o'clock. There will be no attempt at formality and it is probable that every section of the city, and every class of voters will be represented in the list of talks.

From the fact that the roster of the Taft marching squad, for which umbrellas and hats have been ordered, will be made up, it is desired that those interested in this feature be present and enlist with the Secretary, Paul Comstock. As soon as the membership of the squad is known, the insignia will be given out, and drills will be started. It is believed with a brief effort the squad will be ready to appear in public as is intended, at every large political gathering to be held in the county for the next two months.

AN AID TO HEARING.

Opera Glasses Help the Ears as Well as the Eyes.

"Hurry them along, please," said the woman customer as she left a pair of opera glasses for repairs at a Chestnut street store. "I can't hear well at the theater without them."

Another customer who was waiting smiled when the woman left at her apparent mistake. "She meant she could not see," he observed.

"No," rejoined the optician; "she meant just what she said. Opera glasses are an aid to hearing as well as to sight. You can prove it any time you are seated well toward the rear in a theater by training the glasses on a singer. As long as you keep the singer under scrutiny with the glasses you will be able to follow the words of the song with ease. Drop the glasses and you will notice a difference. It will require more or less of a strain to catch the enunciation distinctly."

"By the use of opera glasses a theater patron is enabled to note distinctly every movement of a singer's lips, and the unconscious 'lip reading' greatly aids the sense of hearing. If you ever attend a public meeting where it is impossible to get close to the speakers provide yourself with opera glasses, and you will be surprised how greatly they will aid you in hearing."—Philadelphia Record.

CHANGING THE SUBJECT.

What Lincoln Said When Harvey Ended a Two Hours' Talk.

The late Hon. Charles W. Slack told the following of the Hon. Peter Harvey, the friend and biographer of Daniel Webster:

Mr. Harvey was a large man with a small voice and that pomposity of manner that many very different men possess. Above everything he valued and prided himself upon his friendship with the "great expounder."

The first year of the War of the Rebellion he went to Washington, and on his return was asked how he liked President Lincoln.

"Well," he said, "Mr. Lincoln is a very singular man. I went on to see him, and told him that I had been an intimate personal friend of Daniel Webster; that I had talked with him so much on the affairs of the country that I felt perfectly confident I could tell him exactly what Mr. Webster would advise in the present crisis, and therewith I talked to Lincoln for two solid hours, telling him just what he should do and what he should not do, and will you believe it, sir, when I got through all Mr. Lincoln said was, as he clapped his hand on my leg, 'Mr. Harvey, what a tremendous calf you have got!'"—Boston Herald.

Hard on Norah.

Scene: The Wilsons' dining room. Norah, the slovenly cook, puts her head in at the door.

Norah—Plaze, ma'am, will ye be after tellin' me whin I'm to know whether thy puddin's baked or not?

Mrs. Wilson—Stick a knife into the middle of it, and if the knife comes out clean the pudding is ready to send to the table.

Mr. Wilson—And, Norah, if it does come out clean stick all the rest of the knives in the house into the pudding.—Woman's Home Companion.

The Brick in His Hat.

"Shorry I'm so late, m' dear," began Dingie apologetically, "but some fresh jokers stopped me an' wouldn't lemme go!"

"Indeed!" interrupted his wife. "Why didn't you take the brick out of your hat and hit them with it?"—Philadelphia Press.

GANS' FINAL BATTLE

So He Declared After Being Whipped Again by Young Battling Nelson.

VETERAN BADLY PUNISHED.

San Francisco, Sept. 10.—Battling Nelson clinched his claim to the lightweight pugilistic championship by defeating Joe Gans for the second time at the Colma arena yesterday afternoon. The fight ended in the twenty-first round when Gans beaten down by a succession of blows from his sturdy conqueror, failed to get upon his feet within the count of ten.

The veteran colored fighter was severely punished, but the champion too bore the marks of battle. From the first clang of the gong to the last moment Nelson forced the fighting, never giving ground and gradually battered down his opponent.

Gans succumbed in the twenty-first round after being unmercifully trounced. Nelson in this round rained right and left blows to the jaw and body and Gans sank to the floor. Mechanically the now defeated fighter watched Referee Eddie Smith wave his hands, apparently too far gone to hear him count.

Not until the count of ten was finished did Gans, his face terribly cut and his eyes glassy, attempt to rise. He realized however, that it was too late and feebly declared: "I have positively fought my last battle."

SECRETARY SEWARD.

His Influence Upon the Foreign Policy of This Country.

The importance of Secretary Seward's influence in the domestic affairs of the United States during Johnson's administration has probably been exaggerated, but it would be hard to exaggerate the importance of what he achieved and of what he initiated in his own proper field of diplomacy. His chief, occupied as he was with fierce controversies over other subjects, found, we may well suppose, but little time for foreign relations. He does not appear to have interfered with policies which were already adopted or to have initiated any new policies of his own. Seward must therefore be held responsible to a degree somewhat unusual for the conduct of the delicate negotiations, involving very far reaching consequences, which the war gave rise to.

It was he who first presented America to Europe in that attitude of conscious strength which the thorough establishment of our nationality at last enabled us to take. It was he who reassured effectively, yet
