

COLONEL STEWART GETS AN ORDER

Must Appear Before Examining Board for Retirement Test.

HE IS NOW AN EXILE.

SENT TO FT. GRANT, ARIZ., WITHOUT COMMAND TO AWAIT FORCED RETIREMENT—IS PHYSICALLY DISABLED.

Washington, Sept. 22.—Colonel William F. Stewart, of the Coast Artillery, whose case, because of his detail to the ungarrisoned post at Ft. Grant, Arizona, has been before the public for some time, has been ordered to appear before a retiring board at Washington, where he will be examined as to his disability, its nature, and whether it was incurred in the line of duty.

This action by Secretary Wright is the outcome of the physical examination of Col. Stewart by a board of officers at Ft. Huachuca, Arizona, when he recently appeared at that post for the purpose of taking the test ride of 90 miles directed by President Roosevelt.

That board reported that the Col. was practically blind in one eye and that he had heart trouble.

Privilege to take the ride was denied Colonel Stewart.

Colonel Stewart's "exile" to Ft. Grant dates back a year. Before being sent there, however, he was given an opportunity, when at Ft. Barrancas, Florida, to retire, but to this officer Colonel Stewart replied:

"If appointed Brigadier General, will retire; if not, will remain on duty."

The department's intention regarding Colonel Stewart at the time was to send him to Ft. Grant, without command, until he reached the minimum age of 62 years, permitting of his compulsory retirement by the president, unless, in the meantime, he should voluntarily retire after 40 years of service.

Look For Soap Quality.

It's no bargain to buy a big chunk of yellow soap for a few cents, if the bulk and weight are made with rosin and grease; that simply smears things but does not clean them. There is a good pure sort called Easy Task soap which only costs five cents a cake and is the greatest cleanser known. Consult your grocer.

BARNARD WORKING HARD IN DISTRICT

Makes Personal Canvass—Now in Franklin County.

Shelbyville, Ind., Sept. 22.—Judge W. O. Barnard of New Castle, republican candidate for congress, spent last week in this city making his canvass. This week will be spent in Franklin and Union counties, and next week he will canvass Hancock county. During the week of October 5 he will be in Decatur county; the week of Oct. 12 in Rush county; week of Oct. 19 in Fayette county and the last week in Wayne county. He will probably visit this county again during the campaign.

Don't be Content With A Half Food

Whatever you seek—health, strength or vitality—nothing else compares with whole wheat.

But the whole wheat must be made wholly digestible. That is why you need Mapl-Flake.

There are other good foods. You can call them health foods, if you will.

But the utmost in food—as everyone knows—is whole wheat.

Not white flour; that isn't whole wheat. Not wheat prepared in any usual way, for then only part is digestible.

But whole wheat prepared in the Mapl-Flake way does all that food can do.

We spend 96 hours to prepare Mapl-Flake so that every whit of its food value is made available.

At the end of the process, each separate berry is flaked as thin as

CHOLERA IS FEARED

Surgeon General Wyman to Take Precautions for the United States.

POSSIBILITY OF CONTAGION

Washington, Sept. 22.—On account of the rapid spread of cholera in Russia, Surgeon General Wyman of the Public Health and Marine Hospital service has decided to send to that country an agent of the bureau. He will be expected to make a study of the situation and to take such steps as may be considered desirable in preventing the spread of the disease to the United States, of which there is considered to be always strong possibilities through immigrants.

Additional to the prevalence of cholera in Russia and Asia the outbreak of the disease in the Philippines is being watched with great interest. Extraordinary measures have been taken to suppress the epidemic at Manila and other centers of population in the islands.

$600,000 CITY HALL TO BE BUILT

Indianapolis to Issue a Large Amount of Bonds.

Indianapolis, Sept. 22.—Plans for a new $600,000 city hall were considered Monday by Mayor Bookwalter and members of council. The latter will authorize a bond issue for the necessary money. The building will be erected at Ohio and Alabama streets. It is planned that the work shall be started in October.

BARNES HAVE BEEN RENOVATED

Instructions of Inspector Carried Out.

The livery stables on North Eighth street that were recently declared unsanitary by the City Inspector, George Young, have been cleaned and repaired, so that they are now in first class condition and have been marked O. K. Several of the stables were in a deplorable condition and the citizens near the condemned barns are much relieved now since they have been put in first class condition.

Mapl-Flake

The Food with the Maple Flavor

We talk of this enticing maple flavor, because people in general judge food by the taste. That is natural.

So we cook all our wheat in pure maple syrup, to make the best food seem best.

But the supremacy of Mapl-Flake lies in its food value. It is the perfect food prepared in the perfect way.

For the brain or the muscle worker—the weak or the strong—there is no other food that compares with it.

You are losing more than you know while you serve a food not half so good or good for you. One package will tell you the facts.

WATSON DEFENDS HIMSELF AGAIN

Says He Is Not at Fault for Article in Rushville Paper.

COMMERCIAL MEN AROUSED

DO NOT TAKE KINDLY TO ARTICLE WHICH STATES TRAVELING MEN ARE GOING OVER INDIANA, DEFAMING CANDIDATE.

Indianapolis, Sept. 22.—James E. Watson, republican candidate for governor, last night expressed surprise when a copy of the resolutions adopted by the Commercial Travelers' Democratic club was brought to his attention.

The resolutions denounce an article published in the Rushville Republican and seek to attribute the authorship to Mr. Watson. One excerpt from the Republican's article, which is especially denounced, is as follows:

"For several weeks traveling men have been going up and down the state crying down Watson at every opportunity. The only unfavorable reports heard this fall could be traced to the traveling men. And from them, in various communities, lies of a most horrible character have fallen from their lips."

Commenting upon the resolutions adopted by the Commercial Travelers' Democratic club, Mr. Watson said last night:

"I have never seen the article that appeared in the Republican. All I know about it is what I have heard since its publication. No statement has ever been made by me in any way reflecting upon the character of commercial travelers. I know that as a body the legitimate traveling men of the state are not given to slander."

From what I understand of the article in question no attack is made in it upon the commercial travelers, but upon a few men representing themselves as commercial travelers who, the article alleges, are traveling over the state defaming the character of republican candidates."

A Sure-enough Knocker.

J. C. Goodwin, of Reidsville, N. C., says: "Bucklin's Arnica Salve is a sure-enough knocker for ulcers. A bad one came on my leg last summer, but that wonderful salve knocked it out in a few rounds. Not even a scar remained." Guaranteed for piles, sores, burns etc. 25c. at A. G. Luken & Co. drug store.

BUYING THE WIND.

Iceland "Wizards" Who Used to Sell to Superstitious Mariners.

In the old days of sailing ships it was a common thing for a sea captain to "buy the wind" for his voyage, though, strangely enough, the only people supposed to deal in it were the Icelanders. When a constant succession of baffling winds or dead calms had persistently followed a ship for more than one cruise, it was not at all unusual for the skipper of a big windjammer to pay a visit to Iceland for the sole purpose of purchasing wind enough to last him on his next voyage or two.

In every port in Iceland one or more "wind wizards" were to be found, who were ready to sell a favorable wind for the next six months or a year to any sea captain willing to invest in something he could not see. The sailor, having found his way to the magician's house, first proceeded to spread out upon the floor the articles offered in payment for the wind—tallow candles, cloth, beads, knives, powder and lead.

After a good deal of haggling and many times adding to or taking away from the little pile of merchandise between them the price was finally agreed upon, and the captain passed over his handkerchief to the Icelander. The wind merchant muttered certain words into it, tying a knot in the handkerchief at the end of each incantation. This was done to keep the magic words from evaporating. When a certain number of knots had been tied, the handkerchief was returned to its owner, with a strict charge to keep it knotted and guard it with extraordinary care until he arrived at the desired port, and at each port a knot was to be taken out.

One old captain had been so bothered with head winds that he kept crying out to the Icelander to the other knot in the handkerchief and another and another, so as to be sure of plenty of the wished for zephyrs, until finally there was no room for any more knots and three knives and thirty candles had been added to the heap on the floor. But when the wind greedy captain was two days at sea a terrific gale began to hurl the ship ahead of it ever increasing in fury, until she plunged along under bare poles, with her nose deep in the brine and tons of water washing her decks. Darker and darker grew the sky, and higher and higher rose the racing, foam crested waves, hammering the laboring vessel with ceaseless blows until her seams began to open under the strain and let in the sea.

Then, believing he had the devil in his pocket, the badly frightened skipper drew forth the much knotted handkerchief and threw it overboard. In a short time the tempest abated, the clouds cleared away, and the waters subsided, but one seaman never again bought wind. He was content with the kind that comes by chance.—New York Times.

The congressman was leaving Washington for his own town.

"Well, goodby," said a friend. "I suppose the citizens will be out in force to meet you?"

"I—I'm afraid they will," replied the congressman.—New Orleans Times Democrat.

EXHIBITION IS OPENED

Held in Connection With Congress of Tuberculosis in Washington.

WILSON MAKES AN ADDRESS

Washington, Sept. 22.—What is practically a world's fair on tuberculosis, was formally opened at the new National Museum in this city last night. The exhibition has been assembled in connection with the International Congress on Tuberculosis.

In recognition of the courtesies which have been extended to the people of this city, the program of the opening meeting was arranged with the idea of interesting government and municipal employees. The meeting was presided over by District Commissioner McFarland, and addresses were made by Secretary of Agriculture Wilson, General George M. Sternberg, a member of the Central Committee on Arrangements for the congress; Dr. S. O. Dixon, state medical officer of Pennsylvania; Dr. Henry O. Beyer, of the United States Navy, chairman of the committee on exhibition, and L. F. Flick, chairman of the committee on the Tuberculosis congress.

For several weeks traveling men have been going up and down the state crying down Watson at every opportunity. The only unfavorable reports heard this fall could be traced to the traveling men. And from them, in various communities, lies of a most horrible character have fallen from their lips.

Next Monday, September 28, the official opening of the congress will take place.

Many Scientists Present.

Secretary Wilson, in his address, reviewed the agricultural department's vigorous campaign against tuberculosis through the extermination of infected dairy cattle. He alluded to the work of the department in preventing the entrance into this country of infected cattle from the Philippines.

The inspection of slaughter houses throughout the country, he pointed out, was one of the safeguards which the department has taken to protect the public.

SEN. BAILEY HAPPY

Sibley Letters Prove He Has No Connection With the Standard, He Says.

LETTER READ BY HEARST.

Gainesville, Texas, Sept. 22.—Senator Bailey was asked what reply, if any, he desired to make as to what Mr. Hearst said regarding him in his Memphis speech Saturday night, and dictated the following:

"Assuming that the Sibley letter which Mr. Hearst read is genuine and that I am the 'Senator B.' to whom it refers, I am glad it has been given to the public, for it completely refutes a charge which my enemies have been making against me in this state for the past two years. They have been claiming that I am an attorney for the Standard Oil company and insinuating that I have been friendly to it in matters of legislation.

"This letter distinctly shows that I am not their attorney, and it also distinctly shows that my position could not be changed to suit the interests of the Standard Oil Company."

FOR LIFE CASTRO WOULD BE PRESIDENT

Movement Started by Who? Castro.

Caracas, Venezuela, via Willemstad, Curacao, Sept. 22.—Partisans of President Castro have in recent speeches, initiated a movement to proclaim Castro president of Venezuela for life.

Baron Seckendorff, the German minister, presented the answer of the Netherlands government to the last Venezuelan note to Foreign Minister Paul three days ago. Yesterday the minister delivered it to President Castro at Valencia. The contents of this last Dutch note are carefully guarded, but there is good reason to believe that it is not an ultimatum.

One old captain had been so bothered with head winds that he kept crying out to the Icelander to the other knot in the handkerchief and another and another, so as to be sure of plenty of the wished for zephyrs, until finally there was no room for any more knots and three knives and thirty candles had been added to the heap on the floor.
