

EARLHAM FOOTBALL STOCK IS SOARING

Coach Vail Feels Confident
That He Will Have a Good Team.

QUAKER SQUAD STRONG.

EXPECTED TO LAND HIGH AMONG
SECONDARY COLLEGES—SEAS-ON OPENS NEXT SATURDAY WITH ANTIOCH AS FOE.

Both Mr. Vail and Prof. Trueblood feel confident that Earlham has this year the best football material in its history and they modestly state that they cannot see with the naked eye, any secondary college in the state that has anything on the Quakers. In fact they think Earlham this year will make them all sit up and take notice.

Earlham will feel the loss of Capt. Barrett and Half Back Guyer but there is enough material on hand to plug up these holes in the eleven. The Quakers will also probably be forced to play Lawrence at quarter this year in place of Wilson. Lawrence with Hancock, Leggett and Stanley was one of the best ends Earlham ever had, but Lawrence is expected to make as good showing in his new position. Johnson, a Fairmount academy recruit, is expected to be a valuable addition to the team.

Good Schedule.
Earlham has a good football schedule this year, four of the seven games being played at home. The season opens next Saturday on Reid Field with Antioch college as the attraction. This eleven is expected to give the Quakers good practice in preparation for the Purdue game which will be played at Lafayette, October 10. Coach Vail is determined to have his eleven make a good showing against the Bollermakers. On October 17, Franklin college will play Earlham on Reid Field and on October 24, Earlham will go to Springfield, O., to meet its ancient enemy, Wittenberg. On October 31, Earlham will play Butler on Reid Field. On November 7 the Quakers will take on Rose Poly at Terre Haute. The closing game of the season will be the most interesting on the Earlham schedule. This game is with Depauw and will be played November 14 on Reid Field.

Saturday afternoon, full to the brim with new plays, formations and tricks. Coach Fred Vail of Earlham, led a dozen or so of his most promising candidates out on Reid Field and put them through a light practice, although it was better base ball weather than football. The men rolled around on the ball, punted and did some other warming up stunts. Vail then chased them to the shower baths and the first day's work was over.

This work will continue during the week. A large number of men reported this afternoon.

Miss Lyons, daughter of Rev. Lyons of the Reid Memorial church at Richmond, Ind., has been received by the trustee to teach the school.

TAKEN TO HOME.

John H. Nicholson, who several days ago had a leg amputated at the Reid Memorial hospital, is rapidly recovering from the effects of the operation and has been removed to his home, Nineteenth and Main streets. It will be some time yet before Mr. Nicholson will be able to take active charge of his business.

WORK WEAKENS THE KIDNEYS.

Doan's Kidney Pills Have Done Great Service for People Who Work in Richmond.

Most Richmond people work every day in some strained, unnatural position—bending constantly over a desk—riding on jolting wagons or cars—doing laborious housework; lifting, reaching or pulling, or trying the back in a hundred and one other ways. All these strains tend to wear, weaken and injure the kidneys until they fall behind in their work of filtering the poisons from the blood. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys; put new strength in bad backs. Richmond cures prove it.

Martin Bulach, Tailor, of 433 South 11th street, Richmond, Ind., says: "A number of years ago I was troubled with backache. The kidney secretions were also too frequent in action. The trouble being brought on, I think, by the nature of my work. Doan's Kidney Pills were recommended for such disorders and I procured a box from A. G. Luken & Co's drug store. After using them a short time, the aches and pains disappeared and the kidney secretions became normal. I thank Doan's Kidney Pills for the relief I found through their use and recommend them to anyone suffering as I did."

Affairs of the Sporting World

(By Tort.)

With a blanket covering the first three teams in the National league and the first three teams in the American league, the number of games each of the clubs has yet to play is interesting. In the National New York has eight games with Philadelphia and three with Boston. Chicago has five with Cincinnati and one with Pittsburgh, while the Pirates have six with St. Louis and one with Chicago.

In the American league Cleveland has three with Philadelphia, two with Chicago and three with St. Louis. Detroit has six with Washington, three with Chicago and two with St. Louis. Chicago has two with Boston, two with Cleveland and three with Detroit.

In the National league New York has eleven games to play against Chicago's six and Pittsburgh's seven. Eight of the Giants games are with the strong Philadelphia club, while five of the Cubs games are with the Reds.

Reds. Pittsburgh has the easiest schedule, with six games with the lowly St. Louis outfit.

Its a toss up which American league club has the easiest schedule. Detroit has six games with the Washingtons, who have always been terrors to teams having pennant aspirations.

Detroit stepped into the lead in the American league race by winning yesterday from Philadelphia, while Cleveland was forced to remain idle. The Tigers are now one point ahead of Cleveland and the Sox are three points below the Naps.

Owens Bush was the bright and shining light in Detroit's victory. He accepted nine chances without a wobble, scored one run, made a single and double, drew a base on balls and stole a base.

Cincinnati played a double-header yesterday with St. Louis, losing the first game to the Cardinals because Spade was ineffective. O'Toole was wild in the second but won for the Reds.

WHAT TOTEMISM IS.

Light on an Interesting and Little Understood Subject.

It is interesting to note that totemism is found not only in Alaska, but among the North American Indians, the aborigines of Australia, the Hottentots of Africa and even the hill tribes of India. Totems are also common among the Samoans.

Broadly the totem is the badge of a clan or tribe, but it signifies a great deal more than mere political or social alliance. It is not only a tribal emblem, but also a family sign; not merely a symbol of nationality, but also an expression of religion; not simply a bond of union among primitive peoples, but also a regulator of the marriage laws and of other social institutions. A totem has been defined as "a class of material objects which a savage regards with superstitious respect, believing that there exists between him and every member of the class an intimate and special relation."

Among the Ojibway Indians there are no fewer than twenty-three different totems. Nine of these are quadrupeds, marking out the wolf, the bear, the beaver and other clans, eight are birds, five are fishes and one is the snake.

Some extraordinary superstitions regarding totems prevail in Samoa. Thus it is believed that if a turtle man eats of a turtle he will grow very ill, and the voice of the turtle will be heard in his inside saying: "He ate me. I am killing him." If a banana man uses a banana leaf for a cap he becomes bald. If a butterfly man catches a butterfly it strikes him dead. If a fowl man eats a fowl delirium and death results, and so on, all going to show that the totem has something of the quality of a fetish as well as the significance of a family emblem.

Regarding totemism, it is to be noted that the relation of mutual help and protection includes also the totem itself—that is to say, if a man takes care of his totem he expects the totem to return the compliment. If the totem is a dangerous animal it must not hurt his clansmen. The scorpion men of Senegambia declare that the most deadly scorpions will run over their bodies without hurting them. There is a snake clan in Australia which holds to a similar belief. Among the crocodile clan of the Bechuanas if a man is bitten by a crocodile or even has water splashed on him by one he is expelled from the clan as one esteemed unworthy by the totem—Housekeeper.

Siberia's best paid clergy get about $600 a year, while the poorer clergy have often to beg for their bread. They have a great deal to do. There is always a service between 4 and 5 in the morning, and there are two other services in the day. There must be a service on the birth of a child and at the death of any one in the parish. All new buildings, schoolhouses, bridges and boats must be blessed. Children beginning at a school term are blessed, and in time of pestilence or peril there must be continuous prayer.

WILES ELDER TO COACH WILLIAMS

Former Richmond Boy Reaping
Results of Famous Football Career.

HE IS A POPULAR FELLOW.

HIS NEW POSITION IS AN UNUS-UAL HONOR, AS PROFESSIONAL
COACHES HAVE BEEN EM-PLOYED PREVIOUSLY.

The many local friends of Wiles Elder, formerly a resident of this city, will be pleased to learn that he has been appointed head coach of the Williams College football team. Elder is probably the greatest football player Richmond ever developed and for the past four years he has been one of the star players of the game. Elder formerly played with the Richmond high school team. Concerning Elder's appointment as head coach at Williams the Brooklyn Eagle prints the following:

None of the men that Brooklyn has sent to Williams during the last ten years has become as prominent or as popular as William Wiles Elder, son of James Franklin Elder, who resides with his family at the Hotel Margaret. Elder entered Williams in 1904, after four years at Exeter, where he showed those same qualities of character and unusual athletic ability that have made him a reputation at Williams.

As a freshman, Elder showed up so strongly in early football practice that he was made "varsity left end." He made good at once, and has played a star game ever since. His consistent, heady playing, combined with his natural ability of leadership, resulted in his receiving a unanimous vote for the captaincy of the team during the season of 1907. His election was justified by a successful football season for Williams, and especially by the winning of the great contest with Amherst by a score of 26 to 6, a victory due in large part to Elder's able management of his men. He was captain of his class team in sophomore year.

Aside from his football honors, Elder led in various other activities. He was a member of the freshman and sophomore years; president of his freshman class, chairman of the sophomore supper committee, and "varsity cheer leader in his senior year."

Elder's good nature, modesty and ability made him the most popular man in college in his senior year. The senior Class Book says of him: "In Elder we have an illustration of the rule that the men who are the most prominent in undergraduate life are usually the most modest. His geniality and keen sense of humor have done much to make him one of the most popular men in his class." By the class vote, Elder was shown to be the most popular man, the second best natured man, and the second best athlete in college.

Elder will be the head coach for the Williams "varsity football team this fall, an unusual honor, as for many years past the college has had high salaried coaches of experience and reputation.

Elder is a member of the Golden Lion, the class society, Phi Kappa Beta, Gargoyles, the college honor society, and the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity.

BOYS ENGAGE IN FIGHT.

Harold Kinert and Clyde Brooks Mix It Up.

Harold Kinert and Clyde Brooks are two boys who have been employed at the fence factory in West Richmond. They have had trouble of long standing and Saturday night about 11 o'clock they clashed on Main street. The fight was of short duration. Officer Westenberg arrived on the scene and it was all off. This morning the boys appeared in city court and upon recommendation of the prosecutor were released under suspended judgment upon promise to behave themselves in the future.

OLSON WANTS MATCH

Would Meet Winner of Busch-Turk Match Next Friday Night.

WRESTLERS IN TRAINING.

Carl Busch, the German champion, who won his match with Frank Prindle last Friday night at the coliseum, has signed articles for a match with All the Turk, at the Coliseum next Friday night. The forfeit has also been posted. The two men will wrestle the Greco-Roman and catch-as-catch-can without time limit. Both men are now in training.

Yesterday the Palladium received the following self-explanatory letter from Charles Olson, the champion light heavy-weight champion of America:

"I notice you are having some real wrestling in your town and I would like to take on the winner of the Turk Busch match, which will be pulled off next Friday night. Would you kindly try and arrange a match for me with the winner of this bout and issue a challenge for me through your paper? I am always in good wrestling form and can come on short notice."

FATE DEPENDS ON EDWARD STEGALL

Huntington and Murray May Be Held to Court.

Unless Edward Stegall changes his story and exonerates Frank Murray, colored, and Earl Huntington, the latter two will be held to the circuit court upon the charge of highway robbery. Stegall claims Murray and Huntington held him up and robbed him, but he was intoxicated at the time. An affidavit has been prepared charging him with public intoxication. The authorities have not yet decided whether to prosecute him or simply hold him as a witness against Murray and Huntington.

BREACH OF PROMISE.

Manner in Which the Law Treats It in Different Countries.

England is the best place, from the plaintiff's point of view, for a breach of promise action. All other countries seem to regard with grave suspicion any attempt to recover monetary compensation for the loss of a prospective husband, and unless the plaintiff has a very strong case indeed it is never worth her while to carry her grievance to the law courts.

In France breach of promise cases are rare, for the simple reason that the law requires the plaintiff to prove that she has suffered pecuniary loss. Now, this is not an easy thing to do on the part of the lady, especially in a country where a girl without a dot—that is, a marriage portion—has a poor chance of finding a husband. Holland and Austria have adopted the French system, and the result has been about the same. Breach of promise actions are rare, the injured damsels or their relatives usually taking the law into their own hands.

Practical Germany, as might be expected, has perhaps the best method for solving this problem. When a young couple become engaged they have to go through a public betrothal ceremony that ought to knock all the shyness out of them. In the local town hall the pair declare their affection, willingness to marry, etc., ending by signing a collection of documents that apparently leave no loophole for escape. But if either party to the contract wishes to withdraw another journey is undertaken to the town hall and another collection of documents signed, witnessed and sealed. Then the authorities determine the question of compensation—should it be claimed. In this connection it may be said that the man can and often does claim a solatium for his wounded feelings. The usual award is one-fifth of the marriage dowry. It is easy to understand when all this is remembered how loath the young people of Germany are to break their betrothal vows.

As the law of Italy affords little or no protection whatever to jilted damsels or swains, it is not surprising that the stiletto should be the favorite mode of deciding breach of promise cases. The Italian law demands that the person suing for the breach shall produce a written promise to marry from the defendant; otherwise the action cannot proceed. This difficulty is almost insurmountable, and the Italian judges are seldom troubled to adjudicate between one time lovers.

To bring an action for breach of promise of marriage against a reigning monarch is an achievement, but it has been done, and by an English lady. Miss Jenny Mitchell sued the sultan of Johore, and as there was a doubt whether the dusky one was actually a reigning monarch the case was allowed to come into court, but the judge quickly disposed of the action by ruling it inadmissible for the reason referred to, and Miss Mitchell was nonsuited.

It is remarkable that one of the two actions which have brought verdicts for $10,000 each to the plaintiffs should have had for its defendant the editor of a matrimonial paper. The second case was between a well known actress and the eldest son of an earl—London Tit-Bits.

WORKED AT NIGHT; WIFE CAUSES ARREST

William Wood, Railroad, Is Charged With Wife Desertion.

RELEASED BY THE POLICE.

FOUND WOMAN HAD COMPLAINED
BECAUSE HUSBAND WAS KEPT AWAY FROM HOME MUCH OF TIME BY HIS WORK.

William Wood is a railroad employee by the C. C. & L. His work requires him to spend a large number of his nights away from home. Wood's wife objected because he did not always have opportunity to remain at home and brought about his arrest. She charged him with desertion. Upon investigation the police found the case to be only one dealing with the idiosyncrasies of womenkind and Wood was released. Wood explained that it has been absolutely impossible for him to remain at home and at the same time be at work earning bread and butter for the family. The woman had claimed she was left unprotected for, but it was found Wood had deposited money with Charles Blair, ticket agent for the company, which was to be given to her. The police regard the action of the wife in causing her husband's arrest to be about the most ludicrous of the many they are called upon to make.

FORGETS HIS AGE; THEN GIVEN FINE

George Schools Shown No
Leniency This Time.

Tired of permitting him to obtain intoxicating liquor because his appearance belied his age, City Judge Converse fined George Schools, colored, $5 and costs this morning. Schools has the appearance of a man thirty years old, but the last time he was arrested his father said he is a minor. On that occasion Schools testified his age was nineteen. This morning the court asked him how old he is and he said he did not remember. The number of his years was too variable for the court to guess about any longer. It is asserted Schools enters saloons and secures liquor by representing himself as of age.
