

HORSE SHOW A BIG ATTRACTION

Scheduled to Be Held in Conjunction With the Fall Festival.

FINE ANIMALS ENTERED.

$300 IN PRIZES WILL BE GIVEN BY THE FESTIVAL ASSOCIATION—
AMSDEN MAKES AN EXCEL-LENT ENTRY.

One of the distinct features of the fall festival will be the horse show. Chairman Tom Butler and his capable committee in charge of this work have accomplished wonders. From an event which at first promised to amount to but little, the horse show will be one of the greatest attractions of the big event.

Over one hundred horses have been entered so far, thus insuring the largest horse show ever held in this section of the country. These entries include every class of horse, from the big Norman draught animals to the clean limbed, graceful racers.

Prizes totaling $300 will be awarded to the winners of first and second prizes in the various classes. Richmond is in the center of the best horse country, outside of Kentucky, in the middle west, so the animals displayed here will be among the very best in the country.

To show the high class of this exhibit, George Amsden, a well known horse breeder, residing north of this city, last week entered the two best known stallions in the United States, namely "Oratorio" and "Prince Direct." The former is probably the best known stud in the country while "Prince Direct" holds more championships than any other animal in the world. He is the best harness horse this country has produced in years.

The horse show will be held on North A street on Tuesday afternoon and that thoroughfare will probably be thronged with thousands of people. All horses entered in the show are provided with good quarters and fed by the fall festival association.

BATTLE PRACTICE FOR BIG FLEETS

Proves of Great Value to Gunners.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 3.—Battle practice for the Atlantic Battleship fleet, the Pacific fleet, and other vessels which are now in the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans has been arranged. The Atlantic fleet will have battle practice in October in the Philippines. Here the English system of target practice will be gone through in the same manner as was done before the fleet left the Atlantic coast. Officers, satisfied that battle practice renders the gunners more efficient and is more advantageous to the navy than the ordinary target practice, have strongly urged that battle practice be continued in the fall of each year. The Pacific fleet will have its battle practice from Nov. 1 to 20, at Magdalena Bay.

The art or exercise of dancing can be traced back to the early Egyptians, who ascribe that invention to their god Thoth. Beyond a doubt dancing is much older than history. It began in connection with religious rites and was performed in honor of the deities that were worshiped.

In Russia when coffins are covered with cloth the color of the covering is to a certain extent distinctive, pink being used when the deceased is a child or a young person, crimson being used for married women and brown for widows, but black is in no case employed.

The Echo.

Small boy David was from the city. While visiting in the country he was one evening driving along the river bank, when an echo was heard, the voices in the valley below which produced it being scarcely distinguishable. After listening some time and being told that the sound he heard was an echo, he turned to his mother and said: "Mamma, what is an echo?"

His mother tried to explain at some length, though she felt that her explanation was not being followed. Suddenly David broke in.

"Oh, I know all about it!" he exclaimed. "An echo is the shadow of a voice."—Woman's Home Companion.

Latrobe, Pa., Oct. 3.—After playing the good Samaritan, David Rhodes, who lives alone near Bradenville, was robbed by two homeless men whom he provided with food and shelter for the night. When he awoke in the morning he found they had stolen a gold watch and $13 which he had saved to buy a grave-stone for his dead daughter John and Russell Shaffer were arrested and confessed.

"Come on, Bill," whispered the old burglar in disgust. "It's no use wasting time here."

BUST OF TAFT MADE OF NEWSPAPERS.

WELL MAN MISTAKEN FOR TWIN, AND WAS PUT IN HOSPITAL BED

New York, Oct. 3.—If you were perfectly well and never had an ache or a pain in your life, how would you like it if a number of husky hospital nurses grabbed you, undressed you, put you to bed, and treated you as though you were delirious and dangerously ill?

And just because you happened to be visiting the hospital for the purpose of seeing a sick relative.

This is what happened to William H. Klugemann, shipping clerk for the general storekeeper of the Brooklyn navy yard.

He is a twin. Now, his twin brother, a few days ago, was seized with an attack of appendicitis, and was rushed off to the Albany hospital.

Klugemann went to Albany to visit his brother, who had just been operated on. He later went to the hospital in company with his sister.

As Klugemann and his sister were passing through the convalescent ward of the hospital they met one of the nurses. When the nurse spied Klugemann she exclaimed, in horror: "My God! There's my patient walking about in delirium!"

Following her lead several others corralled the luckless Klugemann and rushed him to the nearest bed. They undressed him and put ice compresses upon him and tried to quiet him. He all the time was fighting vigorously for his freedom and frantically trying to explain.

"He'll be all right in a little while," one of the nurses volunteered, as she continued to administer opiates to the supposed patient.

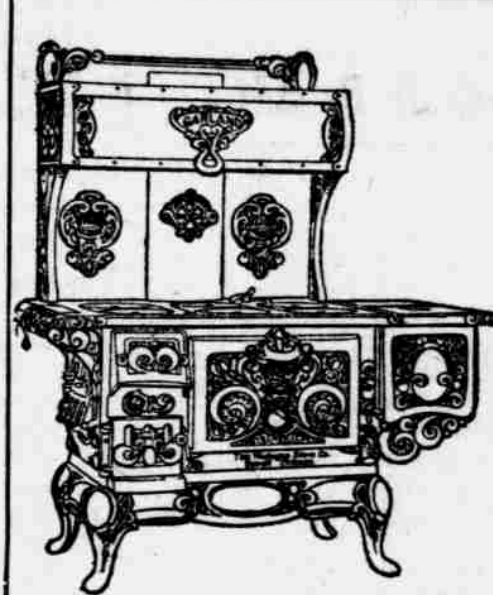

So Klugemann remained in bed until some one had occasion to enter the room of Klugemann's brother, and discovered the real patient.
