

CUBS DEFEAT NEW YORK GIANTS' 4-1

Chicago Wins National League Pennant in World's Greatest Ball Game.

GREAT THRONGS PRESENT.

FRANK CHANCE'S REVENGE IS SWEET, HE KNOCKING TWO-SACKER WHICH CINCHED GAME FOR WESTERN TEAM.

New York, Oct. 9.—The greatest game in the history of baseball was decided on the Polo grounds, in this city, yesterday, when the Chicago Cubs defeated the Giants for the possession of the National League pennant by the score of 4 to 2. The crowds in attendance broke all records for Gotham gatherings, and it is known that no less than two lives were lost as a result of the big crush in and around the ball park. Tonight New York fans are sad and sick. The victorious Cubs are somewhere on the road between New York and Chicago, sleeping soundly in the bunks, while the whole of the United States awaits the outcome of the world's series between the Cubs and Detroit Tigers, which starts in the latter city on Saturday.

Mathewson, the peerless Matty, was almost knocked out of the box in the third and four playful Cubs galloped over the full circuit of bases. More than 100,000 men, women, small boys and children within sight and hearing of the Polo grounds wished each one of them no more harm than that they would break one or two legs each in the attempt.

That is about all there is to be said of the game off-hand. It is history that the Giants scored a run in the first inning, and that up to that fatal third the score stood 1 to 0 in favor of New York. It is enough to note that Manager Frank Chance, of the Cubs, gently but firmly removed Mr. Pfeister, who was officiating on the slab, right in the middle of the first inning and called to the post of honor Mordecai Brown, the only three-fingered Cub in captivity. Again those hundred thousand and more frenzied fans wished him nothing worse than that he would lose all the rest of his fingers, including his good right arm.

But Brown's arm did not fail in answer to the witching hour sense of the fans and he pitched through to the ninth inning. It was the nerve-reeking third that told the tale.

Joe Tinker's bat started the third inning with a mighty triple into center field out of the reach of Seymour, who gave frantic chase.

Before the dust from Tinker's flight around the bags had settled Kling smashed a liner safely into left center and Tinker completed the circuit with the run which tied up the score. Brown laid down a neat but not gaudy bunt along the first base line, which was just as good as a hit, for it advanced Kling to within scoring distance of the plate even at the expense of Mordecai's life at first. Sheard fled to center and there were two out.

In this pinch Johnny Evers came to bat and Mathewson feared the fighting Irish spirit of the Trojan, so deliberately pitched four wide balls and sent Evers growling on his way to first. Schulte was next and Frank's fighting Dutch was just as good as Johnny's Irish, for he met the ball squarely with that inimitable sudden poke of his bat and it shot on a line over third base out of all reach. Into the crowd it trundled, giving Schulte two bases, scoring Kling with the run that put Chicago ahead, and driving Evers to third.

Revenge Sweet to Chance.

Then came Frank Chance, some peerless leader, and put into his bat all the vim and vengeance that had been welling in his heart at the unjust decision which compelled his Cubs to face and conquer that unfair situation. All the enmity and disgust of a great sportsman for the petty tricksters who have been yapping at his heels and trying to do him out of a pennant ever since they locked Johnstone out of the Polo grounds was put into the swing of Frank Chance's bat as he met a curve squarely in the middle of its break. Out into right field shot the ball, far out of the reach of the waiting Donlin, and with that swat came two more Cub runs across the plate, borne by Evers and Schulte.

That was the hit which cinched the game, and, with four runs in, the Cubs knew that Brown would do the rest. So there was no fear when Steinlein closed that winning rally by striking out. Score:

WILL FIGHT TO CONQUER THE TERRIBLE TURK AT WRESTLING.

ELIAS DELEWUCK.

Delewuck arrived in Richmond yesterday afternoon, confident that he would be able to dispose of the Terrible Turk in tonight's wrestling match, to be pulled off at the New Phillips theatre. Delewuck is a sturdy fellow and is a slightly larger man than the Turk.

HEAVYWEIGHTS CLASH

Terrible Turk and Delewuck, Austrian Champion, Will Meet Tonight.

A GOOD BOUT IS ASSURED.

This evening two of the greatest heavyweight wrestlers in the country, Manayoff, the Terrible Turk, and Delewuck, the Austrian champion, will pull off a finish match at the New Phillips theater. This match promises to be the most interesting yet seen in this city as both men are of equal weight and strength and desperate fighters.

Joe La Salle, the clever French Canadian wrestler, has come down from Chicago to witness the match and he will challenge the winner to meet him in this city next Friday evening. It is quite probable his challenge will be accepted.

Judging from the great interest being taken in the wrestling game by local sports the New Phillips will be crowded this evening. The outcome of this match will be watched with the keenest interest in sporting circles throughout the country.

Both the Turk and the Austrian wrestler are in good condition.

LA FOLLETTE EDITOR

Owing to Demand for His Ideas, Senator Will Publish a Magazine.

WIFE WILL ASSIST HIM.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 9.—United States Senator LaFollette is to start a Commoner. It will not be called the Commoner, however, and, in fact, the name, if decided upon, has not been made public. The announcement of the senator's intention has been made by him.

"The increasing demands upon me for addresses and for such printed matter on representative government as I furnish for public distribution have impressed me with the belief that I should establish a weekly paper, published primarily in support of government by the people," said he.

"I shall proceed at once with the regular publication of a weekly magazine, devoted to the public interest, upon lines broad enough to appeal to the progressive people of the entire country. I shall print the records of public officials and political parties on vital questions. I shall discuss men and measures impartially and fearlessly."

Mrs. LaFollette will have a department in which education and the home will be discussed from the woman's standpoint.

"Lobelia," demanded Mr. McSwat, "I want to know what you've been doing to my safety razor?" "Nothing," was Mrs. McSwat's indignant answer, as she moved around with a slight limp. "Besides, Billinger, I don't believe it's a safety razor, anyway."—Chicago Tribune.

KNOLLENBERG'S STORE

The Festival is now among the memories of the past; hundreds and thousands came to participate and departed to their homes revived in spirit and jubilant with all they saw. The soldiers, too, departed at an early hour and are marching on their way to Liberty, (Union County), no doubt in their wearied tramp recounting the events of their stay in our beautiful Glen and hospitable city. Business, too, had a revival and for a time caused the merchants to forget that there had ever been quiet days, and all are buoyant and hopeful of continued activity and prosperity—so may it be!

We have just rearranged our office and extended our Cable Cash System and finished a number of improvements in our store, while yet others are on the way. Come and see what we have done and then see our great collection of merchandise. The ladies should especially be interested in our great showing of Dress Goods and Silks, but for the present
