

OPPOSE REPUBLICANS

Brewers Hope to Defeat State Ticket, Says One of Biggest Among Them.

SCHAF SEEMS CONFIDENT.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 13.—Joseph C. Schaf, president of the American Brewing Company, announced last night that the brewing interests proposed to mutilate the Republican state ticket on election day that its most intimate friends will not recognize it.

Mr. Schaf sauntered into the Denison Hotel last night a little after dinner. He had dined well and was smoking a good cigar. Mr. Schaf looked about the lobby for an acquaintance and, not finding one, passed leisurely into the billiard room. He was in an excellent humor and had no objection to talking a little.

"Are the brewers having a meeting tonight, Mr. Schaf?" he was asked.

"Brewers, did you say?" he observed, after taking a half minute to blow a ring of smoke to the ceiling. "Why, there is no occasion for the brewers to meet until after the third of November."

"But in the meantime what are you going to do?"

"We are going to beat the whole Republican ticket, you bet your sweet life, and you can put that in your pipe and smoke it."

"Were you at the brewers' meeting in Chicago last week, Mr. Schaf?"

"I certainly was there, with the rest of them."

"You planned a campaign of course?"

At this moment Mr. Schaf found himself suddenly called away. "Good-by," he said, "I'll see you after the election."

WATSON DID NOT OPPOSE PRESIDENT WHILE IN CONGRESS

Mr. Watson's opposition to the extension of partisan control and the civil service. It has been said especially that he opposed the extension of the civil service to the rural free delivery system. But I want to say to you that Mr. Watson's opponent in two speeches, the last of which was delivered at Knightstown said: It is to be remembered we are democrats and to the victor belongs the spoils.

"We in Indiana know what that spoils system means. What have seen it applied in this state and know the result. I may say that the old doctrine is not only bourbon, but absolutely medieval. The man who says that thing is not fit to be governor of Indiana. I want to say the way to defeat that system is to cast your votes for James E. Watson, who stands pledged to non-partisan control of our benevolent institutions. We owe him our support."

Sparkling with the vim and enthusiasm which characterized his remarks, the words of Mr. Foulke had a startling effect on the audience. There can be no denial that there has been opposition to Mr. Watson among the Republicans of Richmond in particular. The audience last night may have contained

Liver Trouble Remedy Free

Any intelligent person can be his own doctor in the ordinary case of liver trouble, for the symptoms cannot be mistaken. If the white of the eye becomes yellowish, if the skin becomes sallow, if pimples and blotches appear, if the bowels do not move, if you have sick headache, if you are bilious, you may be sure that your liver is torpid or inactive.

The quickest and surest remedy yet found for the cure of liver trouble or any of its symptoms is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, the great herb laxative compound. This wonderful remedy is not only a laxative, but a tonic as well. It will start the flow of gastric juice, thereby soon enabling the liver to do its work naturally. A bottle of this great liver remedy can be bought of any druggist for 50 cents or $1, and in many cases a single bottle has cured a chronic case.

For example, John W. Lee, 619 S. Pennsylvania ave., Indianapolis, Ind., had a stubborn and very long-standing case of liver trouble, with pimples, blotches, humors, etc., and it cured him. Mrs. E. Finchum, Jackson, Ky., says the same of it. Thousands of families keep it in the house against just such an emergency, as you can never tell when a member of the family will need a good laxative.

In order to have you or any other sufferer from the liver make a test of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin without personal expense, Dr. Caldwell will send you a free test bottle if you will send him your name and address. The sample will show you how pleasant it is to take, how gently it works. It will start you on the cure of your trouble and convince you that you have found a cure. That is the object of the sample, and the doctor urges you to send for it today.

If there is anything about your ailment that you don't understand, or if you want any medical advice, write to the doctor, and he will answer you fully. There is no charge for this service. The address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 804 Caldwell bldg., Monticello, Ill.

hundreds of voters of this sort, but the words of the speaker were greeted with cheers. The applause was vociferous.

Coming from a man of the caliber of Mr. Foulke, the expression of approval of Mr. Watson will have far reaching effect. Mr. Foulke has not been making stump speeches this year. He has not submitted his name to the speakers' bureau asked for assignments. He has remained at his home in this city and watched the machinations of the campaign from his home retreat.

But he has heard James E. Watson, the Republican candidate for governor, being maligned. He has read in the newspaper of which he is part owner, invidious attacks upon the integrity of Mr. Watson. He has read in the same paper imputations as to the character of the Republican candidate. He has read there, also, that Watson was an enemy of the president.

But Mr. Foulke does not throw his energies into writing editorials that might embarrass the editor of his paper and his policies. He voluntarily appeared before a public audience and verbally expressed his thoughts. It will be remembered that some time ago, Mr. Foulke announced he would talk to the citizens of this community upon the issues of the campaign. He delivered an address at the Pythian temple, and in it he spoke independently of party affiliation of any kind. He advised then that Watson be tendered support by the voters, because of the platform missives upon which he is making his campaign.

Points Out Danger.

And Mr. Foulke has raised another issue in this campaign. He has taken up Mr. Marshall's assertion, "we are still Democrats," and has undertaken to show the voters the danger of electing such a man. Mr. Foulke sees in the selection of Marshall a death thrust to the nonpartisan control of benevolent institutions. He sees the vital torn from the precocious civil service infant and the ideals it represents. He sees a return to the old medieval theory of what's mine is mine and he sees disaster for Indiana system of institutional control.

Mr. Foulke can paint the future upon the same canvas that displays the past of Indiana's institutional government upon the principles of Mr. Marshall. One of Mr. Foulke's firmest convictions is in the right of civil service reform, and he sees the strangulation of this child of his dreams, which the assumed absolute form and life, in the success of the Democratic candidate. Having assumed an independent attitude in this campaign in the start, Mr. Foulke has been drawn forth by his fears for the life of the progeny of the civil service commission as applied in states and so has come forth to meet Mr. Marshall and declare him unfit to be governor of Indiana.

UPHOLDS RECORD.

Watson Addresses Big Crowd of Laboring Men at Kokomo.

Kokomo, Ind., Oct. 13.—The Alhambra was inadequate to accommodate the people who thronged to hear James E. Watson, republican nominee for governor, last night. The doors of the building were not opened until 7 o'clock to enable the workmen of the city to have an equal chance with others for seats. Consequently the laboring vote was heavily represented. Many veterans of the civil war and colored men were present.

A special train from eastern Howard county brought 1,000 persons. A delegation of 500 from Marion arrived just before the speaking and an overflow meeting was held at the Mulberry street republican headquarters and was addressed by Ed E. Hendee and later by Mr. Watson.

Upholds Labor Record.

"I defy any man now or hereafter at any place or at any time, to point out where I ever voted against any bill or delivered any speech, or by any act or utterance, public or private, did against the interests of the man who earns his bread by the sweat of his brow," said Mr. Watson.

In referring to the visit which Samuel Gompers soon is to pay Kokomo to speak for Mr. Bryan the nominee said: "Mr. Gompers is a democrat and always has been one, and in all the states in which I have met him he never has done anything toward the election of a republican to congress." He then read a letter sent him by Mr. Gompers commending his course with reference to the literacy test in an emigration bill before congress and also pointed out the praise he had received from E. E. Clark, a noted labor leader, concerning labor legislation.

"In twelve years' service in congress," said Mr. Watson, "I have voted with my party on every labor question, and not once has my party voted against the interests of the laborers of this republic. Why doesn't Mr. Bryan go South and declaim against child labor as it exists there? If every vote was counted there that should be, Mr. Bryan would have no chance to be president."

Mr. Watson held his audience to the close of his speech of two hours. He contrasted Bryan and Roosevelt and reviewed the labor record of the republican party for the good of the toiler, starting with the abolition of slavery. Applause was deafening when he declared: "For ten weeks I have endeavored to ascertain the attitude of my opponent, Mr. Marshall, upon the question of the repeal of the county local option law. I have been unable to learn his position and do not know it now. He can speak for himself, but if I am elected governor and there should happen to be a democratic legislature, and should it pass a bill to repeal the county option law, I would veto it."

Shortly before the arrival of Mr. Watson flaming posters were plastered on dead walls and bill boards. The placards read that county local option is "prohibition with all its evils." The glaring display lines predicted bankruptcy in the train of county option and warned against listening to public speakers in its favor. The democratic campaign managers deny knowledge or responsibility for the display.

REPLY TO MARSHALL

State Auditor Billheimer Says That His Acts Were Legal.

HE WAS MISREPRESENTED.

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 13.—John C. Billheimer, auditor of state, in a letter to Thomas R. Marshall, Democratic candidate for governor, has replied to queries propounded by Mr. Marshall in his Bluffton and Elwood speeches. In his recent Bluffton speech Mr. Marshall demanded to know whether Mr. Billheimer while deputy auditor of state in 1903 had not received $1,000 salary for acting as clerk for the state board of tax commissioners.

Mr. Billheimer readily admits he did receive the money, but explains that the law makes the office of clerk of the state board of tax commissioners a separate and distinct office from that of deputy auditor of state, and he contends he was legally and rightfully entitled to the salary provided for the clerk of the board since a Democratic attorney general had held that the clerk of the board should be paid for his services. Mr. Billheimer charges that Mr. Marshall "showed an apparent desire to misstate the truth."

In reply to another question directed at him by Mr. Marshall in his Bluffton speech, Mr. Billheimer insists that if Mr. Marshall knew of any one who had been shielded by the committee which investigated the auditor's office he has the right to make the information public. In reply to a statement made by Mr. Marshall in his speech at Elwood to the effect that all of the figures the speaker used in his speeches were obtained at the state house, Mr. Billheimer says the records show no such figures as those Mr. Marshall quotes.

APPEALS TO PEOPLE TO PUNISH RIDERS

Governor Willson of Kentucky Finds Troops Are Ineffective.

STERN ACTION NECESSARY.

EVERY COWARDLY SCOUNDREL WHO RIDES THE ROADS TO THREATEN HIS NEIGHBOR SHOULD BE PUNISHED HE SAYS

Frankfort, Ky., Oct. 13.—Chagrined that his efforts to restore law and order in Kentucky were of no avail, although $125,000 has been expended for the militia within the last ten months, Governor Willson has issued a call or proclamation to the people to assemble at the county seats and form vigilance committees for the protection of their homes from murder and arson.

This call by the governor comes in a reward of $500 offered for the apprehension and conviction of each of the band of fifty men who fired the cabin of the negro, Dave Walker, in Fulton county and murdered him and his family. Governor Willson says: "The governor calls upon the people to assemble in their respective neighborhoods and counties to organize and take stern, prompt and effective measures to punish every cowardly scoundrel that rides the roads to threaten his neighbor, to put an end to lynchings, murder and arson, and calls upon the local authorities in each county to be earnest and vigilant and offers them the whole power of the state, or so much of it as shall be needed, for the instant arrest and punishment of all who are guilty of these crimes, and to do everything possible to clear the name and honor of Kentucky from the shame and disgrace of such crimes."

Governor Willson says the reward is offered for the men who banded themselves together at midnight and went to the cabin home of Walker, set fire to it and when he threw open the door, pleading for mercy, was shot to death. Then his wife, trying to escape from the burning cabin, led to the door, holding her baby to her breast, and begged the night riders for mercy, but the cowardly fiends murdered the baby in his mother's arms, and she also fell wounded. Then a little girl of 5 years was also murdered while trying to escape, and three other children were shot and seriously wounded.

"The crime and stain on Kentucky of the murder of four helpless prisoners at Russellville by hands of night riders, the outgrowth and logical result of toleration of the night riders' crimes in large districts of the state, is only one remove from civil war, and the very safety of our institutions and what we have of civilization is involved, and the only salvation of the name, honor and character of Kentucky is for the whole people to rise up in their might and have their liberty upheld; uphold the laws and mercilessly put down murder, arson, intimidation and proscription wherever they show themselves."

W. C. T. U. CONVENTION COMES TO CLOSE

Mary E. Woodard Made a State Officer.

Bedford, Ind., Oct. 13.—Bedford has done herself proud in the state convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union which has been in session here since last Friday morning. Not only has the city well entertained the largest convention in the history of the Indiana W. C. T. U., but the largest collection in the history of the organization for the purpose of furthering the cause of the union was taken here Sunday afternoon. Officers for the coming year were selected as follows: Mrs. Celia Vayhinger, Upland, president; Mrs. Elizabeth P. Stanley of Liberty, vice president; Miss Mary E. Woodard, Fountain City, corresponding secretary; Miss Rose Pearce, Cayuga, recording secretary, and Miss Clara Sears of Anderson, treasurer.

NATIONAL BISCUIT COMPANY

THE THEATER

MISS EMILY FRANCIS.

Vaudeville—New Phillips.

The musical comedy, "The Wrong Man," presented by the Davenport brothers, and Miss Emily Francis, at the New Phillips, is making a big hit. All three in this act can sing and sing well, and their number would be quite effective without any story at all, but with this addition it becomes a most pretentious little piece that is most acceptable. Miss Francis is quite clever in her part and acts well, as well as sings.

Nicholson and Kush have an acrobatic act that is splendid. They do some head balancing that surpasses anything of the sort seen here for some time, and pull off numerous tests of skill and brawn that bring a hearty hand from the crowd.

Leonard Kane has an act of novelty dancing, which is most successful. Mr. Kane is in the first place a good dancer, and he has a costume and setting that is original and popular.

Lamont and Milhom have a musical number which mixes in good comedy, and a variety of novel instruments. It made a deserving hit. The Hindoo Mystery got a good laugh and lots of attention.

Moving pictures and the illustrated song complete the bill.

Depew Burdette Stock—Gennett.

The Depew-Burdette Stock company opened its week's engagement at the Gennett theater last night in one of their feature plays, "The American Girl." Every act and climax was applauded with great force. Mr. Depew is a clever comedian. His character of "Boss Bolter" was a sterling piece of work. All members of the company were far above the average.

The stage settings were an important factor in the success of the play. Judging from the excellent performance given last night, The Depew-Burdette company will probably play to capacity during its stay in Richmond.
