

FRANKLIN SCORES ON QUAKER ELEVEN

Earlham Football Team Defeats Visitors on Reid Field, 17 to 6.

GASTON'S WORK A FEATURE

HIS STAR GAME ON DEFENSIVE PLACED HIM IN LIMELIGHT—BOTH TEAMS SHOW UP POORLY ON HANDLING PUNTS.

(By Tort.)
Earlham 17; Franklin 6.

On Reid Field yesterday afternoon, Earlham defeated Franklin college, a slow but scrappy team, 17 to 6. The one score made by Franklin was due to an excusable error on the part of the Quaker back field, the poor throw of a back pass. From the view point of the Earlham roster the game was pleasing, not that it was so very well played, but because the Quakers showed decided improvement in form notwithstanding the fact that nearly all the men still felt the effects of the bruising Purdue game the previous Saturday. The forwards played lower and charged fiercely, holding the Franklin outfit at bay nearly all the time throughout the entire game. The offense also showed a decided improvement. The backs bucked the line hard and several spectacular end runs were pulled off. In this line of work White monopolized the limelight, making two long dashes for touchdowns. On the defensive Right End Gaston of the Quakers was the decided star. His spectacular work was a feature well worth seeing.

The Richmond boy time and time again went through Franklin interference and downed the man carrying the ball. His work attracted particular attention throughout the game as did his work in the Purdue game last Saturday a week.

In the first half White of Earlham and Bryan of Franklin had a pretty punting battle, but their good work was marred by the miserable manner in which each team handled punts. In the second half there was considerable punting and the Quakers improved in their work of handling the ball, but Franklin still continued to perpetrate coarse work.

PLAYS GREAT GAME AGAINST STEELE

Local High School Football Team Defeated on Saturday.

THE SCORE WAS 5 TO 0.

OHIO LADS SCORED EARLY THEN CONTEST BUT RICHMOND THEN SETTLED DOWN AND BUT ONE WAS GOAL IN DANGER.

Steele High, 5; Richmond High, 0.

Dayton, O., Oct. 17.—One of the fastest games that the Steele high school football team has yet played, was this afternoon when it defeated the fast team representing the Richmond high school. The game was played on the Y. M. C. A. field north of Dayton. The side lines were packed with the students representing the Gray and Black, as this game had been predicted to be one of the best of the season. There was also a few supporters of the Red and White that had accompanied the Richmond team on its trip to this city.

It took the Dayton pliskin rushers just a little over five minutes to plant the oval fairly and squarely behind the goal posts. They did this by a succession of forward passes and trick plays which they were able to work during the first part of the game very effectively. The Dayton team failed to kick goal. At this point the mighty little Quakers took a brace and not again during this half were the Bucks-eyes able to get within hailing distance of the goal posts that loomed up in the distance. At the close of the half the sturdy Quakers had the ball on the 15-yard line.

During the intermission between the halves Coach Horton took his men off the field and gave them a few pointers and cheered them up so that they were more confident. The second half opened with Dayton kicking to Richmond. The Richmond team worked the ball to the middle of the field where it lost it on a forward pass. Steele worked the ball down to the goal posts, and here fumbled the ball and Brown of Richmond, by a dive, secured the ball for a touch down. This, however, did not give Richmond a score. The ball was taken out to the 25 yard-line, but neither team failed to make any headway.

In speaking of the game, Coach Horton, of Richmond, said, "Well, we got beat, but we made the Steele team work for everything it got. I feel that we can beat the team when it comes to Richmond in several weeks. It was anybody's game throughout both halves. I am very well pleased with the work of my men."

NEW FOOTBALL RULES FIXTURES

Plays Introduced by Them Have Done Much to Make Game More Popular.

ADVANTAGES POINTED OUT.

GREATEST INTEREST BEING TAKEN IN FORWARD PASS—CARLISLE INDIANS DO MOST TO ADVANCE IT IN FAVOR.

From the experimental stage of the last two years the new football rules have come to be looked upon as fixtures, and the plays introduced by them are both successful and popular. It is indeed the increased popularity brought about by the remodelled game which has caused a demand for tickets this year.

Yale and Harvard graduate managers estimate that about 100,000 persons will apply for seats to the Yale-Harvard game on Nov. 21, while there are accommodations for only 31,000. The stands were thought to be ample while the old rules were in force and monotonous line-plunging was the order of the day. Then two teams of about the same strength would spend seven-eighths of the playing time grinding away through each other's rush lines, gaining the necessary five yards two or three at a time by concentrated mass plays. This was not only a cruel test for human endurance, but a game that gave the onlooker scarcely a glimpse of the ball, and he would have to get most of his thrills out of the direction in which the bundle of arms and legs fell.

The ten yard regulation, requiring twice as much ground to be gained in three downs, immediately did away with these tiresome close formations and gave us a game easier on the players, with an increased chance for strategy. At the same time it so opened up the play that the spectator can now easily follow every formation of the eleven and each movement of the all important pliskin.

The possibility of gaining the necessary distance on end runs and line plays was, of course, out of the question, and so the resourceful rules committee created several new plays, all of which have been tried out and found to work well. These are the quarter back run, the on side run and the forward pass. From the stands the first is not easily distinguished at a glance, for it calls for a formation much like the ordinary end run, with the quarter back carrying the ball. The outside kick on the other hand is quickly recognized, as it goes very low, generally for a short distance, the kicker's team being allowed to get the ball as soon as it touches the ground. This call for great accuracy in placing it out of the hands of the opposing backs, and gives an opportunity for a fine display of dash and agility in recovering the bounding leather.

As one side kick poorly attempted gave Princeton her touchdown against Yale at New Haven last November, but a week later in her game against Harvard the blue gained half the length of the field, and a score, after Alcott captured the ball close by the Crimson goal line, from a kick by Jones.

Of the new plays, however, the one of the greatest interest and by far the most spectacular on the field today is the forward pass. In writing of the All-American team for 1907 Walter Camp, the well known expert, calls it an eleven which must first be able to resist the attack by and form a defense to "that all important feature the forward pass." This strong ground winner was at first looked on with disfavor by the conservative coaches, as it seemed to leave too much to chance. The play was expected by the ball being tossed forward over the rush line by one of the backs, who must run five yards to the side before he throws it.

This short run causes an uncertainty in the minds of the defenders and generally brings in many tacklers to check the threatened advance. Just before these players reach him he passes the ball swiftly down the field, with a motion much like that used in base ball, into the hands of a team mate who has gone forward at the signal to a prearranged position. If the ball is successfully caught, the catcher makes a dash for the goal line, but if, as it sometimes happens, the ball falls to the ground without being touched the passer's side is penalized fifteen yards for the failure. This play was used conspicuously during the championship games last year; but the wonderful Carlisle Indian school aggregation were the players to make the greatest advance toward perfecting it.

In their annual game with the University of Pennsylvania the wiry red men repeatedly hurled the ball over the heads of the stock Quakers, and in nearly every case galloped off with it for substantial gains. The result was a signal victory for the Indians to the tune of 26 to 6. After a setback by Princeton, who made up a special defense for the Carlisle form of play, the eleven met in succession and defeated Harvard 23 to 15, Minnesota 12 to 10, Chicago 18 to 4. In all the games the scoring came as a direct result of the forward pass.

Cornell, too, owes much to this form of attack, as its defeat last season of the strong and shifty Princeton team was due to two long passes by Earle and Walder that carried the play within striking distance of the Tigers' goal line.

For the season of 1908 the wise men of the game are promising even greater things and more sensational developments in this never failing thriller of the gridiron checkerboard.

ILLINOIS SCORES

Trusty Boot of Steffens Saved Chicago at Critical Times.

FINAL SCORE WAS 11 TO 6.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 17.—Stagg's Maroons today beat Illinois in a fiercely fought game, escaping defeat in the last half only by luck in desperate stands made on their own goal line. Only the superb kicking of Steffens and his great work when danger threatened most saved Chicago and gave them the victory 11 to 6.

Illinois scored a touchdown by a series of brilliant forward passes followed by three drives into the fast resembling Maroon tie. Chicago scored a touchdown by a series of passes, Illinois breaking under their attack. Then a fluke safety caused by Raliback's muff on a passed ball back of his own goal line, added to the Maroon total. Finally after fighting the ball within striking distance, Schommer kicked a brilliant goal from placement. Four times the Maroons called upon Steffens' toe to save them and each time he kicked out of danger.

WEST POINT PLAYS OLD ELI CLOSE GAME

Blue Struggles Hard to Defeat Army Men.

West Point, N. Y., Oct. 17.—Yale defeated West Point on the Plains here this afternoon by the score of 6 to 0.

It was a great game despite summer weather and was won by the Blue only after a grand rally in the second half that simply carried the army off its feet momentarily. There was bits of daring running and plenty of hard tackling, but outside of Chamberlain, the Army star full back, who was injured in pulling down Coy, none suffered other than from exhaustion caused by excessive heat. Though beaten, the army showed that it has material for a grand team and displayed more speed than did Yale.

PURDUE IMPROVES

Runs Up High Score on Monmouth Saturday in a Good Game.

GOAL NEVER IN DANGER.

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 17.—Purdue ruffled up five touchdowns against Monmouth college today. The final score being Purdue 30, Monmouth 0. The boiler makers showed great improvement and the first half ended 12 to 0. Captain Holloway of Purdue won the toss and after fifteen minutes of play Rochford made a touchdown through the right side of the line. Purdue used the forward pass to advantage and the work was fine. In the second half several changes were made in the Purdue line up, and the varsity found no trouble in scoring on the Illinois team. At no time in the game was Purdue's goal in danger.

INDIANA IS DEFEATED

Although Playing Better Football, Wisconsin Defeats State University.

FORWARD PASS EFFECTIVE.

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 17.—Though played to a standstill on straight football by Indiana, the Wisconsin team won today 16 to 0, by a skillful use of the forward pass and a chance drop kick. True, the mighty Wilce, the Wisconsin full-back, plowed through the Indiana at times for first down, but Winters, Cunningham and Capt. Paddock gained just as much through the Wisconsin line. Osthaus and Dauter being unable to stop the Hoosier charges on the left side of the Badger line.

"Yes, I see; but as I cannot stop the horses it is useless to trouble about them."

The carriage was upset, but no one was hurt.

ALLERDICES TOE WINS FOR MICHIGAN

Notre Dame Downed by Score Of 12 to 6.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 17.—Allerdice's toe made Michigan victor over Notre Dame on Ferry field today, by a score of 12 to 6. The Wolverine half back three times placed the pliskin behind the posts for field goals, and saved the day for Michigan. The Catholics made a touchdown early in the second half, Vaughn making a brilliant run with excellent interference from the center of the field. Michigan again went into the game without the services of Captain Schultz.

The Twilight Of Life.
The muscles of the stomach in old age are not as strong or active as in youth and in consequence old people are very subject to constipation and indigestion. Many seldom have a bowel movement without artificial aid. Many also, have unpleasant eructations of gas from the stomach after eating. All this can be avoided by the use of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which permanently regulates the bowels so that passages come naturally, and so strengthens the stomach that food is digested without discomfort. Druggists sell it at 50 cents or $1 a large bottle.
