

HOPES TO DEFEAT ROSE AND DEPAUW

Coach Vail Training His Team
For Two Final Contests
Of the Season.

BOTH WILL BE HARD GAMES

ROSE POLY DEFEATED WABASH
AND DEPAUW HAS BEEN PLAY-ING GREAT FOOTBALL—FOUR QUAKERS IN HOSPITAL.

By Tort.
Coach Vail, strange as it may appear to the uninitiated, does not want his Quakers to reach their top form until the last two weeks of the football season. The two final games Earlham has are the hardest ones on her schedule, and Vail sees a possibility of winning both of them, provided his men are all in good condition and not stale from rounding into form too soon. On November 7, Earlham will play Rose Poly at Terre Haute. This will be one of the two final games. The last game scheduled is on Nov. 14 when the Quakers meet DePauw on Reid Field.

Last Saturday Rose Poly became one of the most important football factors in the state by defeating the crack Wabash eleven, which has for four years only bowed the neck to the strongest varsity teams in the west. Rose Poly's victory was so startling and unexpected that the football world is still gasping and the Wabash rooters are crushed.

To beat Rose Poly it will be necessary for the Quakers to put up the fastest brand of football. The defense must be strengthened and more speed injected into the offense. Vail is confident of doing this and the student body shares his confidence.

The DePauw game will also be a hard one for the Quakers. This year the Methodists are playing great football. It is expected that this game will attract the largest crowd to Reid Field that has witnessed a football game in this city in years. It is quite probable that the Fairmount Academy team and the Earlham scrubs will play a curtain riser to this contest.

The Earlham hospital list still numbers four of the best players, Captain Harrell, Hancock, Lawrence and Bruner. The former has sustained a badly wrenched back and is going about on crutches. Hancock and Harrell will probably be saved up for the two final games of the season. Swain has left the hospital and last night worked out with the team.

WORE LIFE AWAY.

Old Clock in Circuit Court Room
Disposed Of.

A new clock has been placed in the Wayne circuit court room. The old time piece had worn its life away in the service of the county and father time relegated it to the rear, because it was too slow. The new clock is guaranteed to "stay right."

WIFE WAS ILL.

A letter has been received by the Rev. T. J. Graham in explanation of the failure of Dr. Ira Landrith to keep his appointment as a speaker before the Presbyterian Brotherhood, last Wednesday evening. Dr. Landrith was detained, because of illness of his wife.

The Power of Habit.
After having been a faithful devotee of the automobile two years or more Mr. Bragdon suddenly was seized with a violent fancy for motor boats. "A beautiful river runs by this town," he said. "Why not have some enjoyment out of it? In a motor boat you don't have to dodge policemen and rural constables."

So he bought one, took a day's instruction in the art of managing it and keeping the machinery in running order and started out on his first trip with it one bright morning in July.

It was late in the afternoon when he returned home by way of the back way. His clothes were water soaked, and he had a generally limp and bedraggled appearance.

"For pity's sake, Alfred!" exclaimed his wife. "What has happened to you? Did the boat upset?"

"No, Lucy," he answered. "Don't say anything about it and I'll tell you. The boat's all right, but when I had been out on the water an hour or two something went wrong with the motor."

"Well, before I—er—knew what I was doing I was over the side of the boat and trying to get under it to fix the thing."

A Shrewd Doctor.
"This incident," said a doctor, "happened in France two or three centuries ago, in the days when public criers were always in evidence. There was a physician of Montpellier who used to go from place to place to practice the healing art. He employed a very ingenious trick to help him on his way. When he came to a town where he was not known he pretended to have lost his dog, which he declared was a very valuable animal, and ordered the public crier to roam about, beat loud on his drum and offer a reward of 25 louis to whoever should bring the dog to him. At the same time the crier was directed to mention all the titles and academic honors of the doctor as well as his place of residence. Of course it happened that the doctor was not long in becoming almost the sole topic of talk in the town. The people made up their minds that he must be a famous physician as well as a very rich one, as he could offer 25 louis for finding his dog. You might reasonably judge that the dog was never found, but plenty of patients were."

Affairs of the Sporting World

BY TORT.

That Rose Poly victory over Wabash does not listen right, we are inclined to think Wabash must have sent her second team into the game.

Owens Bush was to have played with Detroit in the exhibition game with the Cubs last Sunday, but when he was told he would have to make a speech at a banquet in Detroit, Saturday evening, the little fellow fled to Indianapolis. Owens won't make a stump speech or wear any kind of a top piece except a cap.

The mamma of the St. Louis university football captain threatened to spank him unless he quit the game, and the press dispatches announce the fact of his retirement. Wise lad.

Why does not some college looking for a good football song, adopt that plaintive little ditty, popular some time ago, which starts out, "More work for the undertaker, 'nother little job for the casketmaker."

On the sporting page of one of the large morning dailies there appeared this morning, amid column after column of football dope, a modest little news item with the caption, "Hurt Playing Baseball."

The first annual horse show at Rushville, the heart of Indiana's great horse country opened today. Over 300 horses are entered and more than $1,000 in prizes is offered. The show closes tomorrow evening.

Johnny Reuter, the professional at the Richmond County club, will winter in North Dakota. He expects to return here next spring.

The action of the national commission in suspending the Washington and Minneapolis teams because they played Jimmy Callahan's independent team in Chicago after the close of the league seasons does not meet with the approval of baseball fans. The commission's act is regarded everywhere as extremely high handed.

Ball players state that after their league has closed its season, they have a right to play with any team they so desire, and the baseball autocrats have no right to dictate to them what they shall or shall not do.

HAINES BROTHERS CASE GOES OVER

Murderers Not Ready to Make Plea.

New York, Oct. 20.—The Haines brothers were arraigned in the supreme court today but were not ready to plead and their case went over until tomorrow, after Judge Garrelson had denied a motion to quash the indictments.

Winning a Jurymen.
It is related of Lachaud, the most famous of French criminal lawyers in the last century, that in pleading a certain case he perceived that one of the jurors seemed to be hostile to him and his argument.

In the faces of all the other men in the box he saw with his practiced eyes that his oratory or his shrewdness was having its effect, but this man, in spite of all Lachaud could do, remained frowning, suspicious, obdurate.

Lachaud continued with his work, however, and presently saw that his opportunity had come. It was a hot day, and a ray of sunlight had penetrated a crevice on the curtain and was shining on top of the head of this jurymen, who was quite bald. The lawyer paused in his argument and addressed himself directly to the court.

"If your honor would please," he said, "to order that the curtain in yonder window be lowered a trifle I am sure that the sixth jurymen would appreciate it."

This sign of watchful attention won the obstinate jurymen's heart and Lachaud's case.—New York Tribune.

Walking on Your Hat.
"Nothing is wasted in this house" is the proud remark which you may often hear from the lips of an expert housekeeper. It is a boast, however, that few people could really justify. Take the case of a worn-out derby hat. In the majority of instances this discarded article of headgear finds its way to the rubbish heap or perhaps into the hands of a passing tramp. If only people were aware of the fact, the most excellent felt soles for the inside of their boots and slippers are thus being discarded. These soles can be cut from the sides of an old hat and are much more comfortable than the ordinary ones.

DELIVERY WAGON SMASHED BY CAR

Driver for C. T. Price Escapes
Luckily.

An Interurban car this afternoon crashed into the front wheel of the C. T. Price & Son's delivery wagon at Fifteenth and Main streets, the wheel, shafts and the entire front part of the rig were badly wrecked, but by a freak of fate neither the driver, a young colored boy, or the horse were injured. The Price delivery wagon seems to have an evil spirit following in its wake, this being the third or fourth time it has been considerably damaged by accident.

GLOUCESTER.

The Greatest Fishing Center in the United States.

Everything smells of fish in Gloucester. It is not an odor to which any of the natives object. Nor do visitors find in it anything of which to complain, for it is the pungent ozone of the sea, the smell of fish freshly caught. Gloucester has really never known anything else, for since its beginning, approaching three centuries ago, it has always had fishing for its chief industry, and today it is the greatest fishing center of the United States and, according to the belief of many, of the world.

When a two masted schooner, laden to the gunwales with its cargo of fish, comes into the wharfs the fish are carried in great tubs. Over these stand a company of experts, men who have cleaned hundreds of thousands of fish and who can make the quick cuts and do the scraping with incredible speed. Running to each tub is a hose, and after the waste has been removed an instant under the high pressure of water from the hose cleans out the fish completely and makes it sweet and ready for the next step in the operation.

Codfish is dried and salted before being sent to the market, and the work is also done on the wharves. Here are ranged hundreds of tables exposed to the bright sunlight. The cleaned fish are piled up in such a manner that the warm rays get a most admirable chance at them.

From the open air drying tables the fish are shifted to the boxing and packing establishments, which are also located along the water front, and then they are made ready to be shipped to all parts of the world.—Springfield Union.

Gave Him All the Lot.
"So that is your final word?" said the rejected one. "Very well, then, Ara bella. In your presence I will end the life you have blighted."

He drew forth a small bottle labeled "Poison," drank off the contents and fell senseless at her feet. Did she sink beside him sobbing with remorse? No. She hastily left the room and in two minutes had returned and was kneeling beside him. Then she forced between his lips the following: Half a cup of turpentine, one pint of milk, a cup of warm brandy, a tablespoonful of aromatic ammonia, a cup of black coffee, a glass of mustard and water, a gill of vinegar, the juice of a lemon, the beaten whites of six eggs and one cup of flour and water.

"Algermon," she observed coldly as he slowly opened his eyes, "it is evident you had forgotten that I am a graduate of a correspondence course in first aid. My one regret is that, as I could not on the instant ascertain whether you had taken an acid or an alkali, I was compelled to administer all the antidotes I had learned."—London Scraps.

A Picture Romance.

It is said that one of the most beautiful ladies in French society today was first revealed to her husband on the walls of the salon. It was while visiting the salon in 1878 that the youthful Marquis de C. was struck by the childish beauty of a young girl, one of the prominent figures in a picture of a village fête. Her tumbled golden locks, her dancing blue eyes and the freshness and graceful abandon of her figure so fascinated him that he sought out the artist and learned from him that the "little witch" was the daughter of a poor peasant near Avranches, where the picture was painted. To seek out the peasant and to make the acquaintance of his fascinating daughter, child of nine summers, was soon accomplished, and the marquis lost his heart even more completely to the real than to the pictured maid. With the father's approval he had the girl educated at one of the best schools in Paris, and nine years later, on her eighteenth birthday, the maid of the village fête blossomed into the still more lovely Marquise de C.

RUSSIA PRESERVES PEACE IN BALKANS

Threat to Send Troops to Bulgaria Chills That Country's Spirit.

WAS DETERMINING FACTOR.

GENERAL REPRESENTATIONS OF POWERS HAD LITTLE EFFECT—
DISCUSSION ON CONFERENCE CONTINUES.

London, Oct. 20.—The dramatic manner in which war was averted at the last moment when the situation seemed hopeless now has become known in diplomatic circles. Bulgaria had both the desire and purpose to force a conflict if possible and Turkey had begun regretfully to make preparations to meet the crisis.

The general representations of the powers in favor of peace had little effect at Sofia until Russia finally took decisive action. She notified Bulgaria that unless she instantly modified her attitude Russia troops would be sent, with Roumania's consent, through that country to invade Bulgaria from the north. That saved the situation.

Ferdinand's government had no choice but to notify Turkey of her desire for peace and to that end would yield her wishes on the railroad question and would negotiate conciliatingly on other matters.

Turkey Stops Mobilization.

On receipt of this communication on Saturday, Turkey promptly countermanded her orders for mobilization. Austria also has now taken a more friendly attitude toward Turkey and notified her she prefers to negotiate with her direct on the questions regarding Bosnia and Herzegovina. Turkey sympathizes with this suggestion and will inform the powers of her desire that if a conference be held at all, which she no longer says, it shall confine itself to Bulgaria's action and the question of compensation for that action.

The discussion of the conference problem continues between the powers but the desire to call one is diminishing in more than one important quarter.

Ivory Jelly.
The jelly was singularly pale. It almost resembled junket.

"It is ivory jelly," said the invalid. "My English cousins sent me a case of it from Sheffield."

"But why is it called ivory jelly?" they inquired.

"Precisely because it is made of ivory. A third of England's ivory goes to Sheffield, and in the process of grinding and cutting it for knife handles, and so forth, a lot of ivory dust remains, a fine dust, similar to the best flour. Of this the Sheffield folk have made jelly for many years.

"The jelly for some reason is nourishing, extremely so. The doctors prescribe it for the anemic. And of late a Sheffield firm has taken to manufacturing it on a large scale. Sheffield ivory jelly is now on the market.

"Out of courtesy to my cousins I tried it. To my surprise I found it good. My doctor, sampling it, found it good too. He told me to take the whole case."—Buffalo Express.

An Interesting Book.

A French marquise whose country house is crowded with guests during the hunting season hit upon the original idea of placing a register at the disposal of her visitors in which to record their desires and criticisms. The pages of the richly bound book soon began to be covered with notes such as:

"Count de R. still owes 25 louis. He knows to whom."

"The green peas yesterday were burned."

"Baroness M. flirts—unfortunately not with me."

The marquise has withdrawn the register.

Parents' Hairs and Heirs.

It is possible to predict from the hair of parents the form of their children's hair. Two blue eyed, straight haired parents will have only blue eyed, straight haired children. Two wavy haired parents may have straight, wavy or curly haired children, but the chances of curly hair are slight. Two curly haired parents may have children with either straight, wavy or curly hair, but the proportion of curly haired offspring will probably be large.—American Naturalist.

The Bolster.

The crusaders are said to have brought home with them the bolster, and, according to Dr. Cantile, their wives, in ignorance of the only rational way of using the article (i. e., lengthwise as a support for the back of a person when lying on his side) and not knowing what else to do with it, put the bolster where it is still found on the beds of those who have not learned the wisdom of discarding it altogether—under the pillow.—London Chronicle.

Truth in a Turkish Bath.

Always Counting.

"Your husband says that when he is angry he always counts ten before he speaks," said one woman.

"Yes," answered the other, "I wish he'd stop it. Since he got dyspepsia home seems nothing but a class in arithmetic."

WILL PROBABLY LOSE HIS VOTE

John Carroll Sent to the County Jail.

Because he had broken his promises to be good and reform, one local man, by name John Carroll, will not be entitled to vote at the coming election. He was fined $25 and costs in city court this afternoon and sentenced to thirty days in jail in addition. Unless Carroll's fine is paid he will have to be a county boarder for 65 days. It was the third time he had been arraigned on the charge of public intoxication.

John Donlin, old reliable John, who spends the most of his time in jail, was landed again this afternoon by Officer Yingling. John was found three sheets in the wind at Fourth and North D streets. It may be that John will lose his vote, also.

FIRES STILL RAGE OVER THE COUNTY

Feared That Unless Rain Falls
Serious Conflagration
Will Result.

WOLFE HOUSE DESTROYED.

GREATER LOSS PREVENTED BY WORK OF VOLUNTEER FIRE-
MEN RUSHED TO SCENE WEST OF RICHMOND.

About fifty men, many of whom were employees of the street railway company, were rushed to a point one-half mile west of the Eastern Indiana Hospital for the Insane and put to work as fire fighters yesterday. Sparks from a railroad locomotive set fire to a meadow which burned, transmitting the flames to the tenant house on the farm owned by Amos Wolfe. The house was not occupied and was practically entirely destroyed. It was used for storage purposes and contained a quantity of material. The flames spread across the field in the direction of a large barn.

The fire fighters exerted every effort and finally subdued the flames when they were only four feet from the barn. The barn was filled with hay and other valuable products.

Fire has been burning in a marsh-land on the farm of J. L. Kempton about two and one-half miles west of the city for several days. The lowland has been dried thoroughly by the sun and the underbrush and grass were ignited by sparks from the railroad. The bog has burned to a depth of four feet in some places and continues to burn.

The woods of Caleb King in Center township have been ravaged by flames and the loss will be heavy. Fire also threatened the home of Thomas King in Center township. The grass is burned back for 500 feet from the tracks of the Pennsylvania railroad at places in Jackson township, and the residents have to fight to protect their property.

Unless rain comes soon it is feared a serious conflagration will break out in some sections of the county near the railroads. Almost all rights of way have been burned over and thousands of fence posts have been burned off at the ground.

FOUR MEN ARE ARRAIGNED TODAY

Walters, Kroma, Whiteman
And Via Appear Before
Circuit Court.

FACE SERIOUS CHARGES.

THREE CHARGED WITH ASSAULT AND BATTERY WITH INTENT TO KILL AND VIA WITH CRIME
AGAINST STEPDAUGHTER.

In answer to grand jury indictments William Walters, Charles Kroma, Clement Whiteman and James Via were arraigned in circuit court this morning. The three first named were charged with assault and battery with intent to kill and Via is charged with incest. An indictment has been returned against Walter Williams charging him with obtaining money by means of fraud.

William Walters and Charles Kroma are charged with an attempt upon the life of John Hart. The fight in which the three and Fred Kroma, who is a fugitive, partook was held at the Red saloon. Hart was beaten about the head and body and severely cut with a knife.

Whiteman is accused of shooting at his wife, Elizabeth, in the attempt to kill her. The trouble grew out of a domestic tragedy. Whiteman has retained an attorney and will make a defense. There are said to be two sides to the case.

It had not been known the jury was investigating the case of Via, who resided before his arrest on Fort Wayne avenue. He is accused of committing the crime against his step daughter Grace Lamb. Via denies the allegation in all its details.

Walter Williams is accused of passing a fraudulent check on the Jones Hardware company for $45. The crime was committed August 8, according to the indictment.

The grand jury was in session today and the prosecutor said he could not tell when the final report would be made.

The Japanese and Their Prisoners.
The Japanese have a rather kindly way of treating prisoners who have not yet been convicted. The regulation prison dress is a kind of straw-berry red colored kimono, but men on remand wear light blue as a sign that, although under strong suspicion, they have not yet been found guilty. When prisoners in this class have occasion to pass through the public streets curious extinguisher-like baskets are placed upon their heads.—Wide World Magazine.
