BARNARD.

As Senator Beveridge aptly pointed out the democratic party has no fault to find with what legislation has been enacted by republican administrations, nor that which has been recommended by President Roosevelt. The task which then confronts the next congress and the president is to carry on the work by adjusting the machinery of the government and to carry on the policies which Roosevelt inaugurated.

Taft can not do this work alone. He must have a republican congress which is pledged to carry this on.

The things which will come up before the next congress are tariff revision, the strengthening of laws against corporation abuses and the question of reorganization of the house of representatives.

These are the things which the voters of the Sixth District desire. These are the things that Judge Barnard stands for.

Judge Barnard has many times in the campaign made clear his stand for the policies which the progressives of the republican party demand. As he concisely stated in the early days of the campaign:

"You may publicly announce that I earnestly endorse the policies of President Roosevelt as advocated during his administration and those of William H. Taft as announced in his speech of acceptance and that if elected to congress I will do my utmost to have those policies embodied in legislation and to provide the necessary and adequate machinery and means to enforce them, and I shall by every reasonable and honorable means in my power resist all efforts to defeat, delay or thwart such policies no matter from what source such efforts may come.

The national convention which nominated Judge Taft endorsed the policies of President Roosevelt and gave a pledge to the people that said policies would be continued under republican administration. As a member of the republican party, if elected to congress I shall do all in my power to assist my party in making good this pledge by an organization of the house that shall be firmly committed to the proposition of carrying out this declaration in the party platform.

In a public speech made at Brookville on the 15th day of August, I declared the same things I do here in almost the same language and afterward in two speeches made in your city before members of the organization of the republican party I gave expression to the same adherence to said policies as herein stated.

Barnard has been clear and unflinching in his statements. His character is without reproach and he is a man to be relied to the limit.

The necessity for a republican congress is quite only second to the election of Taft. One without the other is crippled.

NOT PROHIBITION.

Attempts have been made and are still being made by the brewery machine to divert attention from the issue at stake in the state campaign, by saying that "County local option means prohibition."

By this they hope to influence the German voters who are temperate and law abiding to vote for Marshall on the plea that he will sign a bill for the repeal of county local option.

To these men the words of Cardinal Gibbons of the Roman Church bring a message.

"First, I do not believe that prohibition in the great cities is practicable. Attempts to prevent the sale of liquor by legislation in these great communities would only invite deceptions and law violations by liquor sellers and consumers. The result would be unfortunate for the city and no good end would be served.

For such cities I believe high license laws strictly enforced with constant supervision of the saloons to be the best possible solution of the problem.

"Second, I am heartily and absolutely in favor of local option for all other communities. I would have the county as the unit in the elections.

"To my mind the people of a county should have the right and the power to decide for themselves whether or not liquor shall be sold within the county limits.

"I have spoken briefly, but I could not express more fully my belief on this subject if I talked much longer."

Cardinal Gibbons has justified his reputation and known standards for temperance and good citizenship. He can not be accused of being a fanatic on the subject.

County local option does not mean prohibition. County local option is the only sane way to settle the liquor question.

James E. Watson stands for the settlement of that question by the people.

TARIFF AND THE TRUSTS.

Mr. Bryan has in this campaign proclaimed that the republican party is responsible for trust growth because of a protective tariff—nay more, he has charged the protective tariff with crushing the small competitor.

He ignores the fact that free trade England has the trusts as has every other country in the world which has great industrial or commercial development.

In 1903—before Mr. Roosevelt was elected for the second term the president made a speech at Cincinnati in which he set forth his policies in regard to trust abuses. These things which have since been carried out and at the same time he set forth his policies he also explained why he could not use the tariff change to fight the trust without paralyzing all the smaller concerns.

He said: "My point is that changes in the effect on the trusts, save as they shared in the general harm or good proceeding from such changes. No tariff change would help one of our smaller corporations or one of the private individuals in business, still less one of our workers as against a large corporation in the same business; on the contrary if it bore heavily on the large corporation, it would inevitably be felt still more by that corporation's weaker rivals, while any injurious result would of necessity be felt by both the employers and the employees in the business concerned.

Furthermore the products of many trusts are entirely unprotected and would be entirely unaffected by any changes in the tariff, or, at most, but slightly. The Standard Oil company offers a case in point; and the corporations which controls the anthracite coal output offer another, for there is no duty on anthracite coal."

Cardinal Gibbons Has Taken Stand For County Option

Philadelphia North American, Oct. 27. Baltimore, Oct. 26.—Cardinal Gibbons, head of the Roman Catholic church in America, great churchman and great American, has arrayed himself upon the side of local option.

He has done so in an interview granted to the North American, an interview in which directness, emphasis and sincerity fairly shone.

"I have pronounced convictions on the question of local option," he said. "I have given study and thought to it and these are my conclusions:

"1. I do not believe that prohibition in the great cities is practicable. Attempts to prevent the sale of liquor by legislation in these great communities would only invite deceptions and law violations by liquor sellers and consumers. The result would be unfortunate for the city and no good end would be served.

"For such cities I believe high license laws strictly enforced with constant supervision of the saloons to be the best possible solution of the problem.

"2. I am heartily and absolutely in favor of local option for all other communities. I would have the county as the unit in the elections.

"To my mind, the people of a county should have the right and the power

MANY QUESTIONS FOR RUSSIA DUMA

Body Convenes for Autumn Session.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 29.—The Russian Parliament reopened for the Autumn session, which promises to be the most fruitful since the establishment of the Duma.

Priority will be given to two measures connected with the agrarian problem, namely, the law permitting the dissolution of communes and the transfer of lands to individual ownership, and reform of the local courts among the peasantry.

The new university statute, the law governing religious freedom, and that relating to local self-government are also on the calendar for this session. The relations between the various parties have been greatly improved of late and the conscientious manner in which the social democrats and the reactionaries are working together in committee has given great encouragement to the leaders in the parliament.

MANY RIDER ARRESTS MADE

Many More Expected to Be Put in Toils Today.

Camp Nemo, Reelfoot Lake, Tenn., Oct. 29.—Arrests in the night rider investigation total eighty-five, and of this number, one-third, it is alleged, belong to the fugitive band. Twenty-three additional prisoners were brought in Wednesday. A number of the persons held have been questioned separately, and it is believed many more arrests will be made today. Frank Ferriner, who confessed yesterday, has implicated a dozen men in custody. He and several others are carefully guarded in individual tents.

A motor vehicle purchased by the town of Tynemouth, England, can be used as a prison van, fire apparatus or ambulance.

er to decide for themselves whether or not liquor shall be sold within the county limits.

"I have spoken briefly, but I could not express more fully my belief on this subject if I talked much longer."

The earnestness of the great prince of the church made every word impressive. His kindly face was grave and thoughtful and his whole manner that of one who realizes the majesty of his mission.

Apparently the cardinal has not been in better health in years. He has recovered completely from the illness that made an uncomfortable episode of his recent European trip. His face is bronzed, his eye clear, his step firm and light, his handclasp that of a vigorous brother.

The interview was given without hesitation. There was no red tape to be unrolled in obtaining access to the cardinal. The interview itself was as clean cut as a razor, as direct as a straight line, as democratic as the character of the great cardinal.

As the interview ended the cardinal smiled the kindly, soul-warming smile that makes his face a delightful memory and said:

"You will remember exactly what I have said; that I am absolutely and heartily in favor of local option."

His view that there are no Indian Gypsies, says Nature, that the recent find of Oriental books at Turfan, with other evidence shows that the civilization and phonetics we have been wont to consider special to India flourished at one time north of the Himalayas, and that therefore there is no need to seek the origin of the Romani speech in India, is startling, and not likely to be accepted without further proof than furnished in the present article.

TAFT AND HUGHES WILL BE ELECTED

President Roosevelt Says Both Adhere to High Standard of Honesty.

NO WORD AGAINST EITHER.

SAMUEL B. DONNELLY SAYS THE PRESIDENT'S ENDORSEMENT OF TAFT SHOULD BE HEEDED BY LABOR ORGANIZATIONS.

New York, Oct. 29.—President Roosevelt has sent to C. R. Wolfgram, editor of the New York Herald, a letter praising W. H. Taft and Governor Hughes and predicting the success of Taft and the Governor's re-election. The letter follows:

"Oct. 27, 1908.
"My dear Mr. Wolfgram—I thank you for your remembrance of my birthday. Will you let me take this opportunity to thank you in return for the admirable work you are doing for clean and honest government by your support of Taft and Hughes. I have proud faith in the good sense and conscientious devotion to duty and to high ideals of my fellow Americans of German birth or German parentage. I am certain that they will go right if only the facts can be clearly presented to them, and, thanks largely to your efforts, the facts are thus being clearly presented.

"Mr. Taft stands in the Nation and Mr. Hughes stands in the state for that high order of governmental efficiency and that high standard of governmental honesty, the union of which is absolutely essential in order to secure good government.

"Each adheres, and has always adhered, in public and private life, to the most inflexible standard of honesty and fair dealing as between man and man. Each represents what is best in American citizenship. Not one word of any kind can be truthfully said against the private or public character of either. Each has the broadest sympathies for his fellow citizens—for I need hardly say the accusations that Governor Hughes is a narrow and illiberal man are preposterously false.

"I believe that the victory of the one in the Nation and the other in the state is assured by overwhelming majorities, and I thank you for the way in which by your efforts you have contributed to bring about this result.

"With all regards, believe me, sincerely yours,

"THEODORE ROOSEVELT."

Donnelly Supports Taft.

President Roosevelt made public a long letter from Samuel B. Donnelly, secretary of the general arbitration board of the New York Building Trades, in which Mr. Donnelly upholds the president in his presentation of the record of Mr. Taft as set forth by him in a letter to P. H. Grace, of Binghamton, N. Y., recently.

Mr. Donnelly declares the president's letter shows Mr. Taft is not an enemy of labor, and the president's opinion and conclusion should be accepted by labor as a complete refutation of the charges made against Mr. Taft by his adversaries in the campaign. From personal knowledge of Mr. Taft's record as governor of the Philippines and in Panama, where he had extensive relations with labor, Mr. Donnelly unqualifiedly supports the president's estimate of Mr. Taft's character.

Mr. Donnelly cites an interpretation of the federal eight-hour law reported in 1907 and Mr. Taft's longevity pay increase order of that year as instances of Mr. Taft's fairness toward labor. Continuing, Mr. Donnelly says:

"The professional Democratic labor workers who have been 'on the job' in all recent campaigns are running the movement in the east. No spontaneous movement against Mr. Taft salaried officers are on the stump against him. Those of us who remember the labor conditions during the last Democratic administrations are of the opinion that if Bryan is elected, or the tariff is revised on the proposed Democratic plan of 'a tariff for revenue only,' we will all have plenty of time for jury duty."

In conclusion Mr. Donnelly writes: "That Mr. Taft is an enemy of labor or bears any prejudice toward any body or class of American citizens is unbelievable by those who are familiar with his record and by every man who has met him or heard him speak."

FOR MEMORIAL SHAFT

General Oates Would Erect Memorial to Confederates in Indianapolis.

CALLS ON THE PRESIDENT.

Washington, Oct. 29.—Congress will be asked to amend the laws to permit the erection in Greenlawn cemetery at Indianapolis, Ind., of a white marble shaft twenty feet high to mark the last resting place of 1,620 Confederate soldiers who died while prisoners at Camp Morton during the civil war.

Gen. William C. Oates, a former member of congress from Alabama and a one-armed Confederate soldier, who is commissioner to identify the graves of the Confederates who died in Federal prisons, called on the president and secretary of war and asked that the statute appropriating $200,000 for the work be engaged in be amended to authorize the erection of the shaft in Greenlawn cemetery.

WILL OF MAN WHO SHOT KING IS FOUND

Had No Property But Had "Compassion."

Lisbon, Oct. 29.—The will of Manuel Silva Bulssa, the man who on Feb. 1 of this year assassinated King Carlos has been discovered in this city. It is dated Jan. 28, evidently in anticipation of his death, and gives instructions as to how his children were to be notified of his death. He said he had no property to leave his children other than "My name, my respect and my compassion for those who suffer. I beg that my children be brought up in the principle of liberty, equality and fraternity, for which they will soon become orphans."

Large bodies move slowly, and New York is a large body. Two weeks after a resident of One-hundred-and-twenty-fifth street had repaired a hole which he had made in the asphalt paving (by permission) he received notice from the Department of Highways that it should be repaired, with maps and specifications of its location enclosed. Then, more than a week after he had notified the department that the work had been done long ago, he received a notice that he need not pay attention to the former communication.
