Dr. J. D. Haynie aged fifty-six, one of the best known and most efficient physicians and medical inspectors of the Pennsylvania lines died Thursday morning at his home on 903 North D street. His death was caused by a fall which he received early on Thursday morning.

Richmond People Will Make Merry Tonight it Being Hallowe'en

The combination of a Hallowe'en celebration and a democratic political meeting, both of which events will be pulled off tonight, should bear fruitful results.

It is only fair to the democrats to state that the police anticipate the lion's share of their troubles from the actions of the Hallowe'en celebrators.

It is anticipated that the greatest observance of Hallowe'en in years will be here tonight. In the first place the strenuous campaign of the past two weeks has stirred the blood of the younger element and, in the second place, the celebration occurs on a Saturday night when the streets are always crowded with humanity.

The police have been instructed to doctrine would be more apt to win votes for Mr. Marshall than to lose any for him. Throughout the campaign the democrats have constantly assailed the labor record of Mr. Watson, despite the fact that he has conclusively shown these attacks to be malicious falsehoods. It is noted that in the letters referred to, the recipients are urged to "lay aside all labor differences" and support Mr. Watson. This is regarded as a clever thrust aimed at the republican candidate, insinuating that the republican party is aware, dispute all denials to the contrary, that Mr. Watson has been the enemy of the laboring man. "The effect this cunning thrust would have on a staunch union man can easily be imagined," remarked a well known man when shown a copy of the forged letter obtained by the Palladium. This letter in its entirety is as follows:

FORGED NAMES TO POLITICAL LETTER SENT IN MAILED

Richmond, Ind., 10-30-08.

Dear Sir—We as preachers of the gospel of Jesus Christ, appeal to you to support the Hon. James E. Watson for governor of Indiana. He is a Christian gentleman in every respect. We know he will make as good a governor as that true and noble statesman, the Hon. J. Frank Hanly.

Although we don't know of any time that Thomas R. Marshall has drunk to any excess, yet we know that he takes a drink occasionally and for that reason alone don't think him fit to be elected. You should lay aside all labor differences and support Mr. Watson, thereby uplifting the church as well as the state. Respectfully yours,

REV. R. J. WADE,
REV. SAM W. TRAUM,
TIMOTHY NICHOLSON.

The Musique of Life, infants and children are constantly needing medicine. It is important to know what to give them. The strongest and most effective medicine is astringent, purgative waters or other tonics. Give them a mild astringent tonic like Dr. Clegg's Syrup Peppermint. It costs only 50 cents or $1 at drug stores. It is a great remedy for you to have in the house to every block in the city.

BRYAN GETS A CORDIAL

or of the office. I want a chance to help develop patriotism and want to help enact laws so that our children and our children's children will rise up and call us blessed, as we have made this government in which the people rule.

"Support your state ticket. It bears the burden of the fight and the men on it are working for you and your interests. What are the questions upon which our party stands. They are honest in politics, purity in elections, publication of campaign contributions, discouragement of illegal practices against the people. I believe our committee has done a laudable thing in opening its books. The republican party stands in fear of the people by refusing. It is playing a double game. Out west it is with the farmers and out east it is with the monied interests.

Scores Rockefeller.

"Only last week it began to come out and show where its support comes from. Roosevelt said the Standard Oil company supports me. But with all his secret service he could not find a single one for me. Now here comes John D. and declares Taft's election is necessary to maintain the stability of business. What kind of a business does he run with his licentious hand in the people's pockets buying the elections? And who else is there? Carnegie has said my election would be a tragedy. Who else? There is Harriman, whom the president denounced. Now this undesirable citizen is out for Taft. Yes, Mr. Taft today has an army recuperated from the commercial bedlam. I have not with me a single man who has his hand in the pockets of the people. What republican laborer can longer doubt who is on his side? Can a republican business man doubt where his safety lies? The democratic party offers prosperity for all. What says the laborer? He can't have what he needs. He can't have protection from the banks. It means when a man goes to sleep, if I am elected, his slumbers will not be disturbed by dreams of the bank cashier running away to Canada or the bank president absconding.

"I believe in the protection of the savings of men and women and do not believe in having their savings all swept away in a single night. Our party takes the people's side on this question. We want honest elections, protection of labor, election of senator by the people, tariff revision—why on that word the republicans have a way of making changes. They want to revise it up and down and sideways. Their proposition has height, depth, length, breadth and everything but certainty. They use the word willfully and unlawfully to deceive the voters. Out in Iowa Taft says it probably will be lower but in the east he uses the word with all its ambiguity, whereby they get the campaign contributions and the fellows who give get the laws.

Mr. Bryan left immediately following the address for Newcastle.

In the Bryan party was Stokes Jackson, and he kept things busy shaking hands and jollying the local democratic leaders. He came near to being left at the driver of his carriage started away from the coliseum without him.

One of the men most anxious to shake hands with Mr. Bryan was F. A. Brown, who is connected with the Bee Hive grocery. Mr. Brown and the candidate lived neighbors at Lincoln for fourteen years. Mr. Bryan was Brown's attorney before taking up politics.

A large bouquet of red roses was presented to Mr. Bryan at the coliseum.

Both crowds were orderly and nothing was done to disgrace the city by partisans rowdies.

Panic Idea Ridiculed.

"They say there will be a panic if I am elected. They are arranging for a big parade in New York City. They expect 100,000 people to be in line. They will have great stands and red fire. As they march by they will pass a park, where the other night I saw 300 men sleeping on benches, wrapped only in newspapers. They talk of prosperity to these people, who do not have enough money to buy a place to sleep. There were more failures the first nine months of this year than in 1893. The people are buying 10 per cent less. The bottom has dropped out of the dinner pail. But Taft says, if I am elected there will be a panic and he is proclaiming that as long as his voice holds out. You are all old enough to know the difference between fact and opinion. Now that Taft is a candidate is a fact, but that he will be elected is only an opinion. Do you see the difference? He says there will be a panic if I am elected. Last fall they had a panic without waiting for my election. That is an opinion and a fact. If Taft can prevent a panic next year why couldn't he last year? He was a member of the president's cabinet. Why didn't he tell the president to postpone it a few months so he could say it was my panic? And yet they talk panic and have no plan for relief. On what do they have to build up a permanent prosperity. It is the same kind of a story they had about the full dinner pail eight years ago. They began to get out their old pails and polish them up for use in the parades this year, but the panic came and the fashions changed. The dinner pail was dropped and now they talk the full farm basket. If the republican party controlled the sunshine and the rain there would be a trust in the sunbeams and a negro in the clouds to send the showers. How do I know—by what they have done. You have the coal trust when you want to get warm, the ice trust when you want to cool, the beef trust when you want to eat and the light trust when you want to see. What is there that could be got into their greedy grasp, they have not turned over? Thank God we have the sunshine and the rain and no trust magnates.

"It is now near the end of the campaign and we are having an easy time. The republican papers said if Bryan is elected we will have a nice quiet easy campaign. Along in August they said Bryan always has the country in August, wait until September. Now at last the republicans are getting so scared the president has called out all his cabinet and sent them about the country making speeches. They are trying to save even Ohio for Taft. They have all the officeholders. I have none, they have all the trusts, I have none, they have many of the big newspapers and
