ROYAL RAGE.

A Story of Emperor William II. and His Mother.

In a character sketch of Emperor William II. in the American Magazine Octave Mirbeau tells an interesting story of the Kaiser's relations with his royal mother. The incident was related by Prince Bismarck one night when he had been drinking too much. "And no one," remarks M. Mirbeau, "was more brutally sincere than Bismarck was under the influence of wine." Here is a part of the story:

"The relations between William and his mother, the Empress Frederick, became at last so bitter that William placed spies about her, even in the bedroom of his invalid father."

"Through one of these spies William learned of the existence of a journal which his father had kept for some years. Frederick had a taste for writing, and the fact that there was coldness between him and his son led William to fear that this secret journal might contain some criticism of his conduct."

"The empress, however, was clever enough to conceal the diary before her husband's death. Eluding the surveillance of her son, she sent the papers to her mother, Queen Victoria, or to her brother, then Prince of Wales, I don't remember which."

"Hardly had his father drawn his last breath when William over the dead body performed his first official act."

"It was to demand of his widowed mother the journal, which he termed a 'memorial'."

"The empress feigned ignorance. William insisted. He spoke as master, giving his mother the order to obey. She persisted in declaring that she knew nothing of the papers."

"Well," he commanded, purple with wrath, "you will remain under close arrest until you have obeyed me!"

"Bismarck, arriving at Potsdam two hours after this, found the palace surrounded by squadrons of armed cavalry."

"The emperor, whom he found still exalted, told the old chancellor how he had met the disobedience of his mother."

"And she need not expect pity or consideration until she has obeyed me," he declared. "You understand that, Mr. Chancellor? Until she has obeyed me!"

"The pupil had gone much too far. Bismarck saw at once that the buffoonery continued might mar the whole of William's reign. Later in life, he said, he used to wonder how he kept from laughing in his sovereign's face."

"What he did was to receive William's news with deferential silence and later, when the emperor was calmer, show him that his course was sure to meet with general disapproval. There was a way, he thought, of proceeding much more vigorously and at the same time efficaciously. Why not rather cut down the income of the empress, suspend her appanages?"

"I know her majesty," said the good Bismarck. "She has pride. Forced arrest she can brave out, accepting it as a sort of martyrdom, but the money, sire, the money! Who can resist money?"

"Further, he laid tactical stress upon the probable representations of England. 'Is it really the moment, sire?'"

"The Kaiser, becoming appeased, listened to Bismarck's counsel. The arrest of the empress was removed. The officers led their cavalry back to quarters, and William turned his attention to the details of his father's obsequies, which he wished to be most fastidious."

"The Kaiser of Life."

Infects and children are constantly sending a message. It is important to know what to give them. Their stomachs and bowels are not strong enough for salts, purgative waters or cathartics, powders or pills. Give them a mild, pleasant, gentle, laxative tonic like Dr. Cassell's Liver Pile which sells at 25 cents a bottle or 50 cents a bottle at drug stores. It is the best remedy for you to have in the house for your children.

LUCKY! Just learned that Gold Medal Flour is sold in 50 cent bags through Small's, Richmond.

PENNSY CONTRACT

ON ELECTION EVE

$5,000,000 Plans to Electrify
New York Terminals
Drawn Up.

SHOWS FAITH IN TAFT.

PRESIDENT GEORGE WESTINGHOUSE SAYS THAT ALL HOPE FOR THE ELECTION OF THE OHIOAN TODAY.

New York, Nov. 3.—Plans for complete electrification of the Pennsylvania railroad terminals in this city were announced last night with the signing of a $5,000,000 contract for the work with the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company. This followed an important meeting of the Pennsylvania directors in Philadelphia.

Aside from the importance of the contract for the work it involves, the announcement has a political significance, made known through an interview with President George Westinghouse, who announced the signing of the contract. He said: "It was decided at first not to announce the contract at this time, but after arriving here I telephoned President McCrea of the Pennsylvania."

"Of course, we all hope for the election of Taft, and I thought this would be a good time to show our confidence."

The contract is for the electrification of the entire Pennsylvania system from Harrison, N. J., to Jamaica, L. I. While the initial amount of apparatus will aggregate $5,000,000, this is said by no means to represent the full amount. The system of trolley will probably be overhead, and not the so-called third rail system. The engines to be used will be entirely of a new type, and the most powerful in existence. They will resemble closely the steam locomotive now in use and not the type of short locomotive on the New Haven.

WARRANTS FOR 100

Merciless Campaign Is Being
Waged Against Riders
In Tennessee.

ACTION WAS TAKEN TODAY.

Union City, Tenn., Nov. 3.—Upon the affidavits of James S. Deason, relative of Capt. Quentin Rankin; Hillsman Taylor, son of Col. R. Z. Taylor and J. C. Burdick, owner of the fish docks at Samburg, which once were destroyed by night riders, 300 state warrants for the arrest of 100 alleged night riders were issued today by Justice R. Polk.

There are three sets of warrants against each of the 100 men, and of this number at least two-thirds are already under arrest or parole by the military authorities at Camp Nemo.

At Last!

"If you'll wait a moment," panted the druggist, "I'll attend to your order. I've had a shock. You see the woman going out? Well, she's been living in this neighborhood for about two years. She's been in here nearly every day, and every time she came in she bought stamps—one stamp sometimes, sometimes two, and now and then three or four."

"Then what?" asked the waiting customer.

"Why, just now," faltered the druggist, "she bought a cake of soap."—New York Press.
