

TAFT SMILED ALL THE TIME ON TRIP

Not Once During Long Campaign Journey Did He Show Irritation.

HIS BODY GUARD TALKS.

RELATES LITTLE INCIDENTS OCCURRING ON 18,000 MILE TOUR WHICH MADE TAFT THE NEXT PRESIDENT.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—"Mr. Taft is a wonder—the most genial, well-balanced and biggest man I ever met. The country does not realize how big and able he is, but it will, in time," said James Markham, secretary to Chief of Police Shippy, who has returned after traveling forty-one days with the president-elect as bodyguard. What impressed him most was the remarkable patience and good nature of Mr. Taft under the most trying circumstances.

"We traveled forty-one days, during which Mr. Taft made from three to twenty speeches a day and covered about 18,000 miles, yet during all that time I never saw a frown on his face, and he never showed any irritation," said Mr. Markham. "It would have been a crime to keep Mr. Taft sitting on the front porch of his home without making a campaign in view of the splendid demonstration in his honor in the various states. Whatever else any one may claim, the fact is that Mr. Taft did more to elect himself by his trip, speech and personality than by any other factor."

We had about fifty accidents, including broken platforms, engines off the track, overenthusiastic rushing crowds, but in not one of them was any one injured. This surely is a record which seems miraculous.

People Everywhere for Taft.

Although the trips were strenuous for Mr. Taft they certainly were triumphant journeys, which showed that the people not only wanted him as president, but wanted to see him before voting for him.

"On our way to Indianapolis a small boy hitched on the train fell. He rolled off the railroad trestle and fell into a creek in full view of the nominee's party. We thought surely he was drowned and the train was stopped. Before we had time to get off the railroad right of way and hasten to the creek a little boy with mud to his belt and wet hair to us shouting:

"Please give me some Taft buttons."

We took the boy to the train and Mr. Taft himself gave him a box full of buttons and some change."

"At Wilmington, Del., the crowd was so large it was difficult to keep it in check. It was an open-air meeting and the crowd began to sway to and fro, endangering the safety of many. A little boy was caught in the jam and began crying. Mr. Taft pushed the people aside, picked up the boy, put him over his shoulders and placed him in a safe place upon the platform. The crowd went wild with enthusiasm for the boy clasped Mr. Taft as he would his own father when he rescued him from the perilous place.

Loses Two Vest Buttons.

"At Frankfort, Ky., an enthusiastic admirer of Mr. Taft showed his joy at greeting him in such a demonstrative manner that when he was through Mr. Taft's vest was minus two buttons. The man felt somewhat chagrined.

"When we reached Louisville we found six girls waiting for us. They were on hand to sew the buttons on the vest, and they did. Later they called on Mr. Taft to receive his thanks and tell him that they were honored by the privilege of sewing the buttons on the vest of the next president.

"On the whole, enthusiasm greeted Mr. Taft everywhere. The police of the various cities, irrespective of parties, did splendid work in caring for and protecting Mr. Taft and his party. Every day Mr. Taft was in communication with members of his family, and, although always bubbling over with good cheer, he was happiest when Mrs. Taft joined the party in New York state.

HOPES REFORMS MAY BE ADOPTED

BRYAN SAYS HE HOPES HIS IDEAS MAY YET BE BELIEVED BY AMERICAN PEOPLE.

COMMONER IS GRATEFUL.

THE WAY MILLIONS OF DEMOCRATS HAVE STOOD BY HIM PLEASES—FINDS SOME CONSOURATION IN DEFEAT.

Fairview, Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 6.—W. J. Bryan has issued a statement conceding his defeat by a decisive majority. Mr. Bryan does not say in his statement whether or not he will again be a candidate, but says he hopes that the reforms which he has struggled for will yet command themselves to the American people.

Mr. Bryan says:

"The election has gone against us by a decisive majority. The returns are not all in and it is impossible at the present time to analyze them or to say what causes contributed most to the republican victory. We made our fight on a platform which embodied what we believed to be good for the American people, but it is for the people themselves to decide what laws they desire and what methods of government they prefer.

"I have faith that the publicity which we asked for will yet command itself to the American people; that the election of senators by the people will be secured; that the iniquities of the trust will arouse an opposition that will result in the elimination of the principle of private monopoly. I am confident the people will see the necessity for the labor legislation and the tariff reductions which our platform demanded. I am confident, too, that the educational work done in this campaign will result in securing great protection to bank depositors.

"The above are the most prominent reforms for which we labored and I believe these reforms will yet come together with more effective regulation of railroads and independence for the Filipinos.

"I desire to commend the work of our national committee. I am entirely satisfied with Mr. Mack as the chairman and with the members of the committee. I realize they could not have done more than they did, and as for myself, I put forth every effort in my power to secure victory for our cause. The nomination came from the hands of the voters; I have obeyed their command and have led as best I could.

Doers will not express my gratitude for the devotion which has been shown by millions of democrats during the last twelve years. Neither am I able adequately to express my appreciation for the kind words which have been spoken since the election.

"If I could regard the defeat as purely a personal one, I would consider it a blessing rather than a misfortune, for I am relieved of the burdens and responsibilities of an office that is attractive only in proportion as it gives an opportunity to render a larger public service. But I shall serve as willingly in a private capacity as in a public one. God does not require great things of us; He only requires that we improve the opportunities that are presented, and I shall be glad to improve the opportunities for service presented by private life.

"In this hour of national defeat, I find some consolation in the cordial support given by my neighbors; by the citizens of Lincoln and by the people of the state of Nebraska. With a democratic governor and a democratic legislature, we shall be able to put into practice so much of the Denver platform as relates to state legislation and I trust our state will set an example that will be an influence for good in the nation."

GUFFEY TO LEAD REPUDIATION

PARTY LEADERS ALREADY PLAN TO OVERTHROW THE NEBRASKAN.

THEY FEAR HIS INFLUENCE.

IT WILL BE SWEET REVENGE FOR GUFFEY AFTER HE WAS KICKED OFF NATIONAL DEMOCRATIC COMMITTEE.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 6.—Local democrats are looking to Pennsylvania to take the lead in the repudiation of Bryan as the further leader of the party. It is to take the shape in the election of Colonel James Guffey, of that state, as national committeeman to the vacancy caused by the death of James Kerr, Bryan's friend.

Colonel Guffey was Bryan's friend during two campaigns and showed his personal regard by donating the celebrated stained glass windows which decorate the Bryan home in Lincoln. But when the windows became a matter of gossip Mr. Bryan took umbrage, and, not content by writing his former friend a severe lecture, used his control of the Denver convention to throw Guffey off the national committee.

Now, however, conditions are radically changed. Bryan is a beaten man. There is a vacancy in the committee from Pennsylvania which must be filled by the state committee. That committee is most friendly to Guffey. So the man whom Bryan humiliated is now in shape to reassert himself at home, and his return to the governing body of the party will be recognized as a distinct slap at Mr. Bryan.

Fear the "Private Citizen." But, while this happening will give some personal satisfaction to the democratic managers who think the only hope for their party lies in the total elimination of Bryan, it comes a long way from what they would like to accomplish. Bryan's public statement that, while beaten for president, he will still work as a private citizen for his country's good was interpreted by them as meaning that he would still remain a factor in the party.

In fact, the private talk among all the practical politicians among the democratic managers here is there is little use in talking over plans for 1912 now. It is possible in the next four years new issues may arise and new men come along which will change the situation. A united party they regard as impossible so long as Bryan is around, even if he is simply a "private citizen."

All the anti-Bryan democrats point to the fact that Bryan ran behind his ticket all over the country as proof that as a candidate he is impossible.
