

SOCIALISM WORST EVIL IN WORLD

Chicago Minister Says It Is Worse in United States
Than in Europe.

PERIL TO THE INDIVIDUAL.

GUNSAULUS SAYS ABSOLUTE
EQUALITY WILL BE REACHED
AT EXPENSE OF QUALITY—DOCT-RINE WRECKED IN EUROPE.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 9.—Socialism and individualism were vigorously contrasted by the Rev. Frank Gunsaulus at the Central church in the Auditorium Sunday. The minister declared that in his opinion socialism is one of the worst evils that threaten the world and that the danger from this source is more grave in the United States than in any other country.

"We are told that we are living in an age of commercialism; that our next step must be socialism," he said. "There seems never to have been a moment when we were so willing to adjourn to the government our tasks and duties. The danger is that the socialistic creed may be adopted before we have the individual with a moral power necessary for that state."

"Socialism in France has gone to pieces. In Germany it has received a repelling blow. It is making no advance in England. We stand more in danger of it than any other country. Our dangers in America are from the academic circles and writers.

Means Loss of Personality.

"America is personally incarnate. Personalism founded our new continent. Our country was peopled by men who sought individualism. George Washington was a millionaire, a monopolist, if you will. He was the richest man in America, yet it was his individualism that won for us our country and government, not the government that made him. Socialism would seek to take all such as he and Franklin and cut them off at the top, trim them to suit all other men, chop them down in brain and heart, and courage. This is the last class of men the world could get without."

"Government has seemed to me the most subtle and difficult of all fine arts. It was a simple thing in the era of barbarism for one big savage to beat into submission his weaker creatures. Despotism, too, was acceptable to ignorance. Government never can be satisfied until it rests on something higher. A social organization is a political machine that shall compel the strong to yield that which will make the weak stronger."

CHANCELLOR, NEW JOB FOR BRYAN

Movement on Foot to Give Him
Place in U. of N.

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 9.—The suggestion that W. J. Bryan be appointed chancellor of the University of Nebraska, made vacant by the retirement of E. Benjamin Andrews, finds general favor. It is not known if Mr. Bryan would accept it and it is said he has not been approached on the subject.

Promoters of the plan, however, believe he would accept and his presence on the board would be a big card for the university.

It is understood the student body is anxious for Mr. Bryan's appointment, but the board of regents is solidly republican and politics may cut a big figure in the matter.

CHIEF OBLIGATION CARE OF CHILDREN

Zueblin Says It Should Be the Chief Occupation.

Chicago, Nov. 9.—An attack on marriage as a means for women to obtain support for themselves and their children, was made by Prof. Charles Zueblin Sunday in a lecture on "Education and Life," before the Society for Ethical Culture.

"We must teach all our children the meaning of sex and our girls the meaning of motherhood," he said. "Our chief obligation in this life is the care of children. It should be our chief occupation; it comes ahead of any spiritual satisfaction. There is no other equal to the enjoyment of the care of children."

"If the average woman is blessed with the maternal instinct, why should she not satisfy it? She is dependent on being able to marry a man, a man whom she may or may not love, a man who may or may not support her properly."

Always the Ambition of John W. Kern's Life to Secure Seat in the Senate

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 9.—John W. Kern, the recent democratic candidate for vice president, who has been fighting the battles of democracy in Indiana since 1870, is a candidate for the United States senatorship to succeed Senator Hammenway. Mr. Kern himself confirms the forecast of his probable candidacy and says that to be honored with a seat in the highest lawmaking body of the country has been his life-long ambition.

On being asked relative to his attitude as to the senatorship, Mr. Kern said:

"I have always had an ambition to represent Indiana in the senate of the United States and in making the hopeless race for governor in 1904 and in taking the vice presidential nomination against my desire and inclination this year, with little chance of success, I did so with the hope that if the legislature should be democratic I might be favored with an election to the senate and the gratification of a life ambition."

"I have received many offers of support from members of the legislature and hundreds of democrats from every part of the state are urging me to announce my candidacy."

"I have concluded to say to the democratic members of the general assembly that an election to this honorable position would be highly gratifying to me and that if their constituents favor my election I would be pleased to have their support."

RALLY SERVICES LARGELY ATTENDED

Fifth Street M. E. Church Has Big Day.

The all day rally services that were held at the Fifth Street M. E. church yesterday proved to be successful. The attendance was the largest ever attending services of similar character it being estimated that there were fully three or four hundred people at the various meetings.

At the Sunday school held in the morning, the attendance was unusually large. Church services were conducted by the Rev. J. Cook Graham pastor of the church. The congregation then adjourned to the church dining room where all enjoyed a bountiful repast served by the ladies of the church.

At 2:30 in the afternoon the Rev. Kenna of the Third M. E. church preached a short sermon which was followed by a very interesting talk by the Rev. Shaw of Cadiz, Ind., who is conducting the revival services at the Third church.

In the evening the Rev. R. J. Wade of the First M. E. church preached the sermon and the Rev. J. Cook Graham preached at the First church.

BURGLARS ROB HOME OF $10,000

Cover Members of Family
With Guns.

New York, Nov. 9.—With the piercing ray of a burglar's dark lantern shining in their eyes and two revolvers held by masked men covering them, the five members of the family of Charles E. Tayntor, a wealthy granite dealer, lay in bed in the Tayntor home at Borough Park, Brooklyn, for more than an hour this morning while a third masked burglar packed up $10,000 worth of jewelry and silverware. Then the burglars bound Mr. Tayntor hand and foot and escaped with their booty.

Poisonous Nettles of the Tropics. In tropical regions there are nettles far more powerful than that of our own country.

The one called Urtica stimulans, which is found in Java, and that called Laportea crenulata, found in Hindustan, when bruised emit an effluvia which poisonously affects the eyes and mouth and if handled produce convulsions and serious swelling and pain in the arms, which may last for three or four weeks and in some cases cause death.—London Telegraph.

The Girl of the Period. Having greater liberty, greater self reliance, better health, larger opportunities, the girl of the period, with all her drawbacks, is a finer and a better creature than either her mother or her grandmother.—T. P. O'Connor in London M. A. P.

Comprehensive. "Hubby, is my hat on straight?" "Well, if your hat is, your hair isn't, and if your hair is, then there's something askew about your hat."—New York Journal.

One Better. Englishman (in British museum)—This book, sir, was once owned by Cicero. American Tourist—Pshaw, that's nothing. Why, in one of our American museums we have the lead pencil with which Noah used to check off the animals as they came out of the ark.

Exclusive. "Now that your son's in college, I suppose he'll be getting exclusive; he'll be getting into the Four Hundred." "Oh, he's more exclusive than that; he's on the nine already."—Exchange.

Two Widows and Two Affinities in Cells as Result of Parallel Crimes

East St. Louis, Ill., Nov. 9.—A striking case of parallel crimes is found in two murders here, one of them the killing of William Calhoun by Charles George, the other the killing of John Bell by Rainey Johnson. The first affair occurred Friday night, the second Sunday morning.

In each case the husband objected to attentions shown his wife and was killed during a quarrel with her alleged affinity.

In each case the husband objected to the two widows are trying to console each other. In another cell the two alleged affinities are comparing notes and laying out a line of defense. Both husbands were shot through the heart dying instantly, and in each case the husband made an attack which establishes a self-defense plea that will probably clear the alleged affinities. One husband was buried Sunday and the other is at the morgue awaiting the coroner's inquest.

The Sick Man and the Lawyer. The sick man had called his lawyer. "I wish to explain again to you," said he weakly, "about willing my property."

The attorney held up his hand reassuringly. "There, there," said he. "Leave that all to me."

The sick man sighed resignedly. "I suppose I might as well," said he, turning upon his pillow; "you'll get it anyway."—Judge.

Why Johnny Ate Them. Mrs. Billus (after the company had gone)—Johnny, you shouldn't have eaten those preserved fruits. They were not intended to be eaten. They were put on the table to fill up Johnny Billus.—Well, that's what I used 'em for, mamma.

To Eat, of Course. Grocer—Do you want apples to cook or to eat? Small Boy—Both. That's what we cook 'em for.—Baltimore American.

Do the duty which lieth nearest to thee. Thy second duty will have already become clearer.—Carlyle.

And She Believed It. "Henry," said his wife, "what do you need to take so many bottles along for when you're only going fishing?" "So we can have something to cork up messages in and throw overboard."—Car.

No Business Depression. "Is your business good?" asked the burglar of the counterfeiter. "Good," repeated the counterfeiter. "Well, I should say it is. I have been just coining money."

A Woman's No. "Of course two negatives make an affirmative." "But when there is a woman in the case one is sufficient."—New York Press.

There is no knowledge that is not power.—Emerson.

LAST MEETING HELD

State Convention of Y. W. C. A. Came to a Close Sunday.

MRS. HELM THE SPEAKER.

The state convention of the Young Women's Christian Association adjourned last evening after a farewell meeting at the Reid Memorial church. It was one of the most successful state conventions ever held in Indiana.

At the meeting last evening "Circling the Globe" was the subject of a very interesting paper read by Mrs. Verling Helm, of Greencastle, Ind. Mrs. Helm has been an untiring worker in the interests of the Y. W. C. A. She has been both the general secretary of Y. W. C. A. in Maine and also in San Francisco. Before the death of her husband the two were in the far east and spent most of their time in Japan and China where they helped organize different associations. On the death of Mr. Helm in Japan, Mrs. Helm returned to America and is now at the head of the Greencastle Y. W. C. A. and a member of the state committee of the association. She has a high education and is a very interesting and fluent talker. She discussed at length the need of the Y. W. C. A.'s in the Orient.

Previous to the address by Mrs. Helm, Miss Dettie Walker of DePauw university introduced resolutions into the convention which were unanimously adopted. They expressed the thanks of the delegates for the royal manner in which they have been entertained during their stay in Richmond, to the press for its liberal support and to the visiting secretaries, and trustees of the Reid Memorial church and all others who have helped in any way to make the meeting a success.

ROOSEVELT SPEAKS IN DEFENSE OF TAFT'S RELIGION

All good Americans are proud, then it would be equally proper to support or oppose a man because of his views on justification by faith, or the method of administering the sacrament, or the gospel of salvation by works. If you once enter on such a career there is absolutely no limit at which you can legitimately stop.

"So much for your objections to Mr. Taft because he is a Unitarian. Now for your objections to him because you think his wife and brother to be Roman Catholics. As it happens they are not; but if they were, or if he were a Roman Catholic himself, it ought not to affect in the slightest degree any man's supporting him for the position of president."

"You say that the mass of voters that are not Catholics will not support a man for any office, especially for president of the United States, who is a Roman Catholic."

A Slander on Americans. "I believe that when you say this you foully slander your fellow countrymen. I do not for one moment believe that the mass of our fellow citizens, or that any considerable number of our fellow citizens, can be influenced by such narrow bigotry as to refuse to vote for any thoroughly upright and fit man because he happens to have a particular religious creed."

"Such a consideration should never be treated as a reason for either supporting or opposing a candidate for a political office. Are you aware that there are several states in this union where the majority of the people are now Catholics? I should reprobate in the severest terms the Catholics who in those states (or in any other states) refused to vote for the most fit man because he happened to be a Protestant; and my condemnation would be exactly as severe for Protestants who, under reversal circumstances, refused to vote for a Catholic."

"In public life I am happy to say that I have known many men who were elected, and constantly re-elected to office in districts where the great majority of their constituents were of a different religious belief. I know Catholics who have for many years represented constituencies mainly Protestant, and Protestants who have for many years represented constituencies mainly Catholic; and among the Congressmen whom I know particularly well was one man of Jewish faith who represented a district in which there were hardly any Jews at all. All of these men by their very existence in political life refute the slander you have uttered against your fellow Americans."

He Never Discriminated. "I believe that this republic will ensure for many centuries. If so, there will doubtless be among its Presidents, Protestants and Catholics, and, very probably at some time, Jews. I have consistently tried while President to act in relation to my fellow Americans of Catholic faith as I hope that any future President who happens to be a Catholic will act toward his fellow Americans of Protestant faith. Had I followed any other course I should have felt that I was unfit to represent the American people."

"In my Cabinet at the present moment there sit side by side Catholic and Protestant, Christian and Jew, each man chosen because in my belief he is peculiarly fitted to exercise on behalf of all our people the duties of the office to which I have appointed him. In no case does the man's religious belief in any way influence his discharge of his duties, save as it makes him more eager to act justly and uprightly in his relations to all men."

"The same principles that have obtained in appointing the members of my Cabinet, the highest officials under me, the officials to whom is intrusted the work of carrying out all the important policies of my Administration, are the principles upon which all good Americans should act in choosing, whether by election or appointment, the man to fill any office from the highest to the lowest in the land."

"Yours truly,
"THEODORE ROOSEVELT.
"Mr. J. C. Martin, corner Fourth and Jefferson streets, Dayton, Ohio."

A TEST OF NERVE.

One of the Ways in Which Indians
Duel to the Death.

Among the Indian tribes the method of fighting duels differs. There are some tribes where a challenge to a duel means inevitably that both men must die. When an Indian feels aggrieved he demands a combat. The day for the same is fixed far in advance and is made the occasion of a little celebration. The entire tribe assembles. The braves sit in a circle, behind them their squaws and the young bucks.

The offended man is armed with a rifle or a shotgun. The challenged principal is unarmed. At a word both men arise and face each other, the unarmed man baring his breast to the bullet of his adversary. With eyes riveted on the little round hole at the end of the barrel pointed at him, the doomed man must face the protracted ordeal of expecting death at any instant without the least sign of weakening. The executioner may hold his gun as long as he pleases in order to try to break down his enemy. He may raise it and lower it or hold it steadily on the man under the frightful strain, but not even with an eyelid must the unfortunate betray his anxiety. At last the gun cracks, and the bullet speeds its way and the victim lies dying. The slayer hands the weapon to relative or a friend of the deceased and is put through the same ordeal.
