Theaters and Dance Halls

Cause of Domestic Troubles

Theaters, dance halls and places of amusement at Indianapolis, are blamed by Charles R. Thornburg, of Cambridge City, for his domestic troubles. These agencies so influenced his wife while the couple resided at the capital city that she neglected her home and child and sought the company of other men, whom she entertained at her home at night, when her husband was at work. These are among the allegations in the complaint for divorce filed by Thornburg's attorney in the Wayne circuit court today. The wife's name is Geneva and the husband alleges she is not a fit person to be entrusted with the custody of a minor child. This the father seeks in addition to the divorce decree.

Thornburg avers his wife has been guilty of cruel and inhuman treatment and that while residing at Indianapolis she failed and neglected to prepare meals for him. He says she treated him unkindly and otherwise violated her marriage vows.

CARED NOT FOR HIS LITTLE TOTS

Calvin Jenkins Is Sued for Divorce.

Claiming Calvin Jenkins has been guilty of failure to provide for more than two years and is an habitual drunkard, Stella Jenkins has entered suit for divorce from him in the Wayne circuit court. Mrs. Jenkins resides at Cambridge City. She asks the custody of the children and that the father be required to help support and educate them.

MIXED THE SIGNS.

Sarasate and the Sandwich Men in Edinburgh.

To advertise Sarasate's performances in Edinburgh eight sandwich men were sent out, each of whom bore in front and behind him one letter of the great musician's name. They started all right, but after a time removed the boards from their shoulders to have a rest.

On resuming their labors each man shouldered the board nearest him and fell in behind the man who had formerly marched before him.

When the leader, who bore the initial "S," turned around to see if his men were ready, what he saw was "Sarasate." He knew enough to realize that something was wrong, but how to right it was more than he could tell.

After changing a man here and there he got it "Sarasate." But still it didn't seem correct.

By this time the poor fellow was in a terrible state. If any of their employers' people were on the outlook and could see them, their day's wage would be stopped. He tried again and yet again, but it was no use.

And a moment later a man bearing the letter "S" before and behind was seen running toward the music hall to copy down the name from one of the posters there. And along the right side of Princeton street there walked toward the appointed rendezvous at the Mound three men who bore the strange device "A A E." while opposite them there paced along the left side gutter four others, who, if to advertise means to attract attention, succeeded well, for every one who passed looked around in wondering amazement as to what "Rats" meant.—Edinburgh Dispatch.

OVERLOADED CAR DELAYS TRAFFIC

Material to Be Used on Freight Line Brought Here.

An overloaded construction car of the Terre Haute, Indianapolis & Eastern traction company caused a delay of traffic and tied up both the local and interurban system this morning. The car was loaded with material to be used in the new construction work on the proposed freight line and was unable to make the Main street hill. It was necessary to unload some of the material at First street before the car could make the ascent.

Too Much for the Ferret.

An old buck rabbit is not to be lightly tackled by weasel, stoat or even ferret. On the sanded floor of a small public house a ferret of long experience was matched with an old lop eared buck, the property of the landlord. The ferret made straight for the rabbit's throat, but the latter was in the air before master ferret could reach him and, leaping clean over the ferret's head, let out with those powerful hind legs of his a kick which hurled the ferret bodily against the wainscot. Twice the ferret returned to the attack, and twice he missed his grip and went hurtling through the air. The third repulse was enough for him. He knew he was beaten and could not be persuaded to stand up for a fourth round.—Pearson's Weekly.

Brilliant Fish Hues.

Like birds, many fishes assume their brightest hue when they wish to attract the opposite sex of their species. The colors of the male common pike become exceedingly intense, brilliant and iridescent in the breeding season. The eel also puts on an intense silvery blue at the breeding time which is very noticeable and at one time caused naturalists to distinguish it as a distinct species. The males of the tench, roach and perch also show a marked increase in brilliancy in the breeding season.

Mental Arithmetic.

"Two years ago I asked Aunt Jane to visit us for a fortnight, and she has not gone home yet."

"It's a blessing."

"What's a blessing?"

"That you didn't invite her for a month."—Harper's Weekly.

A Blunt Excuse.

There is a story of an English clergyman who had taken temporary duty for a friend and who had the ill luck to injure his false teeth during the week. The plate was sent to the dentist for repairs, a faithful assurance being given that it should be returned by Sunday's post, but the dentist or the post proved faithless.

With the assistance of the clerk the clergyman managed to stumble through the prayers, but felt it would be useless to attempt to preach. He therefore instructed the clerk to make some excuse for him and dismiss the congregation. But his feelings may be better imagined than described when, in the seclusion of the vestry, he overheard the clerk in impressive tones thus deliver the excuse:

"Parson is very sorry, but it is his misfortune to be obliged to wear a set of artificial teeth. They busted last Wednesday, and he ain't got them back from London today, as he was promised. I've helped him all I could through the service, but I can't do more for him. 'Tisn't any use for him going up in the pulpit. For you wouldn't understand a word he said, so he thinks you all may as well go home."

LARGE CROWDS AT JONES HEARING

Whitewater Doctor Is Accused Of Operating "Blind Tiger."

THE JURY IS SELECTED.

ARREST OF JONES FOLLOWED A RAID MADE UPON HIS PLACE OF BUSINESS ONE SUNDAY IN AUGUST.

The largest crowd that has attended a trial in the Wayne circuit court for many months was present this morning when the case of the State vs. Dr. Arthur H. Jones was called for trial. Jones, who is a physician and grocer at Whitewater, is charged with keeping a place for the unlawful sale of intoxicating liquors and for being found unlawfully in possession of intoxicating liquors kept for the purpose of sale. He is being prosecuted under the statutes guarding against the commonly called "blind tiger."

The examination of the jury occupied considerable time. Each juror was asked by the attorney for the state if he is in the habit of using intoxicants. Five men stated they never use liquor, four said they use it occasionally or whenever they want it, and three said they use it for medicinal purposes only. The defense excused Benjamin Duke for cause, George Perry, who said he never uses liquor, and Francis McMinn, of Center township. The jury as finally decided upon is composed of Jeremiah Myers, Willard Williams, James Jackson, James Ladd, V. J. Sloan, William Reiser, E. F. Deltmeyer, Francis Clevenger, Harmon Wolke, Emmet Druley, James Gardner and William Plummer.

The arrest of Jones followed the raid of his place of business by Sergeant McManus and Patrol Driver Roberts, of the local police force, upon a search warrant August 13. A great quantity of wines, beers and whiskies was found at the store. It is expected the defense will try to prove the presence of these goods was legal by asserting that the beer was purchased for a picnic crowd. A representative of the local brewery is expected to be a witness to this effect. The presence of the whiskey and wine may be explained, according to the defense, by the fact Jones is a practicing physician and as such is entitled to have these liquors in his possession for medicinal purposes.

About twenty witnesses have been subpoenaed. The majority is from Franklin township. For many years there have been rumors that a blind tiger was being operated by Jones and citizens of Franklin township, who have been concerned in these reports, will have the chance to tell the jury what they know of the authenticity of the various rumors.

Jones appeared in the court room in company with his wife, sister, little son and other relatives. His case is being defended by Byram Robbins, as counsel. The prosecuting attorney is attending to the state's evidence. The first witness placed upon the stand was William G. White, a resident of Franklin township. He located Whitewater and told, also, of the location of the Jones place of business.

Shetland Ponies.

The Shetland pony trade has somewhat deteriorated of late years. In bygone days a crofter could count upon getting from £6 to £8 for a horse foal, but now these animals are practically unsalable unless they are "pedigreed." The Shetland pony is celebrated in every country and is much superior in symmetry of form, fleetness and sagacity to the same class of animals in Norway, the Faroe Islands and Iceland. Ponies coming from the islands of Unst and Fetlar are considered the finest and usually bring the highest prices. Those of the latter island are a cross between the genuine "sheltie" and the Arabian horse. They are beautiful little animals, but wild and difficult to train.—World's Work.

The bank at Bremen, Kan., having been burned, experts in the Treasury Department at Washington have figured out that a quart of ashes sent on for redemption will be worth about $4,000.

How Field Apologized.

While in a peculiar mood one day Stephen J. Field severely reprimanded Page Henry McCall for an offense of which the page was innocent. But the member of the highest court in the land could not be persuaded that his course was not the correct one. McCall left humiliated, but he was a little gentleman and held his peace.

Later in the day Justice Field sent for McCall.

"Come to my house at 7 o'clock this evening," was all he said. With mingled feelings of doubt and despair the page called at the Field residence at the time specified, was ushered into the jurist's library and told to hold the books which Mr. Field began without explanation or ceremony to take from the shelves.

When the veteran lawyer had put about fifteen volumes in Page McCall's arms he gruffly remarked:

"Henry, I'm very sorry for the way I treated you today. I realize that my conduct was unwarranted, and I beg your pardon. Here are some choice books. Keep them as a nucleus for your library. Keep them, young man, and keep your temper, too, whatever you do. Good night!"

HOLD! HOLD! HOLD!

Talks on Tailoring.

If you buy a "good" ready-made—say a Rogers-Peet—you'll pay $35 to $40 for it. And it won't fit you even then. It will have to be altered, and at no stage of the game will it be satisfactory.

If you buy the bargain "guessfit"—the $18 to $25 kind—you'll get a nice juicy lemon. After a couple of week's wear it'll look like a two-spot.

We all know that it pays to look prosperous.

The well dressed man has the floor every time.

There is a mistaken idea among men generally that it costs a small fortune to have clothes made to order. It depends who your tailor is.

For $15.00, $18.00 or $20.00 I'll make you a suit or overcoat the equal of any other tailor's production for $8.00 to $10.00 more—a garment that I'll guarantee to you in every respect.

Call in and see my Fall and Winter fabrics and let me demonstrate that I make as good clothes as any tailor hereabouts and save you from $8.00 to $10.00 on every order.

Remember, with every order I give my warrant of absolute "satisfaction or no pay."

Yours truly,

O. C. KRONE,
