

CURB ON MONARCH

Reichstag Would Place Power to Declare War in Own Hands.

WILL DEBATE IN DECEMBER

Berlin, Nov. 23.—The debate in the Reichstag on the motions introduced by the Socialists and Radicals demanding changes in the constitution with the object of making the chancellor and ministers responsible to parliament, and giving the sole power to the Reichstag to declare war will probably begin on December 2. The debate is expected to last one day, or two at the most.

The advanced Liberals, whose aim is to convert the German political system into a government responsible to Parliament, do not anticipate much from the present Reichstag, because in the days when feeling ran the highest the party leaders would not agree to urge even the simplest resolution of censure or inquiry. The radicals and socialists count upon making their first great campaign in the elections of 1912, unless the house is dissolved sooner.

THREATENED LIFE OF CONDUCTOR

Ohio Woman Taken From D. & W. Car.

Eldorado, O., Nov. 23.—Mrs. Robert Schilling of West Alexandria, Preble county, was taken before Probate Judge Brumbaugh, at Eaton, to have her sanity determined. She was put off a Dayton & Western traction car and given over to the village authorities, who lodged her in jail. She became involved in a violent quarrel with the conductor of the car, when she suddenly drew from the folds of her coat a nasty looking gun, with which she proposed to annihilate him. Mrs. Schilling's disappearance from her home some time since very suddenly and was absent more than a month. Grief over the loss of a little child is supposed to be responsible for her alleged mental affliction.

FARMER RUN OVER IN COVERED BRIDGE

Franklin County Farmer Jolted From His Wagon.

Brookville, Ind., Nov. 22.—Abe Updike, a wealthy farmer, while returning home from selling a load of hogs, was jolted off the spring seat as his team was entering a covered bridge. He clung to the lines and double tree until dragged entirely through, when his hold failed and the wheels ran over him. He lay unconscious for two hours until found by a passing automobile.

Numerous buggies passed as he lay in the entry of the bridge and appearances indicate that they ran over him. He was removed to his home and may recover.

WAR IN BALKANS CAN BE AVOIDED

Foreign Ministers Propose a Congress.

Rome, Nov. 23.—Signor Tittoni, Italian foreign minister; M. Milovanovich, Serbian foreign minister, and M. Barriere, French ambassador, had a lengthy conference on the situation in the Balkans. They reached the conclusion that war could be avoided and the proposed international congress would settle satisfactorily all pending questions.

Acknowledge It.

Richmond Has to Bow to the Inevitable—Scores of Citizens Prove It.

After reading the public statement of this representative citizen of Richmond, given below, you must come to this conclusion: A remedy which cured years ago, which has kept the kidneys in good health since, can be relied upon to perform the same work in other cases. Read this: Mrs. Edgar S. Mote, of 24 South 20th street, Richmond, Ind., says: "Some years ago my husband was having a great deal of trouble with his back, and there was a dull pain across the kidney region that bothered him most of the time. He was finally told about Doan's Kidney Pills and got a supply at A. G. Luken & Co's drug store. After taking them he never again complained of backache. He recommends Doan's Kidney Pills as a splendid kidney remedy and has told several people of the benefit he derived through using them."

NEW PHILLIPS.

Vaudeville all week.

Vaudeville—New Phillips.

Swan's alligators, are the main attraction at the New Phillips this week. The alligator is an exceptionally vicious and obstreperous animal, and one that is hard to train. The danger element is never lacking in the Swan act. Mr. Bert Swan, himself the champion deep sea diver of England, has wrestling contests with his animals in the water, and does other acts of daring that the average mortal would shrink from the thought of. There are six other big acts at the play house this week, including Nancy Lee Rice, the dancing harpist, Nick and Lida Russel, in "The Professor's substitute," and Lou Hanvey and Shines Baylies, in a high class musical and comedy number.

"A Message From Mars"—Gennett.

It seems to be an accepted fact that a girl has a perfect right to go back on the man to whom she is engaged to be married, when she becomes convinced that he is afflicted with the sin of egotism and selfishness. That is a part of the story in "A Message from Mars," the famous comedy drama which will be seen here at the Gennett Theater Matinee and night, Nov. 24. Selfish men do find women who will marry them, but it is generally believed that the girl is deceived until too late. Some lawyers say that selfishness is the cause for more divorce suits than any other ten reasons that might be assigned. The author of "A Message from Mars" built his play wisely, in that he made it on high lines and dealt with conditions as they really exist.

"Servant in the House"—Gennett.

George Wilson, who plays the Bishop of Lancashire in "The Servant in the House," developed his wonderful talent for character acting in the famous old Boston Stock. He was intimately acquainted with John Stetson, the millionaire owner of the old Boston Globe theater. "Stetson," says Wilson, "was nearly always besieged by some of his wife's relatives in search of a position. He appointed one of them as ticket receiver in the upper gallery. One night an East Boston tough tried to force his way in without paying. The new man attempted to stop him and was promptly thrown down the steps. The victim limped into the lobby and reported the affair to Stetson."

"What's become of the man who threw you down the steps?" queried the manager. "He's in the gallery now," was the answer. "Do you mean to say that you have let him go in without paying, and coolly come to tell me about it," yelled Stetson. "What could I do," expostulated the in-law relative. "What would you do, Mr. Stetson, if you were there and saw a big burly brute pick me up and throw me down a long flight of steps?" "What would do?" echoed Stetson. "Why I should discharge you and hire him on the spot."

"The First Violin"—Gennett.

Very interesting are some of the characters in "The First Violin." After "Eugene Courvelsier," and "May Wedderburn" which are well remembered, one calls to mind "Frou Smidt," the funny Dutch landlady who presides over the quarters occupied by "Eugene," and who has taken such a great liking to Eugene's little boy, "Sigamund." "Sigamund" too, is a lovable little chap and "Karl Linders," the gossipy musician, who mixes things up with no ability to rectify. Then there's Fredel, the loyal friend and room-mate of Eugene's who's salary is so small that his economy brings him to a point of hunger and 'May Wedderburn's' sister 'Adelaide' who marries in haste 'Old Sir Peter LeMarchant' and then repents at leisure.

"Old Sir Peter" too, is surely a queer but humorous type of fanatic villain. While "Boltzman" the German porter in the railroad station of act first provides a type of unusual interest from a theatrical standpoint, inasmuch as the actor who plays him, must speak the lines in pure German and with a bluster that is most amusing. A performance of the play in this city is set for November 28, matinee and night at the Gennett theater.

Hoyt's "A Bunch of Keys"—Gennett.

Mr. Chas. Hoyt has ever yielded a keen but kindly pen in satirizing the fads of everyday life, but in none of them has he been happier than in the satire of hotel life, in this comedy from the entrance of the harum scarum Teddy to the final curtain, he displays his keen wit and plays on the many eccentricities seen in the daily hotel life. The company presenting the most successful comedy, is one of the best that has ever been seen in it and the management promises the engagement to be the laughing event of the season at Gennett theater soon.

An Adventure.

The skyscraper had at last reached the limit.

"You are quite a traveler, I fear," remarked the man who lived on the ninety-sixth floor of the Skysky hotel.

"Yes," replied the man who lived on the one hundred and thirty-sixth floor. "Though less than forty years old, I have already visited every floor in this building."—Kansas City Times.

PRETTY WIDOW SLAYS MERCHANT

She Will Escape as Assault Was Attempted.

Dublin, Ga., Nov. 23.—In defense of her honor Mrs. Rosie B. Davis, a handsome young widow, shot W. L. Tillery a leading business man of this section, inflicting a wound from which her assailant died in a few hours.

According to Mrs. Davis she was alone when Tillery forced his way into the house. She retreated to her room and seized a pistol. She warned him, but he seized her in his arms and as he did so she fired, the bullet striking him near the heart. Tillery leaves a family. Public sympathy is with Mrs. Davis and she will not be prosecuted.
