Rice and Field Workmen Are Those That Died—Number Of Americans on Board Is Not Yet Known.

LIBERTY MEN ON FLEET KEPT ASHORE.

Admiral Sperry Orders Sailors
Not to Attempt to Board
Vessels During a Vicious Storm.

Manila, Nov. 28.—The steamer Pontang, carrying a large number of laborers from Narvacan to the rice fields in Pangasinan Province, struck a rock and sank last night during a storm off the town of San Fernando, in Union Province. It is estimated that 100 of the passengers and crew were drowned. The steamer Vagaya rescued 55.

A patrol of Constabulary, which was established immediately after the accident, picked up 15 bodies and many were coming ashore. It is not known whether any Americans or Europeans were aboard the steamer.

The storm last night kept the liberty men from the Atlantic fleet ashore all night. The waters of the bay were exceedingly rough and Rear Admiral Sperry sent a wireless message ashore to the effect that they should not attempt to return to their ships until weather conditions were more favorable, and directed them to go to the halls of the local Y. M. C. A. and the Knights of Columbus, where provisions were made to take care of them. All were taken to their respective ships this morning in three large coast guard vessels.

The storm kept a majority of the officers of the fleet from attending the reception given by Governor General Smith. Only about a dozen officers who were ashore before the storm broke, attended today's entertainment feature, which included a military hippodrome, football and basketball games and free theatrical performances, and concluded with a reception to the officers by the Army and Navy club tonight.

Charcoal Removes Stomach Poisons

Pure Charcoal Will Absorb One Hundred Times Its Volume In Poisonous Gases.

Charcoal was made famous by the old monks of Spain, who cured all manner of stomach, liver, blood and bowel troubles by this simple remedy.

One little nervous Frenchman held forth its virtues before a famous convention of European physicians and surgeons. Sechevron was his name. He was odd, quaint and very determined. His brothers in medicine laughed at his claims. Thereupon he swallowed two grains of strychnine, enough to kill three men, and ate some charcoal. The doctors thought him mad, but he did not even have to go to bed. The charcoal killed the effects of the strychnine and Sechevron was famous. Ever since that day physicians have used it. Run impure water through charcoal and you have a pure delicious drink.

Bad breath, gastritis, bowel gases, torpid liver, impure blood, etc., give way before the action of charcoal.

It is really a wonderful adjunct to nature and is a most inexhaustible storehouse of health to the man or woman who suffers from gases or impurities of any kind.

Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges are made of pure willow charcoal, sweetened to a palatable state with honey.

Two or three of them cure an ordinary case of bad breath. They should be used after every meal, especially if one's breath is prone to be impure.

These little lozenges have nothing to do with medicine. They are held sweet, fresh willow, burned to a nicety for charcoal making and fragrant honey, the product of the bee. Thus every ingredient comes to man from the lap of nature.

The only secret lies in the Stuart process of compressing these simple substances into a hard tablet or lozenge, so that age, evaporation or decay may not assail their curative qualities.

You may take as many of them as you wish and the more you take the quicker will you remove the effects of bad breath and impurities arising from a decayed or decaying meal. They assist digestion, purify the blood and help the intestines and bowels throw off all waste matter.

Go to your druggist at once and buy a package of Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges, price 25 cents. You will soon be told by your friends that your breath is not so bad as it was. Send us your name and address and we will send you a trial package by mail free. Address F. A. Stuart Co., 200 Stuart Bldg., Marshall, Mich.

"KANSAS CYCLONE" MAY CONVERT SCOTCH

CARRIE NATION.

The woman who was a few years ago a terror to the saloonists of her home town in Kansas, she taking her little hatchet and demolishing many of their places of business, has sailed from New York for Scotland on the avowed mission of "Driving the hell holes from Scotland." Considerable speculation attaches to her probable actions and the manner which she will be dealt with if she pursues the same course there as she did in this country and her home state.

WANTS FORECLOSURE

Case of Winchester Trust Company Against Camp-field Heard Today.

MANY ATTORNEYS IN COURT

The case of the People's Loan and Trust Company of Winchester vs. Edwin M. Campfield, was on trial in the Wayne circuit court today. The trust company seeks to foreclose a mortgage. Because of claims held against the defendant by the Harsh Coal Company, and the Jones Hardware Company, the attorneys for these concerns, asked to have their clients admitted as co-defendants in the case.

This is the original suit on foreclosure of mortgage that brought about the appointment of a receiver for the Colonial building in this city last March. It was but a short time after the Dickinson Trust company was appointed receiver, that the building was partially destroyed by fire. It has since been rebuilt in part.

The trust company was represented by James P. Goodrich, Campfield by John L. Rupe, the Jones Hardware company by Wilfred Jessup and the Harsh Coal company by Shiveley & Shiveley.

CATHOLIC SERVICES

Forty Hours' Devotional in Honor of the Advent Begins Tonight.

THE OFICIATING PRIESTS.

In honor of the Advent the congregations of St. Andrew's and St. Mary's Catholic churches will begin this evening at 7 o'clock forty hours devotional services, which will conclude Tuesday evening. Each member of the two churches is expected to attend service at least once a day and worship daily for one hour. The congregation of St. Andrew's will also celebrate at this time the anniversary of their patron saint.

At St. Andrew's church the services will be in charge of the Rev. Slavian Larbes of Cincinnati, formerly of this city. He will be assisted by the pastor of the church, Father Roell and by Father Garmond of Floyd county, formerly of Richmond and by Father Patrick Griffin of Indianapolis. The services at St. Mary's church will be in charge of the pastor, Father Mattingly, and his assistant, Father Hoffman.

SMALL GRASS FIRE.

The fire department was called out yesterday afternoon to extinguish a grass fire south of the Starr piano company's plant. No damage was done.

Horseshoes.

Horseshoes are of uncertain date and have caused some discussion among military historians. Nailed shoes were not known by the Greeks, for Xenophon gives minute instructions for hardening the hoof. Nor did the Romans use them. Nero had mules shod with a plate of silver fastened by crossed thongs to the hoof. With Poppea, his later wife, it is said these plates were of gold. The earliest positive evidence of nailed shoes is furnished by the skeleton of a horse found in the tomb of Childeric I. (458-51) at Tournay in 1653.

The Secret of Success.

The motto of success was given in this tale, told at a banquet:
A Swede among the miners in the west was noted for always striking pay dirt. His fellows thought that there must be some secret to the unusual success of the Swede and questioned him as to how he always succeeded in finding the spot where the gold cropped out.

"Well, Ay don't know of Ay can tell anything 'bout dat," answered Ole. "Ay only know dat Ay yust keep on diggin'."—Milwaukee Free Press.

Wrong.

A man recently entered a restaurant and ordered a steak. When the waiter served him with it the customer said, "I'm afraid you'll have to take it back, for I find I've come out without my—"

"Purse," of course interrupted the waiter.

"No," replied the man, "my false teeth!"

More Trouble.

"What's the trouble now?" demanded the janitor. "More heat?"

"No," said the tenant of the latest skyscraper, "but I want these clouds pushed away from my windows."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Not Like the Play.

"Life ain't like the play."

"How now?"

"When I go calling no housemaid ever tells me the family history while making passes at the furniture with a feather duster."—St. Louis Republic.

Painless Death For Kittens.

How to destroy surplus kittens or puppies in a painless way without calling into use the old fashioned method of a bag and a pail of water is told in the annual report of the London Institute For Lost and Starving Cats. The directions are as follows: "Take a dish cover, place it where it can be pressed into the mold of the garden or in default of this on an old cushion, so that the latter bulges out all around and makes the cover air tight. Place the animals beneath and pour four ounces of pure chloroform on wadding. Push the wadding under the cover, hold the cover down for three or four minutes and then leave undisturbed for one hour. The body must be stiff before burial."

Successful Men to Tell Their School Experiences

Practical Expressions from Men Are Sought by County Superintendent for Benefit of Public Schools.

In order to secure practical expressions from practical men, who have succeeded in life, for the purpose of influencing the children of the public schools, County Superintendent Jordan has compiled a list of questions. These will be sent to sixty of the representative citizens of the county with the request that they be answered. There are nineteen questions in the list and all deal with the schools in some respect.

The superintendent says the questions involve some of the problems that confront the youth of the schools and the real experience, of real men, is wanted to assist the boys and girls in arriving at conclusions. It is desired to inspire the school children to accomplish more by profiting from the advice and experience of successful men. The lessons drawn from the questions and answers will be given to the boys and girls of the county as a message from some of its most successful citizens.

The list of questions follow:
What book, aside from the Bible, do you think has influenced you most?
Do you think boys now are better or worse than when you were a boy?
Where was your boyhood days spent in the country or in the city?

At what age did you choose your life work?
To what do you attribute your success in life?

What do you consider influenced you most, in selecting your life work?
What particular thing in your school life do you consider had the most influence on your life?

Do you think some teachers influenced you more for good than others?
If so, why?

Did you form a special dislike for some teacher. If so, why?
Did you really like to go to school?
Did you like to read?
What did you like to read best?
If you had your life to live over, what change would you like to make in your school life?

What do you consider the greatest mistake that you made in your youth?
What subject in school did you like best?

Do you think your teachers understood you and felt an interest in you individually?

What do you consider the greatest need of our schools today?

What advice would you give to the boys and girls in the schools today?

APPEAL BOND FILED A $3,000 SWINDLE

Starr Piano Company to Take Improvement Case to Higher Courts.

OBJECTS TO ASSESSMENT.

The appeal bond in the case of the Starr Piano company against the city of Richmond, has been filed with the county clerk. The company intends to take the matter of the assessment for the improvement of South First street to the higher courts. The city attorney claims the assessment is fair. He says the street was built primarily at the solicitation of the piano factory officials and they declared early they would be willing to bear their portion of the expense. South First street leads to the piano factory and the Farnham lumber company is the only other concern that benefits materially by its construction.

The street is one of the most modern in the city. A storm sewer was constructed and the roadway is macadamized. Cement sidewalks and gutters line the street. The cost of construction was large as the roadway had to be blasted out of limestone.

Only a Misunderstanding.

Several years ago in a well known wholesale house in a big manufacturing town an old bachelor bookkeeper, who had been many years with the firm, suddenly announced that he was to be married.

The partners gave him a week's holiday, and his fellow clerks raised a little purse and presented it to pay the expenses of his wedding trip. A couple of days after the wedding one of the members of the firm went down to a seaside resort, and there, lounging about the parade and apparently enjoying himself immensely, he saw his recently married old bookkeeper, but alone.

"Where's your wife?" asked the principal.

"She's at home," was the reply.

"But I thought you had money given you for a wedding trip?"

"So I had," was the reply, "but I didn't understand that it was intended to include her."—Pearson's Weekly.

A Valuable Milestone.

A well known novelist was touring through Lancashire in order to learn something of the lives of the inhabitants when he came upon an old man breaking stones on the roadside and, thinking he might gain some knowledge from him, addressed him thus:

"How far is it to Fleetwood, my man?"

"You'll see a milestone a bit farther on," was the gruff reply.

"What's the use, if I can't read?" said the novelist, eager to draw the old man into a conversation.

"Then it'll just suit you, for there's nowt on it," said the old fellow.—London Graphic.

Specific Directions.

The message was transmitted to the "cub" telegrapher. As written it read: "Foundation under freight house needs attention at once."

As delivered to the general foreman the dispatch contained a rather startling bit of information. It read: "Found a lion under freight house. Needs attention at once." To which he replied briefly:

"Feed the lion and notify the live stock agent."

Bad Luck.

"Mother," said five-year-old Jack, "how much older than you is father?"

"Just thirteen years," replied the unsuspecting parent.

"Well, mother," seriously continued the child, "the next time you marry, don't marry a man thirteen years older than you. Don't you know it is bad luck?"—Delineator.

A Strong Pull.

Two men were having an argument as to their respective strengths.

"Why," said the first, "every morning before breakfast I get a bucket and pull up ninety gallons from the well."

"That's nothing," retorted the other. "I get a boat every morning and pull up the river."

Indianapolis Man Victim of Clever Crooks Yesterday.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 28.—William B. Cunningham, 33, was swindled out of $3,000, half of his savings, by sharpers. He was told he had drawn $3,000 in a lottery, but in order to receive the money, must show the same amount to agents of the lottery. He drew $3,000 from the Indiana National bank, showed it to the alleged lottery men and, after examining it, they pretended to hand it back to him, saying they would call at his home and give him the money. When he examined the package the sharpers had returned to him he found a small bill on either side and paper between.

HALF OF SAVINGS GONE.

A young man named Sweet engaged to marry a young woman named Lowe. A few Sundays previous to the wedding the happy couple attended church together, and as they walked along the aisle the choir began singing the song "Sweet and Low," entirely unconscious of the musical pun that was being perpetrated.

Sweet and Low.

"Well, parson, is your flock lib'ral in their 'necivences?"

"Lib'ral? Well, I should say dey is not that. Why, when I asted them to sing 'Ole Hundred' dey done sung 'The Ninety and Nine.'"—Harper's.

Talk.

"It takes a baby mos' two years to learn to talk," said Uncle Eben, "an' den it takes de rest of its lifetime to learn to keep 'fom talkin' too much."—Washington Star.

Two Bad Bits.

Diogenes being asked "What is that beast which is the most dangerous?" replied, "Of wild beasts the bite of a slanderer and of tame beasts that of the flatterer."

Those who want friends to whom to open their griefs are cannibals of their own hearts.—Bacon.

Lost.

A tremendous wall supports the Monte Carlo terrace that overlooks the sea. Last winter some joker put on this wall a placard that said: "Five thousand francs reward—Lost on Jan. 24 the sum of 500,000 francs at the roulette tables of the Monte Carlo casino. The above reward will be paid to the person returning same to the original owner."
