

ROOSEVELT'S ESCAPE

Almost Run Over by Auto as He Waves Hand at Some Children.

AN INTERESTING SITUATION

Washington, D. C., Dec. 1.—President Roosevelt's fondness for children came near causing him to receive a bump from an auto Sunday morning when he was coming from church.

At Fifteenth street and Rhode Island avenue the president, attended only by two secret service men, who were scouting in the rear, turned his head as he crossed the street to wave his hand to some children who had called to him.

Just at that moment David W. Reinohl, a local business man, came along in an automobile. Seeing some one crossing the street ahead of him he let loose a choice assortment of honks, to which the pedestrian paid no attention.

Fearing a collision was imminent, Mr. Reinohl applied the brake and came to a dead stop, but not in time to prevent the man in front from tripping into the mudguard of the machine.

As Mr. Reinohl turned he was astonished to find himself staring into the face of the president.

It was an interesting situation, but, although the trusty bodyguard in the rear immediately rushed up, one on each side of the machine, the outcome was pleasant. Mr. Reinohl raised his hat. So did the president.

"That was a close shave," remarked Mr. Roosevelt.

"It was," said Mr. Reinohl, "but please don't hurt the mudguard."

"All right," said the president, and the incident was ended.

ONE KILLED AND FIVE HURT IN CRASH

Limited Goes Into "Buckled" Freight.

Pittsburg, Pa., Dec. 1.—One man was killed, five others were seriously injured and many passengers shaken up when Train No. 5, known as the Chicago limited, on the Pittsburg and Western branch of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, crashed into a "buckled" freight train near Valencia, Pa., about 20 miles north of here.

The injured were taken to the Butler County General Hospital at Butler, Pa.

The wreck was due to the breaking of a long freight train on the grade near the scene of the accident. One of the cars on the end of the rear part of the disconnected freight lurched out over the north-bound tracks just as the limited came along.

Chinese Boy's Toothache.

In China fathers and mothers do not know how to care for their children, says a traveler in the orient. If a boy's tooth aches, for example, the doctor sometimes hits it hard to kill the worms which he supposes to be gnawing at the roots or gives a little opium to relieve the pain, thus starting a habit which soon makes the boy a useless man.

Keeps Bowels Open; Free

There is no function of the human body so important as keeping the bowels open. Upon the condition of the bowels, more than upon any other one thing, depends the health and well-being of the entire system. There is scarcely a sickness that has not got constipation and stomach trouble complicated with it. It is at the bottom of most of the serious diseases of life.

Every grown up human being ought to have at least one full and easy evacuation of the bowels every 24 hours. But unfortunately there are thousands who do not get this. No matter what is the nature or cause of their constipation, and no matter how chronic and long-standing it is, they will not find a better cure than the well-known Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. So confident are the dispensers of this wonderful laxative that it will cure you fully. There is no young or old, that they will send a free test bottle to anyone who sends name and address to Dr. Caldwell.

The sample will do for any constipated person what it did for Mrs. W. D. Fuller, of Eaton Rapids, Mich., for Mr. J. F. Edwards, of Lebanon, Tenn., and a host of others in all sections of the country. After having used the sample they will do as Mrs. Fuller and Mr. Edwards did, which is to go to the nearest drug store and buy a regular bottle, which costs 50 cents or $1, according to the size. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is not a tablet or powder, but a liquid laxative tonic, which is what a good constipation remedy should be. Thousands, who once sent for the free test bottle, now have Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin regularly in the house. It is the most scientific blending of laxative ingredients ever put before the world.

If there is anything about your ailment that you don't understand, or if you want any medical advice, write to the doctor, and he will answer you fully. There is no charge for this service. The address is Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 604 Caldwell bldg., Monticello, Ill.

YOUNG MEN FIGHT FOR WOMEN

ROGERS K. WETMORE.

WM. S. RAYBURN.

Wetmore, who is the son of Senator Wetmore of Rhode Island, recently met young Rayburn, son of Mayor Rayburn, of Philadelphia, on the streets of Washington, and a battle of words between the two resulted in a personal encounter. The young men were separated before either had done much physical damage to the other.

It is rumored that the young men are much in love with the same woman, and are intensely jealous of one another.

THE THEATER

THEATRICAL CALENDAR.

"The Matchmaker"—Dec. 7.
May Irwin—Dec. 15.

NEW PHILLIPS.
Vaudeville all week.

"The Matchmaker."

Daniel Sully's new play, "The Matchmaker," in which he will appear at the Gennett theater Dec. 7, is a comedy drama in three acts by Jerrold Shepard. The play was written expressly for Mr. Sully and the character of Father Daly fits him perfectly. It is remarkable for its dramatic strength, cleverness of construction and the richness and abundance of its comedy, as well as fidelity to nature of its character drawing. Like "The Parish Priest," it deals with the relations of a pastor with his flock, but there the resemblance ends; this pastor has a very hard time of it and some of the rough, lawless denizens of Boom City, Idaho, give him a great deal of trouble and anxiety. In the end, however, the good father succeeds in bringing the community around to his views, restoring order, straightening out a number of tangled love affairs; showing some hardened sinners the error of their ways and wins the respect of all by his indomitable courage in the discharge of what he considers his duty.

May Irwin Comes.

Miss May Irwin will appear at the Gennett theater on Dec. 15, in the great double bill, "The Mollusc," a three act comedy by Hubert Henry Dajcs, the author of "Cousin Kate," and "Mrs. Peckham's Carouse," a one act farce, by George Ade. Miss Irwin in these plays appears for the first time under the management of Charles Frohman, and was only induced to return to the stage by the fine opportunities that they afforded for her special style of fun-making.

FLORIDA'S EXTENT.

The Everglade State Is Larger Than Most Folks Imagine.

But few people have any conception of Florida's extent. Jacksonville is about as far north of Miami as she is south of Charlotte, N. C.; about as far north of Key West as she is south of Danville, Va. Ignorance of the extent of Florida leads to many amusing mistakes. We sometimes hear the railroads of the state charged with making poor time. Why, it takes over twenty-four hours to go from Pensacola to Miami. The man who makes this remark would think he was traveling on a liner if he made the trip from Pensacola to Chicago in the same length of time it would take him to go to Miami. But there is very little difference in the distance. A land trip from one end of Florida to the other is as long as from the lakes to the gulf. A citizen of Maine who makes up his mind to come south may get on the cars and pass through Maine, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, the District of Columbia and far into Virginia. When he has done this he has taken no longer ride than he could have taken by an equally direct line from one Florida town to another, and there are some men green enough to think they are making poor time when they find it takes them longer to go from Pensacola to Miami than from the eastern to the western side of Maine. Of course the old stages do not make these amusing mistakes. They have a pretty clear conception of the geography of Florida. There are many, however, who come on their first visit with very hazy ideas of the state.—Florida Times-Union.

The rebellious angels had just been cast out of heaven. In the swift downward flight Lucifer overlooked Beelzebub. "What's troubling you, Bub?" he called. "An old problem," answered the future foul fiend between somersaults—"Where are we going this fall?"—Philadelphia Record.

A Soft Snap.

A Philadelphia man was talking about Lafayette Hearn, the brilliant American writer who turned Japanese.

"Hearn lived a quaintly simple life in Japan," the Philadelphian said. "His servants adored him. They did as he pleased in his household. He, no matter what he saw, made no complaint. Once he inquired about a long absent cook's helper.

"Does he never come?" he asked. "Does he never come any more to draw his pay?"

"It is sent to him, sir," was the reply.

DEATH WATCH OVER BILLEK

Says Everything Has Gone Against Him.

Chicago, Dec. 1.—Fearing that Herman Billek, condemned to die December 11, may attempt to harm himself, Jailor Davies has ordered a death watch placed upon the prisoner. Billek has been in solitary since the death of his mother and several times has given way to his grief. Billek's nerve has deserted him. "Everything has gone against me, and I admit I am discouraged," said Billek.

Charity of Former Kings.

Henry II. sought peace for his soul after the murder of Becket by feeding and sustaining 10,000 people daily, a proceeding that must have made many a man rejoice in the fall of the "proud prelate." Quaintest of all, though, was the charity of Henry III., who commanded that "in the great hall at Windsor, at a good fire, all the poor and needy children that could be found were to be fed, according to the weight and measure of the king's children," a queer variant of the more modern system of distributing the Maundy money. It is to be feared that nowadays, says the London Chronicle, the amount of food equivalent to "the weight and measure of the king's children" would not go far in relieving "all the poor and needy children that could be found."

Time and Books.

The economy of saving time is wise, but there is an economy of spending time. In reading, especially, hurry is most wasteful. Reading is the making of thoughts, of ideas, of pictures in the brain. All young photographers know how little is to be made out of an "underexposed plate," but do they understand that there may be such a thing as an underexposed brain? It takes time to make impressions on the mind. If you read too fast, either aloud or to yourself, or skim over your reading, the mind receives poor impressions or none at all.—St. Nicholas.

The Descending Scale.

When a girl is first engaged she figures on a ten room house in the swell part of town. As time goes on the house gradually decreases in size until it is a four room structure. Then all the fancy trimmings are left off, and next the house is located in a remote part of town. Finally when the wedding comes off it is announced that the couple will reside with the bride's father.—Atchison Globe.

Bills and Boards.

Bill had a billboard. Bill also had a board bill. The board bill bore Bill so that Bill sold the billboard to pay his board bill. So after Bill sold his billboard to pay his board bill the board bill no longer bore Bill.—Yale Express.

CHATEAUBRIAND IN LONDON

A Picture of the English Capital of a Century Ago.

"All the English are mad by nature or by fashion," Chateaubriand writes nonchalantly in the book of his embassy in London (1821), but he had a very gay time with the same lunatics. We hear of dinners, almshouses and le beau monde. "The day was thus distributed in London: At 6 o'clock in the morning one hastened to a party of pleasure, consisting of a breakfast in London; one changed one's dress to walk in Bond street or Hyde park; one dressed again to dine at 7:30; one dressed again for the opera; at midnight one dressed once more for an evening party or rout. What a life of enchantment! I should a hundred times have preferred the galleys." One smiles and reads on. He found London full of recollections of Bonaparte. "The people had passed from the vilification of 'Nick' to a stupid enthusiasm. His colossal bust by Canova decorated the Duke of Wellington's staircase."

At an evening party at Lord Londonderry's, the English premier, "I was presented by his majesty to a severe looking lady seventy-three years old. She was dressed in crape, wore a black veil like a diadem on her white hair and resembled a queen who had abdicated her throne. She greeted me in a solemn voice with three mangled sentences from the 'Genie du Christianisme'; then she said to me, with no less solemnity, 'I am Mrs. Siddons.' If she had said to me, 'I am Lady Macbeth,' I should have believed her."—John J. aBeckett in Catholic Quarterly Review.
