

NUSBAUM'S

—FURS OF ALL KINDS—

Speaking of Furs, and Fur Coats in Particular, we wish to say that the RUSSIAN PONY is without doubt the newest and best fur being offered. It is the rage in the cities. It is black, flat and not too heavy for comfort. They will outwear any other kind of fur, and not unreasonable in price.

Black Russian Pony Coat, 37 in. long, plain Collar and Cuff, Fancy Button	$45	Black Russian Pony Coat, 25 in. long, Directoire Collar	$30

Black Russian Pony Coat, 25 in. long, Lynx Collar and Cuff	$35	We carry a complete line of Near Seal Coats—not Electric Seal—at from $25.00 to	$50

The above quotations are from one-fourth to one-third below what equal values are shown in the cities today.

These were bought from one of the leading New York furriers within the last three weeks and can be retailed at what the coats would have cost us and DID COST others who bought them in July.

This is good fur weather and we have the line in ladies', misses' and children's furs.

equal among the districts, as shown by the auditor's figures. He finds that the districts have the following vote: First, 50,072; Second, 54,935; Third, 45,087; Fourth, 47,455; Fifth, 63,714; Sixth, 56,671; Seventh, 72,986; Eighth, 60,778; Ninth, 55,756; Tenth, 67,507; Eleventh, 56,496; Twelfth, 52,006; Thirteenth, 61,102.

It will be seen that some of the districts have many more votes than their proportionate share while others fall short. The Seventh for instance has 15,000 more votes than its share, yet it has one congressman. If there is a re-apportionment an effort will be made to give the county a congressman by itself and join the county to some other adjoining county and give the two another congressman. Thus Marion county would have double representation. The law does not permit a county to divide itself for congressional purposes, but it may be joined to another county.

Sixth's Vote Right.

The Sixth is about right in the size of its vote. The Tenth is too large by 10,000. The Twelfth district is short, while the Thirteenth has some to spare. The largest increase in the vote in any district since the last apportionment was 14,714 in the Seventh district. The next largest increase was 8,000 in the Fifth.

It is easy to see that there is room for many changes in the make-up of the various districts in order to bring them all to an average level of population, but unless the democrats present what the republicans consider a fair bill for the readjustment the arrangement will continue just as it is. If the re-apportionment is not made at the coming session, it cannot be made for another six years, thus giving the republicans the advantage they have held during the last six years.

Primary Law Changes.

Another matter that promises to attract attention at the coming session is changes in the primary election law. Several of the members of the general assembly have in mind amendments that they will offer. Representative King, of Wabash county, will have a bill to extend the present primary law over many additional counties. Representative Seidensticker and Senator Clark of this county will also have changes to propose. One wishes to make a law that will compel the county chairmen of the two leading parties to agree on a time and place for the primaries for the election of precinct committeemen. Two new members have been added to the committee of democratic legislators who are engineering the get-together meeting of democratic members in this city on December 15. They are Representative Charles F. Maas, of Marion county and Representative David B. Hostetter, of Putnam county. This was done by Representative W. S. Wells, of Ft. Wayne, chairman of the committee. He said he wished a member on the committee from each district that has a candidate for United States senator. He says the committee is not playing any favorites. Then Wells winks the other eye and says he is for Edward G. Hoffman, of Ft. Wayne, for senator.

What the President-elect desires is a thorough-going investigation of the tariff situation and such revision as American industries and the condition of the Treasury can stand and the general good of the average consumer requires. This, he has been assured is what the present leaders of the House and Senate have in contemplation, and he has listened patiently to the advice given to him that he should avoid a controversy with Mr. Cannon.

The emperor announces a partial amnesty, and has conferred high decorations on Baron Von Aehrenthal and the Austro-Hungarian Ambassadors abroad.

The emperor was deeply affected by the unfortunate result of the day's rejoicing. The authorities took all possible precautionary measures, such as entirely stopping vehicular traffic after sunset, but were quite unable to cope with the enormous crowds.

It is estimated that there were fully 1,500,000 people in the streets.

CANNON THREATENS TO BAR FOES FROM REPUBLICAN PARTY

Speaker of the House of Representatives.

That Mr. Taft would not resort to such a radical expedient in order to secure the fulfillment of the Republican pledge of tariff revision, written into the last national platform, has been stated before.

But some of his over zealous and impatient followers were spoiling for a fight, and while the President-elect permitted it to be understood, he really does not think now that he will be compelled to go to such length. He even is not convinced that a controversy of that sort would terminate successfully. Indeed he has been told by a number of impartial legislators that it might be impossible, at least it would be exceedingly difficult to prevent the re-election of Mr. Cannon as Speaker.

What the President-elect desires is a thorough-going investigation of the tariff situation and such revision as American industries and the condition of the Treasury can stand and the general good of the average consumer requires. This, he has been assured is what the present leaders of the House and Senate have in contemplation, and he has listened patiently to the advice given to him that he should avoid a controversy with Mr. Cannon.

WAS FRYBARGER AN INSANE MAN?

Was He Incompetent to Draw Up Will Which Is Contested?

HEARING OF CASE NOW ON.

COMES FROM CONNERSVILLE—
ALLEGED SISTERS USED UN-DUE INFLUENCE ON DECEASED TO GET MONEY.

The examination of witnesses for the plaintiffs was begun in the Martin-Chitwood case in the Wayne circuit court yesterday afternoon. The jury was selected after considerable deliberation by the attorneys for the litigants. The suit was brought in the local court on a change of venue from Fayette county. A large number of witnesses from Connersville and Fayette county, was present at the hearing.

The plaintiffs are seeking to show that George Frybarger was insane at the time he made his will bequeathing all his property to two sisters, and that undue influence was exerted upon him.

The defense denies the allegations.

Those witnesses testifying today for the plaintiffs asserted they believed Frybarger of unsound mind in 1906, when the will in question was made.

James Jordan, a carpenter of Connersville, testified he formerly was a member of the police force of that city.

He told of finding Frybarger drunk in public ten or twelve times. He said he always picked the man up from the sidewalk and secured someone to attend him, or started him toward his home.

He said he did not arrest Frybarger, as he believed him to be a man of unsound mind and probably not responsible for his intoxication.

Other witnesses told of the eccentric actions of Frybarger which led them to believe he was an imbecile. The man was deaf and dumb. One witness told of the antics performed by the defendant in the presence of women, and said these were attributed to his mental condition. Charles Martin, another witness, related several incidents to convince the jury of Frybarger's derangement.

The jury hearing the case is composed of Jeremiah Meyers, Willard Williams, James Jackson, J. O. Campbell, Harry Gates, William Reiser, Edward Dettemeyer, Francis Clevenger, Harrison Wolke, Emmet Druley, Francis Mitchell and George Parry.
