An Innocent Interrogation. The Twiddlers were sitting about the library table.

"I see a man has planned machinery that will turn a boat completely over to unload it," said Mr. Twiddler as he looked up from his newspaper.

"Heavens!" cried Mrs. Twiddler. "Won't the passengers all be killed?"

And Mr. Twiddler kept on reading, and what he read he kept to himself.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

WATER BUCKET AND TIN CUP DOOMED

Hundreds of School Children
Killed by Them, Says
Dr. J. N. Hurty.

WANTS BETTER CONDITIONS

SECRETARY OF STATE BOARD OF
HEALTH HAS LEGISLATIVE BILL
FOR PROTECTION OF HEALTH
OF INDIANA SCHOOL CHILDREN

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 8.—Dr. J. N. Hurty, of the State Board of Health, has made a rough draft of a bill which the State Board will present to the coming session of the Legislature, for the bettering of schoolhouse conditions in Indiana. The name under which the bill will be presented is: "A bill for an act entitled, an act to protect and conserve the lives of school children, providing for medical inspection; providing healthful school houses and requiring the teaching of hygiene."

The proposed act would require that the site of school buildings built after it went into effect be dry. This, said Dr. Hurty, would do away in time with 2,000 damp and moldy buildings in which Indiana children are now attending school, and in which consumptives are being made. The law would require school buildings to be sanitary. Sanitary buildings can be erected, he says, as cheaply or more cheaply than insanitary buildings.

The principles of proper lighting and seating are set out in the proposed act, likewise the principles of heating and ventilating. Rules with regard to water supply and drinking arrangements are fixed. "The old water bucket and the tin cup are most ingenious methods of transmitting diphtheria and scarlet fever," Dr. Hurty said "and hundreds of children have been killed through their use."

"We are trying to save lives and to prevent about 20,000 cases of sickness among school children annually," Dr. Hurty said.

CLAIMS FAMED MINE

Man in Poor House Says That
Property Was Stolen
From Him.

EAR MARKS OF TRUTH.

Ontonagon, Mich., Dec. 8.—Blind and penniless, "Dick" Langford, an aged prospector who claims to have discovered the big Colby Mine, a Gogebic iron range property valued in the millions, has become a charge at the Ontonagon County Poor Farm. He is more than 80 years old. Langford was one of the first explorers in what is now the Gogebic district.

In 1872, or 1873, according to his story, Langford found the Colby Mine and he alleges that his present financial condition is due to misplaced confidence in the integrity of man. He contends that he was to have a one-fourth interest in the property, but that he was enchained out of it. He was never married and practically his whole life has been spent in prospecting. For the last five years he has been living in a little cabin at Lake Gogebic, supported by the county.

COMPLAINT IS MADE

Another Junker Placed on the West Richmond Street
Car Line.

RELIEF WAS VERY SHORT.

After having been made the dump line for the city street car system during the summer and early winter season, patrons of the West Richmond route were surprised about two weeks ago to see a remodeled car on that line. They were tickled with joy. They could ride without freezing to death or being suffocated by the dust that came through the floors, sides of the car or broken windows. But there were some who feared it was really too good to be true. They doubted if it could last, and recent developments have shown their doubts were not without reason.

Another change has been made and now "12 spot" appears on the West Richmond line. This car is but a bit of scrap iron, fit for the junk heap, and wheels under it and a trolley pole, and manages to move. It looks very much as if it had been used as a baseball by Hercules when playing on the Atlas nine. It rattles something fierce and West Richmond children are frightened to death when their mothers tell them if they don't go good she will take them a street car ride. It's too bad nothing was said in that new franchise about equipment.
