

When the Empty Stocking Hangs.

FATHER'S, MOTHER'S

Once in each year, very, very near the end of the twelfth month, there comes a certain Night.

It is a night of Happy Thoughts—of dear, pleasant memories. Little children go, all too soon, to bed, and the kindly old Santa man delays his coming for a time at least, reluctant to interrupt their childish hopes and fears.

Grown up folks (for grown up folks have a strange habit of sitting up on such important nights) tiptoe stealthily and creakily about the house.

THE LITTLE EMPTY STOCKING HANGS AT THE CHIMNEY PIECE.—A dear little quaint little stocking that is entirely too small to hold the precious things that the loving Saint will bring before the dawn breaks on Christmas morn.

Perhaps the little stocking will be a bit larger at each recurring Christmas tide, and hang alone, or—in years to come, other, and still tinier stockings may bear it company—perhaps, even, there will come a dreary time when the fire-place is bare, when longing eyes turn away and the flickering light of the fire is hard and cold.

But no matter what the years bring or take away, the spirit of friendship and kindness remains. At the end of the busy years, full of effort and struggle, comes the season when we forget the trials and welcome the opportunity when we count our friends and find them many—when we choose for them remembrances (not hastily and because of their cost, but because of the pleasure they will bring)—when we realize, to the full, that Life is worth living, because, for once, it is unselfish.

"The worries of the season"?—? If this store may play its part during the trying days that lie between now and Christmas Eve—if it may lighten the strain on your purse; if by perfect unassuming service and superb assortment for your choosing, it may help keep the puzzle wrinkles from your forehead; it will have done all we have hoped and planned to have it do.

Bring this folder with you to our store, look it over. You will find gifts from every market of the world are here—delightful, inexpensive ones for those who must closely reckon the incomings and outgoings—superbly rich ones, for those who need not count the cost.

We have arranged them conveniently for your inspection. Our sales force will find no effort too great, if it helps you in your selection.

For Christmas, in all the world means,
This Store is Ready.
