

UPROAR SOUNDS LIKE A BEDLAM

The Canines and Chickens at Greater Richmond Exhibition Appear Peevish.

ALL SORTS AND VARIETIES

BIG DOGS AND LITTLE DOGS GIVE TONGUE TO THEIR HOMESICKNESS WHILE PRIZE POULTRY EXPRESS INDIGNATION.

The noise that issued out of the Pythian Temple, South Eighth street this morning listened like some unfortunate citizen was being initiated into the order while the billy goat was in a peevish humor. However, on investigation, it was discovered that the cause of the uproar was not from human torture—it was merely the collection of fancy dogs and poultry now being exhibited under the auspices of the Greater Richmond Poultry and Pet Stock association indulging in a little social gossip.

All Sorts and Varieties.

The canines and chickens will be on exhibition to the public today, tomorrow and Friday and it is expected they will be gazed upon by hundreds of people from all over the county. The average person will not realize how many different breeds of dogs there are until he has seen the local canine display. Animals from the size of a grapefruit to the stature of a colt occupy cages and stalls and the yelps and howls they emit speak eloquently of the fact that they are suffering the pangs of homesickness.

The poultry exhibited comes from not only this city and county, but from far distant sections of the country. Every species of chicken can be seen and the racket they make runs a close second to the dogs' uproar. The following is the list of dog entries:

Affairs of the Sporting World

From all accounts the Boston Americans have picked up a fine young player in Hooper of California. He is 21 years old and is a civil engineer, having been employed for a time on the new Western Pacific railway. He played his first professional baseball engagement last season as a member of the Sacramento club in the outlaw circuit, but is not on the blacklist as a result. He was the fastest man in the league, batting .341 against such pitchers as Stricklett, Henderson, Brown and others. Hooper is an outfielder and President John I. Taylor, who discovered and signed him for Boston, says he will make good.

McGraw has such a wealth of young material now that he has decided, it is said, to can Dave Brain and Jack Barry. Both ought to catch on in big league society without much trouble. It is seldom that a team lets go of both its old catchers at one time, but Milwaukee has parted with both Roth and Beville.

With Blankenship and Street, Cantillon will have a pair of catchers who had long training in California company.

It is reported that the Cubs have signed a third baseman named James Savage of Allentown, Pa. The name will make him valuable when theumps hand him the lemon.

Sept. 23 it is understood, will be specially celebrated as Merkle day in the National league schedule and all the clubs have asked for at-home dates that afternoon.

The Birmingham club has traded Robertalle for Pappallau. Did the Roberts gain much ease by the exchange?

Jim Jeffries is training hard, but says that it is simply for the stage. Physicians have advised Jimmy Rector never to race again, as his heart will not stand the strain of training. Thus it appears as if President Roosevelt will not have his desire of a race between Rector and Walker gratified.

The reformers are trying to get action in California and two anti-betting laws will be introduced in the next legislature.

President Roosevelt has pardoned a bookmaker who was arrested in testing the anti-betting laws of the District of Columbia.

Mike Donovan wants to meet Billy Papke.

The Thunderbolt Smith-Sandy Williams fight at Columbus next Monday evening should prove a good contest. Walter Steffen, the star Maroon athlete, has quit the Chicago track team to study law.

Harry Tutthill, the trainer of the Detroit champions, says that Jeffries could beat Tommy Burns without even getting a hair cut.

Clark Griffith denies he pulled on Charley Murphy for the purpose of buying Frank Chance. Griff claims he visited the Protegee One to find out how world's championship tickets are sold, in order to be in right when the Reds cop the pennant this year.

It will cost Jimmy Sebring about $800 to get back into organized baseball. He was fined $200 by the national commission, and in addition will have to pay Garry Herrmann about $600 for salary advanced while he was a member of the Cincinnati team.

Rossman came near making good his prediction that "he will quit baseball" when he ran into a gas explosion at Philmont, N. Y., the other day. He was carrying a lighted lamp at the time and the flame came in contact with escaping gas. Rossman's lamps were uninjured, however.

MOHAMMED.

His Vision of Heaven and the Story of the Mountain.

Halabi, the founder of Islam, was born at Mecca in the year A. D. 570. He died June 8, 632, at the age of seventy-two. He assumed the titular name of Mohammed, which means, according to some authorities, the "predicted Messiah."

One of the most extravagant relations which can be found in any language is credited to Mohammed. Speaking of the sights he beheld when "transported to heaven," he says: "I saw there an angel, the most gigantic of all created things. It had 70,000 heads, each head had 70,000 faces, each face had 70,000 mouths, each mouth had 70,000 tongues and each tongue spoke 70,000 languages. All were employed in singing God's praises."

When Mohammed first announced his divinely inspired and appointed system the Arabs demanded supernatural proofs of his commission. "Moses and Jesus," said the Arabs, "wrought miracles in the testimony of their divine authority. And if thou art indeed a prophet of God do so likewise."

"It would be tempting God to do so," replied Mohammed, "and bring down his anger, as in the case of Pharaoh." As the story is told in Brewer's "Phrase and Fable," the Arabs were not satisfied with this answer, and Mohammed then commanded one of the numerous emissaries near Mecca to come to him. The mountain not stirring at Mohammed's bidding, the prophet exclaimed: "God is merciful! Had the mountain obeyed my words it would have fallen on us to our destruction."

"I will therefore go to the mountain."

West Siders Enthused Over Street Car Service

"Hello, is that the street car office?" "Yes."

"Can you tell me if the cars on the West Richmond line are running?" "Don't know. Haven't been out to see."

Such was the telephone conversation between a West Richmond woman and a representative of the local street car company yesterday. It illustrates the usual accommodating spirit of the employees of the company. The West Richmond line was blocked by snow during the morning and when the woman, who does not live on the line asked for information, she had to be content with the gracious reply of the

JELLYFISH.

In Tropical Waters This Queer Creature is at Its Best.

Few marine animals seem at first glance to betray less intelligence than the jellyfish. Up with the tide and down with the tide, carried along by the eddy or that current, moving with the eddy of a backwater hither and thither, the jellyfish has become almost a synonym for helplessness. Scientifically, of course, the popular idea of the jellyfish is wholly mistaken, but it is perhaps only in tropical waters that it is found in the perfection of intelligence.

In the south Pacific round the islands of Polynesia and as far south as the upper portion of the North Island of New Zealand there is a jellyfish that not only knows where it wants to go, but is even provided with a sail which it can and does hoist or lower at will. The sail, like the rest of this curious animal, is almost transparent; but, unlike the body of the fish, which is of the usual gelatinous construction, the sail is a membrane almost as hard as shell. Round about the Eliche group the navigating fish is often found with a sail measuring five inches across, and it navigates the shallow island waters with the skill of a pilot, steering in and out of snags and avoiding obstructions both above and below the surface with unerring skill. Like its cousins in home waters, this navigating jellyfish has the power of stinging its natural enemies, and its sting is fatal to other fish and dangerous to man.—London Standard.

Muncie, Ind., Jan. 13.—The Trades Council of this city has gone on record in favor of John W. Kern as a candidate for the United States senate from Indiana. Resolutions endorsing Kern were adopted.

ENDORSE JOHN KERN.

Senator Powers, Angela, will present Hoffman to the caucus. Senator Clark, Indianapolis, will name Kern; Representative Chrisney, Spencer county, will nominate Menzies. Senator Bingham, South Bend, will present Shively. Representative Clore, Franklin, will nominate Slack.

HEAVY BASEBALL SCHEDULE MADE

Earlham Nine This Year Will Go Through Most Strenuous Campaign.

NOTRE DAME IS TAKEN ON

GAMES WITH PURDUE, BUTLER AND OTHER STATE COLLEGES ARRANGED — MATERIAL FOR THE TEAM IS EXCELLENT.

Graduate Manager Grave and Student Manager Lindley of the Earlham baseball team are already actively engaged in arranging the baseball schedule for this spring.

Manager Lindley has received a letter from Notre Dame asking for a date in South Bend. They stated that they could book the game for the 23d of April. The contract will be drawn up immediately. Purdue is also corresponding with the Earlham management relative to a game in Lafayette, but as the schedule of the "Big Eight" has not yet been completed it is not certain whether the Earlham game will be played on the 10th or the 17th of April.

Dates are being considered with Franklin, Rose Poly, State Normal and Butler. Wabash has not yet been heard from and it is not likely that Indiana will be taken on.

The schedule is already assured the heaviest and largest ever taken on by the Quakers, but the splendid showing made by the local college nine last year seems to warrant such a strenuous schedule.

Prospects Are Good.

The prospects for the team have never been equalled. Two men, Left Fielder Elliott and Chambers, second basemen, were the only men graduated and all the other men will fight for their old positions against a wealth of new material. There are two candidates for the keystone sack in Dowlar and Rees, two freshmen who appear to have all the requisites for that difficult position and there are a half dozen men who will try for the open place in the outfield.

Captain Hancock, who has played third base for two years is most popular with the student body and they back him to conduct the greatest baseball campaign in the history of the college.

DELUGE OF BILLS POURED IN SENATE BY LAWMAKERS

block Kern's request for an open ballot. If a secret vote is taken they believe that he will be defeated.

National Committeeman Taggart was the target last night for many bitter shafts from the field which accused some of breaking into the game for Kern after promising not to take a hand for him or any candidate.

They asserted that they had positive proof that Taggart had called in many legislators today to urge their support of the open caucus plan. Taggart did not deny that he favors an open vote. The outlook is that the caucus will follow precedent and vote secretly. The Kern lieutenants declared that no combination can be made against him and that he will win not later than the fifth ballot.

All the candidates issued statements last night that they are satisfied with the situation.

An Indianapolis paper makes this prediction, that the first ballot will be as follows:

Kern, 29; Shively, 17; Hoffman, 9; Slack, 16; Lamb, 12; Menzies, 5.

The winning candidates must have 42 votes.

The story of the alleged attempt to bribe members to vote for Edward G. Hoffman the Ft. Wayne senatorial candidate, became a joke today. While there have been rumors that money would be used in behalf of two of the three candidates, none of the party workers was ready to swallow a report that Hoffman's shrewd backers would make such a blunder as to employ any one who would not know his man before he approaches him.

The story came from the camp of John W. Kern, but the latter himself was not inclined to regard it serious.

Many are predicting that one of the low men will win on the finish as Senator Beveridge did nearly 12 years ago.

SUITS ON CLAIM.

Elizabeth Fansler has brought suit in the Wayne circuit court against the estate of Henry Null on claim. She asks $8,384. She alleges she performed personal services for Null during 1864. The claim will be contested. Suit has been brought to have removed as administrator James Scott, son-in-law of the plaintiff in the case.

Mrs. M. Galdin was called to Toledo, Ohio, today on account of the serious illness of her sister, Mrs. F. K. Galdin.

PRISONERS SHOELESS SCHEDULE MADE

Sheriff States That Is Reason He Cannot Work Them Shoveling Snow.

CAN'T LABOR BAREFOOTED

When asked this morning why the turnkey did not put a number of the prisoners at the county jail to work removing snow from the walks about the court house, Sheriff Meredith replied they have no shoes. He declared the most of the men in jail are without good enough footwear to warrant taking them into the cold air to shovel snow. He said the turnkey would examine the shoes and if it were found there were several pairs in good condition, the owners would be put on the job.

THE BLUE MOSQUE.

If Ever Color Calls, It Calls in the Mosque of Ibrahim Aga.

As every one who visits Rome goes to St. Peter's, so every one who visits Cairo goes to the mosque of Mohammed Aga in the citadel, a gorgeous building in a magnificent situation, the interior of which always makes me think of life rather than of prayer and self denial. More attractive to me is the "blue mosque," to which I returned again and again, enticed almost as by the fascination of the living blue of a summer sky.

This mosque, which is the mosque of Ibrahim Aga, but which is familiarly known to its lovers as the "blue mosque," lies to the left of a ramshackle street and from the outside does not look specially inviting. Even when I passed through its door and stood in the court beyond at first I felt not its charm. All looked old and rough, unkempt and in confusion. The red and white stripes of the walls and the arches of the arcade, the mean little place for ablution—a pipe and a row of brass taps—led the mind from a Neapolitan ice to a second rate school, and for a moment I thought of abruptly retiring and seeking more splendid precincts. And then I looked across the court to the arcade that lay beyond, and I saw the exquisite "love color" of the marvelous tiles that give this mosque its name.

The huge pillars of this arcade are striped and ugly, but between them shone with an insupportable wall of purple and blue, of purple and blue so strong and yet so delicate that it held the eyes and drew the body forward. If ever color calls, it calls in the "blue mosque" of Ibrahim Aga. And when I had crossed the court, when I stood beside the pulpit, with its delicious wooden folding doors, and studied the tiles of which this wonderful wall is composed, I found them as lovely near as they are lovely far off. From a distance they resemble a nature effect, are almost like a bit of southern sea or of sky, a fragment of gleaming Mediterranean seen through the pillars of a loggia or of Sicilian blue watching over Etna in the long summer days.

When one is close to them they are a miracle of art. The background of them is a milky white upon which is an elaborate pattern of purple and blue, generally conventional and representative of no known object, but occasionally showing tall trees somewhat resembling cypresses. But it is impossible in words adequately to describe the effect of these tiles and of the tiles that line to the very roof of the tomb house on the right of the court. They are like a cry of ecstasy going up in this otherwise not very beautiful mosque. They make it unforgettable; they draw you back to it again and yet again. On the darkest day of winter they set something of summer there. In the saddest moment they proclaim the fact that there is joy in the world; that there was joy in the hearts of creative artists years upon years ago. If you are ever in Cairo and sink into depression, go to the "blue mosque" and see if it does not have upon you an uplifting moral effect. And then, if you like, go on from it to the Gambia el Morayad, sometimes called el Ahmar (the red), where you will find greater glories, though no greater fascination, for the tiles hold their own among the wonders of Cairo.—Robert Hichens in Century.

His Mother-in-law Won.

By one of those queer marriage settlements sometimes made in England a young man agreed to pay his wife's mother $100 on the first day of each year. He settled in Canada, and when he came to make the remittance he deducted the amount of the postage and sent her only $99.84. The mother-in-law insisted that she must have the other 16 cents, and after they had quarreled by mail about it for a month or two she had her attorneys bring suit against him in the Ontario courts. She made him pay, too, and stuck him for the cost of the action, though she was obliged to fee her own lawyers. The total expenses of this sixteen cent lawsuit were said to be exactly $412, most of which fell upon the economical son-in-law.

Siam's Weights and Measures.

In Siam the liquid measure used is derived from an coconut shell which is capable of holding 880 tamarind seeds, and twenty of these units equal the capacity of a wooden bucket. In dry measure 880 tamarind seeds make one "kanah," and twenty-five "kanahs" make one "sat" or bamboo basket; eighty "sat" make one "kwin," or cart. This is an example of the primitive origin of most units of weight and measures.

The First Slow One.

He uttered a joyous cry. "And I am really and truly the first man you ever kissed?" "Yes, Clarence," the beautiful girl rejoined, her red lip curling slightly. "The others all took the initiative."—New York Press.

PALLADIUM WANT ADS. PAY.

ASK CREDITORS TO FILE LIENS

Y. M. C. A. Takes This Step. It Is Announced to Avoid Possible Law Suits.

CLAIMS AMOUNT TO $4,000

CONTRACTORS CALDWELL AND DRAKE HAVE MADE NO EFFORTS TO COLLECT AMOUNT DUE THEM ON BUILDING.

In order to avoid all possible law suits, the building committee of the Y. M. C. A. has authorized its attorney, Wilfred Jessup to notify all persons with claims, either for material or labor against the association to file liens with the committee. In making the final settlement with the contractors, Caldwell & Drake, the committee asks that all these claims be received before the association will turn over the money. The initiative has been taken and it is believed will be responsible for a hurried settlement on the part of the contractors, who up to date have not made any effort to collect the money due them, and have yet to turn over the building to the trustees.

The claims of labor and business concerns will amount to about $4,000. It is thought, by the attorney for the association. Liens will be filed by these persons and firms immediately. The association has learned nothing from the contractors as to why they have made no effort for final settlement. It is not believed that the forfeiture demanded by the association from the contractors for failure to complete the work by September 1 has anything to do with the delay. In both the matter of the forfeiture and the claims against the association, the Y. M. C. A. is fully protected by the $25,000 bond furnished by the contractors.

Yawning Fish.

The mouth of the turbot is twisted to one side, rather as if it had belonged to a round fish which some one had accidentally trod on and squashed half flat. The yawn begins at the lips, which open as if to suck in water. Then the jaws become distended, and it is seen that this is going to be a real, genuine fish's yawn. But the yawn goes on, works through the back of its head, distending the plates of the skull, and comes out at the gills, which, open, show the red inside and are inflated for a moment, and then, with a kind of stretching shiver of its back, the fish fattens out again. — London Mail.

Originality Needed.

To revive an old style of building, no matter how well it may be done, does nothing to advance the art of building. It would at the best be but a copy of an old work. Painters copy old masters for the purpose of study, but copying pictures will never make a painter's reputation. Something new must be achieved, some original work executed, before any advance in art is possible. So it is with architecture.—Country House.

Word Painting.

Jimmy (reading)—"Casey swatted the leather into left garden for a brace of ascher as den pithed theid base and sented de par on Mulligan's lilliput. loosa, dat sailed over Outerbocker Shaugnessy's nut." I tell you, Willie, dat's word paintin', dat is! Shaugnessy never could beat dat!—Exchange.

An Eye Closer.

Griggs—I say, old man, what's good for insomnia? I haven't closed my eyes for five nights. Colonel—You want to have a boxing match. The first time I tried it, I remember, my eyes were closed for a fortnight.

REVIVAL SERVICES.

Revival services at the Fifth Street M. E. church are being conducted by Rev. J. Cook Graham, pastor, and Rev. J. W. Zerbe, pastor of the M. E. church at Fountain City. Several conversions have been gained as a result. Last evening Rev. Zerbe conducted the services, having for his subject, "Wounds of Jesus."

WILL MEET SATURDAY.

The county commissioners will be in session next Saturday to name
