WAS TOO TALKATIVE

Had Young Surface Kept Quiet
His Conviction Regarded As Doubtful.

GOES TO REFORMATORY

There is speculation as to the probability of a conviction having been obtained in the case of the State vs. William Surface had not the man admitted his guilt and accepted the finding of the circuit court without protest. Practically all the valuable evidence the state had in the case was the statement of Surface. Had the man remained quiet and made no confession, there is reason to believe the state would have been unable to convict him.

Hoped to Get Off Light.
In the hope of a light punishment, Surface confessed to stealing the horse and buggy belonging to Daniel Harris from a public hitching rack in this city. He claimed he was so badly intoxicated at the time he did not realize the seriousness of his offense. The police had suspected Surface of the theft and there was some circumstantial evidence against him. It is doubtful if this would have been sufficient to have sent him to the reformatory, however. Surface resides at New Hope, Ohio and there is a pathos connected with the case, that was not made public because of Surface's confession.

The commitment for Surface has been prepared. He will be taken to the reformatory by Lawrence Roberts of the police force.
The father of the young man was in the city today and employed an attorney to assist in having the case reopened. It is very doubtful if the court would take such action.

CULTIVATING THE CHILD.

How Any Trait May Be Fixed in a Normal Human Being.

There is not a single desirable attribute which, lacking in a plant, may not be bred into it. Choose what improvement you wish in a flower, a fruit or a tree, and by crossing, selection, cultivation and persistence you can fix this desirable trait irrevocably. Pick out any trait you want in your child, grant that he is a normal child, be it honesty, fairness, purity, loveliness, industry, thrift, what not. By surrounding this child with sunshine from the sky and your own heart, by giving the closest communion with nature, by feeding him well balanced, nutritious food, by giving him all that is implied in healthful environmental influences and by doing all in love you can thus cultivate in this child and fix there for all his life all of these traits—naturally not always to the full in all cases at the beginning of the work, for heredity will make itself felt first, and as in the plant under improvement, there will be certain strong tendencies to reversion to former ancestral traits, but in the main with the normal child you can give him all these traits by patiently, persistently guiding him in these early formative years.

And, on the other side, give him foul air to breathe, keep him in a dusty factory or an unwholesome schoolroom or a crowded tenement up under the hot roof; keep him away from the sunshine, take away from him music and laughter and happy faces, cram his little brains with so called knowledge, because made so apparently adaptable to his young mind; let him have associates in his hours of school, and at the age of ten you have fixed in him the opposite traits. He is on his way to the gallows. You have perhaps seen a prairie fire sweep through the tall grass across a plain. Nothing can stand before it; it must burn itself out. That is what happens when you let the weeds grow up in a child's life and then set fire to them by wrong environment—Luther Burbank in Century
