AN AGED TEACHER ANSWERS THE CALL

Hundreds of Richmond People Will Mourn the Loss of Mrs. Anna P. Hill.

INSTRUCTOR THIRTY YEARS
PUBLIC SCHOOLS WILL BE DIS-MISSED TOMORROW SO CHILD-REN MAY ATTEND FUNERAL—
ILL SEVERAL MONTHS.

Mrs. Anna P. Hill, for thirty years a teacher in the public schools of Richmond died yesterday morning at her residence South Fourteenth street from causes resulting after a general breakdown in her health last fall. Although among members of her family and close friends it was known her illness was severe, yet it was a distinct shock to her large circle of acquaintances. The sorrow of the surviving members of the family, including Arthur and Ernest, her two sons; Mrs. Stratton, a sister and a brother, Henderson Webb of Little Rock, Ark., is also shared by hundreds of her former pupils and her many friends.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at her late residence, with the Rev. Trautman of the Christian church presiding. The burial will not be held until Wednesday afternoon at Lexington, Ky. after services at the residence of a relative. She will be laid to rest near Lexington. Friends of Mrs. Hill may call any time.

Tomorrow afternoon the public schools will be dismissed in order to allow the teachers and pupils to attend the funeral. It is probable that the teachers of the different schools will attend in a body.

On Oct. 14, Mrs. Hill was taken ill and had not attended to her duties as instructor in grammar and music since. During her illness Miss Elizabeth Smelser acted as substitute. Her physician stated her illness was due to a general breakdown.

Mrs. Hill had been a teacher for thirty years. During this entire time, with the exception of a few years as teacher at Number 9 school house, east of the city, she has been in the Richmond public schools. The most of her long service was spent at the Garfield school, both the old and new building. Previously, however, she taught at the old first ward building, now Finley school and in a German school in the south part of the city.

Mrs. Hill, whose maiden name was Anna Webb, was born in Lexington, Ky., 58 years ago. At an early age she moved to this city and became a teacher. After teaching for a few years she married Franklin Hill, and to them three children were born. Earnest and Arthur, who survive and Miss Jane, who died a few years ago. Upon the death of her husband in 1885, the local school board asked her to take a position in the schools, which she did.

PEOPLE'S PULPIT

phases, for, as the Apostle suggests: "All these are dying daily"—taking up their cross and following after their Lord and Head. By and by the sufferings of this present time will be ended—the last "member of the Body of Christ" will have died, and we will have passed beyond the veil, will have been "changed" in a moment in the twinkling of an eye, in the First Resurrection. Shortly thereafter the Kingdom of glory will be inaugurated and "the reign of Sin and Death" will be brought to an end, the binding of Satan will take place, and the blessing of all the families of the earth will begin.

The battle of the New Creature is one of the principal topics of the New Testament. It tells that his battle is to be unto victory, if he is faithful—if he will continue loyal to his covenant of sacrifice; because the Lord stands pledged to give him needed grace and strength and to bring him off "more than conqueror." It tells who are his foes, namely, the world, the flesh and the devil.

"SO FIGHT I-NOT AIR-BEATING."

We come now to the gist of our lesson. We see in the Apostle an example of the Christian fighter. In the battle for some time, he has been warring enough to know that bodily exercise and fuss and beating the air with the arms is not the way to vanquish a foe. He must be methodical, scientific. He must know what he is fighting about, who he is fighting, and the object to be gained, if he would wisely direct his energies and gain the victory.

Some are "beating the air" in their endeavor to convert the world, mistakenly supposing that the Church's mission. With this wrong impression they are discouraged and apt to stop their fight, when they realize from statistics that there are twice as many heathen to-day as there were a century ago. As bodily exercise may profit something, so spiritual exercise has its advantages and is better than drowsiness, but it is not so good as learning who is the foe, and then battling him persistently and effectively. Others do still worse, when they battle one with another, quarreling, slandering, back-biting, etc.

Let us see to it that, like the Apostle, we fight the good fight of faith and lay hold upon the prize of eternal life, which God has promised to the victors. Our fight is against sin and selfishness—especially in ourselves. If we sometimes lend a helping hand to others, it should be sympathetic, and directed, not against them, but as assisting them to overcome in their battling with the world, the flesh and the Adversary. Each one of us, dear friends, has more than sufficient to engage his time and energy in the warfare progressing in himself, the warfare between truth and error, right and wrong, holiness and sin. Seeing now the character of our controversy, let us be more diligent, vigilant, faithful in maintaining the rule of our Lord and Master in our thoughts and words and conduct. So shall we be like him. Then by and by we shall hear our Redeemer say: "Well done, good and faithful soldier; thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things." Then, granted an abundant entrance into his eternal Kingdom, we shall be his assistants in the great Millennial work of teaching and helping the world in their great fight then on.

CHICAGO IN GRIP OF SLEET STORM; MUCH SUFFERING

a large schooner, with no signs of life aboard. It is believed that the crew were drowned. It is thought that the wreck is either that of the schooner Cleopatra or a schooner from Millville, both of which are long overdue.

HOUSTON, Texas, Feb. 15.—Droughty conditions in Southern Texas were relieved Sunday when more than an inch of rain fell. Last night the temperature is below freezing at this point. Cattle have been put in very bad condition by the long dry spell and it is feared there will be a heavy loss.

UPSET VICKSBURG.
Vicksburg, Miss., Feb. 15.—The most severe storm of wind and rain experienced here in years prevailed for a half hour Sunday afternoon, causing property loss estimated at $10,000. The office of the Vicksburg Herald was unroofed and a number of business houses sustained damage.

ELECTRIC LINES DISABLED.
Sandusky, O., Feb. 15.—Communication was practically cut off at 9:00 o'clock Sunday morning, when miles of telegraph and telephone wire began falling under the weight of ice and sleet. The city is without electric lights and street car service. Thoroughfares are filled in many places with limbs of trees and fallen poles.

LIVE WIRE KILLS MAN.
Ashtabula, O., Feb. 15.—The worst sleetstorm in years is in progress here. Wires are down all over the city and every public utility power is shut off as a safety measure. Lewis Kinsey lifted a live wire off a mail box and was instantly killed.

FINDLAY IN DARKNESS.
Findlay, O., Feb. 15.—Findlay last night was in total darkness on account of the worst sleetstorm in her history. Electric wires are down and the company will not turn on the current for fear of loss of life. Trolley service on the Western Ohio, T. U. & I. and F. & T. are discontinued.

AMERICAN GUNS WERE LOCKED UP; BACON GETS BUSY

uary 10 the state department had utterly forgotten the incident; otherwise attention might have been called to thematter by the large gobs of silence which marked the succeeding days, as far as the British foreign office was concerned. The silence grew more oppressive as time wore on. In the meantime the armed expedition went calmly about its business of going to the Philippines. The batteries were entrained, and not until they were speeding across the fertile valleys of Michigan did the affair begin to climb.

When the advance freight manifest of the Wabash train was submitted to the Canadian collector of customs by the Detroit freight agent, things began to happen.

"Guns!" he exclaimed. "My word! That won't do at all. You can not import guns into Canada. Fawcett that!"

When he was further told that 200 odd United States soldiers went with the guns he was moved to order several brandy and sodas, and in a very un-British haste moved on the telephone office and told Ottawa all about it. What he reported to Ottawa and what Ottawa reported to Downing street will be known some day. It is not known now, because it usually takes a British executive officer several weeks longer than any one else on earth to do business.

Such Blasted Impudence!

But let me meantime the Wabash freight agent at Detroit wired his boss in Chicago:

"This dopey layout of Blue Noses won't let passengers on our 2733 take their baggage into Canada; fix it up, or words to that effect."

Then the wires and cables got into play. In 24 hours Secretary Bacon had it all fixed up. He got his expedition through Canada, and today was able proudly to inform the war department that the long missing expedition was safely arrived in Jersey City.

Inquiry reveals the fact that the troops went through Canada in bond, if that custom may be used to cover the movements of these objects. They were locked in their cars, and their guns were taken from them and put into a separate car and sealed with the broad arrow during the period of transit.

It has since occurred to the quartermaster's department that it would have been possible for the Union Pacific to have routed the troops via the Lake Shore and the general rumormongering so much dust that it attracted the attention of Theodore Roosevelt, who has found an even more interesting "might have been."

President Takes Notice.

The president in the course of his rides has noticed that the four troops of the Thirteenth cavalry at Ft. Meyer, across the Potomac from this city, were packing up for the Philippines, and were to leave this month via San Francisco. He was much interested.

But when attention was called by the various secretaries
