A CHURCH DEFIES ITS NEW PASTOR

M. E. District Chief Says the Preacher Shall Preach—War Declared.

TRUSTEES START FIGHT

CLASH FOLLOWS DISMISSAL OF THE MINISTER BY THE BISHOP FOR HAVING IRREGULAR CREDENTIALS.

Dover, Del., April 3.—This town offers the unusual spectacle of a Methodist district superintendent stating in public print that there would be services Sunday in the Methodist church here, and the trustees of the Wesley M. E. church, Dover, quickly replying in a newspaper notice that there would be no service held in that sanctuary Sunday.

Following the severance of the relationship of pastor and people, when the Rev. A. W. Lightbourne was removed by the bishop from the charge of Wesley M. E. church here, as a result of charges of irregularities in his papers of disqualification presented from another the Rev. Dr. S. M. Morgan had printed in one of Dover's weekly papers a notice that the Rev. E. L. Hoffecker, the newly assigned pastor of Wesley M. E. church, had arrived in Dover and would preach at the regular morning and evening service. It did not specify that the preaching would take place in the church.

Immediately the trustees caused the following defiant notice to be printed in two of the weekly newspapers:

"Owing to the unsettled condition of affairs in Wesley M. E. church, there will be no services of any kind in the church Sunday. By order of the board of trustees and service committee, J. Frank Wilds, secretary."

This notice was posted on the church door by an official of the congregation.

TO BARTENDERS THIS COUNTY IS HELD AN EXAMPLE

Knights of Fidelity, Saloon Organization, Holds Meeting At Indianapolis and Plan a Campaign.

WANT PREVENT OPTION ELECTION AT CAPITAL

Knights Agree That Plan of Richmond Saloonists to Run Decent Places and Obey the Law Is Best.

(Special Correspondent.)

Indianapolis, April 3.—The Knights of Fidelity, the official organization of the saloonkeepers of the state, which has local lodges in nearly every city that is large enough to have saloons, held a meeting yesterday afternoon in this city and made preparations to fight any attempt that may be made to hold a local option election in Marion county. Over 200 members of the order were present, many of them being from other cities besides Indianapolis, and the meeting was declared the most important that has ever been held by that organization in Indiana.

The notices that were sent out calling the meeting stated that the meeting would be addressed by one of the most prominent citizens of Indianapolis, but his name was not given. When the meeting opened it was found that Mayor Bookwalter, of this city, was the prominent citizen who was to make a speech.

They Are Frightened.

It was clear right from the start of the meeting that the saloon men are frightened at the prospect, even remote as it is, of an election in Marion county, Joseph H. Schaub, one of the leaders in the Knights of Fidelity of the state, made the statement that the liquor dealers are "up against the real fight," and that they must make preparations to take care of themselves and their own interests. The temperance people are fighting and fighting hard, he said. They have been uniformly successful and they do not seem to understand the meaning of the word fail. Therefore, said Schaub, the saloon men must conduct themselves and their business in such a manner as will not excite public opinion against them.

It was pointed out that law-violating saloons have been the cause of the widespread agitation that is resulting so disastrously to the saloon business throughout the state, and that it is now time for the saloons that have been in the habit of violating the law to turn over a new leaf and obey the law.

Wayne County Example.

Wayne county was pointed to as an example of what the people think of saloons that obey the laws. Wayne county voted wet at a local option election a few weeks ago, and speakers at yesterday's meeting said it was because the saloons of Wayne county never cause the people any trouble, and therefore they have not incurred the enmity or ill-will of the people. This, it was said, is what the saloon men all over the state have got to do if they want to save themselves.

A suggestion was made and it was agreed to unanimously that from this time on the saloons of the city shall obey the law, and the members of the Knights of Fidelity have undertaken to see to it that they do obey the law. In this way they believe they can show the people that they wish to run decent places and thus keep from exciting the public against them any further.

Charges the Brewers.

Louis Yunker, one of the leaders of the Liberal league of Indiana, which also has a wide membership throughout the state among the liberals, made a speech in which he charged the brewers of the state with being the direct cause of the present deplorable condition of the liquor traffic in the state. Yunker is a manufacturer of soft drinks, and he ships his product all over the state. He declared that the Liberal league of Indiana is opposed to holding a local option election, but that it will not support the brewers in their efforts to keep the state wet unless the brewers consent to having their saloon keepers obey the laws. Yunker's speech made a sensation, because the Liberal league is strong all over the state. It is not a saloon organization, but is made up of liberal minded people of all classes, nationalities and positions and is supposed to represent that element better than any other organization in the state.

Mayor Aims Views.

Mayor Bookwalter gave the saloon men present some sound advice. His speech was bright and full of witty things, but at the same time he told the saloon keepers that their only hope of salvation for their business is for them to run orderly places and keep within the law. Disorderly places, he advised, them, will bring about their own destruction.

"I never talked to so many saloonkeepers before—all at one time," said Mayor Bookwalter. "I have talked to a good many—one at a time. There is just this about it: So long as there is a thirst and the price on one side and an article desired on the other side, the thirst, the price and the article will get together somehow and I would much prefer that they get together over a licensed bar than over a blind tiger."

This statement was cheered by the saloon men, and there were cries of "that's right."

The Musical Gamut.

Guido, a monk of Arezzo, in Tuscany, in 1009 A. D. was the inventor of the gamma "ut," or gamut, and the six notes "ut," "re," "mi," "fa," "sol," "la." These syllables were taken from the first three verses of the hymn of St. John the Baptist, "Ut queant laxis," etc. Without the use of the gamut a person could not in a little time become perfect master of plain song. Guido says, in a letter which he wrote, "I hope they who come after us will not forget to pay for us, for we make a perfect master of singing in a year or two, whereas till now a person could scarce attain this science, even imperfectly, in ten years." The gamut is the first note, but oftener taken as signifying the whole scale of music or series of sounds, rising or falling toward acuteness or gravity from any given pitch or tone.
