Jeannette Wants to Meet Johnson

WEATHER BUTTED IN KETCHEL TO FIGHT

Fans Were Sore Because Regular Game Could Not Be Pulled Off.

PRACTICE GAME PLAYED

Weather conditions yesterday afternoon were such that the ball game scheduled between the All-Kentuckians and Richmonds was not played. The visitors were in the city ready to play and rather than gain nothing from their visit a practice game was played. It resulted in a 4 to 1 score for the southerners. But the game will not go on record against the home team. It was played by agreement as a practice contest. The not overly large crowd that braved the high winds and threatening showers was given rain checks.
Several new candidates for the local team were given tryouts yesterday. Some showed they have it with them and may be expected to make good if given other opportunities. There is something of the amateur spirit of rivalry for place being shown that will be for the good of the team, each regular being forced to realize he has no sinecure on his job.

DEATH RATE IS LOW

Chicago People Now Claiming The City as a Health Resort.

LARGE DECREASE SHOWN

Chicago, May 3.—Chicago has strengthened its claims as a health resort during the first four months of the present year. In spite of adverse weather conditions its death rate of 15.1 per 1,000 is six percent below the average for ten years and .8 under the figure of 1908. This, too, in the face of the fact that the city's mortality figures for former years were among the lowest in the country.
A total of 11,049 persons died during the four months, 314 less than a year ago.
More than 22 percent of the total mortality was due to the impure air diseases, pneumonia caused 2,248 deaths, bronchitis 100 and influenza 114, a total of 2,462.
Tuberculosis stands second in order of highest mortality with a total of 1,354; 1,167 of which were from the pulmonary form.

DISREGARD NOTICES.

Regardless of the repeated notices that applications for mortgage exemptions under the law must be filed before May 1, there has been a large number of such applications received since. Several visitors to the county auditor's office today asked for this recognition and all had to be refused.

Business Good.

"Our little town is booming," said Sabbath proudly. "Down in our business section I heard a couple of traveling salesmen talking about it very enthusiastically."
"Yes?" said Citiman. "What line were they in?"
"Well—or one was selling drugs and the other funeral supplies."—Catholic Standard and Times.

The Judge—Your wife charges that you squander your money.
The Defendant—Yes; I plead guilty. I earn $20 a week, and she gets $19.25 of it. The rest I blow in for tobacco and whiskey. I'm a regular brute, Judge. Soak it to me!—Cleveland Leader.

Will Box Hugh McCann at Pittsburgh, Friday of This Week.

STANLEY WORKING HARD

New York, May 3.—Stanley Ketchel will box six rounds in Pittsburgh Friday night, his opponent being Hugh McCann, who is supposed to be Kid Hubert, a recent arrival in the smoky city.
Ketchel agreed to the match Saturday night and will get $2,000 for his end. Hubert has beaten several good ones in Pittsburgh, and the town has gone mad over him. Ketchel figures that it will be soft picking for him and jumped at the guarantee.
Ketchel has been working for the past week with Young Corbett at Woodlawn Inn.

THE NUMBER SEVEN.

It Rarely Occurs in the Science of Weights and Measures.
How would you define "seven"? The Standard Dictionary says it is "one more than six." Webster's calls it "one more than six or one less than eight." The abridged Webster says it is "five and two," and the Century's definition runs "one more than six; the sum of three and four."
In metrology—that is, the science of weights and measures—seven is comparatively rare. The seven days of the week form a striking example of its use, however.

Scholars have found, too, that the Egyptian cubit contained seven hand-breadths. "Cubit" is from the Latin "cubitus," the elbow, or the distance from the elbow to the end of the middle finger. The Roman cubit was one and a half Roman feet or 17.4 English inches, but the royal Egyptian cubit, used in the building of the pyramids of Gizeh, perhaps 3500 B. C., has been learned from measuring sticks found in the tombs to have been 20.64 English inches. The ordinary cubit was divided into six palms or hand-breadths, and the use of seven in the Egyptian cubit is ascribed by some investigators to a probable custom of placing the hand behind the elbow when measuring along walls with the forearm and leaving it on the wall until the arm was laid down again. It should be added that there are many other cubits of widely different values, both ancient and modern.—Rochester Democrat and Chronicle.

Rough on the Architect.

"When I got the order to design a big wholesale house for a firm that has stores in five cities besides New York naturally I was elated," said an architect. "I'll plan a building that is bound to be satisfactory. I said to myself, 'and then they will give me the commission for those new stores they expect to put up in those other five cities.'"
"Well, I did turn out a splendid store—a store that was admired by everybody in the wholesale trade. My patrons were pleased, too, but instead of giving me an order for those other buildings they simply used the same plans over and over again and built all their houses alike. That's what I call playing a low down trick on a fellow."—New York Globe.

Perfectly Reasonless.
The members of the church voted that their dearly beloved and devoted pastor should have a vacation, and so he decided that he would visit a brother worker in the neighboring village. This good brother, recognizing his fellow worker in the Lord way back among the congregation on Sunday morning and wishing to show every courtesy, asked him to lead in prayer. But the visitor calmly replied: "You'll have to excuse me, dear brother. I'm on my vacation."

WELL GROOMED WOMEN.

For, After All, Nature Hasn't Done Much For Them.

An Englishwoman writing in the Queen declares that she considers Nature very much overrated in the matter of taste.

"For instance," says the lady, "it is perfectly evident that Nature considers the ideal color for human hair to be that of a potato. Suggest to her the charm of auburn, gold or midnight locks and she says in effect: 'Booh! Give me a good durable shade like potato brown!'"

"Straight hair too! Wavy hair is more becoming to ninety-nine cases out of a hundred, yet I suppose not one woman in a thousand has real, natural wavy hair. Nature likes a shiny nose. Not Venus herself would look well with a shiny nose, yet life's pathway would be illuminated by countless millions of them if we left the matter to Nature."

"When it comes to our attitude or carriage, how many of us would not stoop if we were simply natural? Our arboreal ancestors probably stooped frightfully. Our feet! Theories to the contrary notwithstanding, I assert that running about without shoes spoils the beauty of one's feet."

"Though nobody thinks less of a small waist than I do, I assert that if I had a waist of more than twenty-five inches I should look dowdy unless it was round. The lucky possessor of an absolutely round waist may have one of twenty-five inches and still appear to measure only eighteen."

"Nothing can be more beautiful than an absolutely lovely, natural woman—a woman with perfect skin and hair, features and figure. A woman for whom Nature has done everything at her very best—but how often do you find her? Once in a million times perhaps."

"As for most of us, we want our hair, even if abundant, to be coaxed into brilliance and form; we want our possibly natural teeth carefully preserved and kept clean. The same with our skin. We want to be taught to walk and dance and hold ourselves properly, to wear the right stays, the right boots, the right clothes. We want our color instinct and our general taste trained; we want to be taught in youth not to talk through our noses or out of our mouths, not to laugh too loud or in an unfortunately acquired manner. We want to be taught to take care of our nails—the nail left to Nature does Nature but scant justice. In short, we require civilization where our appearances are concerned if we are to be fit to look at."

The demand for tickets by members of the Commercial club for the club's annual banquet, to be given tomorrow evening in the banquet hall of the Masonic building is very large and it is believed that more will attend than ever before. Already Secretary E. M. Haas has made arrangements for 200 persons. A number of calls were made this morning for tickets.

ALL VOTE BEFORE GOING

With the exception of the Hon. William Dudley Foulke and Nettleton Neff, the local delegates to the Peace Convention at Chicago, selected by the Commercial Club, left today for that city. The session opened today and will not adjourn till Wednesday evening. Those who went are Benjamin Johnson, Dr. S. E. Smith, Prof. A. L. Kelly, Timothy Nicholson and W. K. Bradbury. The local delegates did not leave the city in time to attend today's session as all desired to vote at the republican primary. Mr. Nicholson besides being a representative of the Commercial Club is also a delegate for the Friends' Peace Society and for Indiana, having been appointed by Governor Marshall. Dr. S. E. Smith is also an appointee of Governor Marshall as well as the Commercial Club.

HOLD CELEBRATION

Forty-ninth Anniversary of St. Joseph's Society Celebrated, Sunday.

REV. BRACKMAN SPEAKS

The forty-ninth anniversary of the founding of St. Joseph's society was celebrated yesterday by that organization. In the afternoon the members attended St. Andrew's church in a body and were addressed by Rev. Father Brackman on the subject, "Blessed is the Man Who Endureth Temptation." Socialism was treated by him in his discourse, he declaring that this was not the remedy for the ills of mankind and should not be substituted for Jesus Christ.

Joseph Werner, Sr., is the only charter member of the society still living. The organization was started with 10 members and now numbers 182 members. During the fiscal year, Joseph Larbes, August Scherer, Joseph Brune, Henry Waltermann, Herman Schnoepf and Otto Zeyen, members of the society died.
At the services yesterday afternoon, Father Roell pastor of the church presided, assisted by Rev. Father Weiland. The Blessed Sacrament was given.

Returns from the primary election will be received at the Y. M. C. A. building this evening. With base ball scores and election returns coming in, what better place could be found for a young man to pass his evening in?

Salt Lake in the World.
This is Lake Urmia, in Persia, situated more than 4,000 feet above the level of the sea. It contains 22 per cent of salt as against 8.5 per cent in the Dead sea. The lake is eighty-four miles long and twenty-four miles broad, and its northern coasts are fringed with a border of salt glittering white in the sun. No living thing can survive in it except a species of very small jellyfish.
