It is only in comparatively modern times that butchers have been utilized as butchers. The Greeks and Romans knew nothing of them, and, though they presented themselves as ornaments in the fourth century, butchers were still an uncleaned of country.

FAST WORK ON DORMITORY

The trustees of Wernle Orphan's Home are desirous of securing the city water works at the home, east of the city. It is believed that with city water, the inmates would be protected from disease, such as typhoid fever, which was very prevalent last summer and fall. It would also be an increased protection from fire. The corner stone of the new dormitory will be laid May 16, according to present arrangements. The work is progressing very satisfactorily, the foundation having been installed and the workmen are now working on the superstructure.

PHYSICIANS HOLD MONTHLY MEETING

No Report Made by the Board Of Censors.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Wayne County Medical Society yesterday afternoon, Dr. Charles S. Bond delivered a stereoscopic lecture on "Some Pathologic Conditions of the Heart." Following this the physicians discussed some interesting cases of the past month. The attendance was very small. No reports were made by the board of censors.

The Smart Vesper. The church possessed a valuable Bible, which was only used on Sundays, says a writer in an English magazine, speaking of an English country parish. During the week it was kept in a box which rather curiously formed the stand upon which the reader of the lessons stood. On one occasion when this was being shown to a visitor the remark was made that it did not seem very reverent for even a clergyman to be seated upon the Bible. "Parsons me," the old vesper replied. "In this church, we take our stand upon the Scriptures."

ITALIAN FATALLY INJURED BY FALL OF AN AEROPLANE

Today While Young Army Officer Was Practicing With Wright Machine It Made a Sudden Descent.

HUNDREDS OF ROMANS WITNESSED ACCIDENT

After Tragedy, Attempt Was Made to Notify the Wrights By Wireless—Young Man Was Promising Pupil.

Rome, May 6.—Lieut. Calderara, the protegee of the Wright brothers, in aerial navigation, was perhaps fatally injured today while making a flight in the Wright machine. A great crowd was looking on when Lieut. Calderara made his ascent. In appearance the ascent was no different from hundreds made by the Wrights. Suddenly when the machine had soared to a height of 100 feet the motor stopped. The car hung stationary for a minute, then dropped like a shot.

For an instant the concourse of watchers were too much stunned to move. Then a cry went up and men ran forward to the side of the unconscious aeronaut, while women screamed and fainted. The car was found to be almost completely wrecked and Calderara lay in the mass of wreckage unconscious and with the blood streaming from several jagged cuts.

Taken to Hospital. Medical aid was summoned and Calderara was removed to a hospital. Meanwhile unexcited scientists began looking over the aeroplane to see whether it could be used again soon. Word was instantly dispatched to Orville and Wilbur Wright, who sailed yesterday for New York on the Kron Prinzessin Cecilie from Southampton, England.

An attempt will be made to notify them by wireless. This is the first ascent of importance that the Italian lieutenant has attempted to make without the supervision of either Orville or Wilbur Wright.

Promising Pupil. Calderara was one of the most promising of the Wright pupils. Intensely interested in aerial navigation he entered into the venturesome experiments with a keen zest. He was willing to undertake the greatest risks to promote the science of flying. When the Wrights left they thought him entirely safe in his own hands and gave him free use of the aeroplane in which Wilbur Wright had achieved such triumphs in France and Italy.

The medical officers of schools do good service in pointing out that boxing, rowing, swimming and long distance diving are exercises which severely tax adolescents and before assuming which they should be medically examined, just as for running—London Hospital.

NEW RECORD MADE BY CIRCUIT COURT

In First Twenty-six Days of Term, Many Cases Disposed Of.

COURT FULFILLS PROMISE

SIXTY CIVIL, EIGHT CRIMINAL AND THREE JUVENILE CASES EITHER SETTLED OR STRICKEN FROM DOCKET.

A record has been established by the Wayne circuit court in the number of cases disposed of in the first twenty-six days of the April term. Sixty civil cases, eight criminal and three juvenile, have been settled and stricken from the docket. This does not include the large number of cases that have been advanced by hearing on demurrers, filing of additional paragraphs, answers, etc. It never has happened before in the memory of any of the present court officials that so many cases were disposed of in such a short time.

Told the Attorneys. At the beginning of the term, Judge Fox told the attorneys he wanted to push matters as rapidly as possible. The January term closed with the court far behind the docket. The Hodgins will case intervened and occupied the time of the court for two weeks, delaying all other litigation. But since the new term has begun the "hurry up" tactics have been more prominent than at any time during the year.

An additional feature to the large number of cases disposed of this term is the fact the intervention of the jury has not been needed. The members of the petit and grand juries have not been served. The attorneys have shown a marked disposition to try cases before the court in preference to a jury.
