COLLEGE TOWN IS GREATLY STIRRED

Body of A. H. Ketterling, Miami Graduate, Found in Pool of Blood.

A SUICIDE OR A MURDER?

GENERAL OPINION IS THE YOUNG MAN BECAME DESPONDENT AND TOOK HIS LIFE—BODY WAS FOUND YESTERDAY.

Oxford, O., May 13.—Oxford, and particularly that part which is close to the affairs of Miami University, was stirred yesterday as it has not been stirred before, when the body of Arthur H. Ketterling, of Cincinnati was found on the C. H. & D. railroad track. The young man had just mutilated at the college. His body was found by railroad section men. There is a diversity of opinion as to whether death resulted from murder or suicide. The strongest indications are that the young man was despondent from some unknown reason and took his own life. At the college the evidence favors suicide, but all indications at the scene on the railroad make it appear the young man was lured to the lonely spot, murdered and his body thrown on the rails.

Wrist Were Gashed.

At the foot of the railroad embankment a mile east of Oxford the young man's body was found in a pool of blood. The wrists had been gashed with a razor and there were three slashes on the throat. About the place where evidently death had been met the ground was trampled down and there was evidence of a scuffle. A razor was found nearby that has been identified as belonging to the young man. If he suicided at the foot of the embankment how did his body happen to be on the rails to be struck by the train is an unanswered question.

Boston has launched a project for a great world's fair in 1930, to commemorate the three-hundredth anniversary of the landing of the Pilgrims and the founding of New England. The Herald, with great enthusiasm, takes up the movement and says: "In 1920 sixteen years will have passed since the preceding great exposition in this country, that of St. Louis, which commemorated the Louisiana Purchase; twenty years will have passed since the preceding great exposition in Europe, that of Paris in 1900. The interval is, therefore, not too short, nor is the announcement too far in advance."

GAS FACTORIES

In People Who Do Not Know How to Select Food and Drink Properly.

On the coffee question a lady says: "I used to be so miserable after breakfast that I did not know how to get through the day. Life was a burden to me. When I tried to sleep I was miserable by having horrible dreams followed by hours of wakefulness. Gas would rise on my stomach and I would belch almost continually. Then every few weeks I would have a long siege of sick headaches. I tried a list of medicines and physicians without benefit."

"Finally, I concluded to give up my coffee and tea altogether and use Postum. The first cup was a failure. It was wishy-washy and I offered to give the remainder of the package to anyone who would take it."

"I noticed later on in one of the advertisements that Postum should be boiled at least 15 minutes to make it good. I asked the cook how she made it and she said, 'Just the same as I did tea, being careful not to let it steep too long.'"

"I read the directions and concluded Postum had not had a fair trial, so we made a new lot and boiled it 15 to 20 minutes. That time it came to the table a different beverage and was so delicious that we have been using it ever since."

"My sick headaches left entirely as did my sleepless nights, and I am now a different woman."

"There's a Reason." Read "The Road to Wellville" in pkgs.

CIDER FROM TOWN PUMP FOR CITIZENS OF ZOAR

Columbus, O., May 13.—Zoar, O., promises to be the most popular town on earth. Involuntarily "dried" by the operation of the Rose liquor law, the citizens have hit upon a plan for quenching all thirsts. A cement cistern with a capacity of one hundred barrels is being cleaned out, and next fall it will be filled with apple juice. The cistern was used for this purpose several years ago by the Zoar Communist society. A pump will be placed above the cistern and cider will flow like water.

THE THEATER

THEATRICAL CALENDAR.

NEW PHILLIPS.

All Week—High Class Vaudeville.

GENNETT THEATRE.

Week of May 10.—Cook Stock Co.

The New Phillips.

Success, magnificent and the semblance of a dream, has met the efforts of Potts Brothers and company, who opened a good act at the Phillips this afternoon. Having traveled the eastern country, visiting every city with a habitation of over twenty thousand, making good wherever they went, they decided to try Ohio and Indiana and easily landed a berth with a client that would take them into God's country. To say the least, their success here has been nothing less than what they met before and a great future certainly awaits them. They are appearing in "Double Trouble," a high class comedy playlet.

Mrs. K. Ito and each in her turn has made the local audience sit up and take notice. Mrs. Ito has a magical act that beats anything ever seen here and Miss Griffith is a singing comedienne of no mean ability. They are both good enough to get the hand many times.

The Lancet wants to sign one more death warrant. This time it is the early morning cup of tea that is in disfavor. It is admitted that this institution is a source of comfort and refreshment to a good many persons when the mental and physical faculties are in a more or less lethargic state, and that being so, the Lancet is probably quite right in asserting that "it is superfluous for physiology and chemistry to preach that the practice may be beset with troubles connected more or less with the gastric machine."

RAILROAD MEN IN SEARCH FOR BOY

Panhandle and C., C. & L. Employees Much Interested in the Case.

TRACED INTO RICHMOND

HERE ALL TRACE OF THE MISSING CINCINNATI LAD WAS LOST—FRANTIC PARENTS OFFER A GOOD REWARD.

Local employees of the branch of the Pennsylvania lines that extends from Cincinnati to Chicago, and of the C. & L. are assisting in the search for a lost boy. The railroad authorities have given their sanction to the search and it is being prosecuted with eagerness. The railroaders are on the outlook for Walter Dager, a Cincinnati youth who very suddenly and equally mysteriously disappeared from his home city Monday morning, April 26. It is learned that for some reason he had intended going to Chicago. It is learned that for some reason he had an insatiable desire to go to Chicago. It is the fear of his father that the boy has met with some accident or injury while attempting to bum his way to the Windy City.

Father Mail Carrier.

Walter Dager, Sr., his father, is a mail carrier living in 433 Boundnot avenue, Cincinnati, and his family are nearly distracted at the boy's disappearance. He has written to several people along the line. Local railroad authorities and detectives are on the lookout for him in this city.

Dager and another boy were seen on a freight train bound for this city Monday morning, April 26. He was also seen at Miami, Ohio, and Okeana and Bath, Ind. He was put off a passenger train at Cottage Grove Tuesday, and was thought to have taken a freight train for Richmond. No further trace of him has been found by his parents.

The boy is thought to be making his way to Chicago.

Reward and Description.

A reward of $50 is offered by his parents for his apprehension.

Walter is 15 years old, 5 feet tall and is rather stockily built, weighing about 115 pounds; gray eyes and brown hair.

When he left home he was dressed in a gray checked coat, brown knickerbockers and wore a plain blue shirt without a collar.

SEASICK MAN IS CAUSE OF PANIC

English Passenger on Steamer Arriving at New York Today, Is Insane.

KEPT IN SHIP'S PRISON

ESCAPED FROM HIS STATEROOM AND WANDERED ABOUT, KNOCKING ON DOORS AND ALARMING STEAMER'S INMATES

New York, May 13.—Driven insane by seasickness, William J. Hawke of Cornwall, Eng., was removed from the liner Teutonic upon her arrival here today from Southampton, and taken to Ellis Island, where he was placed in the prison hospital. Hawke, who is bound for Chicago, showed the first symptoms of insanity several days out from Southampton, following a severe attack of seasickness. His condition became so serious that he was placed in the prison hospital of the ship and confined there until the ship's arrival here today.

A Violent Attack.

Hawke, who was accompanied by his brother, George Edward Hawke, had never been on the ocean before and he suffered from seasickness in a more violent form, according to the ship's surgeon, Dr. Flemming, than anyone else on board, although all the passengers kept to their staterooms for the greater part of the way. The Teutonic had a tempestuous voyage.

"When the vessel was two days out from port, Hawke left his stateroom in the middle of the night and went from one cabin to another, knocking at the doors and shouting that the vessel was in port and directing all the passengers to get ready to leave."

Almost a Panic.

There was almost a panic in a portion of the liner until Hawke was caught by several stewards and led back to his own stateroom. Dr. Flemming was called and declared the man dangerous and advised his detention. He was placed in the hospital on board, a prisoner, and kept there until the Teutonic reached quarantine.

Dr. Flemming said that the insanity of Hawke was probably only temporary and that he would very likely be able to go on to Chicago within a short time.

The benzene of soda, used in foods to disguise the fact that putrefaction had set in, would remove the danger signal, while leaving the dangerous poison of ptomaines, is the strange objection to the bill legalizing the preservative in Pennsylvania offered by Dr. William M. L. Coplin, of Philadelphia. Dr. Coplin was formerly director of the Department of Health and Charities of Philadelphia.

UNJUST TO JAPAN ARE THE REPORTS

Ambassador Takahira in Address Denies His Countrymen Are Warlike.

MUST NOT OFFEND PRIDE

NOR SHOULD THEIR ANGER BE AROUSED WITHOUT STRONG REASONS, THE STATESMAN SAID IN AN ADDRESS.

Boston, Mass., May 13.—In an address delivered by Baron Takahira, the Japanese Ambassador at Washington, before the Cosmopolitan Club at Harvard, he said in part:

"As we are misunderstood in some quarters as a warlike nation, as if we always think about making war and plundering the land and pocket of somebody else, it would be well to say something about peace, not only for our sake, but for yours."

A Happy Sign.

"It is an undeniable fact that as civilization advances, international interest in commerce is greatly developed and a general desire for peace is proportionately increased. It is a happy sign of the times that measure after measure is successively devised to assure the security of peace. We should carefully investigate into the actions of Powers that tend to disturb the national temper or pride of others."

"The human mind is rational with every people. Anger is not to be incited without some reason or provocation, nor is pride to be offended without some good cause. Among such causes those most reasonably suggested are misgovernment and disorder of the country and illiteracy and ignorance of its people. This is the circumstance which called my attention to the co-operation of education."

Spirit Is Everything.

"Last year, on the occasion of the laying of the corner stone of the Bureau of American Republics at Washington, Mr. Elihu Root said: 'The matters in dispute between nations are nothing; the spirit which deals with them is everything.'"

"It is the spirit which is important more than anything else for the adjustment of controversies, and therefore it is the spirit which has more to do than anything else with the maintenance of peace."

THEIR HEARTS WON

Southerners Are Grateful for The Return of a Battle Flag.

PRESENTED BY OHIOANS

Huntsville, Ala., May 13.—By your magnanimity in returning this flag to those who love it you have achieved a greater victory than on the day you tore it from the hands of the proud troops that carried it," said Mrs. Chas. G. Brown, president of the Alabama Daughters of the Confederacy, last night, addressing the delegation of Fourth Ohio Cavalry veterans, who brought the ancient flag back home.

Draws Big Crowd.

The presentation ceremonies attracted an audience of 2,000 people. H. E. D. Mallory, of Selma, made the opening address on the bravery and chivalry of the confederate soldiers, and then Paul S. Peake introduced John A. Pitts, of Ohio, as one of those who were brave enough to capture the flag and generous enough to return it.

Mr. Pitts expressed appreciation for the magnificent ovation given the Ohio veterans and said his heart was full of love for his old confederate comrades. In accepting the flag Mrs. Brown formally expressed her thanks to the governor, legislature and people of Ohio and the brave veterans who won the trophy. Its return, she said, was proof that the men of the North and South have come to recognize the merit of each other.

Captain Goddard, of the Fourth Ohio, also made a brief address.

The red and white crossed flag of Denmark is said to be the oldest existing national color, having been in use since the year 2222.
