A GREAT RECORD
WAS ESTABLISHED

Past Year Not One Passenger on Panhandle Killed By Train Accident.

WERE ONLY 102 ACCIDENTS

DURING THE PAST YEAR THE SYSTEM CARRIED 141,659,543 PASSENGERS, SHOWING LOSS OF SEVEN PER CENT.

Pittsburgh, May 17.—Reports just compiled of all accidents on the 23,000 miles of track of the Pennsylvania Railroad System for the past year, show that during 1908 the various lines of the System carried 141,659,543 passengers, and that not one single passenger was killed as the result of an accident to a train.

During the year the lines of the System carried 11,344,413 less passengers than in 1907—a loss of 7.4 per cent., but the total number of passengers injured in train accidents numbered only 102, a reduction of 432 or 81.6 per cent. from 1907. These figures include every case requiring surgical or medical attention, however trivial. It will thus appear that, counting every personal injury due to train wrecks, only one person out of every 1,388,819 passengers carried was injured.

Injured Per Cent Small.
The number of passengers traveling a distance of one mile during the year was 3,457,671,462, so that for each passenger carried one mile, the proportion was 32,808,739 carried in safety to one injured.

The passenger trains of the Pennsylvania System during 1908 traveled 58,440,449 miles. The fact that the millions of passengers carried were handled with much safety is made more significant by the fact that along side the passenger trains, freight trains were operated for a total of 90,203,906 miles.

Statistics for the Pennsylvania Line East of Pittsburgh, directly operated, show a total of 88,228,004 passengers carried in 1908, and but 51 injured in train accidents. Passengers carried one mile numbered 2,148,457,251, so that 42,124,614 passengers travelled one mile before anyone was injured through a train wreck.

West of Pittsburgh.
On the Lines West of Pittsburgh, directly operated, 22,314,299 passengers were carried during the year, and there were but 17 injured as the result of a train accident. Thus the chances were 1,312,900 to one that every passenger who started upon a journey during the year would reach his destination in safety.

Of the subsidiary lines, independently operated, the record of the Long Island Railroad is most striking. That line carried during the year 23,242,828 passengers and only 17 were injured in train accidents. Passengers carried one mile numbered 3,222,800. This line has now been operated for some fifteen years without a fatality to a passenger, due to a train wreck.

On the Vandalia Railroad passenger trains traveled during the year, 2,583,817 miles, and freight trains 2,836,360 miles. The number of passengers carried one mile 1,068,743,226, and only 11 were injured on account of accidents to trains.

"The Governor, the Girl and the Wise Guy."

"Music and Mirth in plenty" is what a leading critic wrote in his review of the performance of the new musical comedy presented by The Wayne company at the Gennett theatre for three nights' engagement commencing Thursday, May 20. This opinion is but a repetition of that expressed wherever the performance has been accorded criticism. From a managerial standpoint the best proof that it pleases its audiences lies in the fact that return engagements are almost invariably requested. It is promised that it will be presented by an unusually strong company that includes a chorus of twenty and with scenery and costumes which for lavishness will compare with those of any other like attraction now on the road.

The New Phillips.

The exchanges were right. The show which the Edna Davis Trio is putting on is worth the while, without the least particle or iota of a doubt. The scenic effects and electrical displays are wonderful, both to the trained and untrained eye. The life and vivacity put into the singing and dancing is also a strong point in this company's favor.

And the little comedy is good, too. Hamlin and Notes, the two girls putting it on, do not make any bones about their acting but they are certainly there.

Carrath, the equilibrist, pulls off some balancing feats that are amusing and breath-taking. He got the band many times today.

FANATICISM TO BE CHECKED BY
HEAD OF CHURCH

Sheik-Ul-Islam Will Issue New Religious Fetwa to Be Distributed Throughout the Rioting Zone.

CONSTITUTION DOES NOT INJURE RELIGION

High Priest Urges Teachers And Church Heads to Assist In the Work of Regenerating Turkey.

Constantinople, May 17.—A new religious fetwa will be issued by Sheik-Ul-Islam, head of the Mohammedan church, which will have for its object the checking of the fanaticism in Asiatic Turkey. The fetwa is in the form of a circular letter addressed to the religious teachers and priests of the faith. It denies that the new constitution of Turkey under the Young Turk regime infringes upon the divine law, and it urges the teachers and priests in favor of the constitution which will regenerate Turkey. The letter also urges tolerance to non-mohammedans, thus giving a check to massacres of mohammedans and foreigners.

WOMEN LEAVE HAREM

Constantinople, May 17.—Eighty women from Abdul Hamid's harem, richly dressed and veiled, were driven in carriages under the escort of four eunuchs and a troop of cavalry from the Yildiz to the ancient Seraglio Palace, which has been unoccupied since about 1824. Curious bystanders were driven away from the exit of the Yildiz Palace by a guard of soldiers. Following the carriages was a train of wagons with baggage. The Yildiz is being made ready for the admission of the public.

Most of the former sultan's slaves have been freed.

The arrest of Prince Durban Ed Din, the fourth son of the deposed sultan, is confirmed. He will be interned in one of the palaces here. Nothing is known of the precise charge against him, but he was under suspicion of being implicated in the mutiny of April 13.

Scheffert Chief Figure.

Mahmoud Scheffert Pasha, commander of the Turkish constitutional forces, both land and sea, is the man most frequently in the thoughts of those observing or dealing with the confused politics of the day in Turkey. He is the one quiet figure upon whom rests the preservation of order, and the civil branches of the government look to him to impose their liberal rule upon the empire and to deal promptly with persons or factions dangerous to the state.

General Scheffert's whole day after 9 o'clock in the morning is allotted to military business. He is a tall, wide-shouldered, thin Arab of Bagdad, with some Georgian blood. He is a man of extreme composure, only his eyes shine like those of an enthusiast.

ATTACK ARMENIANS.

Adana, Asiatic Turkey, May 17.—Two hundred Armenians, who started away from here were fired on soon after their departure from the city by a band of Moslems. The Armenians returned here panic-stricken. The military commissioners, however, gave assurances that the Armenians would be safeguarded and sent out patrols through the country.

Captain William A. Marshall, commanding the United States armored cruiser, North Carolina, now at Messina, and Edward I. Nathan, the American consul at Patras, Greece, are now at Adana, engaged in an investigation of conditions.

VIGOROUS OLD AGE.

Men Who Did Good Work in the Evening of Life.

Enrico Dandolo was not elected doge of Venice until he was eighty-two years old, and he still retained the fire and vigor of his youth. He assaulted and took the city of Constantinople when he was ninety-two years old, himself displaying the gonfalon of St. Mark and animating his followers to the charge. Villars, the French general, in his eighty-fourth year, was crippled with wounds and disease, led a cavalry charge with the same light hearted contempt for danger displayed by him in his youth. The men who won distinction in high command during the mutiny against the English in India in 1857-8 were all of them well advanced in years. Sir Colin Campbell, the commander in chief, was sixty-five; Havelock was sixty-two, Sir Hugh Rose fifty-seven and Sir James Outram fifty-four. They stood the fatigue of field service in a tropical climate, with the thermometer at from 110 degrees to 119 degrees in the shade, as well as younger men.—English Magazine.

Two of a Kind.

A distinguished specialist in Washington was called upon a week or two ago by an eminent government official for treatment for a nervous ailment.

"The first thing you must do," said the physician after an examination, "is to give up both smoking and drinking."

Whereupon the eminent official became real peevish. "Look here, doctor," he burst out, "now you're talking just the way I do."

KILL WHITE ROBIN

Montclair, N. J., Has Bird Story Equal to the One Originating Here.

MEETS AN UNTIMELY END

Montclair, N. J., May 17.—The white robin which has made its home on the Rand estate in this town, has met with a cruel and untimely fate. The crushed body of the robin was found near the tree that sheltered her nest, and it is presumed that the Albin bird was killed by some boy with a sling shot.

The white robin has mated with a robin of ordinary plumage and three whitish eggs in its nest were expected to produce albinos in the course of a few weeks.

HAINS RECEIVED
SEVERE SENTENCE

Was Given Indeterminate Term of From Eight to Sixteen Years.

HE TOOK BLOW CALMLY

WHEN ASKED WHERE HIS HOME WAS HE PITIFULLY REPLIED "I HAVE NONE"—CLEMENCY PLEA OVERRULED.

Flushing, L. I., May 17.—Capt.

Peter C. Hains was today given an indeterminate sentence to Sing Sing prison of from eight to sixteen years at hard labor, for killing William E. Annis, at Bayside yacht club last summer. Justice Garretson overruled the motion for a new trial, and declared the killing of Annis was unjustified.

Captain Hains received his sentence without showing either regret or fear. When asked his name, he replied, simply, "Hains." When asked if he was married he stood mute, but his counsel answered for him, saying "Yes."

He Has No Home.

Asked where his home was, he muttered in a faltering voice, "I have none." The counsel then moved that the verdict be set aside as contrary to the law and evidence, but Justice Garretson overruled this and after the junior counsel for Hains pleaded for leniency, in which he was joined by District Attorney Dewitt, the justice declared that Hains stood before the bar of justice the same as any other prisoner and proceeded with the sentence as above. Hains' father and brother were in court and received the blow with much emotion.

HISTORY ON A TUSK.

Picture Made by a Cave Man Millions of Years Ago.

Long ago, so long that even a scientist would hardly dare venture a guess as to the date, a man clad with only a wild beast's skin about his loins was sitting at the mouth of a cave in one of the rocky highlands in what is now southern France. He was scratching with a sharp flint on the fragments of an ivory tusk, perhaps picturing for some youthful admirers adventures through which he had passed or animals he had slain. That ivory chip was stored away as a treasure, to be lost and forgotten after the cave man's death. One day a man named Lartet, digging in the cavern floor, found it. On it was scratched a very fair representation of the hairy elephant, probably at once the oldest picture and the oldest human record in existence.

We know the cave man was a faithful workman, for the melting ice fields of Siberia have yielded a perfect specimen of this extinct mammal, and the paleolithic picture is a true copy. Not only has this ancient sculptor given us a sample of the earliest art, but he has left us, more valuable than all, a historical record of his time, for this rude picture is simply a page from the cave man's history which, translated into twentieth century English, says, "Men, thinking men, were contemporaneous with the hairy elephant." No record that any of humankind have ever left is half so ancient as this. The oldest Egyptian papyrus is a thing of yesterday compared to this paleolithic sculpture. While the cave man was living in Europe the valley of the Nile was yet only a wild waste. Egypt was not yet Egypt, and civilization as we know it had scarcely made a beginning.—Lippincott's.

Shy on the Sen.

"But I do not know the candidate," said an old Yorkshire farmer who was appealed to for his vote.

"But you know his father?"

"Yes, I know him, and he's a grand man."

"Then you will surely vote for his son, won't you?"

But the old farmer was still doubtful.

"I'm no so sure about that," he replied; "It's no every one that has a cauf like herself."—Liverpool Mercury.

Queer, but Expressive.

A Danish girl who has recently come to this country to take a course in trained nursing was complaining to a friend the other morning of having overstepped herself. "And no reason why such a thing should befall me, for I had—what do you call it in English? I know, a sleep watch—all set."—Washington Star.

TAKE MORSE CASE TO FEDERAL COURT

Wife of the Former Ice King Is Rewarded for Her Plucky Fight.

WAS NEVER DISCOURAGED

GAME LITTLE WOMAN DID NOT GIVE UP CONTEST FOR A HEARING EVEN WHEN FRIENDS DROPPED THE CASE.

New York, May 17.—The plucky fight of Mrs. Charles W. Morse to get her husband, the one-time ice king, out of the Tombs on bail, was taken into the United States circuit court of appeals today. Mr. Morse's lawyers asked the court to give their client a chance to offer any sum of money as bail, pending the appeal of the cases upon which he was convicted and sentenced to 10 years for irregular banking practices.

Then practically all of the former ice king's friends had given up hope of getting him his liberty pending his appeals to the United States supreme court. Mrs. Morse began the fight anew. She retained Martha W. Littleton and other prominent lawyers and through her efforts the circuit court of appeals was today offered a list of men prominent in finance and prominent socially, each of whom offered to put up $50,000. This list was put before the court as a petition and practically it offers bail up into the hundreds of thousands dollars for Mrs. Morse says she can secure many more names.

Attitude of Financiers.
The attitude of the financial men to the man in jail is shown in the statement of William O. Allison, president of the National Reserve bank, that while he did not know Morse personally he was willing to put up $5,000 on principle, because he believed that any banker in the city could be convicted on the same charge that Morse was convicted on.

"These gentlemen," said Mrs. Morse, referring to the signers of her petition, "have signed it and are offering their money because of the innocence of my husband, and that he will not run away but will remain to fight out his case to the end."
