FIGHT STREAM POLLUTION

THIS MOVEMENT HAS RECEIVED THE HEARTY ENDORSEMENT OF FARMERS WHO LIVE SOUTH OF RICHMOND.

The Wayne County Fish and Game Protective association will meet tomorrow evening at the court house. The articles of incorporation have been filed and will be read at the meeting. It is the urgent desire of the officers of the association that all persons who desire to affiliate with such an organization be present and become members. The announcement that it is the intention of the society to undertake warfare against the pollution of the Whitewater river has met with commendation from many sources. The endorsement that is assured from farmers living along the stream is expected to lead them to co-operate with the members of the club to promote the work.

Want to Enlarge.
It is the desire of the organizers that the membership be increased to several hundred if possible. It is not the intention to limit in any way the membership to Richmond fishermen or those in the vicinity. It is hoped by the promoters that sportsmen in Dalton, Washington, Franklin and Boston townships as well as all others will see fit to affiliate with the club and join it.

The articles of incorporation state the object of the association is to establish and maintain brookeries for the purpose of restocking the streams of the county with little-mouth black bass and other game fish, and to promote and cultivate fraternal feeling among the members.

A $1,000 SALARY PROVIDED FOR A MILK INSPECTOR

City Health Officer Dr. C. S. Bond, Is Greatly Disappointed by the Action Taken by the Council.

MILK ORDINANCE IS ENACTED BY COUNCIL

Measure Is Rigid and Its Enforcement Will Mean, It Is Believed, Salvation of Richmond Babies.

Did those, especially the physicians of the city, who were anxious that a strict milk ordinance be passed, gain a material victory, in the one passed by council last evening, and by the passage of an ordinance fixing the salary of the dairy inspector at $1,000 a year?

It is probable they would answer this question in the negative, so far as the latter ordinance is concerned, judging from the attitude displayed by Dr. Charles Bond, city health officer, and most zealous advocate of a rigid milk ordinance. He appealed to council to fix the salary of the inspector at $1,200, or more, a year in order that a capable man might be employed. He almost conceded the fight a partial victory for the dairymen.

Only Few Amendments.
The two ordinances were read section by section and placed upon their passage after the adoption of a few amendments. These amendments did not affect the original ordinances greatly and council, in each instance, passed the ordinances unanimously. The milk ordinance was amended in only a few particulars. Instead of calling the new officer "food inspector," the ordinance was amended to read "dairy inspector." This amendment was also made in the ordinance fixing the salary and duties of the inspector.

The license fee to be charged each dairymen, as provided in the milk ordinance, will be $1, which, it is believed, will be sufficient to cover the expenses incurred by the creation of the ordinance. In the original ordinance fixing the duties of the inspector, the salary was left blank, but council decided last evening to make it $1,000 a year, the inspector to furnish his own conveyance.

Thinks Salary Small.
Dr. Bond declared that the ordinance was one of the most important ever coming before the council's consideration. He declared that it was absolutely essential, if the babies were to be protected from bad milk, that a veterinary surgeon be employed who was familiar with the diseases of cattle; could detect these diseases when he looked over a herd; could analyze milk and otherwise be professionally acquainted with the details of the work required. He declared the government was paying $1,300 to $1,800 for veterinary surgeons and that the demand for good men exceeded the supply, therefore, a reason why Richmond should pay a good salary to its dairy inspector. Councilmen refused to admit that the ordinance, with the salary clause, was a victory for the dairymen. They claimed that other cities are paying less salaries than Richmond and receiving satisfactory results. In case of an emergency, councilmen declared, the health officer could be called in. When it was necessary to analyze the milk, they said, take it to Earlham college. It was asserted by several of the members that even though the inspector would have to furnish his own conveyance, they believed they could get a capable officer for $1,000.

London Fog.
A leading scientist has shown by photographs taken from a balloon that London fog extends sometimes to 2,500 feet above ground. Fog extending over an area thirty miles square and having a depth of a mile would require a good deal of mechanical effort to set in motion. The weight of the atmosphere is some fifteen pounds to the square inch. Four hundred cubic miles of it presses down with the weight of millions of tons, and all the power sunk by human endeavor in Great Britain's locomotives, automobiles and electric power and lighting works would not be sufficient to give it enough movement to clear it off for half an hour or half a minute.—London Answers.

Curious Remedies.
Oil from the church bell and other queer remedies still have their faithful adherents, but nobody nowadays thinks of adopting such horrid nostrums as were solemnly recommended by a "sage" wise man who lived circa 1700. His prescription for whooping cough bade the nurse obtain three field mice, flay (slay) them—let us hope he does not mean alive—and draw them. Roast one of them and let the party afflicted eat it. Dry the others in the oven till they crumble to powder and put a little of this powder into what the patient drinks at night and morning. The assumed easiness of the patient to devour field mice is pathetic.—London Graphic.

Stout Party.—Are you aware, sir, that you deliberately stuck your umbrella in my ear last evening? Little Bifferton—Very careless of me, I'm sure. I wondered what became of it, and—would it be too much trouble to ask you to return it?—Liverpool Mercury.

GOVERNOR KIBBEY HIGHLY HONORED

Arizona People Shower Gifts On Former Richmond Man On Retirement.

DISGRACE REPORT FALSE

LIE GIVEN TO STATEMENTS SENT OUT FROM WASHINGTON BY APPOINTMENT PRES. TAFT RECENTLY OFFERED.

Some Washington correspondents have been industriously at work for some time, circulating the report that Joseph Kibbey, a former Richmond man, had been dismissed in disgrace from the governorship of Arizona, judging from the following, clipped from a Phoenix, Ariz. paper, these reports are the falsest kind of fabrications:

Offered a Position.

The interesting fact was made public at the capitol this morning that Governor Kibbey had been tendered by President Taft the position of associate justice of the supreme court of Arizona and that the governor, for business reasons, had declined the honor. The proffer of the position, among other things, indicates the confidence which President Taft reposes in the present chief executive of Arizona.

When Judge Sloan was in Washington, called there by the president in reference to the acceptance by him of the governorship of the territory, President Taft decided to offer to Governor Kibbey the position of judge and he commissioned Judge Sloan with the task of acquainting Governor Kibbey with his desire in the matter. When Judge Sloan returned to Arizona he brought with him the president's message to the governor. Owing to business reasons, the position could not be accepted, but the governor wired his appreciation of the honor.

Wanted to Retire.

Frank Kibbey stated this morning that his brother wanted to retire from the governorship, and worked to have Judge Sloan appointed to succeed him. President Taft finally made this appointment.

On the night of his retirement from office, a big reception was tendered him, at which he received tokens from the people in the form of gifts in silver, cut glass and gold. It is true that Gov. Kibbey was not well liked by the mine owners and railroad officials. The liquor and gambling people were also against him. Governor Kibbey was opposed by them because he enforced the law on gambling and liquor selling and made the mine owners and railroad officials pay a higher tax on their holdings. The copper mine owned by Senator Clark of Montana, which nets him about $12,000,000 per year, was assessed at $60,000, but Gov. Kibbey greatly increased this.

FELL OFF THE PIKE.

The noise of the falling of a large section of water spouting off the building, occupied by the Pike saloon, North Seventh street, to the brick paved alley this noon, caused many people to believe an explosion had occurred. A large crowd quickly gathered at the scene. No one was hurt.

Y. M. C. A. ELECTION.

A large number of members of the Y. M. C. A. are expected to be present at the second annual meeting of the association, this evening. Directors and trustees whose term of office expires June 1, will in nearly every instance be re-elected. Any active member is eligible to nomination on either board.
