SUPT. T. A. MOTT IS WORKING HARD

He Is Trying to Send Big State Delegation of Educators To Convention.

HE IS INDIANA DIRECTOR

BIG MEETING OF SCHOOL WORKERS WILL BE HELD AT DENVER IN JULY AND THERE WILL BE A STRONG PROGRAM.

Supt. T. A. Mott of the Richmond public school is busily engaged in issuing circulars announcing the annual meeting of the National Educational association in Indiana and he is using every possible means towards having 1,000 Indiana pedagogues attend the meeting. It is expected that there will be a large number take advantage of the low fare from Richmond, as a number have already signified their intention of attending. It is a splendid trip and has seldom been equaled.

The National Educational Association is the most influential body of educational workers in the world. The work done at its various meetings sounds the key note of the educational progress in America.

Program is Strong.

The program for the session is exceptionally strong. Many of America's greatest educational leaders will take part in the work of the various departments and it is believed that the teachers of the country can not be better benefited than by attending the sessions.

Indiana's representation and influence is very strong at the National gathering. There are at present 165 active members and it is expected that this number will be increased to 500. The Indiana headquarters will be at the Brown Palace hotel, one of the finest in Denver. The special fare offered from Indianapolis is $32.90.

CLASS '06 WILL HOLD A REUNION

Members Invited to Assemble Here During the Big College Event.

THERE WERE 42 MEMBERS

SEVENTEEN HAVE ALREADY ACCEPTED AND IT IS THOUGHT THAT THE ENTIRE MEMBERSHIP WILL BE PRESENT.

The '06 class of Earlham college, one of the first to issue the Sargasso, is planning to have a reunion in connection with the fiftieth anniversary ceremonies of the college, which are to be held in June. Orville Brunson and Miss Elsie Beeler of this city, are at the head of the movement and have sent invitations to the members of the class which consisted of some 42 members.

Seventeen Heard From.

At the present time seventeen members have been heard from, and will return to their college to recount their many experiences. They are: Archie Bond, of the Indianapolis Medical school; Otto Haisley of Three Rivers, Mich.; Pearl Rinehart, Dayton, O.; De-Ella Leonard, pastor of Friends church, Bloomington; J. Reuben Beachler, apt. schools Piquette, Park Newlin, Indianapolis; Jennie Lindley, Indianapolis; "Pretty" Rufus Allen, manager of ice cream company, at Anderson; Edna Clay of North Salem; Maude Wood of Bloomington; Marcia Furness, Indianapolis; Forrest Kepton, Centerville; Annette Johnson and Etha Child of Fairmount; Thurlow Shugart of Marion; George Hamilton, Mrs. Blanche Burgess, Elsie Beeler and O. M. Brunson of Richmond. It is expected that nearly every member will be present.

A special correspondent of a Vienna paper writes this about a recently opened department store in London: "To the great displeasure of the English people, the store owes its existence to American money, and it will be conducted on American lines. London has a full quota of large stores, but this did not deter the Americans. No; they opened their store in the very heart of the business district. 'Just to make things lively,' they say. There it stands, this American colossus, a symbol of American strength and self confidence. Fancy the arrogance contained in the advertisement: 'Our business, large as it will be, will not injure the old, honorable and carefully conducted concerns in our neighborhood. On the contrary, our business will be of inestimable value to them, for it will attract the world to our district.' What will these Americans do next?"

A rabbit hears a man and a dog coming and goes bounding away for safety. The dog strikes the scent, smells around briefly and then is off in the direction the rabbit has taken. The wonder is that the dog should strike the scent, but this: Each of the several spots the rabbit touched by him within the fraction of a second of one another; yet so accurate is the sense of the smell of the dog that he can tell which was touched last, and so get the direction of the rabbit's course.

SENATOR CLAY IN A STRONG ATTACK ON SUGAR TRUST

In the Senate Debate Today He Advocated Seizing and Strangling to Death the Great Combine.

CHEAPER SUGAR IS ADVOCATED BY HIM

He Says That the Trust is the Most Grasping and Undesirable of the Many Now in The Country.

Washington, May 19.—"Let us grasp the sugar trust by the throat and strangle it to death," was the plea of Senator Clay in an impassioned attack on the great monopoly during the tariff debate today in the senate. The senator said:

"The consumption of sugar in the United States for the year 1908 was 8,185,780 tons, about 81 pounds per capita. Nearly two-thirds of this sugar comes from foreign countries into the United States. The total amount of beet sugar produced in the United States last year was only 440,200 tons and the total amount of cane sugar produced was only 335,000 tons. The American Sugar Refining company, commonly called the Sugar Trust, owns the principal sugar refining refineries in the United States, and is almost without competition in refining sugar. One must clearly understand that the tariff on refined sugar is nearly two cents per pound, and is so high as to almost entirely prohibit the importations of foreign sugar into this country.

U. S. Gets Small End.

The government only gets fifty-three millions in customs duties, leaving eighty-three millions and eighty thousand, and most of which goes to the sugar trust. The American people have paid taxes on an average of fifty millions per year during the last twelve years on sugar amounting to fully $600,000,000. The American consumers of sugar have paid the American Sugar Refining Company, commonly called the 'sugar trust' at least fifty-five millions per year in profits, amounting in twelve years to $600,000,000.

"Let us give to the American people, cheap sugar. Let us grasp the sugar trust by the throat and strangle it to death and keep in view the interest, the happiness, and welfare of the plain people of America.

Can Give Figures.

"I have figures and facts before me which clearly show that the American Sugar Refining company, commonly called the 'Sugar Trust,' has repeatedly sold considerable quantities of sugar for export at nearly two cents per pound less than the price quoted in the domestic market.

"The most grasping and undesirable trust to be found anywhere in the American Sugar Refining company, commonly called the 'Sugar Trust.' The steel trust and the Standard Oil trust by the throat and strangle it to death and keep in view the interest, the happiness, and welfare of the plain people of America."

BLACK HAND AGAIN

Thought Dread Society Caused Death of the Oxford, O., Student.

MYSTERIOUS LETTER SENT

Suspicion points to the operation of the Blackhand Society in connection with the death of Arthur Ketterling, the Cincinnati youth whose dead body was found on the railroad track near Oxford, Ohio last week.

"This is to let you know that your son tipped off the Black Hand, of which he was a member, to the police for that he paid the penalty. Close your mouth. Black Hand."

This is the contents of a letter received by Mrs. Emeline Ketterling, mother of the Miami University student, who mysteriously died. The letter was received by her brother, George Ketterling, a brother of the dead student. The letter was written on the same stationery as the letters that were received by Coroner Burnett and Chief Millikin, of Cincinnati. The three missives were mailed in Cincinnati at 2 o'clock last Friday morning and were all signed "Black Hand." Both Mrs. Ketterling and the son, George, testified they believed Ketterling, the student, had been murdered. They said they believed his assailants killed him by slashing his throat and wrists with his razor and then placing his body in front of the train. Mrs. Ketterling declared the report that her son was financially embarrassed was not true.

Canada, Denmark, France, Germany, England, Russia, Sweden and the United States were, in 1908, represented among the twelve expeditions which were struggling toward the pole. Eight leaders were veterans—Peary and Cook, of the United States; Bernier, of Canada; Erichsen and Rasmussen, of Denmark; Charcot, of France; Shackleton, of England, and Goss, of Sweden.

PAPER FOR MONEY.

Extreme Care and Scurry Used in Its Manufacture.

The various great nations devote much study to the improvement of their secret processes of manufacturing paper for money and banknotes, the principal object being, of course, to render counterfeiting more and more difficult.

Our own government guards with extreme care every detail of the manufacture of this paper, laying special importance upon its secret of getting silk thread into the composition of the paper itself.

The efforts of this government, however, are not nearly so painstaking as those put forth in making the funny paper used for Bank of England notes, which are probably the finest paper money in the world. These notes are manufactured from fine Irish linen, and the peculiar properties of the Test water (so called from the river of that name) unadorned paper of a purity and texture unsurpassed. The secret of the security of the Bank of England notes against forgery and counterfeiting is said to be entirely in the paper itself and not in the printing.

In addition, the notes show a watermark so cleverly devised that an expert from the mill can tell by a glance at the date of manufacture the very name of the employee who made it. The watermark is produced by a design countermark in the woven wire bottoms of the trays in which the hot paper pulp is poured and dried. It has never been successfully imitated.

Extraordinary precautions are taken for the security of the mill where these notes are made, as well as of everything in the mill. There is, of course, a staff of police constantly in attendance and a private wire to police headquarters, nine miles away.

The watchmen who patrol the mill corridors every night must pass at each quarter of an hour clocks of wonderfully ingenious construction, the revolving disks of which are placed with holes, which at the precise moment the watchman is due before them pass over a slot. The watchman passes through a peg he carries, and the clock ticks on. Should he not present himself at the moment scheduled for him to appear, however, the timepiece immediately sounds an alarm.—New York Tribune.
