

Use it or not, as your doctor says
You could not please us better than to ask your doctor about Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for coughs, colds, croup, bronchitis. Thousands of families always keep it in the house. The approval of their physician and the experience of many years have given them great confidence in this cough medicine.

News of Surrounding Towns

CAMBRIDGE CITY, IND.

Cambridge City, Ind., May 22.—Mrs. Amanda Mack has returned to her home near Hagerstown, after a two weeks' visit with Miss Jennie Barnett.

S. B. Fisher, who has acted as traveling salesman for a shoe house, has been compelled to give up work on the road, on account of serious trouble with his eyes.

Miss Emma Nicholson of New Castle is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Bent Wilson.

George Stombaugh, Jr. and Miss Adeline Ingman, were quietly married by the Rev. J. E. Coffin at the Methodist parsonage, Thursday evening. They have gone to house-keeping in their own property, which they had previously furnished in East Cambridge.

Miss Winifred Wagner celebrated her fifteenth birthday anniversary, Friday evening. She entertained a few of her friends, at the Bijou Theatre, and later at her home. Refreshments were served in a pleasing manner by the young hostess.

Mr. H. Trichter, of Cincinnati, was here, the guest of Mrs. E. F. Hahn, the first of the week.

The trustees of the Methodist church are improving the appearance and adding to the convenience of the parsonage by the addition of a coat of paint to the exterior and a number of needed improvements on the interior.

Thomas Peet made a shipment of plants to Rushville, Friday.

Mrs. E. D. Eby, of Connersville, is here, the guest of her sister, Mrs. Ellis Filby. She will visit friends in Indianapolis before returning home.

Miss Helen Filby entertained a number of her young friends in a very pleasant manner, at her home on West Main street, a few evenings since. Music and dancing were features of the evening's entertainment. Light refreshments were served.

Honor has been accorded Miss Emma Murray, a graduate from the Cambridge City schools, and who will complete the course at DePauw University, in June. From a class of eighty seniors, Miss Murray was elected Phi Beta Kappa, only one other receiving like honor. Miss Murray now wears the key which is earned and not conferred.

Mrs. John Carr and son Henry and Mrs. Amanda White of Jacksonburg, visited in this place Friday.

Memorial services will be held in the Presbyterian church, Sunday morning, at 10 o'clock, for all soldiers, their families and friends is especially desired.

The ladies of the Cemetery association are making a special effort to have Capital Hill cemetery in good condition before Decoration Day.

Foley's Honey and Tar is a safeguard against serious results from spring colds, which inflame the lungs and develop into pneumonia. Avoid counterfeits by insisting upon having the genuine Foley's Honey and Tar, which contains no harmful drugs. A. G. Luken & Co.

LETTER LIST.

List of uncalled for letters at the post office:

Women—Zenita Boxley, Flory Brubaker, Mamie Bingley, Miss Emma Barter, Mrs. Louise Cook, Mrs. M. A. Cochran, Mrs. J. F. Donavin, Mrs. Walter Green, Mrs. Mahoney Jeffers, Eva McKee, Miss Esta Means, Miss Ruth Neal, Mrs. Richard Phelps, Miss Fannie Rick, Dr. Margaret J. Reynolds, Mrs. Marie Reynolds, Miss Mary Toney, Mrs. Elmer Turner, Anna Wohlmut.

Men—Herbert Brown, John A. Colline, Clark Fruit Co., John Corrigan, Wm. Dinsan, Arthur Edgington, Garr Brown, Marvin Garrett, C. Hodkin, Harris & Shoppell, Frank Jones, S. W. Jackson, D. Marks, J. T. Mitchell, Jim Miller, Jim More, Frank Moss, Marriott & Dewart, Frank Newman, Rev. Raymond Neal, Pete Quinlan, W. W. Spratley and Co., B. F. Shirod, J. W. Smith, T. I. Smith, James Taylor, Tom Tivnan, W. E. Thompson.

Drops—Harry Kamp, Mrs. Libbie McMahon, Sam Smith.

J. A. SPECKENHIER, P. M.

"When a man is in love everything looks different to him."

"Yes, it's the same when he knocks his head against a lamp-post."

FOUNTAIN CITY, IND.

Fountain City, Ind., May 22.—Mrs. Dr. Nixon who has been spending the winter in Mississippi is home for the summer.

Prof. Kelly's class of the Richmond high school were in town Thursday to view the old "Underground Railway Station." Rev. John Wright Johnson gave them a historical talk.

Mr. Harry Wooters and wife of Richmond spent a day this week with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wooters.

Mrs. Sidney Barnes of Richmond, who has been here visiting her sister Mrs. Richard Wooters and brother Mr. Samuel Barnes has returned home.

Mrs. Chalmers Aughee and Mrs. Alford Hill spent a day this week with Mr. Mahlon Horne and family near Arba.

Mrs. Richard Wooters and Mrs. Emma Woolman spent a day this week in Richmond.

Mr. Will Bennett and family of Richmond are moving into Stephen Thomas's property. Mr. Bennett will engage in the coal and gasoline business.

YOUNG MEN WANTED

Manufacturers and Wholesalers the Country Over Want Men, at Salaries Ranging from $2,000 to $10,000.

Why young men prefer a life of drudgery at a small salary to dignified and agreeable work with a large salary is a mystery to those who are going ahead.

Without any previous experience, any young man of ordinary education can become a trained salesman in six weeks.

Traveling salesmen earn from $2,000 to $10,000 a year and expenses, and with the return of prosperity thousands are in demand.

The Bradstreet System has successfully trained thousands of young men by mail in salesmanship, and the president makes this announcement to the readers of the Richmond Palladium. He says: "I will teach you salesmanship at your home in six weeks, and secure you a position as a traveling salesman with a reliable firm. I have written a book which tells how easy it is for any young man with ambition to succeed as a salesman. This book I will gladly send you free." Write for it today, to the President Bradstreet System, 174 Cornwall Bldg., Rochester, N. Y.

HAGERSTOWN, IND.

Hagerstown, Ind., May 22.—Mrs. C. N. Teator and Mrs. John Teator spent Friday and Saturday at Indianapolis.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Will Kelsey of Cambridge City at the home of her parents, Dan Cordell and wife, at this place.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Reynolds have been visiting friends at Muncie and vicinity.

Miss Anna Burgess who resigned as teacher of the second primary department of our public schools a year ago and with her father, Wm. Burgess, removed to Knightstown, has accepted the position as teacher in the primary department of the schools at New Castle.

Newton Abrell has returned from Indianapolis where he was a delegate to the Grand lodge of Odd Fellows.

Mrs. Chas. Keys returned Friday from Indianapolis and also a short visit with Mrs. John Thompson at New Castle.

The weather permitting, Hagerstown will be well represented at Jacksonburg Sunday, when Memorial Day will be observed.

Mrs. Lew Bowman spent Thursday with Mrs. Sol Bowman, west of town who is very sick with the erysipelas.

The house of Arthur Plummer is now receiving the finishing touches and Mr. Plummer and two little daughters Helen and Katherine will be pleasantly situated in their new home in a few days. Mr. Plummer has employed a competent lady of Indianapolis to take charge of the home and children.

Miss Esther Jones and Miss Mary Wilson of Richmond, attended the May dance and were guests over night of Mr. and Mrs. John Hunt.

Miss Marguerite Wilson and Miss

Harriet Lyons of Richmond attended the May dance Thursday night.

Miss Hazel Robinson of New Castle, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Fouts and attended the dance.

The two houses of the Tidewater Oil company, west of town, are nearly completed for the occupancy of the two engineers and their families.

M. O. Strickler and Mr. and Mrs. Allen Fouts, were at New Castle, Thursday.

Mrs. John Sells has been the guest of relatives at Indianapolis the latter part of the week.

We often wonder how any person can be persuaded into taking anything but Foley's Honey and Tar for coughs, colds and lung trouble. Do not be fooled into accepting "own make" or other substitutes. The genuine contains no harmful drugs and is in a yellow package. A. G. Luken & Co.

MILTON, IND.

Milton, Ind., May 22.—Rev. C. H. Pinnick will have part in the program at the County Sunday School association at Williamsburg next week.

Mrs. Keever of near Jacksonburg visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Colbert Crowner Wednesday.

A car load of logs was shipped to Ft. Wayne by J. Cartwright, the timber buyer.

Mrs. Mary Walker and daughter Carrie visited relatives at Ogden, Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Dowhower entertained Wm. Bragg and family at dinner Friday.

Bert Hoel is engaged at carpenter work at Cambridge City.

Mrs. Sherman Working and son Paul spent Thursday at Dublin visiting relatives.

H. Newman has completed the enumeration of children of school age in Washington township. The total is 201, a shortage of 19 from last year's number.

The Home club was entertained by Mrs. Lydia Ferris, Friday night.

Rev. F. A. Scott is visiting relatives at Windfall. He will return and fill his regular appointment at the Christian church Sunday.

Mrs. E. P. Jones is able to sit up at St. Vincent's hospital, Indianapolis and will return home early next week.

The croquet court is a popular place for men to pass their time.

J. T. Faucet has returned to Hamilton, Ohio, after a visit with his brother, John Faucet and family.

A. J. Murley is home temporarily from Elyria, Ohio. June 1 he will go on the road installing telephone outfits.

D. C. Nugent was at Spiceland Wednesday.

Mrs. Hiram Elwell, who is taking treatment at Martinsville is much improved.

Mrs. Mary Burdick is being benefited at Spiceland.

THE HARDY CODFISH.

It Will Live For Hours Out of Its Native Element.

A man who had stopped at a stand in Fulton market to buy a fresh fish pointed his finger at a fish that pleased his fancy, being about two feet long and weighing about five pounds.

"That looks like a nice fish to me," he said, whereupon the dealer picked the fish up to put it on the scale.

The moment he picked it up the fish began to wriggle, and the next moment it had slipped out of the dealer's grasp and fallen on the sidewalk.

As the fish went down the customer turned to the stand and picked up another, which the dealer picked up, and this fish stayed quiet until it had been put on the scale, but the instant it touched it it began to flop vigorously and finally slipped itself out of the scale pan, to fall on the stand below.

Codfish these two lively and vigorous fish were, the cod being a fish that will live out of the water three or four hours, a good deal longer than most fish.

At Fulton market live cod can almost always be found. The dealers keep their stock in fish cars in the East river, just across South street, and for retail trade bring over maybe fifty or a hundred pounds at a clip, enough to last half an hour or an hour, and when the stock runs low they bring over another lot, fresh out of the fish car.

The cod, though a salt water fish, will live for hours in fresh water. An angler who goes occasionally to the fishing banks tells of carrying home a codfish caught in the afternoon and placing it in a bathtub, to find it alive the next morning.—New York Sun.

Miss Margaret Ashton, sister-in-law of James Bryce, has been elected a town councillor in her native town in England.

FRANKLIN "WETS" FORESEE VICTORY

Wayne's Staid Little Neighbor Is Voting on Booze Question Today.

POLITICIANS VS. "DRYS"

COUNTY, STIRRED UP TO EVEN GREATER INTEREST THAN WAS SHOWN LAST FALL AT THE PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION.

Brookville, Ind., May 22.—Franklin county is in greater suspense concerning today's local option election than was indicated in the last presidential contest, and a forecast as to the result is as uncertain as the horoscope of a Chinese juggler.

The "wets" say they will win by 800 majority, while the "drys" exactly reverse these figures. A careful examination of the conditions would indicate 400 to 500 "wet." The "drys" have carried a large list of speakers and have been particularly active.

The Franklin County Business Men's association appointed executive and press committees, and has carried on a close campaign without publicity, while both newspaper and circular argument has been used freely. This organization is independent of that of the forty-three saloon keepers and their employees and assistants.

All the saloons in the county closed front and back doors at 6 o'clock last evening, to remain shut until Monday.

Politicians Favor the "Wets."

Both sides appear confident, but the fact that nearly all the successful politicians of the county are with the "wets" would seem to give their claims greater credence.

Three townships are now "dry" by remonstrance which closed eight saloons. Six weeks ago the county would have gone "dry" by a handsome majority owing in part to general apathy. The campaign has effectively removed this.

Soaking rains Thursday and yesterday morning preclude all farm work, and the reports telephoned the leaders would indicate that the vote of last November will be surpassed.

Franklin county is unlike any other in Indiana in its conservatism. There are many who cling to past ideals and are hard to start on new lines. The personal bitterness which has grown out of the contest is intense, and will be permanent.

The temperance women have a strong organization, and today are serving refreshments at the polls. Both sides are making strenuous efforts to prevent personal settlement of ill feeling at least until after the polls are closed.

People past middle life usually have some kidney or bladder disorder that saps the vitality, which is naturally lower in old age. Foley's Kidney Remedy corrects urinary troubles, stimulates the kidneys, and restores strength and vigor. It cures uric acid troubles by strengthening the kidneys so they will strain out the uric acid that settles in the muscles and joints, causing rheumatism. A. G. Luken & Co.

Garfield Notes

The annual track meet is the absorbing topic with the Garfield boys at present. It will be held at the school playgrounds Saturday, May 29, beginning possibly at 1:30 p. m. No admission will be charged, but programs will be on sale at ten cents each. A refreshment stand will be conducted by the girls. A list of the former records of the school has been posted on the bulletin board and is an object of much study to aspiring young athletes. It is probable that several of these records will be broken at the meet this year. A new feature this year is to be the admission of the boys of the 7B classes to contest in the different events. In the junior contests, boys under fourteen, may enter and these may carry off some of the honors and add uncertainty as to the final outcome.

Miss Mary E. Richmond, general secretary of the Society for Organized Charity in Philadelphia, has just been elected secretary of the Russell Sage Foundation for the Improvement of Social and Living Conditions. She will write, teach and organize along the lines of social science, in which she has been successful in Philadelphia during the last twenty years. She will have charge of all the work of the Foundation relating to the extensions of charity organizations.

During the spring every one would be benefited by taking Foley's Kidney Remedy. It furnishes a needed tonic to the kidneys after the extra strain of winter, and it purifies the blood by stimulating the kidneys, and causing them to eliminate the impurities from it. Foley's Kidney Remedy imparts new life and vigor. Pleasant to take. A. G. Luken & Co.

The English Blue and White.

In 1749 George II. accidentally met the Duchess of Bedford on horseback in a blue riding habit faced with white and was so pleased with the effect of it that, a question having been just raised as to the propriety of deciding upon some general dress for the royal navy, he immediately commanded the adoption of these colors, a regulation which appears never to have been questioned, nor does it exist in the records of the admiralty, although a subsequent one in 1757 refers to it.

ONE BUSINESS REFORM.

Brought About by Frank Statements From Former Employees.

If the manager of a business institution knew all that his employees know about the details of the business many things would be different. The manager of a large mercantile house recently conceived the idea of writing a personal letter to every employee who had left the house during the last five years, inviting a frank statement of the reason for leaving. The former employees, now expecting neither censure nor favor, were very frank and explicit and, as a rule, wrote letters that could not fail to command respectful attention. One man told how hard he had worked to support his mother and how, when he asked for an increase, he was shifted back and forth between different superiors for several weeks without having his request rejected or acceded to and he grew tired and sought another position. Another told of the impositions of the department manager and of his inability to get relief from a nagging disposition which was taking the heart out of hundreds of other men in his department. Many points of obvious mismanagement were brought to light which had virtually driven away good men who had been educated to the business. The manager has been busy ever since instituting reforms based upon the information he received.

ONE BUSINESS REFORM.

Brought About by Frank Statements From Former Employees.

If the manager of a business institution knew all that his employees know about the details of the business many things would be different. The manager of a large mercantile house recently conceived the idea of writing a personal letter to every employee who had left the house during the last five years, inviting a frank statement of the reason for leaving. The former employees, now expecting neither censure nor favor, were very frank and explicit and, as a rule, wrote letters that could not fail to command respectful attention. One man told how hard he had worked to support his mother and how, when he asked for an increase, he was shifted back and forth between different superiors for several weeks without having his request rejected or acceded to and he grew tired and sought another position. Another told of the impositions of the department manager and of his inability to get relief from a nagging disposition which was taking the heart out of hundreds of other men in his department. Many points of obvious mismanagement were brought to light which had virtually driven away good men who had been educated to the business. The manager has been busy ever since instituting reforms based upon the information he received.

ONE BUSINESS REFORM.

Brought About by Frank Statements From Former Employees.

If the manager of a business institution knew all that his employees know about the details of the business many things would be different. The manager of a large mercantile house recently conceived the idea of writing a personal letter to every employee who had left the house during the last five years, inviting a frank statement of the reason for leaving. The former employees, now expecting neither censure nor favor, were very frank and explicit and, as a rule, wrote letters that could not fail to command respectful attention. One man told how hard he had worked to support his mother and how, when he asked for an increase, he was shifted back and forth between different superiors for several weeks without having his request rejected or acceded to and he grew tired and sought another position. Another told of the impositions of the department manager and of his inability to get relief from a nagging disposition which was taking the heart out of hundreds of other men in his department. Many points of obvious mismanagement were brought to light which had virtually driven away good men who had been educated to the business. The manager has been busy ever since instituting reforms based upon the information he received.

ONE BUSINESS REFORM.

Brought About by Frank Statements From Former Employees.

If the manager of a business institution knew all that his employees know about the details of the business many things would be different. The manager of a large mercantile house recently conceived the idea of writing a personal letter to every employee who had left the house during the last five years, inviting a frank statement of the reason for leaving. The former employees, now expecting neither censure nor favor, were very frank and explicit and, as a rule, wrote letters that could not fail to command respectful attention. One man told how hard he had worked to support his mother and how, when he asked for an increase, he was shifted back and forth between different superiors for several weeks without having his request rejected or acceded to and he grew tired and sought another position. Another told of the impositions of the department manager and of his inability to get relief from a nagging disposition which was taking the heart out of hundreds of other men in his department. Many points of obvious mismanagement were brought to light which had virtually driven away good men who had been educated to the business. The manager has been busy ever since instituting reforms based upon the information he received.

TAPS IS SOUNDED FOR ENCAMPMENT

State Veterans Adjourn Meeting Yesterday After Electing Officers.

SOMERS NOW COMMANDER

MAJOR M. M. LAGEY OF FOUNTAIN CITY WITHDREW HIS NAME AS CANDIDATE AND FRIENDS GO TO THE WINNER.

Crawfordsville, Ind., May 22.—After the three branches had elected their officers for the ensuing year and swept the slate of all unfinished business the thirtieth annual encampment of the Indiana G. A. R. came to a close yesterday and the majority of the veterans departed for their homes. The G. A. R. adjourned at 1 o'clock. The Ladies of the G. A. R. at 5 o'clock and the Woman's Relief Corps at 7 o'clock.

Orlando A. Somers of Kokomo was elected department commander on the first ballot, receiving 351 votes to 171 for his opponent, Col. C. G. Thompson of Lafayette. Col. Thompson announced that he would be in the race again next year. Maj. M. M. Lagey of Fountain City decided this morning not to permit his name to go before the encampment, and his friends voted for Somers. Other officers were elected as follows: Senior vice commander, Byron R. Russell of Crawfordsville; junior vice commander, August Leich of Evansville; chaplain, W. P. McKinsey of Plainfield; medical director, Dr. S. I. Brown of Knox.

Council Officers.

The following were elected members of the council of administration: Col. C. C. Schreeder of Evansville, Jesse Robertson of Terre Haute, Capt. John D. Alexander, retiring department commander, of Bedford; Henry Root of Michigan City and Mayor Russell Finney of New Albany. Col. John R. Fessler of Indianapolis, was reappointed assistant adjutant general of the department.

Daniel M. Ransdell of Washington, D. C., sergeant-at-arms of the United States senate, but a member of George H. Thomas Post of Indianapolis, was elected delegate at large to the national encampment in Salt Lake City. Col. W. S. Haggard, commander, at the State Soldiers' Home, Lafayette, was elected as his alternate.

Mr. F. G. Fritts, Ontario, N. Y., writes: "My little girl was greatly benefited by taking Foley's Orino Laxative, and I think it is the best remedy for constipation and liver trouble." Foley's Orino Laxative is best for women and children, as it is mild, pleasant and effective, and it cleanses the system and clears the complexion. A. G. Luken & Co.

COLOR WORDS.

Red Seems to Be the Favorite With Most of the Great Writers.

Upon tabulating the words used by Shakespeare referring to colors it is revealed that out of every hundred color words thirty may be classed as red. Next follow twenty-two white, twenty black, seventeen yellow, seven green and only four blue. Thus Shakespeare's favorite color word was red, and investigation will show that this is the characteristic color of nearly all the great writers. For instance, it is the color word most often employed by Tennessee.

In all great works of human literature red predominates, as it is the color of the very strongest of our passions and impulses—the color of hot blood. There is no color so warm, so full of joy and life, so overflowing with vitality.

Red is the color of glowing iron—of heat and passion. In nature red hastens the growth of trees, while at the same time it quickens all rotting and decay. Plants grown under red glass will grow four times as quickly as under white light, and grow to four times their usual height.

Red in excess has an evil effect. For example, an excess of red light makes one irritable and nervous. In excess red produces homicidal mania—the desire to kill. The effect of red upon various animals is well known, it having the power of enraging the bull, the tiger and the turkey.—London Scrap.

ONE BUSINESS REFORM.

Brought About by Frank Statements From Former Employees.

If the manager of a business institution knew all that his employees know about the details of the business many things would be different. The manager of a large mercantile house recently conceived the idea of writing a personal letter to every employee who had left the house during the last five years, inviting a frank statement of the reason for leaving. The former employees, now expecting neither censure nor favor, were very frank and explicit and, as a rule, wrote letters that could not fail to command respectful attention. One man told how hard he had worked to support his mother and how, when he asked for an increase, he was shifted back and forth between different superiors for several weeks without having his request rejected or acceded to and he grew tired and sought another position. Another told of the impositions of the department manager and of his inability to get relief from a nagging disposition which was taking the heart out of hundreds of other men in his department. Many points of obvious mismanagement were brought to light which had virtually driven away good men who had been educated to the business. The manager has been busy ever since instituting reforms based upon the information he received.

ONE BUSINESS REFORM.

Brought About by Frank Statements From Former Employees.

If the manager of a business institution knew all that his employees know about the details of the business many things would be different. The manager of a large mercantile house recently conceived the idea of writing a personal letter to every employee who had left the house during the last five years, inviting a frank statement of the reason for leaving. The former employees, now expecting neither censure nor favor, were very frank and explicit and, as a rule, wrote letters that could not fail to command respectful attention. One man told how hard he had worked to support his mother and how, when he asked for an increase, he was shifted back and forth between different superiors for several weeks without having his request rejected or acceded to and he grew tired and sought another position. Another told of the impositions of the department manager and of his inability to get relief from a nagging disposition which was taking the heart out of hundreds of other men in his department. Many points of obvious mismanagement were brought to light which had virtually driven away good men who had been educated to the business. The manager has been busy ever since instituting reforms based upon the information he received.

ONE BUSINESS REFORM.

Brought About by Frank Statements From Former Employees.

If the manager of a business institution knew all that his employees know about the details of the business many things would be different. The manager of a large mercantile house recently conceived the idea of writing a personal letter to every employee who had left the house during the last five years, inviting a frank statement of the reason for leaving. The former employees, now expecting neither censure nor favor, were very frank and explicit and, as a rule, wrote letters that could not fail to command respectful attention. One man told how hard he had worked to support his mother and how, when he asked for an increase, he was shifted back and forth between different superiors for several weeks without having his request rejected or acceded to and he grew tired and sought another position. Another told of the impositions of the department manager and of his inability to get relief from a nagging disposition which was taking the heart out of hundreds of other men in his department. Many points of obvious mismanagement were brought to light which had virtually driven away good men who had been educated to the business. The manager has been busy ever since instituting reforms based upon the information he received.

ONE BUSINESS REFORM.

Brought About by Frank Statements From Former Employees.

If the manager of a business institution knew all that his employees know about the details of the business many things would be different. The manager of a large mercantile house recently conceived the idea of writing a personal letter to every employee who had left the house during the last five years, inviting a frank statement of the reason for leaving. The former employees, now expecting neither censure nor favor, were very frank and explicit and, as a rule, wrote letters that could not fail to command respectful attention. One man told how hard he had worked to support his mother and how, when he asked for an increase, he was shifted back and forth between different superiors for several weeks without having his request rejected or acceded to and he grew tired and sought another position. Another told of the impositions of the department manager and of his inability to get relief from a nagging disposition which was taking the heart out of hundreds of other men in his department. Many points of obvious mismanagement were brought to light which had virtually driven away good men who had been educated to the business. The manager has been busy ever since instituting reforms based upon the information he received.

ONE BUSINESS REFORM.

Brought About by Frank Statements From Former Employees.

If the manager of a business institution knew all that his employees know about the details of the business many things would be different. The manager of a large mercantile house recently conceived the idea of writing a personal letter to every employee who had left the house during the last five years, inviting a frank statement of the reason for leaving. The former employees, now expecting neither censure nor favor, were very frank and explicit and, as a rule, wrote letters that could not fail to command respectful attention. One man told how hard he had worked to support his mother and how, when he asked for an increase, he was shifted back and forth between different superiors for several weeks without having his request rejected or acceded to and he grew tired and sought another position. Another told of the impositions of the department manager and of his inability to get relief from a nagging disposition which was taking the heart out of hundreds of other men in his department. Many points of obvious mismanagement were brought to light which had virtually driven away good men who had been educated to the business. The manager has been busy ever since instituting reforms based upon the information he received.

ONE BUSINESS REFORM.

Brought About by Frank Statements From Former Employees.

If the manager of a business institution