Cleveland, May 22.—Washington, 4. Cleveland 1, was the tale of the final battle today of the series here. Three runs were gifts, the others earned by Brown's bunt single and Conroy's three-bagger to right, in the third. Berger hit Milan in the second and a passed ball and McBride's single over short scored Milan. Short singles by an and McBride and Clymer's sacrifice in the fourth turned into two runs, when Easterly throwing to third, hit Milan, the ball rolling far beyond third. Hinchman tripped and Berger doubled in the third for Cleveland's lone tally. Hughes than replaced Johnson, fanning eleven. Rhoades worked the final two rounds for Cleveland. Score:

WHITE SOX WINNER.

Chicago, May 22.—Doc White's triple in the fourth and the steady pitching of Smith enabled the White Sox to beat Boston 2 to 1 in the last game of the series. Southpaw Wolter was easy in spots for the locals, who should have tagged more runs on nine swats for a total of 13 bases. Steele relieved Wolter in the eighth with one out and men on second and third. The splitter headed off the rally. Boston's only tally was scored in the eighth on one single and Wolter's double. Smith held the enemy to four hits and the pitcher got two of them. Score:

KNOCKED OUT SPEER.

Detroit, May 22.—The Athletics knocked Speer out of the box and ran bases at will whenever Rossman got the ball. Four of the visitors first five runs were scored on the first baseman's bad judgment and poor marksmanship. Plank was in fine form and would have shut the Tigers out but for his balk. Score:

SEPARATION CAUSE OF MUCH COMMENT

Newport Society Now Has a Choice Morsel.

New York, May 22.—Members of New York's and Newport's most exclusive social circles expressed little or no surprise today when they learned that Dr. Smith Hollins McKim, and his wife, formerly Margaret Emerson, had agreed to disagree, and that their separation had been announced. It is said Mrs. McKim, on her return from Europe, will seek a divorce. Dr. McKim comes from an old Maryland family, which has taken a ranking place in Baltimore society for several generations, while his wife is a daughter of Dr. Isaac E. Emerson, of Baltimore and New York, who amassed millions as the originator and proprietor of a headache remedy.

BURGLAR KILLED BY ANGRY POSSE

Men Were Summoned by Girl Who Saw Robber.

Hyde Park, Vt., May 22.—A burglar was killed here today by one of the possums summoned to the scene by Miss Hattie Foss, who discovered the man rifling the cash drawer in her father's store. Miss Foss gave a quiet alarm and when the robber dropped from the window to the ground, the place was completely surrounded. The burglar made a motion to draw a weapon, whereupon A. P. Billings shot him. The burglar died within two hours, without revealing his name.

SAMMY LANGFORD WILL MEET HAGUE

Yankee Boxer Will Go Against The English Star Monday Night.

LONDON IS BACKING HIM

THEY THINK THE BIG FELLOW WILL PUT IT ALL OVER THE CLEVER AMERICAN WHO IS IN FIGHTING TRIM.

(By Tad.)

New York, May 22.—Jan Hague, the Mexborough man, who meets Sam Langford Monday night at the National Sporting club in London, is the talk of the sporting world these days. Over in England they think that Hague has a lovely chance of trimming Samuel and any number of bets at even money are being laid. Sam needs some more paint for that house up in Boston and you can wager a few seeds that he'll be there at his best with Hague, as a beating would put the latter out of the running for the title. Hague stands six feet, weighs 160 pounds and is only 21 years old. "Jan" is a sort of nickname. When Hague went to school he used to punch brick walls for the amusement of the old lads and they called him "Iron Hague." His given name was William. After that a sporting writer called him "Jan" and he has held that name ever since.

Has a Good Record.

His record, although a very short one, is well liked across the pond, and includes wins over Jack Scales, Frank Craig, Charlie Wilson, Ben Taylor and Gunner Meir. Of his fifteen battles, seven ended in knockouts and once he was knocked out himself by Charlie Knock in three rounds.

Photographs of Hague, which arrived here today, show us a big strapping fellow, something on the style of Frank Gotch, the world's champion wrestler. If he fights as well as he looks, the Londoners are going to see some fun Monday afternoon.

Digger Stanley meets Jimmy Walsh in the preliminary of twenty rounds.

TRACES HISTORY OF COUNTY PRESS

Miss Ethel Henderson Reads Interesting Paper on This Subject.

PALLADIUM'S STORY TOLD

MUCH ATTENTION WAS ALSO PAID TO THE SEMI-MAGAZINE PUBLICATIONS, ESPECIALLY OF SLAVERY DAYS.

Probably the most interesting and authentic paper ever prepared on the history of the press of this county is that of Miss Ethel Henderson of this city, who read the complete portion and outlined the remainder of her paper at the meeting of the Wayne County Historical society at the Morrison-Reeves library yesterday afternoon. The paper is quite lengthy and deals with the origin and development of the publications of this county. Miss Henderson is writing the paper as her senior graduating thesis, she being a member of that class of Earlham college.

Paper is Divided.
The paper is divided into three periods of time. Division is also made as to the kind of publication, the newspaper form being discussed separately from the magazine style. The first period of time deals with the papers of Richmond and Center ville up to 1840. These two places were the first to boast of a newspaper. Later the publication of newspapers became more general. This period dates from 1840 to 1865. The gradual betterment of the Wayne county press is considered in the third period, which dates from 1865 to the present time.

The Palladium because it is one of the oldest, and has become one of the most prominent papers in eastern Indiana, is given much consideration by Miss Henderson. Its history is traced from the founding of the weekly in 1831 to the present time.

Slavery Papers.
Relative to the magazine style of papers published in this county much attention is paid to those established in the interest of slavery and printed at Fountain City. There were a number of other publications of this style printed in this county in the past, which are given consideration.

The paper by Miss Emma Jean Smith another Earlham college student, who graduates this year, was not read owing to the lack of time. The subject of her paper is, "Some Wayne County Contributors to Science."

HISTORY GIVEN KNOCKOUT BLOW

Curator of Historical Archives Denies All Honors to Columbus.

A NORWEGIAN DISCOVERY

HE POINTS TO STONE DISCOVERED IN MINNESOTA WHICH SHOWS THAT WHITE MEN VISITED THERE IN 1362.

Chicago, May 22.—Has Illinois made a mistake in declaring October 12 a legal holiday in honor of Christopher Columbus? According to Prof. Hjalmar Rued Holand of Ephraim, Wis., curator of the Sons of Norway historical archives, she has. Lecturing before the German Historical society, Prof. Holand declared that Christopher was only an inquisitive adventurer, who merely paid a complimentary visit to the land which six separate Norse expeditions had previously discovered and explored. In proof of which the professor is exhibiting a rock, scientifically known as a runestone, because of its copious and thrilling inscriptions in Runic characters, which, translated, tell of the adventures of a party of Norsemen who explored the central part of this country as early as 1362.

Inscription on Stone.
"This stone," said Mr. Holand, addressing the German-American society, "was found by settlers who were clearing land in Douglas county, Minnesota. The inscription translated, reads as follows: 'Eight Goths and twenty-two Norwegians upon a voyage of discovery Westward. We had a camp by two skerries one day's journey north from this stone. We were out fishing one day. When we returned we found ten men red with blood and dead. Ave Maria, save us from evil. We have ten men by the sea to look after our vessel. 41 days' journey from this island. Year 1362.' The Goths are explained by Holand to have been early inhabitants of Southern Sweden. Skerries are rocks projecting from the water. Of the numeral 41 the writer is not quite certain, the characters being indistinct. The stone is in an excellent state of preservation and was found, according to Mr. Holand, eleven years ago, imbedded between two roots of an ash tree, which was twenty-four years old, in a marsh three miles northeast of Kensington, Minn.

HIS FRANTIC DEED

Chicago, Ill., May 22.—John Anderson, a resident of Edgewater, today shot and wounded Mrs. Paul Massee, a wealthy woman, and then fired a shot into his own head, inflicting a probably fatal wound. The shooting followed a quarrel in which Anderson chased Mrs. Massee from her home and down the street, firing at her as she ran. The first bullet went wild but the second struck her in the shoulder. Anderson, thinking he had killed her, paused and fired a shot into his temple. It is believed he cannot recover.

DOG PROVED A HERO

Trenton, N. J., May 22.—Bob, the Shepherd dog belonging to the Rev. Ebenzer Ferry, pastor of the Morrisville (Pa.) Presbyterian church, is a hero today. He saved the Rev. Ferry from drowning, pulling them to shore separately when they became exhausted, swimming after their canoe had upset.
