FANS GREATLY PLEASED

While the Norwood Blues of Cincinnati, the team which claimed the reputation of being the best in Cincinnati, with the exception of the Reds themselves, were gathering in a total of one run, the locals scored eleven times in the game at Athletic park yesterday afternoon. It was a very poor exhibition although it gave the fans a line on the ability of the local club which pleased them greatly. Score by innings and batteries:

WHITE WAS FEATURE C. WILLIAMS NAMED

Big Earlham Star Pitched a Great Game, But Was Defeated.

QUAKERS COULDN'T HIT

One of the most remarkable games of baseball, either professional or amateur that has been pitched in this state this season was that twirled by Herbert White, of Earlham college, at Greencastle, Saturday. The Quaker nine was playing DePauw and but a single hit was registered off White. It followed a couple of poor plays and resulted in the only run of the game being scored. White allowed but one base on balls and struck out several opposing batsmen. The Earlhamites lost the game with two men out. Wilson made a bobble and it was followed by an overthrow that put a runner on second. The next batter poled out a long fly that went for two bases and scored the run. Had it not been for the error, White would have gone through nine innings without a hit being made off him. The Quakers could not score, although getting men as far as third in several innings.

LOCAL ATHLETE A RECORD BREAKER

Carl Allison Easily the Star of The Big High School Meet.

HE FEATURED IN HURDLES

IN BOTH THE EVENTS HE ENTERED HE CLIPPED TIME OFF THE STATE MARKS FOR HIGH SCHOOL ATHLETES.

To Carl Allison of the local high school, belongs the honor of breaking two of the state high school track records, and also winning fourth place for Richmond in the track and field meet of the Indiana High Schools association, held at Lafayette on Stuart's field, Saturday afternoon. The two Indianapolis high schools, Manual Training and Shortridge, won first and second place respectively in the meet. Monticello won third, beating out Richmond by one point. The three schools beating out the local school had large representations of athletes entered, while Richmond had only three.

Equals College Record.
 Allison was entered in the 220-yard low hurdles and in the 120-yard high hurdles. In each instance he broke the state record for high school athletics. In the 120-yard high hurdles he equaled the Purdue university record. Allison ran the 120-yard hurdles in 16 1-5 seconds, the former record being 17 minutes flat. In the 220-yard hurdle he clipped off a second from the record, making the distance in 26 4-5 seconds. Paul Magaw, who was entered in the high hurdles, came in fourth in the finals. Herbert Cotton, who was entered in the runs, failed to win a place for the locals, due to being out of condition.

Those from this city who witnessed the meet state that Allison's efforts were appreciated by all. The Purdue university students from all over the state considered his two races as pretty examples of the art of hurdling as any ever seen on Stuart field.

WORK PROGRESSING

Excavations Now Being Made For New High School Building.

WORK ON HEATING PLANT

A large six foot fence has been constructed around the site of the new high school building to keep off trespassers. The contractors have completed the excavation for the new heating plant, to be located on the south side of the Garfield building, and are now excavating for the high school building proper. This work will be completed within a few days as the basement will be practically above the ground. When the plans were being made for the building, the school board instructed the architects to avoid making plans for a building which might possibly have a damp basement. The present high school building has proven an object lesson in this respect.

In Society.
 A man requires a certain amount of tact to behave nicely to his wife in society. He should find out how to look after her without hanging on to her too much. It looks bourgeois for a husband and wife to keep together all the evening. It is better for them to separate directly they get inside a room and make themselves pleasant in general society. A husband should not take his wife down to supper if he can help it, but he should try not to take any one else in to supper until he sees that some one else is looking after his wife. He should remember never to precede her. The wife enters a room first and shakes hands with her hostess; her daughters come next and the husband last.—"Bridgette Tip to Dots."

A Dinner in Mexico.
 The dinner began with soup, followed by an array of courses, mostly compounds of things I did not recognize and nearly all very hot with chili peppers, but on the whole palatable. Frijoles (beans) were served just before the dulce. That is a warning that you have had all you are going to get and to satisfy yourself upon them if you have not had enough of the other things. They were well cooked and good. The bread was in the form of rolls, sweetened and of poor quality—"pan blanco" it is called. It is the characteristic bread, however, of Mexico—when bread is to be had at all. The coffee was of good quality, but like all Mexican coffee, muddy and very strong. It is burned black in roasting, ground to a powder, boiled and served, grounds and all. You are supposed to drink the grounds—Outing Magazine.

PAPA'S NAME PAPA

Little Lad Also Told Mystified Cops His Mamma's Name Was "Mamma."

SEARCHING FOR PARENTS

Insisting that his name is Harry Cox and that his mother's name is "mamma" and his father's name "papa," a four-year-old lad puzzled the police force, members of the fire department and a dozen others at police headquarters this afternoon. The boy strayed away from home this morning. He was found at Main and Second streets after he had lost his way. He was given his dinner and later brought to headquarters. The youngster said his father worked at the Wayne Works, and Abraham Cox, an employe at that concern was summoned to headquarters to see if the lad is his child. The boy could not tell where he lives nor his father's nor mother's name.

A queer adoption has been made by a cat belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Ruben Rich, Richmond avenue. A young rabbit, scarcely a week old, was found by Mr. Rich and taken home. When the question of what to do with it came up, it was decided to see if the cat would foster it. Tabby had no hesitancy in doing so.

SHAKESPEARE'S POISONS.

They Are Taken Too Seriously by Some Modern Chemists.
 It is one of the penalties of Shakespeare's position as a great poet that his words are taken seriously. A learned doctor in a foreign scientific review has been molding an inquiry into the poisons mentioned by him. He points out that the "juice of cured beebone," which Claudius is said to have poured into the ear of Hamlet's father, is incapable of piercing the tympanum of the ear and therefore could not have penetrated the body and poisoned the blood, as the ghost alleges. Again, the narcotic which Friar Laurence administers to Juliet was probably either Datura stramonium or mandragora root. The first is used by the convicts in New Caledonia when they wish to rob their companions, but its effects do not last forty-two hours nor anything like that time. A scientist who experimented on himself with mandragora found that intense sickness is caused on waking, and this did not happen to Juliet. As for the poison which was given to Romeo, it was probably aconite or one of those mixed poisons composed of vegetable alkaloids and prussic acid, since it was so remarkably rapid in its effects. But that is the fault of too serious people. They will take everything seriously. Shakespeare probably knew nothing at all of poisons or of narcotics. He was a poet and not a chemist and might therefore be allowed the usual poetic license.—London Globe.
