The New Phillips.

The man who could not get a good moral and spiritual lesson out of "Doomsday, or the End of the World" at the New Phillips these three days, would not deserve to be classed as a man, or else he would be so hardened to the better things of life that his aspirations and spiritual desires would all be gone. "Doomsday" is not a wild and fanciful display of nothingness, but is founded upon the prophecy of Peter, who thought the world would come to an end through fire and that the New World would simply be the old world cleansed of sin and all its attributes. The scene is New York City in 2009. This production leaves a good impression.

For the light, refreshing portion of the program, the management has luckily secured Del. A. Phone, the human telephone. To say that this man is a human telephone is not exaggerating one whit. He is the most marvelous piece of humanity ever attempting such an act, yet he is as amusing as the evening is long. Ask somebody who saw his act.

The Altons are four in number and are among the nicest people on the stage. They have singing, talking and dancing in their repertoire and each of these stunts they do excellently. Special attention is called to the gymnasium work of the pretty little girl of the family.

ONLY ONE CASE TO BE INVESTIGATED

When Grand Jury Meets It Will Confine Time to Meek Murder.

SUMMON MEMBERS TODAY

IDEA OF HAVING JURY INSPECT THE COUNTY INSTITUTIONS AT THIS TIME IS ABANDONED BY PROSECUTOR.

It is probable but one case will be investigated by the grand jury when it convenes next Tuesday. This will be the killing by Joel Railback, of Raymond Meek, and his father, Alexander Meek, a week ago yesterday, as the result of a fine fence quarrel. The grand jury members were notified today by Deputy Sheriff Oscar Malmeyer, to report next Tuesday. Subpoenas will also be served during the week on persons whom the state desires to testify in the murder case.

It was believed at first that the grand jury might inspect the county institutions at this time and not hold a meeting later in the year for this purpose. Prosecuting Attorney Charles Ladd stated this morning that this was not probable. In this event the grand jury will meet again in the fall.

"There's a Reason"

DEFEAT IS GIVEN TO FREE LUMBER ON TARIFF BILL

Vote Was Much the Same as That When Iron Ore Was Being Considered by the Senate.

BAILEY AND ALDRICH RENEW OLD HOSTILITY

Texan Admits Democrats Are Changing in Attitude Toward Protection and Bolts From Party Platform.

Washington, May 25.—By more than a two-thirds vote the senate yesterday took a stand against free lumber. A vote indicating the sentiments of senators on the free lumber proposition was taken on an amendment offered by McCumber, of North Dakota, a republican, which, in effect, practically provided for the removal of lumber from the dutiable list. The amendment was defeated by 56 to 25, and, as was the case when the iron ore schedule was voted upon, a majority of the democrats opposed placing lumber on the free list.

Of the 25 senators who voted in the affirmative only ten were democrats, while the democrats voting in the negative numbered 17. Thirty-nine republicans favored a duty, and this will be fixed on rough lumber at from $1.50 to $1.75 a thousand feet, as stated before. The final vote on the lumber schedule will probably be taken by Wednesday.

Bailey Mistaken.

But in the light of what has transpired since the tariff bill came up for consideration in the senate, Bailey's contention must be regarded as purely academic, because it has been shown repeatedly how democrats have clamored for as high a duty as the republicans would allow on products of their own states, and if this is not protection the dictionaries will have to be revised.

Just before the senate adjourned there was another sham battle between Bailey and Aldrich over the income tax. When this little engagement took place the first time it was taken seriously by some people, but with each repetition it becomes more humorous. Bailey asked again that a date be fixed for a vote on the income tax and Aldrich promptly suggested that it be coupled with an agreement to take the final vote on the pending bill and amendments.

To this Bailey objected, and then announced he would ask unanimous consent that the vote on the income tax be taken on Thursday. Aldrich replied that he would object, which, of course, settled it, whereupon Bailey said he would offer his amendment immediately after the lumber schedule was disposed of.

The republican leader said that would be subject to a point of order, which is true, and then Bailey declared he would object every time Aldrich proposed that a day be set for the final vote on the bill. This sounded like an ultimatum, but before it could be thrashed out Aldrich moved an adjournment.

Bailey Accuses Aldrich.

During the colloquy on the income tax Bailey frankly admitted he did not expect the senate to adopt such an amendment. He claimed there were enough votes to pass it in the beginning, but Aldrich had picked off a sufficient number to insure its defeat now. Consequently the set-to between the two rival leaders is characterized as another sham battle.

While the McCumber lumber amendment was under discussion Bailey virtually defended the Dingley duties; they averaged only 12 per cent, which was not too much on raw material.

Dixon (Republican), of Montana, interrupted to remind him that the democratic national convention at Denver last year declared in favor of free lumber, but Bailey said he repudiated that plank.

He utterly refused to be bound by it because it was not democratic doctrine. While yielding obedience to democratic principles, he refused to be committed by delegates selected to choose a presidential ticket when they took to assume the duties of national legislators. It was the delegates' duty to enunciate principles, but not to pass upon details of legislation. When he found he could not subscribe to his party's principles he would get out of the party. Recently Bacon (democrat) of Georgia, also repudiated the lumber plank in the Denver platform.

goods of various kinds which were spoiled during the period of storage, entirely due to the fact that the bureau chiefs, in their anxiety to equip their own offices, overestimated the needs for such supplies.

Finally, there was total lack in the government of any cooperation between different departments, so that congress was entirely at sea in regard to the total amount of money which was to be put at the disposal of the executive officers.

For the fiscal year just ended the total estimates amounted to $766,508,272. That was an increase over the estimates for the previous year of over $75,000,000. There were permanent annual expenditures provided for by the department chiefs which increased the estimates to $1,079,449,288. The estimates for the next fiscal year are even larger.

after Johnson was taken from the jail the sheriff had made no effort to go after the lynchers or to reach the police or militia or others. "When," he said, "Shipp had reached the jail he could have gone about three blocks to the police station and got the police. No attempt was made to summon a posse. He sent no one after deputies. He made no effort to send anyone for help. Although Spipp was in the midst or near the members of the mob for about an hour, he did not seek to obtain information so that he could identify any of them, and he testifies that he does not know any member of the mob."

Court Grants Express Company Right to Ship Whiskey to Dry County.

A KENTUCKY CONTENTION

Washington, May 25.—The supreme court of the United States has decided the case of the Adams Express company vs. the commonwealth of Kentucky, involving the right of the express company to ship liquor into a local option county, contrary to the law of the state, in favor of the company.

The case involved the shipment of whiskey from Indiana and Tennessee to Bonnerville, in Hart county, for which the company was fined $50 for each offense by the circuit court of Hart county.

The opinion of the supreme court was handed down by Justice Brandeis and reversed the verdict of the Hart county court on the ground that the transaction was interstate commerce and therefore not subject to interference by the state authorities.

BIG CONVENTION AT WILLIAMSBURG

County Sunday School Workers Gathered Today for Annual Meeting.

AN INTERESTING PROGRAM

THE REV. ZERBE OF FOUNTAIN CITY MADE THE PRINCIPAL ADDRESS OF THE MEETING THIS MORNING.

Williamsburg, Ind., May 25.—This little village is the mecca for the Sunday school workers of the county today and will continue to be tomorrow. It has been a long time since there were as many church workers assembled here. It is believed arrangements have been made to provide accommodations for all from the association. The occasion is the annual convention of the Wayne County Sunday School association. The attendance is large despite the inclemency of the weather. About 150 workers in the Sunday Schools of the county were present at the services this morning. This number will be increased this afternoon and tonight.

Richmond Delegation.

The Richmond delegation came up on the train. The men and women seem filled with a spirit of enthusiasm in their work such as is seldom equalled. They say they look to the Sunday schools to build up the churches and the more children trained in Sunday school the more adults there will be in time to attend church. As soon as they arrived the delegates were enrolled and assigned places.

The fellowship services opened the program this morning. The opening prayer was made by the Rev. Oliver Gottschall. The service was conducted by the Rev. Lee Chamness, of Williamsburg. "The Sunday School, the Strategic Work of the Church" was the subject of the address of Rev. J. W. Zerbe, of Fountain City. He declared the future of the church requires that the Sunday school be made and recognized one of the most important departments of church work. He asserted the salvation of youth demands it. It provides a place where children meet and are told about the finer things of life and the principles of religion are inculcated. The speaker declared the Sunday school is needed to offset the assaults of evil. It provides a buttress against which the charges of evil influences are unable to prevail. It was pointed out there is a tendency toward the destruction of social life. The ways in which this is being brought out were depicted. Home pietry such as is instilled in the minds of children by the teachings of the Sunday school was said to provide the remedy for the evil.

Adopt Resolutions.

The association adopted resolutions expressing the high esteem in which it had held E. J. Humpreys, until recently of Richmond, and former president of the association. There were numerous expressions of regret that he was connected with the organization no longer. Following the reading of the minutes adjournment was taken. Dinner was served at the I. O. O. F. hall.

The session this afternoon opened with a song service led by the Rev. Addison Parker and Mr. Tracey, of Richmond. Addresses were made by the Rev. T. J. Graham, George M. Burris, Prof. M. Kenworthy, Rev. George Hartley, Rev. H. R. Keates, and others.

The Rev. R. J. Wade, pastor of the First M. E. church, Richmond, was on the program for tonight. He was unable to be present and his place was taken by the Rev. J. E. Coffin, of Cambridge City.

FIRST TROUBLE OF BIG STRIKE

Detective Guarding the Strike Breakers at Augusta Fires on Crowd.

IS PLACED UNDER ARREST

NO TRAINS ARE MOVING ON THE GEORGIA RAILROAD AND BOTH SIDES ARE WAITING ON LABOR COMMISSIONER.

Atlanta, Ga., May 25.—The strike situation on the Georgia railroad remains completely tied up. Both sides are awaiting the arrival of labor Commissioner Neil, who is expected tonight. The first news of an actual clash between the strike breakers and strike sympathizers comes from Augusta, where Cecil Todd of Savannah, a private detective, who was acting as the strike breakers' guard, was arrested for firing at a party of iron workers, who were leaving the foundry.

Todd lost his head and fired at them with a shot gun. The iron workers pursued Todd who fled to the camp where his companions live, in the railroad yards, again firing at the crowd. The second charge hit the piazza of a residence a few feet from where an aged woman was sitting. This greatly enraged the men, but the police succeeded in taking Todd to headquarters. He was held on a charge of disorderly conduct.

FINAL SETTLEMENT

Contractors for the Local Y. M. C. A. Building to Wipe Off the Slate.

MARKS CLOSE OF DISPUTE

Final settlement between the contractors for the Y. M. C. A. building, Caldwell & Drake of Columbus, Ind., the association and local firms, with which the contractors had contracted debts, will be made Monday. The contractors owe more than is coming to them from the association and have been very slow in making settlement with the local supply firms.

The association refused to settle with the contractors until every local debt incurred by them in the construction of the building had been met. This means was adopted in order to prevent mechanical liens being taken on the association building. The contractors have about $5,000 coming from the Y. M. C. A.

BIDS FOR CONTRACT

Board Will Receive Them on Fairview Sewer Tomorrow Morning.

A FEW FOREIGN BIDDERS

Bids for the construction of the storm and sanitary sewer in Fairview will be opened by the board of works tomorrow morning and the contract let in all probability. Several contractors from out of the city have looked over the ground and it is probable that the competition between them will be very warm. Among the bidders will be several contractors who have constructed several similar improvements for the city in the past.

This sewer will probably be the largest constructed this year. The total number of feet is 5,055. A large portion of the sewer will be of concrete construction. It will drain practically all of the eastern section of Fairview.
